PREFACE

This catalogue describes the manuscripts which belong to two collections, namely, the Government collection of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts located at present* in the Library of the Bombay University and the collection of Arabic and Persian manuscripts belonging to the Bombay University itself. The Government collection contains one hundred and fourteen volumes, comprising one hundred and eighty-one books, some of which are merely fragmentary incomplete copies. This collection is, so far as I am aware, the first Government collection of its kind in this Presidency and contains some very rare and valuable manuscripts. The manuscripts in the University collection, which contains only sixty-two volumes, may be divided into two classes, one dealing with purely Muslim literature and the other with purely Zoroastrian. The former contains forty-two works written in the Arabic character and the latter only twenty written in the same character. Besides these latter, there are also a few manuscripts which relate to Zoroastrian literature, but, as they are not written in the Arabic script, they are not included in this catalogue. They have, however, been listed in the Catalogue of the University of Bombay, prepared by Mr. F. K. Banaji, M.A., and published by the University in 1901. Small as the above collections are, they will, it is hoped, form the nucleus of a library which will, in course of time, grow in all respects, as men and money make this possible.

Experience has shown that no research work worthy of the name is possible in any line connected with Muslim history or civilization in this Presidency, without a good collection of

* Since the above was written, the Government of Bombay have very generously transferred their own collection to the University as a permanent loan. Towards the end of last century, the Oriental manuscripts of Dr. Haugh were also transferred to the University Library by the Director of Public Instruction.

Arabic, Persian, and Urdu manuscripts bearing on the subjects. Happily the Bombay Presidency, which comes within the academic jurisdiction of our University, is still rich, very rich indeed, in Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts*. Many of these priceless treasures of learning and art are fast disappearing, which must be deplored as a national loss. It is time that a resolute endeavour was made to prevent this serious drain upon our literary wealth. To gain this end it is necessary that the manuscripts should be acquired, preserved, catalogued, and published. But no success in this direction is possible unless Government are pleased to lend a helping hand in that liberal spirit in which they have financed the collection of about twenty-three thousand Sanscrit manuscripts, now deposited in the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona. With a view to making a small beginning in the direction indicated above,

* It is generally believed that good valuable Arabic and Persian manuscripts do not exist in this Presidency. This belief seems to be due to the fact that the Muslims of the Bombay Presidency are very backward in point of education as compared with their co-religionists of the Punjab and the United Provinces. But a reference to history will show that the belief has no foundation in fact. There were in the past at least four independent Muslim kingdoms in this Presidency, which had their capitals at Hyderabad (Sind), Ahmedabad (Gujarat), Ahmednagar, and Bijapur (Deccan). At each of these centres Arabic and Persian learning received fervid encouragement, and poets and scholars were held in high esteem. Libraries, which contained thousands of valuable manuscripts, were maintained by kings, nobles, divines, and other scholars. Though many of these manuscripts have left their Indian homes and migrated to Europe, a large number of good manuscripts are still to be found, preserved more or less carefully, in almost every large town of our Presidency. The present collection is made up of contributions received from only four places in the Deccan. How rich the Deccan was at one time in these literary treasures is evident from the following remark made by M. Ivanow in the preface to his Concise Descriptive Catalogue of the Persian Manuscripts in the Collection of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, Calcutta, 1924, page X: "It is also remarkable that in this collection", which is, to quote M. Ivanow, "one of the largest and most interesting collections in India", "a comparatively considerable number of manuscripts" "dating from the XIc./XVIIc. come not from the empire of the Indian Timurides, but from the Deccan". Loth's Catalogue of Arabic MSS. in the India Office (Lond., 1877), which notices the MSS. of the Library of the 'Ādil Shāhs of Bijapur (once located in the Āsūr Mahal at Bijapur and subsequently sent to London in 1858), and Stewart's Catalogue of the Oriental Library of the late Tippoo Sultan of Mysore (Camb., 1809) also throw considerable light on the quality and quantity of the literary wealth of the Deccan under the Muslims.

(عرف مع تصرف)

I formulated a scheme in 1917 for the collection, preservation, and editing of Arabic and Persian manuscripts in our Presidency and submitted it to Government, through the proper channel, for their approval and sanction. "It was mainly through "the sympathetic and large-hearted support of Mr. J. G. Covernton, I.E.S., C.I.E., then Director of Public Instruction, and "Mr. C. N. Seddon, I.C.S., C.I.E., then Commissioner, C.D., that "the scheme was accepted by Government, and I was enabled "to make a short tour and collect for them a hundred and "fourteen volumes, which embraced a pretty wide range of subjects, such as History, Biography, Prose, Poetry, Sufism, Prosody, Mathematics, Astronomy, Falconry, Archery, Translations "from the Sanscrit, Logic, Metaphysics, etc." (See my article entitled Persian MSS. belonging to the Government Collection now deposited in the Library of the University of Bombay, published in JBBRAS, Vol. iv, 1928).

Under orders from Government these manuscripts were deposited in the University Library on 9th January, 1928. In August, 1931, the University invited applications for the preparation of a descriptive catalogue of the collection, and I was selected to do the work. I was also asked to include in the collection to be catalogued the Arabic and Persian manuscripts belonging to the University itself. As I was then a Government servant, I had to apply to Government for their permission to undertake the work. They granted the permission towards the end of May, 1932, that is, only about a fortnight before the long summer vacation came to an end and at a time when the Hindu-Muslim riots were at their height in Bombay. These communal disturbances were of such a serious nature that I could not stay in Bombay for the catalogue work without placing my life in jeopardy. The long vacation of 1932, in which I expected to do a great deal of the work, was thus lost to me owing to circumstances beyond my control. During the College term, my ordinary official duties took up all my time, and I could hardly attend to anything else. I had, therefore, to wait till the next vacation, which commenced in October, 1932. But when it came, I found that, owing to the time limit imposed by the University, I could only work on the catalogue up to 30th November, 1932, that is, for only a part of the winter vacation. As the end of November was fast approaching and a considerable portion of the work was still left undone, I applied for an extension of the period fixed, fully hoping that I should be able to utilize the whole of the next summer vacation in finishing the work. The University kindly complied with my request and extended the period up to the end of June, 1933. But according to the proverb العبد يدير و الله يقدر ("Man proposes and God disposes"), I was laid up in December, 1932, with a severe attack of sciatica, which made it extremely difficult for me to move about and do my work. Owing to this sudden illness, I went on leave with effect from 17th March, 1933, and practically remained confined to bed for a long time. Bedridden as I was, I managed to carry on the work. In addition to the handicap placed by my prolonged illness upon my efforts to push the work through, I had to contend with a variety of other difficulties, such as want of time, dearth of materials, lack of facilities, and greatly impaired health and energy. But it is a matter for gratification that, in spite of almost insuperable difficulties, I have succeeded in bringing the work to completion. In the peculiar circumstances in which I had to do it, original research on a large scale was out of the question. This is left for those who can afford to spare the time and the energy which work of this kind demands.

In describing the manuscripts I have always had regard to the requirements of the research student and have exerted myself to make the catalogue a book of practical service to him. My chief object being the attainment of the greatest amount of practical utility, superfluity appeared to me preferable to deficiency. With this object in view and in order to conduct the research student as quickly as possible to the object of his search, I have, while giving references to other copies of a work, mentioned first those that are lying nearer home, that is, in the libraries of Bombay itself. Then are mentioned those that are available at other places in India. These are followed by those in Iran, or to be more exact, in Tehran; and lastly come those in the libraries of Europe. It is hoped that references to manuscripts belonging to the Mullā Firūz Library, Bombay, the Jāme' Masjid Library, Bombay, the Library of the Bombay Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society, the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona, the magnificent State Library at Hyderabad (Deccan), the Subhanallah Library of Aligarh University, the State Library at Rampur (U.P.), and several other libraries will especially prove useful to our students, since no references to them are to be found in any of the existing catalogues of M. Ivanow set before me as a model by the University. Besides the above collections, there are many others in India, of which no catalogues have yet been published. To mention only a few, there are the excellent collections of the Nadwatu'l-'Ulamā (Lucknow), Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Bārī of Farangī Maḥal (Lucknow), Nawwab Ṣadr Yār Jang Bahādur Mawlawī Ḥabību'r-Raḥmān Khān Shirwānī of Bhīkimpūr (Aligarh), His Highness the Nawab of Bhopal, and Sir Sālār Jang Bahādur of Hyderabad (Deccan). In our own Presidency there are a number of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts lying uncatalogued in private and public collections. As soon as I am left a little at leisure, I intend to publish at least hand-lists of them, if not catalogues, in our University Journal.

In accordance with the instructions of the University Syndicate, this catalogue has been modelled, on the lines of M. Ivanow's catalogues. But I have taken the liberty of making a very slight change in the transliteration of only three letters of the alphabet. The interests of scientific accuracy and practical utility have rendered this departure from the system which is followed in the abovementioned catalogues necessary. The reason for this is explained in the "Note on Technical Details".

I have steadily kept in view the main purpose of a descriptive catalogue, namely, the delineation of the internal and external features of the manuscripts. But to meet the requirements of the advanced student, I have not infrequently exceeded the limits set by mere description and added, wherever possible, such information as will be of use to him for higher literary criticism and materially help him in research work. In doing so, I have at times differed from the views expressed or statements made by scholars like Dr. Rieu, Dr. Ethè, Prof. Theodor Nöldeke, Prof. E. G. Browne, Dr. Nicholson, M. Ivanow, and others, whose labours have undoubtedly placed Persian literature under a deep debt of gratitude and from whose writings I have always derived most valuable help and guidance. For example, I may refer to the question of the genuineness of the Dīwān-e-Ibn-e-Yamīn (see Vol. 23), supposed to have been "lost" by some of the Eastern and Western scholars, or of the authorship of the Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib (Vol. 24), attributed by Western scholars to the great Sufi poet 'Aṭṭār, or of the authorship of the "Nāma-e-Khiyālāt" (Vol. 12), or of that of Yūsuf Zulaykhā, which, according to a number of European Orientalists, was composed by the great Firdawsī. In the case of each of the first three books, I have proved from internal evidence that it is impossible to accept the views of the Orientalists, while in the case of the fourth, I have contented myself with merely indicating the source in which the opposite view is not only expressed, but established beyond doubt. It was in cases like these that I did not think it advisable to keep within bounds, and the object aimed at will, it is hoped, be considered a sufficient justification for the transgression.

لذیذ بود حکایت درازتر گفتم * چنانکه حرف عصا گفت موسی اندر طور

Many of our advanced students and such of the general public as wish to carry on research in Muslim history and literature, especially with reference to the Deccan, do not generally know where collections of Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu manuscripts exist in India and outside. To furnish them with some information on this point also, I have given in this catalogue a list of those collections to which references are given in this work.

The work of compiling the catalogue was completed and the manuscript of it was ready for the press by the end of June, 1933, but orders for the printing of it could not be placed with Messrs. Sharafuddin and Sons of Bombay till the beginning of January, 1935. During this interval spade-work in connexion with the printing of the catalogue had to be done. After the University had accorded their sanction to the printing and publication of it, the matter that presented the greatest difficulty was to find a press which possessed founts of elegant Persian type and of English type with the required diacritical marks. This difficulty was at last got over by the above firm undertaking to import the best kind of the types required from England and Germany. During this intervening period, fifty-four more manuscripts (including the latest additions to the University Library) were placed in my hands to be described and included in the catalogue, the press-copy of which was, as stated above, ready for publication by the end of June, 1933. While I was working on these additional manuscripts and the sheets of the catalogue were passing through the press, I came across very recent publications—European, Indian, and Persian—bearing on the works and the authors noticed in the catalogue. These have been utilized and the information culled from them has been included in the body of the notices themselves, as it is thought that it will be practically more useful in its present position than if presented in detached footnotes.

I must here gratefully acknowledge the generous help received, from time to time, from Mr. R. V. Sabnis, the expert Librarian of the University, and from his experienced Assistant, Mr. Bhonsule, B.A. These officers are ever ready to make themselves useful to all those who avail themselves of the University Library. But for the help rendered by the veteran Librarian, I should hardly have been able to cope with the work under the depressing conditions mentioned above. My heartiest thanks are also due to my esteemed friend, Khan Saheb S. Bakar Ali, B.E.S. (Retired), from whom I have received much valuable help. He has, from his innate love of learning, always encouraged me in my literary work. Besides, he has, at great personal inconvenience, gone through the catalogue, in its manuscript form, and made many illuminating suggestions for the improvement of it. He has also very carefully read through the proofs. I also beg to express my very great obligations to the University for their kindness in giving me an opportunity to prepare this Descriptive Catalogue, of about two hundred and fifty manuscripts written in three different languages—Arabic, Persian, and Old Urdu. I am fully aware of its errors and defects; many of those noticed by me have been removed. But in a work of this kind, many must remain undetected. With regard to them I can only repeat what the learned Qāzī ‘Abdu’r-Raḥīm of Baysān said in reply to the adverse criticism passed upon his writings by the celebrated Arabic stylist and historian, ‘Imādu’d-Dīn al-Kātib of Iṣfahān :

قد وقع لى شىء وما أدرى أوقع لك أم لا ، وهو أن الانسان لا يكتب كتاباً فى يومه الا يقول فى غده «لو غُيِّرَ هذا لكان أحسن ، ولو شُكِرَ ذلك لكان أولى ، وهذه عبرة عظيمة وحجة مستقيمة على استيلاء صفة النقصان على طبيعة الانسان .

(“ Verily I have realised one thing, and I do not know “whether you have realized it or not. And it is this, that “indeed man writeth not anything today, but sayeth, with reference to it, the next day, ‘Had this been changed, forsooth, “it would have been better; and had that been deleted, verily “it would have been the best.’ And this is a great lesson “and proof positive of the predominance of deficiency over the “nature of man.”)

Circumstanced as I was, I can only say with the poet :

غلام همت آن عارفان باکرم * کہ یک صواب بینند و صد خطا پوشند

Before concluding this brief preface, I must offer my cordial thanks to the firm of Messrs. Sharafuddin and Sons, the well-known Arabic Booksellers and Proprietors of the Qayyimah Press, Bombay. They have generously and cheerfully given me much valuable advice on all matters connected with the printing of the catalogue. Though they were hard pressed for time and had to struggle with difficulties inherent in Oriental typography, they have succeeded remarkably well in executing the work. The expert advice given by Mr. Muhammad Abbamiyan, formerly Manager of the Hilal Press, Bombay, has helped greatly in improving the general get-up of the catalogue. I am grateful to him also. This magnum opus of the firm is a marvel of excellence. The Persian type, which was imported from Germany, is the best available in Bombay. The English type, with the required diacritical marks, was obtained from England. The University authorities desired that good paper of Indian manufacture should be used. Accordingly the best Featherweight paper of Bengal was selected. It shows clearness of impression which leaves hardly anything to be desired. This production of the firm will, it is confidently hoped, redound greatly to their credit.

Brief Review of the Collection

The 114 volumes in the Government Collection comprise in all 181 works, of which 152 are in Persian, 17 in Arabic, 11 in Dakhnī or Old Urdū (from the middle of the XVIIth to the middle of the XVIIIth century), and only one in Hindustani (end of the XVIIIth and beginning of the XIXth century). The University Collection consists of 62 volumes, of which 4 are in Arabic and 58 in Persian (including 20 on Zoroastrian literature). Of these, the following interesting autographs and valuable manuscripts deserve special mention:—

1. حسن و دل A fine autograph copy of an unpublished allegorical love-poem by محمود داؤد املحی, celebrating the love affairs of دل, a prince of the West and son of عقل, the ruler of the realm of بدن, and of حسن, a princess of the East and daughter of عشق, dwelling in the city of ديدار (Vol. 41).
2. مخزن شعراء An autograph copy of a Persian Tazkira of the Urdu poets of Gujarat, by Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn Khān Fā'eq of Broach, in which it is stated that Walī, the Father of Urdu poetry, belonged to Ahmedabad and that he was buried in that town somewhere between the shrine of Mūsā Sohāg and the Shāhī Bāgh. The Tazkira was looked into by the Delhi poet Ghālīb. Its first notice published in my article in the JBBRAS vol. iv, 1928, drew the attention of Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Anjuman-e-Taraqqi-e-Urdū, Aurangabad, to its existence. He, later on, utilized it along with another copy from Broach, for an edition of it, which was printed at the Jamia Press, Delhi, 1933 (Vol. 43).
3. تحفة الاستاد An autograph copy of a small unpublished Persian treatise by Abu'l-Qāsim alias Buqrāt-e-Samarqandī, on how to determine the سمت قبله, i.e., the direction towards which the Muslims turn their faces in prayer (Vol. 114, Book No. 181).

4. کلیات صائب A fine copy of the Poetical works of the great poet Mirzā Muḥammad Ṣā'ib, made during the lifetime of the poet. It contains five ghazals in his autograph (Vol. 34).

Note on the Technical Details of the Catalogue

I General Remarks

1. Description. Each independent work, whether it forms a separate volume, is bound up with other works, or is written on the margins of the pages of another work, is described and numbered separately. The number of the volume, according to which it stands on the shelf of the library, is left undisturbed. All kinds of scraps, which need no separate treatment, have not been separately noticed.

2. Transliteration. The transliteration system is practically the same as in M. Ivanow's catalogue, with the exception of the following particulars, required by the considerations of scientific accuracy, simplification, and actual pronunciation:—

- (i) The علامت جر in Arabic and the کسره اضافت in Persian and Urdu are indicated in M. Ivanow's catalogues by 'i'. For example, شرح تہذیب الکلام (Ar.) = 'Sharh-i-Tahdhīb-i-Kalām'; دیوان حافظ (Per.) = 'Dīwān-i-Ḥāfiẓ'; زبان ریختہ (Urdu) = 'Zabān-i-Rikhta'. Inasmuch as transliteration is a phonetic representation of the actual pronunciation, I have ventured to differ from M. Ivanow with regard to Persian and Urdu languages, in both of which the actual pronunciation of the kasra is, in my opinion, represented better by an 'e' than by an 'i'. For example دیوان حافظ = 'Dīwān-e-Ḥāfiẓ'; and زبان ریختہ = 'Zabān-e-Rekhta'.
- (ii) The letters ث, ذ, and ض have been given one and the same transliteration-value by M. Ivanow, whether they occur in Arabic, Persian, or Urdu words, viz., 'th', 'dh', and 'ḍ' respectively. For example ثمرات (Ar.) = 'Thāmarāt'; and دیوان ثنائی (Per.) = 'Dīwān-i-Thānā'i'; and مرثیہ حسین (Urdu) = 'Marthiyya-i-Husayn'. On the principle that the actual pronunciation should be represented phonetically in transliteration, I have given these letters different transliteration-values according as they occur in Persian or Urdu words, e.g., ممرات in Persian is transliterated as 'Samarāt'; and مرتبہ in Urdu, as Marsiyya'. The letters ذ and ض are expressed in Arabic by 'dh' and 'ḍ' (as in M. Ivanow's Catalogues); but in Persian and Urdu by 'z' and 'ẓ' respectively, because their actual pronunciation in the two last languages is, I venture to think, better represented by 'z' (with a suitable diacritical sign) than by 'dh' and 'ḍ'. It is for this reason that ذ and ض are not transliterated, where they occur in Persian and Urdu MSS., as 'Tadhkira' and 'Qāḍi', but as 'Tazkira' and 'Qāẓī' respectively. It may not be out of place to quote here the following observations of the great Arabic grammarian, Dr. W. Wright (A Grammar of the Arabic Language, pp. 5 and 6, 3rd. ed., 1933): "ث "is pronounced like the Greek θ, or th in thing. The Turks "and Persians usually convert it into the surd s, as in "sing. ذ is sounded like the δ of the modern Greeks, or th "in that, with. The Turks and Persians usually convert "it into z. ض is an aspirated ḍ, strongly articulated between the front part of the side of the tongue and the "molar teeth (somewhat like th in this). The Turks and "Persians usually pronounce it like z".

Dr. Steingass in his Persian-English Dictionary transliterates ث by s, and with reference to the pronunciation of ذ says, "the Persians make but little, if any, difference "between it and ز zā, and accordingly call it also zā'i "ṣakhiz." As regards ض he observes that it is pronounced "in Persian very much like z, while in Arabic the pronunciation inclines towards ḍ." The New Persian-English Dictionary by S. Haïm published at Tehran transliterates the three letters by 's' and 'z'.

- (iii) The Urdu compound letters, viz., گھ, دھ, کھ, and گھ are expressed by M. Ivanow as 't'h', 'd'h', 'k'h', and 'g'h' (to distinguish them from 'th' = ث, 'dh' = ذ, 'kh' = خ, and 'gh' = غ respectively). But as each of these is a compound letter, I have preferred to indicate their pronunciation by 'th', 'dh', 'kh' and 'gh'. For example دکهنی is not expressed as 'Dak'hnī', but as 'Dakhnī'.

- (iv) Names of places in India are spelt in accordance with the Post and Telegraph Guide.

3. Vocalization. As regards vocalization M. Ivanow says that it "is given (in his catalogues) according to the usages "of standard Persian, spoken in Persia""*. He further remarks: "In India many Persian words are systematically misspelt, probably under the influence of the phonetic rules of the local languages, foreign to Persian. Numerous examples can be "given such as: Bahār (بهار) instead of the correct bihār or "buhār etc" †. Accordingly he vocalizes بهارستان as Bihāristān (IvASB, No. 612); بیان as Biyān (IvASB, p. 607); حل ابيات as Hill-i-Abyāt (IvASB, No. 1250, 5); حسن گلو سوز as Husn-i-Galawsāz (IvASB, No. 924, 6); لذت as Lidhdhat (IvASB, No. 1611). The New Persian-English Dictionary by S. Haïm published at Tehran vocalizes the first three words as 'Baharestan', 'Bayan', and 'Hall'. Such distinguished scholars of Persian as Professor Browne and Professor Nicholson, noted for the accuracy of their vocalization, have deliberately vocalized the abovementioned words as 'Bahāristān', 'Bayān', 'Hall', 'Gula', and 'Ladhdhat'. I have ventured to follow these authorities. If I err at all, I err in good company.

4. System of Transliteration. The following is the system of transliteration followed in this catalogue:—

ا	a, i, u, (ā)	پ	p
ب	b	ت	t

* IvASB p. xxvii.

† Ibid p. xxvii, footnote 2.

ث	th (in Arabic)	ق	q, k
س	s (in Persian and Urdu)	ك	k
ط	t	گ	g
ج	j	ل	l
چ	ch	م	m
ح	h	ن	n
خ	kh	و	w, u, o, (ū)
د	d	ہ	h
ذ	{ dh (in Arabic)	ی	{ ī (ma'rūf)
ڑ	{ z̄ (in Persian and Urdu)		{ è (majhāl)
ڈ	ḍ	ء	'
ر	r	ای	ay
ز	z	او	au, (aw)
ژ	zh	بھ	bh
س	s	پھ	ph
ش	sh	تھ	th
ص	ṣ	ٹھ	ṭh
ض	{ ḍ (in Arabic)	جھ	jh
	{ z̄ (in Persian and Urdu)	چھ	chh
ط	ṭ	دھ	dh
ظ	ẓ	ڈھ	ḍh
ع	'	کھ	kh
غ	gh	گھ	gh
ف	f

Note. As ی has got (at least in classical Persian and in Urdu) two different and distinct sounds, viz., the ma'rūf and the majhūl, it has been given two different transliteration values as shown above.

Note. In quotations from old MSS., in which ب, ج, & ک are not distinguished from پ, چ, & گ, the old orthography has been followed; but in transliteration their actual pronunciation is given.

II Explanation of the System of the Descriptive Notes

1. Numbers. The volume number shows the place which it occupies on the shelf of the Library. The other numbers indicate works separately noticed.

2. Titles. Generally where no definite title could be ascertained, a provisional designation has been given in single or double inverted commas.

3. Dates :—

- (a) The dates of the reigns of rulers are, as a rule, given in accordance with those found in The Muhammadan Dynasties by St. Lane-Poole, Westmin., 1894.
- (b) Where dates according to the Muslim era are given with their equivalents in Christian era, the former stand first and the latter second. The abbreviations A.H. and A.D. are generally omitted.
- (c) For converting Muslim dates, days, and months into their Christian equivalents, I have generally used Pillai's Indian Ephemeris.
- (d) Hijri years are converted into their Christian equivalents in accordance with the Comparative Table given in Stanley Lane-Poole's Coins of the Muhammadan States of India in the British Museum, edited by R. Stuart Poole, LL.D., Lond., 1855., or the Comparative Tables of Muhammadan and Christian Dates by Sir Wolseley Haig, Lond., 1932.
- (e) In converting the Yazdijardi years (A.Y.), I have generally followed McCudden's Oriental Eras, Bombay, 1846.

4. References to folios in MSS. On this point I entirely agree with M. Ivanow, and whatever I have to say about it is better said in his own words: "The shortness of time allotted for the work rendered it out of the question to undertake the arduous task of numbering folios and verifying their proper order in volumes of MSS., as a mere appendix to my other duties as a cataloguer. Although pressing necessity "forced me to number personally the folios in several.....

 "volumes, I was unable to do the same for all unfoliated works "of the collection, especially for bulky MSS. In consequence
 "the folio number is sometimes not shown in the descriptive
 "notes; in such cases it was useless to give a table of contents
 "and impossible to give exact references to folios for other "purposes." *

5. References to other publications. References are given to general works on Persian, Arabic, and Urdu Literatures, and to the catalogues of Persian, Arabic, and Hindustani MSS., "in different libraries, in so far as locally accessible. The catalogues of Indian libraries are mentioned separately (and first) in order to show immediately what other copies are within the reach of residents of India."† As regards critical editions, translations, and other particulars, "the information given, here is often based on earlier catalogues and other sources. Whenever possible references are given to Oriental editions."‡ Not only was the Catalogue of Persian printed books in the British Museum, by E. Edwards, 1922, drawn upon, but later lists of Indian booksellers in Hyderabad, Lucknow, Cawnpore, Lahore, and other places were also made use of.

6. Description of the appearance of MSS. I have followed the same lines as M. Ivanow. "All information concerning the external appearance of the MSS. is arranged in a strictly uniform order as follows:—

- "(1) Number of folios (Ff.), whenever it is known.
- "(2) The measurements of a page (S)" in inches. "First the size of the paper and secondly of the place occupied by the text on a page.
- "(3) Number of lines (ll) on a page.
- "(4) Quality of paper (pap.) mostly only distinguished as Oriental (Or.) or European (Eur.).
- "(5) General type of the handwriting.

* IvASB, pp. xxix, xxx.

† Ibid, p. xxx.

‡ Ibid.

"(6) The state of preservation of the MS.

"(7) Illustrations mentioned if found in the MS."*

III Note on the Indexes

1. Titles of works. Following the example of standard catalogues (such as those of the British Museum, the Bodleian Library, and the Catalogue of Prof. Browne's MSS., ed. by Prof. Nicholson) and believing it to be practically more useful, I have given the titles of works in Arabic characters, arranged them alphabetically, and given references to the pages of the Catalogue. The principal references are denoted by heavy figures, while mere incidental mention is indicated by lighter type.

2. Names of Persons. For convenience of reference the names have been arranged in strictly alphabetical order. This arrangement lends itself more easily to facility of reference than the more scholarly system by which, for example, Abū Z̤ar and Ibn-e-Sīnā are shown respectively under Z and S and not under A and I, and Jalālu'd-Dīn precedes Jalāl-e-Farāhānī. Here also the principal references are denoted by heavy figures, while mere incidental mention is indicated by lighter type.

3. Index of subjects. As the purpose of this index is practically served by the List of Works classified according to Subjects, given above, it is not separately given.

4. Indexes of Scribes and Places of transcription. Names which are not clearly legible in the manuscripts are not included in these indexes.

Volume 1.

MAJMŪ'A-E-NOH RASĀ'IL-
-E-QĀFIYA WA 'ARŪẒ (مجموعه نه رسائل قافیه و عروض).

This is a composite manuscript comprising nine different treatises on Persian Prosody, Rhyme, and Figures of Speech, all bound together in one volume. It extends over 324 pages, of which the following are completely or partially blank: 8, 9, 36, 37, 94, 95, 96, 97, 207, 208, 288, and 289. The following couplets

ای دل آخر زیاد موت بنال * نوبت تو رسیده است فلحال (فی الحال)
این همه کس بملک جوشیدن (جوشیدند) * عاقبت کرد موت شان پامال occurring on p. 9 are repeated in the same hand on pp. 95, 177, 203, 207, 213, 289, 297, and 318. There are eight seals, three oval and five roundish, on p. 130. On pp. 174 and 175 a few couplets suitable for (love) letters are given, and on p. 177 is an interesting memorandum note, dated 1074/1664, about which see MS. No. 5 below. On pp. 204-06 is copied a وصیت نامه, alleged to have been given by the Prophet Muḥammad to one Ismā'il b. Muḥammad-e-Miṣrī, who translated it into Persian from the original Arabic inscribed on white silk. In it the Prophet laments the irreligious and pitiable condition to which his followers had been reduced on account of the neglect shown by the rulers and the clergy to their respective duties. He then exhorts Muslims to practise repentance, and to return to the path of righteousness, so that they may obtain salvation. The translator Ismā'il says that he has sent a copy of it to Egypt, another to India, a third to 'Irāq, and a fourth to Khorāsān, for the benefit and guidance of the general public. Pages 209-12 are evidently the last four pages of a treatise on Astrology, which was finished in 1019/1610-11. There is no date of transcription at the end of the volume, but since three of the treatises contained in it are dated 1024/1615, and the paper, the writing, and the ink are the same, the age of the MS. may be taken as the first half of the XIc./XVIIc.

A memorandum note on p. 1 verso is dated 1085/1674. In it a former owner, Shaykh 'Alī, says that he presented the volume containing nine treatises on prosody and rhyme to the children of his master, Mirzā Khalīlu'llāh, on condition that it should neither be sold nor given to any one as a gift, but that if any person wished to have a copy of it the same be given to him. The same page contains the name of Ja'far 'Alī Khān, the last owner of the MS., who died in Poona a few years ago and who was a lineal descendant of a brother of the famous Ibrāhīm Khān Gārdī, Commander of the Maratha Artillery. Ibrāhīm Khān fought against Aḥmad Shāh-e-Abdālī at Pānipat in 1761 A.D.

The nine treatises contained in the volume are:

1. Risāla dar Qāfiya (رساله در قافیه).

This is a short treatise on Rhyme by the famous poet Jāmī. It is sometimes called Risāla dar Qāfiya [as in IvASB No. 612 (9)] and sometimes Risāla-e-Qawāfi [as in IvC No. 171, IvS ii No. 969 (12)]. The latter is supported by what Jāmī himself says in the introduction, viz., این مختصر است وافی بقواعد علم قوافی. Haj. Khal., however, refers to it as الرسالة الوافية في علم القافية. In MUA it is twice referred to as وافی القوافی also.

Mullā Nūru'd-Dīn 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān-e-Jāmī was born at Kharjird near Jām in Khorāsān on 23rd Sha'bān, 817/7th Nov. 1414, and died at Herāt on 18th Muḥarram, 898/9th November, 1492. He was "one of the most remarkable geniuses whom Persia ever produced, for he was at once a great poet, a great scholar, and a great mystic." For an account of his life and works see Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī, Vol. 16, below; Dawlatshāh's Tazkira; Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iii; Introduction to N. Lees' edition of Nafahātu'l-Uns, Calcutta, 1859; E. FitzGerald, Notice of Jāmī's Life., in his English translation of Salāmān wa Absāl, London, 1879; S. Robinson, Persian Poetry for English Readers, 1833; Rosen, Persian MSS., (where a most detailed account of the priceless autograph of the poet's Kullīyyāt is given and several old errors removed); and Rieu ii pp. 643-650.

Jāmī was greatly admired by Khwāja-e-Jahān Maḥmūd-e-Gāwān, the learned Prime Minister of the Bahmanī Sultāns of Gulbarga, who invited him to come to the Deccan and give the benefit of his learning and guidance to the people of this country. It is interesting to note that about a century before this, Maḥmūd Shāh, a ruling Sultān of the same Bahmanī dynasty, had invited another great Persian Poet, the celebrated Khwājā Ḥāfiẓ of Shīrāz, to the Deccan. The letter of invitation sent by Maḥmūd-e-Gāwān to Jāmī is reproduced in MS. Vol. 10 of this Collection.

This treatise covers pp. 2-7; and begins with:

بعد از تیمن به موزون ترین کلامی که قافیه سنجان انجمن فصاحت به آن تکلم

It was edited and translated by H. Blochmann in his Prosody of the Persians, pp. 75-86, in 1872.

Undated; but for the reasons already mentioned above in the general description of the volume, it belongs in all probability to XIc/XVIIc.

Other copies: Ind. Libr. BBRAS Persian 4 (viii); a couple of treatises on Qāfiya are mentioned in MF, but the author's name is not given; JMB No. 2762, appears to be a commentary; MUA p. 46, No. 4; p. 47, Nos. 12, 14, 15; p. 48, Nos. 28, 30, 31; Bk No. 180 (xvi); IvASB No. 612 (9); IvC Nos. 171, 172 (1); IvS ii No. 969 (12). *For. 2. Risāla dar 'Ilm-e-Qawāfi (رساله در علم قوافی).

This is another treatise on Rhyme in Persian by Amīr Burhānu'd-Dīn 'Aṭāu'llāh b. Maḥmūd-e-Ḥusaynī, who was born at Nishāpūr, studied at Herāt, acquired great proficiency in prosody and figures of speech, and died at Mashhad in 929/1523. Referring to this treatise the Emperor Bābur observes in his Memoirs that the chief defect is that the illustrations are drawn from the author's own poems. "He knew the Arabic "Sciences well" (the Turki text of the Memoirs edited by Ilminski, Cazani, 1857, p. 224, has بولدی عربیه علمی فی; but Khānkhānān's Persian translation reads علوم غریبه; vide MS. No. 2, Univ. Coll. infra) "and also wrote a Persian treatise on Rhyme. The "treatise is well done, but it has the defect that he brings "into it, as his examples, couplets of his own and, assuming "them to be correct, prefixes to each 'as must be observed in "the following couplet by your slave (banda)'..... He wrote "another on the curiosities of verse, entitled بدائع الصنائع "a well written treatise." (A. Beveridge, sec. ii, p. 285). The last sentence in the above passage is more correctly rendered by the Khānkhānān in Persian as follows: عیش اینست که بجفت امثله تمام ابیات خود را آورده دیگر آنکه پیش از هر بیتی لفظ "چنانچه درین بیت آمده (MS. No. 2, Univ. Coll. infra). As stated by the author himself, this Risāla is an extract from the last chapter of his larger work on the Art of Poetry, the Takmilu's-Şinā'at (not Şanā'at as in IvC No. 173; this MS. has a clear kasra below the first letter of the word), written at the direction of and dedicated to the famous minister میر علی شیر, who died in 906/1501. The work is divided into nine chapters (hurūf) corresponding to the nine letters of the Qāfiya, as follows:

- حرف اول در تعریف قافیه (p. 10)
- دوم " تعداد حروف قافیه و بیان حروف روی و حرفیکه پیش ازوست (p. 12)
- سوم " بیان حرفیکه بعد از رویست (p. 17)
- چهارم " " حرکات قافیه (p. 19)
- پنجم " " انواع روی و اوصاف این انواع والقاب قافیه به اعتبار این اوصاف (p. 23)

- (p. 26) حرف ششم در بیان انواع قافیه به اعتبار تقطیع
- (p. 28) هفتم " " عیوب ملقبه قافیه
- (p. 31) هشتم " " غیر ملقبه قافیه
- (p. 33) نهم " " تحقیق حاجب و ردیف

The MS. covers pp. 10-35, and has marginal notes.

Beginning: سپاس بی قیاس صانعی را که تأسیس بدایع مصنوعات ونظم

Dr. Ethe, while describing the copy in the India Office Library, observes: "in this chapter (i. e., حرف دوم) there is "a very interesting discussion on the difference between the "ای و وای معروف and the یای و وای مجهول". This discussion is given here on pp. 15 and 16. Its substance is not given by Dr. Ethe; but, as the subject is interesting and instructive to the student who studies the difference in the classical and the modern pronunciations of these letters in Persian, I give here a very brief summary of it: 'The letters واو and یا when 'used as ردف are either معروف or مجهول; in the former case, the 'ضمه which precedes the واو and the کسره which precedes the 'یا are pronounced fully (اشباع) as in بود and دید; whereas in 'the latter, i. e., مجهول, they are not so pronounced, e. g., in رود (as in rode) and بیست' (the word written here looks like بیت, but it is evident that the latter is out of the question here; therefore I read it as بیست, Bèst, in the sense 'stand or stop'; Farhang-e-Ānandrāj relying on Burhān-e-Qāṭe' clearly explains the meaning and pronunciation of this word as follows: باثانی مجهول یای. 'All are agreed that the use of یای is not allowed; for example شیر (shīr, 'milk) cannot be made to rhyme with شیر (shēr, lion); because 'majhāl yā's were originally, alif's, which latter become yā's 'by imāla. Hence it is that majhāl yā's are made to rhyme 'with those Arabic words which, in their imālated form, are 'well-known in Persian, as in حجب and شکب. The use of وار, as in شور and نور, is generally regarded as 'permissible by old poets, but my master, حضرت استادى مخدومى خجسته

‘فرجای (i.e., Jāmī), has clearly stated (see p. 3 of the preceding ‘MS.) that it is most commendable, nay rather incumbent, that ‘the ma‘rāf and majhūl وار or با should not be used in (the ‘rhyme of) one and the same couplet. In spite of this injunction ‘of his, he himself has made آشوب rhyme with خوب. He seems ‘to have done this deliberately, probably to show that it is not ‘absolutely wrong to do so’. A full and exhaustive account of the nature and the pronunciation of the Yā-e-majhūl is given in my paper on The Unknown Yāzin Persian, published in vol. iii (1922) of the Annals of the Bhandarkar Oriental Research Institute, Poona.

Dated 20th Muḥarram, 1024/19th Febr., 1615. Our MS. is older than the two in IvC; but later than the one in EIO, which is dated 968/1561.

Other copies: Ind. Lib. JMB No. 2758; Asaf i p. 166, Nos. 247, 251; MUA p. 47, No. 23; IvC Nos. 173, 174. For. Libr. RS Nos. 191 (iii), 192, 421 (iv); EB No. 1402; EIO Nos. 2052-2054.

Pp. 10-35. Size and other particulars same as of No. 1 above. Few marginal notes.

3. Risāla-e-‘Arūḡ-e-Sayfī (رسالة عروض سیفی).

A well-known popular treatise on Persian Porsody by Sayfī-e-Bukhārī, surnamed ‘Arūḡī, “the Prosodist”. Sometimes it is styled عروض قافیه and even میزان اشعار from a phrase occurring in the very first sentence. He lived at Herāt at the courts of Sultān Abū Sa‘īd (1459-69), the grandfather of Bābur, and Abū’l-Ghāzī Sultān Ḥusayn Mirzā (1473-1506), the patron of Jāmī. He died probably 909/1503-4. In his Memoirs the Emperor Bābur says about him as follows: “He was a Mullā “complete, who in proof of his Mullāship used to give a list “of the books he had read. He put two Diwāns together, one “being for the use of tradesmen (Harfa-kār), and he also wrote “many fables” (?! Khānkhānān in his Persian translation of Bābur’s Chaghtā’ī Memoirs says (مثل را بسیار گفته) “that he wrote “no Magṇawī is shown by the following quatrain:

مشوی گرچه سنتِ شعراست * من غزل فرضِ عین میدانم
 پنج ییتی که دل پذیر بود * بهتر از خمستین میدانم

"A Persian Prosody he wrote is at once brief and prolix, brief "in the sense of omitting things that should be included and "prolix in the sense that plain and simple matters are detailed "down to the diacritical points, down even to their Arabic "points. He is said to have been a great drinker, a bad drink- "er, and a mightily strong-fisted man". (Beveridge, Sec. ii, p. 288). A poem called محمود وایاز was composed by Sayfi, of which a copy is noticed in Edin. No. 296.

Sayfi's work composed in 896/1490-91 is more full and detailed than that of Jāmī and is "one of the best works on Persian Prosody which we have." It was lithographed at Cawnpore, 1855, at Calcutta, 1865, and at Lahore; edited by H. Blochmann, 1867 (text only), 1872 (text and translation); and translated by G. S. A. Ranking, Bombay, 1885. An Urdū translation of it also was published at Lahore.

Beginning: الحمد لله الذى جعل علم العروض ميزان الاشعار الخ

Dated 8th Şafar, 1024/27th February, 1615.

Other copies: Ind. Libr. JMB Nos. 2763, 2764; MUA p. 47 Nos. 9 and 10; Bk Nos. 846, 847; IvC Nos. 172 (2), 179 (1). For. Libr. R ii p. 525b; RS No. 191 (1); EIO Nos. 2046-48; Edin. No. 358; Pert. Berl. pp. 116, 131, 142, 187.

Pp. 38-94. Size and other particulars same as those of No. 1 above.

4. Ḥadā'iqu'l-Ḥaqā'iq (حدائق الحقائق).

The title, as given in this MS., in the passage quoted below, is حدائق الحقائق, the same as mentioned in Dawlatshāh's Taḏkira (Browne's ed., p. 308); but in Rosen, MSS. (Pers., p. 282), it is more correctly given as حقایق الحدايق. In the Kashfu'z-Zunān. p. 421, it is mentioned as شقائق الحقائق; while in Rieu's Suppl. No. 421 v, it is given as حديقة الحقائق.

This is a treatise on the Figures of Speech by Ḥasan b. Muḥammed ash-Sharaf (Sharafu'd-Dīn) ar-Rāmī. He was a learned poet, well versed in the art of poetry, and the poet-laureate of 'Irāq in the days of Shāh Mansūr b. Muẓaffar, the last of the Muẓaffarids, who was killed in 795/1393. He has also written another work entitled انيس العشاق, regarding which see MS. No. 6 below. He has also left a diwān, in which he has displayed his poetic skill. In the days of Dawlatshāh it was not accessible at Samarqand, but was well-known in 'Irāq, Āzarbāijān, and Fārs. As Rashīd-e-Wāṭwāt's famous book, the Ḥadā'iq's-*Sih*r, dealing with the same subject, was considered too short, the present work was written by order of Sulṭān Uways b. Ḥasan Shāh-e-Īlkhānī (757-776/1356-1375) to serve the purpose of an explanatory commentary on it. The author says (pp. 98-99):

در اثنای بنده پروری حضرت سلطنت پناه خلد [الله] ملکه فرمود که
رشید الدین وطواط قصیده مرصع در حدایق السحر گفته و مدعای او آنست
که از اول تا آخر مرصعست و مفاخرت نموده که در عرب و عجم کسی چنین

It is divided into two parts. The first part comprises fifty (short) sections, and the second ten. References to, or quotations from, Rashīd's work are introduced by the words قول مؤلف in red ink, while the author's observations by قول متصرف also in red ink.

* As in the quotation on p. ۴۰ of the Introd. to the Persian edition of Rashīd's Ḥadā'iq by 'Abbās Iqbāl.

5. Qaṣīda-e-Maṣnū'a (قصیده مصنوعه).

This is the famous artifice-poem (entitled صرح بمرد, see 'Abbās Iqbāl's Introd. to his ed. of Rashīd-e-Waṭwāt's حدائق السحر (سر) by Khwāja Jamālu'd-Dīn Salmān, who was born at Sāwa (whence called Sāwajī) in about 700/1300. He received a good education and attracted the notice of Shaykh Ḥasan-e-Buzurg, the Jalā'ir ruler of 'Irāq (736-57/1335-56), who when he ascended the throne, raised him to high distinction. He wrote beautiful qaṣīdas in praise of Shaykh Ḥasan, his accomplished queen Dilshād Khātūn, and their son, Shaykh Uways. They were composed in imitation of the panegyric poems of Ṣāḥir, Aṣ'ir, Sanā'ī, and Kamāl-e-Iṣfahānī, whom he generally surpassed in subtlety of style and novelty of ideas. He died in 778/1376, leaving behind two maṣnawīs: Firāq-nāmā and Jamshīd wa Khurshīd, and a diwān; but his fame rests chiefly on his qaṣīdas, in which he has fully displayed his skill in the poetic art. For further particulars of his life and works, see Encyc. Islām, Dawlatshāh, She'ru'l-'Ajam, esp. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir's Cat. of Bankipore Or. Publ. Lib., where copious references to Persian and European literature are given and some errors of dates in Rieu and Ette have been corrected. Although the qaṣīda under notice is a panegyric poem in praise of the minister Ghiyāṣu'd-Dīn Maḥmūd, d. 736/1336, (minister to Abū Sa'īd, the Mongol who ruled from 716-736/1316-35), yet it is really designed to serve the purpose of an illustrative treatise on Persian Prosody and Figures of Speech. And that is the reason why it has been included in this volume, along with other treatises on Prosody and Rhetoric. It is composed in imitation of Sayyed Zulfāqār-e-Shirwānī's qaṣīda, concerning which Dawlatshāh says in his Tazkīra (Br. ed. p. 131):

قبل از خواجه سلمان ساوجی کسی در صنعت شعر مثل قصیده ذوالفقار نه گفته است که مجموع صنایع و بدایع شعر را شامل باشد و آن قصیده مشتمل است بر توشیحات و دوائر و زخارفات، و از هر يك بيت چندین مصاریع و آیات ملون در بجز مختلفه اخراج می شود و بیرون می آید، و خواجه سلمان صنعتی چند در قصیده خود زیادت ساخته..... و از قصیده مصنوعه سید بعضی نوشته خواهد شد تا نموداری باشد:

- * چمن شد از گل صد برگ تازه دلبر وار *
- * بهار یافت بهاری زباد در گلزار *
- * نهال چون قد دلبر چنان شود در رقص *
- * لسان فاخته چون بیدلان بنالد زار *
- * ارم ز روی تناسخ بیوستان آید *
- * خزان خزان چو در آید بیاغ باد بهار *

و از هر سه بیت این قصیده بیتی اخراج می شود بدین نسق در بجز مختلفه:

- * گل صد برگ دلبر وار چون در بوستان آید *
- * بهاری باد در گلزار چون بیدل خزان آید *

In the prose preface Salmān says (pp. 178 and 179):

این قصیده ایست شامل بر صنایع و بدایع و اصول و بجز و مزاحفات و منشعبات آن چنانکه شصت و چهار بحر و قریب صدویست صنعت و دوائرسته که اوزان شانزده گانه و تفکیک بجز ازان معلوم گردد دران مندرج است موشع بقطعه چند مصنوع که بیمن دولت حضرت رفیع و سده منیع مخدوم اهل عالم سلطان الوزراء فی الامم غیاث الدین والدین عون الحق و مغیث المسلمین محمد ضاعف الله جلاله بالتائید ذهن حامد کمترین بندکان سلمان ابن محمد الساوجی ابداع کرده است اگرچه قصیده بیت: ما ان مدحت محمد ابمقالتی * لکن مدحت

والقصیده هذه فی مصنوعات العروض.

While describing the copy in the India Office (No. 1241) Dr. Etthe remarks: "The chief subtlety is, that all the words "of two and two or three and three baits, written in red ink, "form together a new distich usually a mathnawi-bait, and "every bait of this kind represents a different metre and a "different tropical figure; for instance from the first two baits "of the qaṣīdah:

صوای[†] صفوت رویت بریخت آب بهار * هوای جنت کویت بیخت مشک تار
اگر خبر ز صفای تو گلستان دارد * گل از حیای رخت جاودان ندارد بار
"there springs this mathnawi-bait in the meter سالم
"and representing الترییع والاشتقاق :

* صوای (صفای) صفوت رویت صفات گلستان دارد *

* هوای جنت کویت حیات جاودان دارد[‡] *

"Besides, (1) all the initial letters of the baits give a kit'ah "of three distichs, containing a dedication to the Wazir Ghiyāth-
"aldīn Muḥammad; (2) from the حشر i.e., specially selected
"letters, of the words in all the first hemistichs springs a kit'ah
"of eight distichs, in which no alif appears; (3) from the حشر
"of the words in all the second hemistichs springs another
"kit'ah of seven distichs, in which no diacritical point appears;
"and (4) by another arrangement of select letters, a ghazal of "five distichs is formed." The ghazal of five distichs mentioned by Dr. Etthe is not found in our MS.

The qaṣīda consists of 158 couplets, from the words of which, in the manner stated above, 60 distichs and 6 hemistichs are formed, each of which illustrates a prosodial measure and at least one figure of speech. In all 64 measures and about 120 figures of speech (as stated by the author himself) have been illustrated. Qit'a No. 1 besides illustrating the موشح serves the purpose of indicating the exact number of couplets in the original qasida. Inasmuch as it is formed from the initial letters of words occurring at the beginning of all distichs of the original poem, the total number of its letters must correspond with the number of distichs in the original poem. The qit'a comprises 154 letters. The qasida ends in a du'a for the patron, and, as the du'a is to be followed by Amen, the number 4 corresponding to the number of letters in that word, (formed by the juxtaposition of the initial letters of the words occurring at the beginning of the last four distichs of the qasida) must be added to it in order to obtain the number 158.

There is a prose preface (p. 178) to the qasida, which begins with:

بعد از حمد و سپاس بی قیاس حضرت احدی را که بوحدانیتش جمیع کائنات

On p. 177, there is a memorandum note, dated 1074/1663-64, which runs as follows:

هذا قصيدة مصنوعة بصنایع وبدایع منسوبة على حضرت المخدومی ملاذی
افصح الشعراى العرب والعجم صاحب الطبل والعلم حامى السیف والقلم خواجه

After the publication of Rashīd-e-Watwāt's epoch-making work, the Ḥadā'iq, several poets of the VII and VIIIth. centuries of the Hijri era, devoted themselves to the development of various kinds of artificial subtleties in their poems and to the composition of قصائد مصنوعه or artifice-poems. The most famous amongst those who preceded Salmān were (1) Fakhru'd-Dīn Qiwāmī Muṭarrizī, brother of the great Nizāmī of Ganja, whose poem goes by the name of الاشعار بدایع البحار فی صنایع الاشعار; (2) Sayyed Zu'lfaqār-e-Shirwānī (VIIc/XIIIc), whose qasida referred to above is entitled مفتاح الكلام في مدائح الكرام; (3) Badr-e-Jājurmī (d. 687/1288); (4) Sharafu'd-Dīn Fazlu'llāh-e-Qazwīnī, whose poem bears the title of نزهة الابصار في معرفة بحور الاشعار and (5) Shams-e-Fakhrī, author of the qaṣīda called مخزن البحور. Amongst those who followed Salmān and imitated him in this respect, the most remarkable is Ahlī of Shīrāz, (d. 942/1535-36) who wrote a قصيدة مصنوعة called مخزن المعاني in praise of امير على شير, containing four different 'subtleties, viz., (a) certain words taken from two and two and three and three bayts, form together a new maṣnawī-bayt, and every new bayt thus developed represents different meter and a different figure of speech; (b) all the first letters of the bayts formed into words give a qiṭ'a; (c) and (d) from the hashw of all the first hemistichs taken together and from the hashw of all the second hemistichs taken together are formed two qiṭ'as each of eight couplets. Ahlī wrote another artifice-poem in praise of Sultān Ya'qūb consisting of eight subtleties; and yet another in praise of Sultān Shāh Ismā'il-e-Ṣafāwī, also consisting of eight subtleties. For the qaṣīdas of Ahlī see EB No. 1027.

Salmān's qaṣīda, under notice, contains explanatory marginal notes opposite to the passages which require to be explained. On one side of the resulting couplet the name of the figure of speech contained in it is given and on the other, that of the measure in which it is composed. The letters and words required for various artifices are written in red ink. The qaṣīda was published in Gulistān-e-Masarrat at Cawnpore in 1851.

6. Anīsu'l-'Ushshāq (انيس العشاق).

By the same Ḥasan b. Muḥammad ash-Sharaf (Sharafu'd-Dīn b. Muḥammad) ar-Rāmī, who is the author of حدايق الحقائق see No. 4 above. Referring to this work, Prof. Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. ii, p. 83) : "A few words, however, must be "added on a work of great utility to students of the erotic poetry "of the Persians. I mean the 'Lover's Companion' (Anīsu'l- " 'Ushshāq) of Sharafu'd-Dīn Rāmi, who flourished in the latter "part of the fourteenth century of our era. This book treats of "the similes which may be employed in describing the various "features of the beloved, and has been translated and annotated "in French by M. Clement Huart, Professor of Persian at the Ecole "des Langues Orientales Vivantes (Paris, 1875). It contains "nineteen chapters, treating respectively of the hair, the forehead, "the eyebrows, the eyes, the eyelashes, the face, the down on the "lips and cheeks, the mole or beauty spot, the lips, the teeth, the "mouth, the chin, the neck, the bosom, the arm, the fingers, "the figure, the waist, and the legs. In each chapter the author "first gives the various terms applied by the Arabs and Per- "sians to the part which he is discussing, differentiating them "when any difference in meaning exists; then the metaphors "used by writers in speaking of them, and the epithets applied "to them, the whole copiously illustrated by examples from the "poets. Thus the eyebrows (in Persian abrū, in Arabic ḥājib) "may be either joined together above the nose (muttaṣil), which "is esteemed a great beauty, or separated (munfaṣil), and they "are spoken of by the Persian poets by thirteen metaphors or "metaphorical adjectives. Thus they may be compared to crescent "moons; bows; rainbows; arches; miḥrābs; the letter nūn, ن; the "letter Kāf, ک; the curved head of the mallet or polo-stick; the "dāgh or mark of ownership branded on a horse or other domestic "animal; and the tughrā, or royal seal on the letters-patent of "beauty. In the case of the hair the number of metaphors and "metaphorical adjectives of which the use is sanctioned is much "greater: in Persian, according to our author, "these are, pro- "perly speaking, sixty; but, since one can make use of a much "larger number of terms, the hair is spoken of metaphorically "as 'that which possesses a hundred attributes'"; of which at- "tributes a copious list is appended." The MS. begins (p. 214) with :

حمد و ثنای خالق را علت حکمتی که در مبداء خلقت وجود خاکینارا

The treatise is dedicated to Shaykh Uways-e-Īlkhānī (757-776/1356-1375). The dedication, not found in IvASB No. 337, is present in our copy. Haj. Khal. gives 826/1423 as the date of its composition; but since Sulṭān Uways, to whom it is dedicated reigned up to 776/1375, a later date must be incorrect. The treatise was lithographed with حواس الحیران of Muḥammad Taqī-e-Tabrizī, Persia, 1279-1283; translated and annotated by Cl. Huart, Bibl. de l'Ecole., Paris, 1875.

7. Qaṣīda-e-Muṣanna' (قصیده مصنع).

This is the famous artifice-poem by Qiwāmī, sometimes called قصیده بدیع about which Professor Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers. ii, p. 47): "The more important of these artifices of the Persian rhetoricians and poets are illustrated in a qaṣīda-i-muṣanna', "or 'artifice-qasida', composed by the poet Qiwāmī of Ganja, "brother of the celebrated Nidhāmī of Ganja, who flourished in "the twelfth century of our era. This qaṣīda comprises 101 bayts, "or verses, and is given on pp. 198-201 of vol. i of Ziyā Pāshā's "Kharābāt." He then reproduces it "line by line, with prose "translation, and running commentary as to the nature of the "rhetorical figures which it is intended to illustrate." Although it is stated here that the qaṣīda consists of 101 bayts, only 100 are quoted in the book. Our MS. also contains 100 only. Ten couplets numbered 53-62, in the Lit. Hist. Pers. illustrate the figure of speech called Lughaz or riddle, in respect of which Prof. Browne says: "These riddles are generally very obscure, and "I regret to say that of the one here given I do not know the "answer." Our MS. gives the answer. The riddle is on Love ('ishq). Couplet No. 70 illustrates the figure of speech called mujarrad concerning which Prof. Browne remarks that it "is not mentioned in the books at my disposal, and I do not see wherein its peculiarity consists." Our MS. mentions the name of the figure of speech in such a manner as to explain the peculiarity it consists of. It mentions it as مجرد من الالف i. e., free from the letter alif. No doubt there is an alif in the last word of the first hemistich, viz., ast, but according to the rules of classical orthography, it is not to be written after a sākin letter with which it is generally joined. It is not written in our MS. There is another alif in the last word of the couplet, viz., tār; but because it is the qāfiya or rhyme-word it does not count just as the rhyme-word does not count in a قصيدة مرصع. It is true that ordinary books on Persian Figures of Speech do not mention the Figure mujarrad; but I find that Ashrafu'l-Inshā by Mawlawī Ashraf 'Alī of Nasik (formerly Professor of Persian, Elphinstone College, Bombay) explains it under the name of محذوف الحرف and gives 28 varieties of it corresponding to the 28 letters of the alphabet, from each of which one letter is excluded. The text of the qaṣīda, as given in our MS., contains some important variants, which are decidedly better than the readings given by Prof. Browne. For these variants and a detailed study of this qaṣīda see my article on it in the JBBRAS for November, 1925.

Each of the figures of speech is written here in red ink facing the couplet which illustrates it.

9. Risāla fī Fann'il 'Arūḡ (رساله فی فن العروض).

This is a short treatise containing 31 qit'as of four hemistichs each and illustrating 31 prosodial measures. The third hemistich forms the measure and the other three are composed thereon. It is by the famous poet Rashīd-e-Waṭwāt, who flourished at the courts of Ātsiz (535-551/1140-56) and of his son Īl-Arsalān (551-68/1156-1172) and who died, 578/1182. For his life and works, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers.; Dawlatshāh, and other tazkiras. For a critical study, see the Introd. to Rashīd's ḥadāiq al-saḥr, Tehrān ed. by 'Abbās Iqbāl.

MAṬĀLE'U'L-ANWĀR (مطالع الانوار).

So called in IvASB No. 62 and in EIO No. 163, but the title given in this MS. is مطالعة انوار وترجمة الآثار. The name of the author is clearly given on fol. 1b, line 2, as 'Afif Nūr-e-Kāsānī (Kāshānī). Rieu (iii, p. 1037a) calls him 'Afif Navā Kāshānī, and his book مطلع الانوار; while Ethe (EB No. 141), 'Afifah Nūr-i-Kāshānī. In Asaf. (p. 880. No. 57) the author is called 'Afif Nūr-e-Kāshefi (?). It is a history of the Prophet Muḥammad and his four successors, together with a short account of the Umayyid Khalifate and a chapter on eschatology. It is based on Commentaries of the Qur'ān, Wāqidi, Akhbārul-Ākhira, Risāla-e-Imām Maṣṣūr-e-'Abharī, 'Umdatul-Ma'rifa (Ethe has Tamhīdu'l-Ma'rifa). It is divided into 21 chapters. Chapters i-xvii are devoted to the life of the Prophet; while chap. xviii gives a sketchy account of the four Orthodox Khalifs. While speaking of 'Abdu'llāh b. Saffāh the author says (fol. 72b):

خلافه بر عبد الله سفاح داد که نبیره (نبیره) امیر المومنین عباس بود رضی الله عنه درخانه عباسیان استقامه یافت تا امروز درخانه ایشانست

From this it would follow that the book was composed before the extinction of the 'Abbāsīd Khalifate, i.e., before 656/1258; but M. Ivanow states (IvASB No. 62) that it was composed in the Xth century of the Hijri era. On what authority he does so is not stated. Rieu (i, p. 85a) mentions Maṭālī'ul-Anwār as one of the sources of Ta'rikh-e-Muḥammadī by Muḥammad Bihāmad-Khānī, composed in 842/1438-39. In the first part of this latter work, the author narrates "the history of Muḥammad, the trial and anguish of the grave, the abode of the soul after death, resurrection and last judgment." If it is 'Afif's Maṭālī'u'l-Anwār, it would follow that it was composed before 842 A.H. After chap. xviii, comes a section on the building of the Ka'ba (fol. 72b). It is followed by sections on بیان آخرت (f. 77b), قیامت (f. 79b), خروج دابه الارض (f. 80b), آمدن یاجوج و ماجوج (f. 83b), نزول مهتر عیسی (f. 81), دجال و خروج او (f. 84), معاتبه و مجادله و امتیاز (f. 85b), حشر و نشر (f. 84b), خروج دابه (f. 84), تعذیب عرصات مومنان (f. 94b), دوزخ و پل صراط (f. 90), مومنان از کافران الخ (f. 100).

PANCHHĪ-BĀCHĀ (پنچھی باچا).

This is a versified Dakhnī translation of the famous Persian poem entitled Manṭiqu't-Tayr of Farīd'ud-Dīn 'Aṭṭār. It is generally known as Panchhī-nāma, under which title it was published in Bombay in 1312/1895. But on the last page of that edition it is called Bāchā Panchhī. In our MS. the name appears more correctly as Panchhī Bāchā, which is a literal translation of the Persian title. In the epilogue (خاتمه) fol. 110b, the poet says :

ناؤن اسکا مین پنچھی باچا رکھیا * یاد کاری خلق عالمکون دیا

The printed Bombay edition omits the last 26 couplets. Moreover its text is generally less correct than that of our MS. The name of the author (not given in the book) appears on the title-page of the Bombay edition as Wajhu'd-Dīn, but elsewhere as Wajihu'd-Dīn. He was an inhabitant of Karnūl and had adopted Wajdī as his takhalluṣ, which is found in the poem itself. The Khātima opens with the couplet:

شکر [کر] وجدی کہ بروجہ صواب * ختم ہوئی توفیق حق سون یو کتاب

See Urdū-e-Qadīm by Shamsu'llāh Qādirī (pp. 92, 93), where it is stated that besides this poem (called there Panchhī-Bāchhā (for Bāchā, Sans. Wāchā, language) he also translated another sufiistic Persian poem also by 'Aṭṭār, viz., Gul o Hormuz (also called Khusraw-nāma or Khusraw o Gul), under the title of Tuhfa-e-'Ashiqān, in the year 1153/1740-41. Naṣīru'd-Dīn Hāshimī, however, in his Dakan men Urdū (p. 97) observes that as Tuhfa-e-'Ashiqān was composed in 1015/1606-07, it could not be the work of Wajdī, but that it was written by another poet of the same takhalluṣ. Hāshimī's remarks appear to have been based on a misunderstanding of the مصرعہ تاریخی, viz., پیچانو اسی. تحفہ عاشقان. Both Qādirī and Hāshimī quote this hemistich, but deduce from it different dates: the former deduces 1153/1740-41 from the whole of the hemistich, while the latter 1015/1606-07, from only the last two words of it. The poet's couplet, from which these deductions have been made, runs as follows:

دسی اسکی تاریخ مجکون عیان * پیچانو اسی تحفہ عاشقان

Both the writers, however, state that the author of the پنجمی wrote another maṣnawī called باغ جانفرا, in 1145/1732-33, which date is yielded by the title itself. The date of composition of پنجمی باجا, as given by Hāshimī, is 1155/1742-43, but that given by Qādirī is 1146/1733-34. The latter is based on the chronogram given by the poet himself in the khātima (fol. 110b), viz., کیا خاصا کتاب, the numerical value of which is 1146. Bibl. Morg. Gesich. gives 1115, which is the numerical value of the last two words, viz., خاصا کتاب only. Blumhardt† gives the name of the author as ضعیف (!), in support of which he quotes the following lines:

† Catalogue of Hindustani MSS. in the India Office, 1926, No. 121.

جی موافق فہم اپنی کی ضعیف * اس کتاب خاصہ کا نظم شریف

قصد کر دکھنی زبان میں لیکھ آون * تارہی دنیا میں میرا بھی ناون (ہکذا)

He further says that "it was composed in A.H. 1131 (A.D. 1719), as expressed by the chronogram کتاب : یو خاصا کتاب :

”جب کیا تاریخ کا دل میں حساب * تب ہوا میزان میں یو خاصا کتاب“

Etthe (EIO No. 1031, 5) says: "Two Hindusthānī translations "of the Mantik-āltair are preserved in Nos. 2375 and 2817 (the "latter in Dakhnī verses) of the India Office Collection."

Beginning : ای پنچھی پیاری سخن آغاز کر * حمدسون حق کی بلند آواز کر

The poem was printed at Bombay in 1280/1863-64; 1312/1894-95; 1319/1901; and at Madras in 1272/1855-56, and 1314/1896-97. The Bombay editions contain modernised or revised spelling and are wanting in a few lines towards the end. The Madras edition of 1272/1855-56 is said to be very correct and to agree with MSS. (see Shamsu'llāh Qādirī, p. 94). The text of the few extracts given on page 99 of Hāshimī's book, Dakan men Urdū, is found on comparison with our MS. to be corrupt and defective. This MS. once belonged to Mr. 'Adu'r-Rahmān Khān, father of the late Ja'far 'Alī Khān of Poona mentioned in Vol. 2 above.

NUZHATU'L-MULŪK (نزهة الملوك).

In this book, the author Sulaymān Muḥammad-e-Bulghārī (fol. 4) narrates a few stories connected with past kings. The stories are embellished with suitable Arabic and Persian poetic quotations. In this MS. the name of the Sulṭān to whom it is dedicated is left out, evidently with the intention of writing it afterwards in the blank space with red or golden ink. The title is mentioned on fol. 6b. It is divided into 10 chapters, each containing two stories. These stories are related by two beauties گلچهر and سمن بوی in the presence of the king فرخ زاد; they illustrate the 10 chapters which treat of (f. 18) the following subjects:

- باب اول در فضیلتِ عدل
 " دوم " " " حلم
 " سیوم " " " شجاعت
 " چهارم " " " سخاوت

NUSKHA-E-'ĀLAMGĪRĪ (نسخه عالمگیرى).

This is a collection of Letters (called in the colophon belonging to the period of Awrangzeb's Shāhzādagī, * Flügel's ed., No. 18731. The full title is زُمة الملوك والاعیان فى اخبار القیان المغنیات الدوائل. It is further stated that the work contains لطائف مستحسنه و اخبار مستظرفة من اخبار القیان. قدیمین و حدیثین و شرح احوالین.

that is, before his accession to the throne. They were written for him by his Munshī (Abu'l-Fath) Qābilkhān and revised and corrected by the prince himself. Abu'l-Fath, who received the title of Qābilkhān in the first year of the reign of Awrangzeb, retired from office in the second year and died in the fifth (1072-73/1661-63). Describing another collection of letters belonging to the same period and written by the same Munshī, called آداب عالمگیری (collected by Muḥammad Sādiq of Ambāla, the Munshī of Prince Akbar, the youngest son of Awrangzeb), Mr. Najīb Ashraf, M.A., (now Lecturer, Ismā'īl College, Andherī), says in his مقدمة رفقات عالمگیری (pp. 38-41) that a new (hitherto unknown) copy has been discovered by his friend, M. Abū 'Umar Ṣāleḥ Yāfe'ī, (of Hyderabad, Deccan), which contains the letters found in the Ādāb-e-'Ālamgīrī, but the number of letters contained in it is very small, the arrangement different, and the introduction entirely different from that of Ṣādiq's collection. From this he concludes that somebody else has also attempted to collect these letters. Then he quotes a passage from the Introduction, which is exactly the same as that with which our MS. opens (unfortunately the first page or pages of our MS. are lost) and which proves beyond doubt that our MS. is another copy of the same collection as has been found by Yāfe'ī. In the passage under reference our MS. adds تمته (not found in Yāfe'ī's copy) after the name of the author ابوالفتح قابل خان مرحوم. The addition of the name Thatha is significant, as it shows that the author belonged to that city in Sind. Another quotation from Yāfe'ī's copy, viz.,

جامعہ اوراق کہ اصحاب فن آن را دوست دار و کلام این قوم را آرزو مند است، کلام الملوك ملوك الكلام دانسته چندین ازان جراید..... فراهم آورد.

given on pp. 39 and 40 of Najīb Ashraf's book reads more correctly in our MS. as follows:

جامعہ اوراق کہ اصحاب فن انشا را دوست دار و کلام این قوم را آرزو مند
کلام الملوك ملوك الكلام دانسته..... الخ

This collection, as stated by the collector (fol. 1b), is divided into 9 Maqālas as follows:

MU'AYYIDU'L-FUẒALĀ (مؤيد الفضلاء).

A very valuable Persian-Persian dictionary, in which besides Persian words, Arabic and Turkish words and expressions occurring in classical Persian poets are explained by Shaykh Muḥammad b. Shaykh Lād of Delhī, completed (according to Blochmann, Cotributions p. 9), 925/1519. The author undertakes to explain all difficult words and phrases occurring in Firdawsī's Shāhnāma, Nizāmī's Poems, Sanā'ī's Poems, Diwāns of Khāqānī, Anwārī, Zāhīr, Sa'dī, Salmān, Ḥāfiz, and 'Abharī. The work is divided into kitābs, bābs, and faṣls. The kitābs are arranged alphabetically according to the first letter and the bābs according to the last. Each bāb is sub-divided into three faṣls; the first is devoted to Arabic words and phrases generally found in the works of Persian poets, the second to Persian and Pahlawi words, and the third to Turkish words.

Our MS. is defective and incomplete. The first three folios and those after the word کریفت are written in a different hand and supplied later. The other folios are in clear nasta'liq and enclosed in golden and blue jadwals. The last word explained is ملطوط, and the MS. ends with فصل في العربي. It once belonged to Mr. 'Abdu'r-Raḥmānkhān, father of the late Ja'far 'Alīkhān of Poona mentioned in Volume 2 above.

TA'RĪKH-E-AḤMAD (تاریخ احمد شاه دُرّانی).
SHĀH-E-DURRĀNĪ

This is a history of the famous Afghān King, Aḥmad Shāh-e-Durrānī (the founder of the modern kingdom of Afghānistān, who reigned from 1160-87/1747-73) by Munshī Maḥmūd b. Ibrāhīm al-Ḥusaynī. The author, who enjoyed the company of Mirzā Mahdī Khān, the famous secretary-historian of Nādir Shāh and author of Jahāngushā-e-Nādirī, which was much admired by the Afghān King, was appointed by the latter in 1167/1753-54 to the office of the State Chronicler. He had intended to write an account of His Majesty's glorious deeds. But before he could do so, he received royal orders to write the present work, which records the history of the reign of the Afghān King. Unfortunately our MS. is incomplete. It begins with the commencement of the rule of the King and comes down to the battle with اهل فطنانیه و ترکانیه, which is the last event described here. It ends with the following words:

جمعی از نهنگان لجّه شجاعت را از میان بحر خون خوار و دریای آتشبار لشکر
نصرت شعار جدا برگزیده جدا ساخته

Practically the account of the invasion of India is wholly wanting in this MS. A list of contents is given in Rieu i, p. 213.

SHARḤ-E-RISĀLA-E-MU'AMMĀ (شرح رساله معما).

This is an extensive but incomplete commentary on Mīr Ḥasan-e-Ḥusaynī's treatise on Mu'ammā or logogriphs. Mīr Ḥusaynī of Nīshāpūr, the famous writer of mu'ammās, lived at the court of Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mirzā and died in 904/1498. He had composed his great work entitled رساله در معما at the request of میر علی شیر. A Persian commentary on it called Sharḥ-e-Ruknī is mentioned in R ii, p. 650, and EB No. 1356, and another in Bk vol. ix, No. 897, but neither of them begins as our MS. does. The commentator's name is not given in the MS. It begins as follows:

بنام آنکه از تالیف و ترکیب * معمای جهان را داد ترتیب with which undoubtedly the Risāla-e-Mu'ammā of Mīr Ḥusaynī opens (see RS p. 127, No. 194). After this the commentary begins with the following words:

ظاهر آن می نماید که لفظ بنام که بمعنی جار و مجرور است متعلق باشد بلفظ
ابتداء میکنم

The first page is mutilated; a few words towards the end of it are wanting. Names are written and textual couplets overlined in red ink. The last mu'ammā explained is in the name of غیات. It begins with حکایتی فرمودی. The MS. ends with the following words:

TA'RĪKH-E-FIRISHTA (تاریخ فرشته).

This is the first volume of the famous general history of India, from the oldest times to 1015/1606-07, also called گلشن کائنات, تاریخ نورسنامه فرشته and ابراهیمی, composed by Muḥd. Qāsim Hindūshāh of Astarābād, commonly known as Firishta. This work was dedicated by the author to his patron, Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur, (988-1037/1580-1627). The author was born at Astarābād in 960/1552-53. He came to India with his father, in early life, entered the service of Murtaẓā Nizām Shāh of Ahmednagar (972-996/1565-1588), and was appointed captain of the royal guard. But when his patron was murdered, he left Ahmednagar for Bijapur in 998/1589-90, and was patronized by Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh II, (988-1037/1580-1627), who commanded him to write this history. When it was completed it was presented to him in 1015/1606-07. The 'Ādil Shāh sent Firishta on an embassy to Jahāngīr at Lahore. Besides this history, he wrote a medical work entitled دستورالاطباء. For further details of his life and work see BL i Nos. 536-540, Morl pp. 63-68, Bk Nos. 538-39, and Elliot vi. Lithographed in Bombay and Poona, 1831, 32; 2nd ed. Lucknow, 1281/1864-65. The Ta'rikh was translated into English by J. Briggs in his History of the Rise of the Mahomedan Power in India, 4 Vols., Lond. 1829, (with the exception of the XIIth maqāla, which deals with the Muslim saints of India). Regarding this translation Dr. Rieu remarks: "It is much to be regretted that the incon-

"testable usefulness of General Briggs' valuable work should "have been in some measure impaired by a general looseness of "translation, occasional inaccuracy in the writing of proper names,
"and, above all, by frequent and arbitrary omissions."* See also Raverty's remarks in the Introd. to his translation of Tabaqāt-e-Nāṣirī. Former translations of select portions of the same work are Dow's History of Hindostan, Lond., 1768; J. Scott's History of Dekkan, Shrewsbury, 1794; and Anderson's Account of Malabar, Asiatic Miscellany, 1786. The whole work is divided into a Muqaddama, 12 Maqālas, and a Khātima. Our MS. is the first vol., which ends with the death of Akbar, 1014/1605, i.e., with the end of Maqāla II. On fol. 1b, a list is given of the names of the 12 Shī'a Imāms and the عشرة مبشرة in red ink. On the same page is written in black ink the wellknown tradition of the Prophet concerning the 73 divisions of his followers, together with a Persian translation of it. Fol. 2 contains the names of the martyrs who fell in the battle of Karbalā. Sources of the history on fol. 6a and b. Fols. 2-59 and 64 and 65 on blue paper.

RIYĀZU'L-INSHĀ (ریاض الانشاء).

This is a collection of Letters, official and private, written by خواجه (خواجه جهان) عبادالدین محمد بن محمد گیلانی better known as محمود گیلانی, the celebrated minister of the Bahmanī Sultāns. The Khwāja was born in 1405 A.D. at Qāwān (in Gīlān), from which he came to be known in India as Gāwān. While returning from a pilgrimage to Mecca, he visited India as a merchant, landed at Dabhol, and proceeded to Bidar, the Bahmanid capital, where he was well received by the reigning Sultān, who appointed him, in course of time, to posts of great responsibility, trust, and power. He established peace and order in Telingana and other parts of the kingdom and conquered the Konkan and Goa. "But the chief service which he rendered to the Bahmanid kingdom was the reform of its administration" (Haig). At last Jealousy brought about his ruin, and he was mercilessly beheaded in 886/1481 by order of Sultān Muḥammadshāh-e-Bahmanī (867-887/1463-82). For his life see Encyc. of Islam, where a Bibl. is also given. This collection of elegant letters is sometimes called روضة الانشاء, but here on page 15, it is called ریاض الانشاء. It is written in a highflown, artistic style, freely mixed with Arabic quotations from the Qur'ān, the Traditions, and Arabic and Persian Poets, and interspersed with lines of his own composition. Some of the letters are of historical interest, e.g., the one written to the famous poet Jāmī inviting him to come to the Deccan (pp. 24–29), another to Khwāja ‘Ubaydu’llāh (pp. 29–39), a third to Sultān Muḥammad b. Sultān Murād Beg Rūmī (pp. 39–44), a fourth to Sharafu’d-Dīn ‘Alī-e-Yazdī, a fifth to Maḥmūd Shāh-e-Gujrātī on behalf of the author’s patron Muḥammad Shāh-e-Bahmanī, and a sixth to the contemporary ruler of Gilān. There are also letters addressed to ministers, the author’s brother, his own son, and other relatives. Besides this collection of letters, he also wrote مناظر الانشاء on Epistolography and elegant prose-composition, with special reference to Rhetoric, Prosody, and Figures of Speech.

LİLĀWATĪ (لیلوتی).

The Persian translation of Bhāskarāchārya's celebrated work on Arithmetic and Geomētry, made by Fayyāzī by the order of Akbar in 995/1587 (fol. 2b). Fayzī, the poet laureate of Akbar and elder brother of Abu'l-Fazl, was born at Agra in 954/1547-48, and died on the 10th Ṣafar, 1004/5th October, 1595. He was a deep scholar of Arabic, Persian and Sanskrit literatures, and well versed in theology, philosophy, philology, history, epistolography etc. Besides a Diwān, he is said to have written a hundred books. He had projected a complete parallel to the khamṣa of Nizāmī (see Vol. 13, of the Bombay University Collection noticed below). Besides translating Līlāwatī and the Mahābhārat from Sanskrit, he wrote a Commentary on the Qur'ān, called سواطع الالهام. This as well as his other work, موارد الكلم * contain no dotted letters, and is an imperishable monument to his genius. For his life etc., see دربار اکبری, شعر العجم, ماثر الامرا, منتخب التواريخ, آئین اکبری (vol. iii, pp. 716-738), اکبر نامه, ماثر الکرام (vol. iii, pp. 299-310, from which a passage is translated in Elliot's History of India, vol. v, pp. 544-93; Blochmann's Ā'in-e-Akbarī, p. 490, etc. A good sketch of his life is given in Bk ii, No. 261. In the preface, after a panegyric on Akbar, Fayzī says (fols. 2a and b) that by the order of the Emperor, he translated into Persian the Līlāwatī from the Hīndī (i.e. Sanskrit), composed by Bhāskarāchārya (بها سکرا چارج, fol. 2b), a native of Bidar in the Deccan. The date of the composition of this work, continues Fayzī, is not known, but that the Pandit wrote his other work on Astronomy entitled کرن کتومل (fol. 2b, line 6) (not بی کرن کتومل as in Rieu p. 450), in the year 1105 of the Shālivahān era, (1183 A.D.) wellknown in Hindosthān, i.e., 405 lunar years (not 373 as in Rieu) before the "current year", i.e., the 32nd of the Ilāhī era (995/1587). Weber (Ind. Lit. p. 261) also says that Karana Kutuhala was completed in Sake 1105/1183. M. 'Abdu'l Muqtadir (Bk xi, No. 1031) calls it بکرن کتومل (probably after Rieu, which is evidently a mistake for کرن کتومل, the first letter 'b' is part of the preceding expression به موسوم به) and assigns to it the date 995/1587, which is a mistake for the date of the completion of Fayzī's translation of the Līlāwatī.

* Mawāridu'l-Kilām, not Kalām as read by Brockl. ii, p. 417. The full title is موارد الكلم.
 . و سلك الدور الحكم

According to Lassen,† Bhāskarāchārya flourished about 1150 A.D. After the above reference to Bhāskarāchārya, Fayzī mentions what he had heard about the circumstances which led to the composition of the work in the name of the Pandit's daughter, Līlāwatī. He adds that the translation was made with the help of expert astronomers from the Deccan and that the Sanskrit technical terms were allowed to remain as they were in the original.

Colebrooke's translation of the original Sanskrit was published in 1817 in London; and its second edition with the addition of notes and the Sanskrit text was issued by H. C. Banerji at Calcutta, 1927. On comparing the Persian manuscript with Mr. Banerji's edition, I find that it ends with the XIth Chapter on the Shadow of a Gnomon. This MS. is, therefore, incomplete, the last two chapters having been left out. In this MS. some examples, diagrams, and a few headings of sections are given in red ink; in other places blank spaces are left for the insertion of similar entries and figures. بدائع الفنون, a treatise on Arithmetic, based on the Līlāwatī is in the nature of a commentary on it. It is dedicated to the Emperor Awrangzeb and is mentioned in EIO No. 2259 and IvASB No. 1497. The name of the author, as given in the former, is Dharam Narāyan, but in the latter it is mentioned as Mednīmal, son of Dharamdās Narāyan. A Persian adaptation entitled مفتاح العجايب or ترجمه لیلواتی by قاضی حسن ابن خواجه محمد طاهر is mentioned in MRD.

'NĀMA-E-KHIYĀLAT' ('نامه خیالات').

Called here نامه خیالات, but noticed by Dr. Etthe (EIO No. 1221) under the title of انشاء امیر خسرو and by M. Ivanow (IVC No. 126) under that of عنوان نامه خیالات. The latter are the words with which the work (both in the copy of M. Ivanow and in this copy, but not in that of the India Office) opens, but which can hardly give it the abovementioned title. The opening sentence runs as follows:

عنوان نامه خیالات از مثنوی صاحب کلمات صوری ومعنوی امیر خسروی
دهلوی بیازاست

Describing the copy in the India Office, Dr. Etthe says: "Letters on Sufic topics, mystic love, Persian and Indian music,
"and similar subjects, written in a very flowery prose style,
"intermixed with numerous verses, by Amīr Khusraw, forming "a sequel to the preceding work on Epistolography, the رسائل اعجاز."
M. Ivanow observes, in the description of his copy, that it is "a short collection of epistolary specimens, chiefly dealing with "Sufic matters by the same Amīr Khusraw. It is also called "انشاء امیر خسرو." Both the scholars have taken it to be a work of the famous Dehli poet. On a close examination, however,
I find that the internal evidence is so strong against that view that it is impossible to attribute it to him. Many of the “numerous verses” quoted in the Letters are introduced by the names of their authors, such as Rūmī, Nizāmī, ‘Aṭṭār, Pīr-e-Anṣār, Sanā’ī, and others. But amongst these are also to be found Ḥāfiẓ (ff. 9b, 11, 13, 15b, and 17), Kātibī (f. 14b), Shāhī-e-Sabzawārī (f. 15b), Hilālī (f. 21b), and Bahrām Saqqā-e-Bardawānī (as in the copy in Vol. 46 below), who died 66, 114, 132, 211, and 245 years respectively after Khusraw! In this copy (f. 6b) instead of Bahrām, Ṭālib Kalīm is mentioned, who died 336 years after Khusraw! Again, the author advises his son, in a lengthy letter (reproduced in full in the copy in Vol. 46 below, but incomplete here), to read the عیار دانش, which is a wellknown work of Abu’l-Faẓl, who died 286 years after Amīr Khusraw!

In addition to the love letters written by the author to his friends, in which he uses technical terms relating to music, the rainy season, the games of chess and ganjafa, archery, the names of Indian flowers, etc., there is a letter addressed to one Sayyed Shamsu’d-Dīn, whose advent into the Deccan (? f. 12) is said to have proved very beneficial to the people. There is another letter addressed to one Miān ‘Abdu’sh-Shakūr (f. 12). The author says that on receipt of a letter from him, he opened for an omen the copy of Diwān-e-Ḥāfiẓ which he had before him at the time (f. 13). Another letter on f. 15b refers to the death of an admired friend of the writer, who fell in the ‘assault on Qandahār’. It seems that the work has been compiled by some Shī’a scholar [for he says that salvation depends upon one’s loving the Ahl-e-Bayt and that he who loves them is a saint like Bāyazīd, but that he who does not is associated with Yazīd (Bā-Yazīd)], who lived in XI c/XVII c. Beginning as stated above with:

عنوان نامه خیالات از مشنوی صاحب کالات صوری ومعنوی امیر خسروی

The MS. is incomplete. The words (occurring in a long letter addressed to his son) with which it ends are:

از برکت این فنا فی الله نیز دست خواهد داد

For the remaining portion of this letter and subsequent maktûbs, see Vol. 46 below.

Ff. 22-23b contain the concluding portion of a Persian mag-nawt dealing with the Prophet's efforts to obtain salvation for his followers and his daughter's supplication for the same. On f. 23b, lines 2 and 3 run as follows:

گفت می گوید خداوند ای رسول * من دعای فاطمه کردم قبول
جمله امت را ییامرزیدمش * از سر لطف و کرم بخشیدمش
گر طلب کردی همه خلق جهان * جمله را بخشیدی در یک زمان

The last couplet is:

INTIKHĀB AZ MUNTA-
KHAB-E-ḤADĪQA (انتخاب از منتخب حدیقه).

This MS. contains selections (انتخاب) from earlier selections (منتخب) from Sanā'ī's famous poem, the Ḥadīqa, said to have been made by Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Attār (d. 627/1228). Abu'l-Majd Majdūd b. Ādam Sanā'ī (born about 464/1071-72) sang the praises of the Ghaznawid Sulṭān Bahrām Shāh (512-547/1118-1152) and the Saljūqid Sanjar (511-552/1117-1157), wrote the Ḥadīqa in 525/1131 and six other mag-nawts, and died in all probability in 545/1150-51. For his life and work, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii; She'ru'l-'Ajam; EB; EIO; R; and Bk No. 17, where the question of the authorship of the غریب نامه, attributed to Sanā'ī by Dr. Ethe, is fully discussed and the maghawī is correctly attributed to Banā'ī and not to Sanā'ī. Regarding the conflict of dates, see EB and EIO; but the latest contribution to the study of the dates of his birth, death, and composition of the Ḥadīqa is an article in Urdu by the learned Mawlawī Sayyed Sulaymān Nadwī, Director of the Shiblī Academy at A'zamgarh, published in the Ma'ārif of March, 1933. For a life of 'Aṭṭār, see Vol. 24 below. On folio No. 1 a memorandum note says that it is (سنائی) منتخب حدیقه, and that it consists of 1,001 couplets. It also appears from this note that the MS. once belonged to Muḥammad Amīn and that afterwards it became the property of one قبول الله. Some selections consisting of about 1,200 couplets of Sanā'ī's voluminous Ḥadīqa are attributed to Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār. They are called منتخب حدیقه (see Bk Nos. 19 and 20). He is said to have made a subsequent abridgement of this Muntakhab, consisting of 1,001 couplets included in the MS. under notice. On fol. 2 the author says:

[پیش ازین] داعی از پی سببی * کرده بود از حدیقه منتخبی
[دوستی در کمال] سیرت فرد * روزی آن منتخب مطالعه کرد
[گفت ازین جمله] باز بیرون آر * انتخابی برای استحضار
خاطر آن التماس اجابت کرد * ازوی این مختصر برون آورد
هست بر وفق اسم ذات وصفات * عدد آن هزار و یک ایات

Although it is stated here and also on fol. 1a that the MS. consists of 1,001 couplets, yet this MS. actually contains 944 verses only. The Bankipur copy contains about 800 verses. The last couplet here is:

پانصد و بست و چار و فته ز عام * پانصد و بست و پنج گشته تمام after which there are the catchwords: وابد الامر ازو, from which it is clear that the copy is incomplete. The date 525/1131 is the date of the completion of Sanā'ī's Ḥadīqa. The blank spaces in the body of the text are meant for the headings of sections, not given here but mentioned in EIO No. 925.

QAṢĀ'ID-E-MASHRABĪ (قصائد مشربی).

The volume bears the title of Dīwān-e-Khāqānī, but a careful examination has revealed the fact that it is a composite MS., the first part of which consists of qaṣā'id and the second of a maṣnawī. Some of the qaṣīdas are in imitation of those of Khāqānī, and that is probably the reason why the volume has been labelled Dīwān-e-Khāqānī. On fol. 5 the qaṣīda which opens with:

خود را باصل خویش بصدف در آورم * لولو به بحر ولعل بمعدن در آورم is in imitation of Khāqānī's qaṣīda, beginning with:

هر صبح پای صبر بدامن در آورم * پرگار عجز گرد دل وتن در آورم

On fol. 6b the qaṣīda which begins with:

طبع دل داغ تمنا بر تابد بیش ازین * دوش سر هم بار سودا بر تابد بیش ازین is in imitation of Khāqānī's poem which opens with the following couplet:

کوی عشق آمد شد ما بر تابد بیش ازین * دامن تر بردن آنجا بر تابد بیش ازین

The poem on fol. 8 commencing with:

کو بخت که کام جان به ییتم * کام از لب دلستان به ییتم has for its model Khāqānī's qaṣīda beginning with:

هر صبح که نو جهان به ییتم * از منزل جان نشان به ییتم

These qaṣīdas are in praise of the Arabian Prophet and his four orthodox companions (fols. 8, 10a, and 10b), which shows that the poet was a Sunnī. The takhalluṣ of the poet is Mashrabi and is mentioned on

Fol. 3b, last line: کین مشربی که کوهر فرصت ز دست داد

Fol. 5, line 8: مشربی وش التجا در حضرت آورده ام

Fol. 8, line 12: مشربی عهد وفا با آل واصحاب تو بست

Fol. 10b, line 6: در درگاه تو مشربی را

Fol. 13, line 9: مشربی سر برش می ساید

On fols. 13b and 14 there is a poem in praise of the saintly person Khwāja Khāwand Maḥmūd:

* خواجه عالی نسب خاوند محمود آنکه هست *

* در جهان معرفت صاحب‌دلان را پیشوا *

On fol. 21b, referring to the advent of the same person into Kashmir as his guest, he says:

* آب و نانم نیست جز خون دل ولخت جگر *

* چون کنم کز جان عزیزی بر سرم مهان رسید *

* عالمی دلشاد و در هر خانه سوری دگر *

* شریان را تا نوید حضرت ایشان رسید *

* هست جای شادمانی زانکه در کشمیران *

* قطب حق پیر خلاق مرشد دوران رسید *

* خواجه والا کهر خاوند محمود آنکه فیض *

* از وجودش ظاهر و باطن بمشتاقان رسید *

This Khwāja Khāwand Maḥmūd was an influential Ṣūfī of the Naqshbandī school, who originally belonged to Bukhārā and who, after travelling through Gujarat and Hindostān, went to Kashmīr in the days when it was governed by Zafar Khān on behalf of the Moghuls of Delhi (Dehli). The Khwāja is said to have built a khānqāh and a mosque there and to have died at Lahore in 1050/1640-41 (Ta'rikh-e-Kashmīr-e-A'zamī, Lahore, 1303 A.H., pp. 138-39), or 1052/1642 (InvASB No. 1275).

Beginning: توفیق حمد میطلبم اول از خدا * ونکه سپاس و حمد بگویم خدا یرا :

The MS. is incomplete. The last line on fol. 21b runs as follows :

* چرخ کا بواب کشایش بر خلاق بسته است *

* بر درت مانند مفتاح از بن دندان رسید *

after which there are the catchwords: ای مانده .

On fol. 22 begins the other part of the MS. as follows :

ای مانده جدا ز آستان * افاد بورطه جدائی

Copies of the qaṣā'id seem to be very rare. The qaṣā'id of Mashrabī of Mashhad (before 1042/1632-33) are quoted in EB No. 1094.

MIFTĀḤ-E-SHIKĀR (مفتاح شکار).

The title appears on fol. 2b, lines 10 and 11, as مفتاح اشکار. It is a short treatise on Falconry by Nūr Muḥammad (fol. 2b, line 1) of مندمانی, and is dedicated to the Emperor Awrangzeb, who is referred to (fol. 2, line 12) as the reigning monarch. The author says (fol. 17) that originally he came from Tabrīz, but that for some time past he had been staying in the Punjāb. He wanted to open the book with an account of باد, which the Indians preferred to شنقار, while the Turanians gave preference to the latter. But as a friend suggested to him that at the beginning of the book he should first deal with شنقار, he had done so. The first chapter, therefore, opens with وصف شنقار, and three chapters are devoted to this bird. Chapter IV is devoted to باد (fol. 22). After dealing with various kinds of hunting birds, he devotes Chapter XVI (fol. 49) to the treatment of their ailments. On fol. 61b there is an ode of Ḥāfiẓ, and there is one by Kalīm on fol. 62. On fol. 62b some quatrains and on fols. 63 and 63b a few stray verses are written.

TUḤFA-E-SĀMĪ WA
DĪWĀN-E-RĀHIB (تحفة سامی و دیوان راهب).

This volume contains two different books, viz., (1) Dīwān-e-Rāhib and (2) Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī.

24. Dīwān-e-Rāhib (دیوان راهب).

The Dīwān is a collection of poems by one 'Alī Beg Rāhib of Baghdād, who lived as a merchant in India and died at Hyderabad (Deccan). It covers fols. 1b to 24, and begins with ای کره از حسرت لعل تو در دل تاک را به جلوهات در بالش آرد دودمان خاک را

Fols. 25a-30 contain a prose account of Timūr, the writer of which says that it is an abridged account of the Amīr and that, if any one wants to know more details of his career, he should refer to the Ḥabību's-Siyar. On fol. 31b are found the first three couplets of Tuḥfa-e-Sāmī, which begins on fol. 32b. The title on the label of the cover, namely, درة التاج, is taken from the third couplet at the beginning of the book.

25. Tuhfa-e-Sāmī (تحفة سامی).

The Tuhfa is a biography of Persian poets, who flourished towards the close of the IXc/XVc and during the first half of the Xc/XVIc. Referring to this valuable biography the late Prof. Browne says (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iv, p. 25): (it) "is another work which urgently needs publication." The title is mentioned on fol. 35, and the name of the author is given on fol. 33 as ابن اساعيل الحسنى سام. He is no other than Sām Mīrẓā, son of Shāh Ismā'il, who was born in 923/1517 and who lived at Herāt from 928-30/1521-22 to 1523-24, as its titular governor. He rebelled in 969/1561-62 against his brother, Shāh Ṭahmāsp, was put in prison, and, on the accession of Shāh Ismā'il II, was put to death in 984/1570. See Ḥabību's-Siyar, vol. iii, juz 4. The author gives a short autobiographical account and quotes his own lines towards the end of the book. The Tuhfa may be considered as a continuation of Bahāristān, the Majālisu'l-'Ush-shāq, and the Tazkira-e-Dawlat-Shāhi. The date of composition is not mentioned in the preface; but in the body of the work, on fol. 49b, it is found as 956/1549 (تا حال که ۹۵۶ است); while in other copies, e.g., in Rieu, it is 957/1550. It is divided into a tanbīh, seven ṣaḥīfās, and a ẓayl.

- Ṣaḥīfa* No. 1 (fol. 36) deals with Shāh Ismā'il and his children,
 „ „ 2 („ 52) with great Sādāt and 'Ulamā, in two parts,
 „ „ 3 („ 82b) „ Wazīrs and other men of pen,
 „ „ 4 („ 89b) „ great personages, who occasionally wrote poetry,
 „ „ 5 („ 109b) „ Poets, in two maṭla's,
 „ „ 6 („ 167b) „ Turkish Poets, and „ „ 7 („ 180b) „ the Humourists and minor Poets.

Beginning (fol. 32b): لله الحمد قبل كل كلام * بصفات الجلال والاكرام

On fol. 1a there is a round seal bearing the following legend: الواصل بالله محمد ابن عبدالله. The seal is repeated on fol. 32 (where the date in it is quite clear, namely, 1007/1598-99) and at the end of the volume also.

Acting on the hint made by Professor Browne regarding the "urgent need of the publication" of the Tuhfa, Mawlawī Iqbāl Ḥusayn, M.A., B.L., has recently edited it on behalf of the University of Patna. The publication has been ably reviewed by Mawlawī Sayyed Sulaymān Nadwī in his monthly, Ma'ārif, for November, 1934. It is stated in the review that the edition is based on two very old MSS. of the book preserved in the Oriental Library at Patna. Both these MSS. were transcribed during the life-time of the author; one is dated 968, i.e., 16 years, and the other 971, i.e., 13 years before his death. The learned reviewer further observes that, if the editor of the Tuhfa had collated other later MSS. also, he would have been able to detect whether any later additions to the text had been made by the author before his death. He also states that other copies of the work exist at the following places: Kabul (dated 972), Habib Ganj, Aligarh (986), Lahore (Professor Āzar's copy, 996, and Professor Shafī's copy, 1197), Hyderabad, Deccan, (a defective copy belonging to Ḥakīm Muẓaffar Ḥusayn and another in the library of Nawwāb Sālār Jang Bahādur). Our MS., though not dated, must have been copied before 1007 A.H.

ASHJĀR WA ASMĀR (اشجار واثمار).

This is a very rare and unpublished work on Judicial astrology by علي شاه بن محمد بن قاسم الخوارزمي, known as علامہ المنجم البخاری (fol. 7b). It is mentioned in the Kashfu'z-Zunūn as follows:

اشجار والاثمار فی الاحکام، فارسی لعلی شاه محمد بن قاسم الخوارزمی المعروف بالعلاء البخاری المنجم۔ الفہ لشمس الدین خواجہ محمد

In the introduction the author says that the minister شمس الدنيا الدين سيف الاسلام والمسلمين عمدة الملوك والسلاطين محمد بن صدر السعيد سيف الدين was very kind to him. As the minister's two sons, سيف الدين احمد شاه and بدر الدين مبارك شاه, were desirous of studying astrology, our author was requested to compose a book containing all useful information regarding the science. Though he was old and infirm, he complied with the request. The date of composition is not given in the preface, nor is there a colophon at the end. There are, however, several passages in the book itself which supply us with interesting biographical details. From them we learn not only some particulars of his family, early life, study, acquirements, the vicissitudes of fortune he went through, etc., but we can deduce the date of his birth and of the composition of the book as well. We learn that he was the author of a Diwān and of an astronomical work entitled ذیج عمده, that (fol. 69b) on the morning of 27th Ramazān of the year 662/23rd July, 1264, there appeared in the east a comet as large as a man's head, that smoke rose out of it so that it appeared to be burning, and that it declined every night and finally disappeared in the south-west. We also learn that this heavenly visitor was supposed to forebode evil to the countries over which it passed, namely, Tibet, Turkistān, Khotan, Kāshghar, Farghāna, Trans-Oxiana, and Khorāsān, that its duration was 85 days, and that in its train followed pestilence, plague, plunder, and pillage, culminating in fights and battles and deaths of princes and kings. Our author further informs us that in 666/1267-68 there occurred a conjunction of two inauspicious planets in the sign of the Cancer (fol. 70), which greatly augmented the misery of the people, that Burāq raided and plundered Khorāsān, but that he was subsequently defeated by Abāqā and that he died later in Trans-Oxiana. We are also informed that Nīshāpur suffered from a severe earthquake shock, which continued to be felt throughout Khorāsān for seven years, in consequence of which "the very bricks of the city shook and separated from one another, and black water came out of the soil," that the modern city was founded a league farther from the old site, that in 671/1273 Abāqā's army entered Bukhārā and a general massacre of the old and young took place, and that the survivors were exiled to Khorāsān. The author further states (fol. 70b):

چون خلایق بسیار بود و ضبط نمی توانستند آورد بیشتری از مردم بکریخت
و باز کشت و دیگر بار بخارا خوش شد و انبوه، اما آنچه از جیحون بگذرانیده
بودند بچکان و جوانان را بفروختند و باقی را کرسنه و برهنه سر بزمین ایران همه
دادند و ازینست که از در خطای تا بخارا خلایق را در ولایت های ایران همه
بخاری میخوانند، اما بعد از آن غارت بزرگ چون مردم جمع شدند در بخارا
سیزده کُرت دیگر غارت کردند تا چنان شد که دروی بجز وحوش نمی باشید
و قصیده گفته ایم این حالات را و ذکر غارت و اسیر شدن فرزند خود کرده،
چون او را بعد از دو سال در سیاه کوه بخردیم که بنده شده بود بسر روضه
مقدسه امیرالمومنین و امام المتقین علی ابن ابی طالب بردم و قصیده دیگر در مدح
ایشان گفتم و بر سر تربت بخواندم شب آدینه که اصحاب بغداد حاضر بودند
و هر دو قصیده در دیوان اشعار بنده ثبت است و ذکر اسیر و غارت شدن این
پسر در دیباچه زیج عمده که ساخته ام رفته است و ما که در این اقلیم افتاده ایم
و سرکردان مانده سبب اینست و پانزده سال از واقعه غارت بخارا گذشته
است هنوز جمع نمی آئیم و آرام نمی گیریم بکوشه و هر روز و هر لحظه چیزی
بتن و دل می رسد که سبب هزار غم و اندیشه می شود و تمنای مرگ می بریم و
در تدبیر کار خود عاجز مانده. نظم * چیست تدبیر که تدبیر بدست کس نیست *
اللهم احفظنا من هذه الشدائد والبلايا.

In the section dealing with conjunctions (فرانات), after mentioning the conjunctions of the years 623/1226 and 684/1285-86, he refers (fol. 40b) to the historic assemblage of the planets in the mansion of the Libra, which took place in the days of Anwarī, and adds that, judging from subsequent events, especially the irruption of the Moghul hordes and consequent bloodshed, it appears that the forecast of Anwarī referred rather to a 'storm of blood' (طوفان خون) than to a 'storm of wind' (طوفان باد) and that Chingīz Khān appears to have been born under this historic conjunction, for he was about 60 years of age, when he came to Bukhārā in 616/1220.

Towards the end of the work, while interpreting his own horoscope (fol. 151), the author gives further particulars of his own life, amongst which he mentions (fol. 152) his journey from Bukhārā to Turkistān, undertaken to see his father, who had gone thither as a merchant, his arrival at Samarqand, and his meeting a certain Shaykh Ḥusāmu'd-Dīn, from whom he learnt the art of wrestling and the use of the bow and the arrow, the sword, the shield, the spear, etc. He also mentions his arrival at Shāsh on the frontier of Turkistān, where he waited on Shaykh Bābā Mājīn, who was 320 years old and who had a son 'Abdu'llāh, 6 months old, from an Indian kanīzak, and another of 19 years, Maḥmūd by name. He refers to his own proficiency in poetry and music, which earns him respect and esteem, wherever he goes, and which enables him to enjoy the company of kings and other great men. Reference is also made to his coming in contact with a celebrated Hakīm, بدیع الدین (fol. 153), (who induces him to study Mathematics, which later on develops into a study of Astronomy and Astrology), and to his return to Bukhārā in 659/1261. It was in this year that the Shaykh (Mājīn) died (fol. 154), when his own age was 36. From this statement we can infer that he was born about 623/1226. A few lines further on he says:

چون بعراق رسید بنده وزحل بطالع در آمد آن فرزند در سیاه کوه حاصل
کشت بسی اکابر روزگار و از آن تاریخ چندانکه جهد می کند بنده تاب سفر
حجاز رود یا در کوشه نشیند که استغفار کرده و گفته خود کند دور زمان
بدست نمی دهد و درین وقت سال عمر بشصت و چهار رسیده است

It follows, therefore, that the date of composition of the book is about 686–87/1287–88, i.e., about 15 years after the invasion of Bukhārā by Abāqā's army in 671/1273, as stated above.

The late Prof. Browne owned a copy, in the description of which* 'the date of the composition' of the book is given as 1176/1762-63, which is taken, as stated therein, from the last couplet† in the MS. I am inclined to believe that this date, viz., 1176/1762-63, is not that of the composition of the work, but that of the transcription of it.

The book is divided into five parts called 'trees' (fol. 9):

- شجره اول (fol. 9b) در صفات ومنسوبات بروج وکواکب (۷ شعبات)
 " دوم (fol. 38b) در احکام قرانات واتصالات (۱۲ " "
 " ثالث (fol. 62) " " طالع تحویل سال وفصول
 " رابع (fol. 79) " " طالعهای مولود (۱۷ " "
 " پنجم (fol. 136b) " " اعمال تسیرات (۵ " "

SIHR-E-HALĀL (سحر حلال).

This is a short treatise containing reflections on moral subjects, such as 'the Praise of Charity', 'the Censure of Miserliness', etc., by Nūru'llāh b. Aḥmad Me'mār (of Lahore). It is written partly in prose and partly in verse, but the most notable feature of the book is that the whole of it is composed in words, none of which contains a single dotted letter of the Persian alphabet. The author's own name, the name of his brother, and that of the king to whom the book is dedicated, as also the words for virtues and vices happen to contain dotted letters. In order to avoid the use of them in accordance with his settled plan, he has had recourse to very ingenious devices. For example, about his own name and those of his brothers, he says (fol. 7b) that he is ولد احمد معمار and (fol. 8) that his father had three sons. The eldest was called عطا الله, who was a learned man and the author of treatises on the science of numbers (علم اعداد). The name of the second son consists of two parts, the second of which is الله and the first comprises $ط + ل$ what is equal in numerical value to عطا, i.e., 80, which is also the numerical value of ف. In other words his name is لطف الله. The name of the third son also consists of two parts, the second of which is الله, and the first is equal to مطا, i.e., $50 = ن$, and ر and د, the whole part being equal to نور. The whole name is, therefore, نور الله. The full name of the author, thus, is نور الله بن احمد معمار.

His eldest brother, 'Aṭāu'llāh, is the author of a versified treatise on arithmetic, mensuration, and algebra called خلاصة راز (R p. 451). He is probably identical with the translator of Bhāskarāchārya's Bījaganit, who did the translation in 1044/1634-35 and dedicated it to Shāh Jahān. 'Aṭāu'llāh's brother Luṭfu'llāh bore the takhalluṣ مهندس (R p. 451) and was the author of a treatise on arithmetic called منتخب, a translation of the Arabic خلاصة الحساب of Bahāu'd-Dīn-e-Āmilī (died in 1031/1621-22).

His full name as given in Rieu is لطف الله مهندس ابن استاد احمد معمار لاہوری. He is also said to have made a rhymed abridgement of Dawlat Shāh's Tazkira and to have given it the title of آسمان سخن. P'ā'izī-e-Kirmāni had versified the Tazkira in the reign of Akbar and raised the seven divisions of the original to ten, while Luṭfu'llāh remodelling it added two more and brought up the number to twelve, making them correspond to the twelve burāj, on account of which he gave his abridgement the above title (Sprenger's Oude Cat. pp. 116, 122). Kisanchand Ikhlaṣ in his تذکرہ ہمیشہ بہار (comp. 1136/1723-24) notices Luṭfu'llāh's son Imāmu'd-Dīn known as ریاضی ("mathematician") and says that he was a native of Lahore, but that he resided in 'Dilly' (Dehli) and that he too was a good mathematician, and his books on mathematics were generally used in schools.

The Sihr-e-Halāl is dedicated to 'Ālamgīr (Awrangzeb). His name contains a dotted letter, which does not fit in with the author's scheme. It has got to be avoided. The difficulty is got over by means of a معما. The name is indicated as follows: It consists of two parts. The first part is made up of the سر (م) سر مراد (ل) دل علم, (ا) دل داد, (ع) عدل equal to عالم. The second part comprises سر گل (گ) and دل (ر) with ده (10=ی) coming in between. The second part stands for عالمگیر. Thus the two parts together yield عالمگیر.

Beginning: در اول کلام حمد کردگار آوردم

On fol. 17b is a memorandum note stating that the MS. once belonged to محمد عزیز الله النقشبندی and another on fol. 1a saying that its owner is سید مرتضی. The date of composition is given on fol. 8b as follows: بحر حلال درد اہل حال آمد، ودرس لوح کمال which gives 1070/1659-60.

WAQĀYE'-E-NE'MATKHĀN-E-'ĀLĪ (وقایع نعمت خان عالی).

This is the well-known satirical account, in prose and verse, of the events (of 8 days) during the siege of Hyderabad

(Haydarābād, Golkonda), by Awrangzeb in the 30th year of his reign, 1097/1685-86. No title is mentioned either on the fly-leaf or in the colophon. But the work is popularly known as وقایع حیدرآباد, روز نامه, روز نامه, . وقایع نعمت خان عالی, It is also called روز نامه, وقایع ایام محاصره قلعه دارالجهاد حیدرآباد (IvASB, and EB), and وقایع گولکنده (Asaf.). The author, Mirzā Muḥammad (or Nūr-u'd-Dīn Muḥammad) of Shīrāz, belonged to a Shīrāz family of medical men. He was born in India, but, at an early age, left India, with his father, for Shīrāz, where he completed his studies, became a pupil of شفیعای یردی, and, returning to India in the reign of Shāh Jahān, entered the service of (Prince) Awrangzeb. At first he wrote poetry under the takhalluṣ of چم کنم (چم کنم), but as this word bears a striking resemblance to حکم, he altered it to عالی. In 1104 or 1105/1692-94, he received the title of داروغه باورچیخانه and was appointed نعمت خان. Towards the end of Awrangzeb's reign on account of his constant attendance upon that monarch, he was given the title of مقرب خان and put in charge of the جواهر خانه. During the fratricidal war which broke out on the death of Awrangzeb, he deposited the state jewels at Gwalior and delivered them to Shāh 'Ālam on his accession to the throne. He was rewarded with the title of دانشمند خان by the king and ordered to write a history of his reign, which goes by the name of Shāhnāma or Bādshāhnāma or Bahādurshāh-nāma. He had hardly written an account of the first two years of the reign, when he died either in 1121/1709 and was buried at Hyderabad (as stated in Sarw-e-Āzād) or in 1122/1710 in Delhi (as in Rieu). He is the unrivalled master of the art of satire (often coarse) and wit, of which he has given abundant proof in his Waqāyē. Besides this work, he wrote (1) جنگ نامه (an account of the war between Awrangzeb's sons), (2) بهادر شاه نامه, (3) رساله در هجو حکما, (4) کدخدائی حسن, (5) خوان نعمت, an allegorical love story in prose and verse, (6) Diwān comprising ghazals, qasīdas, qit'as, rubā'īyyāt, ta'rikhs, etc., and (7) some Letters. For copies of his Kullīyyāt, see IvASB No. 826, EIO Nos. 1659-71; EB No. 1157. He also wrote (8) a Commentary on the Qur'ān in Persian, which is extremely rare. One volume, containing the first half of the commentary and owned by Professor Ḥusayn 'Alī Khān (Professor of English, Osmania University, Hyderabad), was kindly shown to me by him in 1932, at Hyderabad (Deccan).

This MS. gives the Waqāye' or events of eight days in eight sections. The first section does not refer to any date, the second records the events of 13th Rajab, the third of 14th Rajab, the fourth, the fifth, the sixth, and the seventh, those of 14th, 19th, 20th, and 21st Sha'bān respectively, and the eighth section is simply called Waqāye'-e-Hashtum. The copies in the British Museum contain seven sections only, recording the events of 13th, 14th, and 15th Rajab, and also of 17th, 18th, 25th, and 29th Sha'bān. The copy in the India office also contains seven sections and records the events that took place from 14th to 16th Rajab and from 19th to 22nd Sha'bān. The Bodl. copies record the events that took place from 13th Rajab to the 22nd of Sha'bān. The various Indian lithographed editions contain eight sections and record the events of eight days, viz., from the 13th Rajab to the 22nd of Sha'bān; so also does the edition of Otto Rothfeld, B.A., I.C.S. (Cal. 1915), in which the dates of the sections are 14th, 15th, and 17th Rajab, and 14th, 19th, 21st, 25th, and 29th Sha'bān, respectively. Although there is a variation in the dates assigned to the sections in the various copies, yet the text of the sections is the same.

Beginning: دمیکہ مدرسِ کشف صبح در صفة صدق وصفا

This MS. contains marginal and interlinear glosses and notes. On fols. 1b and 2 are some medical recipes.

The colophon at the end gives the date Tuesday, the 11th Sha'bān, 1225/11th Sept., 1810. Copied at Hyderabad (Deccan) by محمد امین الدین کثرت. The colophon is followed by a few stray lines of poetry and some medical prescriptions.

NUZHATU'L-ARWĀḤ & (نزهة الارواح وزاد المسافرين)
ZĀDU'L-MUSĀFIRĪN

This volume contains two works, (1) Nuzhatu'l-Arwāḥ and (2) Zādu'l-Musāfirīn (on the margin), both of admitted excellence and value in Sufic literature, by Ruknu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn b. 'Ālim b. Abi'l-Ḥasan al-Ḥusaynī (Ghūrī, Herātī), surnamed Fakhrū's-Sādāt and popularly known as Sayyed Ḥusaynī, celebrated both as a Sufī and poet.

29. Nuzhatu'l-Arwāḥ (نزهة الارواح).

This is written in mixed prose and verse and is divided into 28 chapters, in which the nature and rules of spiritual life (سلك) are explained and illustrated by anecdotes and sayings of holy men, all written in rhymed, balanced sentences full of puns on words and freely spiced with wit and humour. It seems to have been known as سنبلستان حسنى and is compiled in imitation of گلستان سعدى. The author wrote it in 711/1311-12, when he was about 40 years of age. He belonged to Ghūr, but lived at Multān and afterwards mostly at Herāt, where he died. The date of his death varies between 717/1317-18 and 729/1328-29. But all dates prior to the year in which he completed his poem Zādu'l-Musāfirīn, which is either 720/1320-21 or 729/1328-29, must needs be wrong. A number of commentaries have been written on the Nuzhatu'l-Arwāḥ, of which two seem to be well-known, namely, one by 'Abdu'l Wāhid-e-Bilgrāmī and the other by Ḥāmid (see IVASB Nos. 1191, 1192). Besides the above works Sayyed Ḥusaynī wrote several others, of which Dawlat Shāh (Br. ed. p. 225) mentions the following: صراط , كنز الرموز , سى نامه , طرب المجالس , مستقيم. The Nuzhat was lithographed in Delhi in 1330/1912, with marginal and interlinear glosses and notes. This MS. has a prose preface beginning with:

امیر حسینی (رح) عالم بوده، چنان معلوم می شود که ایشان مرید شیخ بهاء الدین ذکر یا بوده اند و ویرا مصنفات بسیار است بعضی منظوم چون کنز الرموز و زاد المسافرين و منشور چون نزهة الارواح سبورات (سوالات) منظوم که شیخ محمود شبستری از آن جواب گفته است کلشن راز گویند

30. Zādu'l-Musāfirīn (زاد المسافرين).

This is a sufiistic masnawī much admired, both as a work on Sufism and as a poem. It has been lithographed in India. Beginning (on the margin of fol. 1b):

ای برتر از آن همه که گفتند * آنانکه پدید یا نهفتند

The date of composition given here is 729/1328-29. Though different from the date in the copies of the British Museum, it agrees with that of Sprenger's copy, Oude Cat., p. 430. Forty couplets were originally wanting in this MS., and it would have remained incomplete but for my friend, Mr. Muhammad Roshan of Bombay, who very kindly copied for me the required number of verses within red jadwals on two folios. His kindness has thus enabled me to supply the deficiency. This gentleman is an enthusiastic student of comparative mysticism, especially of Sufism and Vedantism, of which he has made a special study. I am grateful to him for the transcription.

RISĀLĀ-E-MULLĀ 'ABDU'L-GHAFŪR-E-LĀRĪ (رسالة ملا عبد الغفور لاری).

The title and the subject are noted on a slip of paper, pasted on fol. 1a, as رسالة ملا عبد الغفور لاری در تحقیق و توضیح بعضی از ابیات سلسله الذهب. This short treatise by Mullā 'Abdu'l-Ghafūr of Lār, Jāmī's most eminent pupil, commentator, and biographer, is devoted to an explanation of some couplets of Silsilatu'z-Zahāb, about the exact interpretation of which doubts were expressed to the then ruling king, who, thereupon, ordered that some disciple of Jāmī should clear up the doubtful points. The Mullā has also written a commentary on the Nafahāt and a most valuable biography of Jāmī. Bābur notices him in his memoirs. A short account of his life is given in Rashahāt by Kāshifi's son, where the chronogram of his death, بگر (یکشنبه), gives the day, the date, the month, and the year, namely, Sunday, the 5th Sha'bān 912/21st December, 1506.*

DĪWĀN-E-KAMĀL-E-KHUIJANDĪ (دیوان کمال خجندی).

Kamālu'd-Dīn b. Mas'ūd of Khujand (in Trans-Oxiana) was one of the contemporaries of Ḥāfiẓ and enjoyed great fame as a saint and poet. He has been noticed in Persian tazkiras of Poets and by Jāmī in his Nafahāt. He migrated to Tabrīz, where Sultān Ḥusayn, son of Uways (776-784/1374-82), built for him a khānqāh. In 787/1385 Tuqtamish Khān of Qipchāq attacked Tabrīz and carried off Kamāl, along with other celebrities of the place, to his capital, Sarāy. After four years Kamāl returned to Tabrīz, where he died, according to most authorities, in 803/1400-01. Other dates of his death range from 792/1390 to 808/1405-06. His Dīwān has not yet been published, and, according to Prof. Browne, "is not common in MS." This copy consists of ghazaliyyāt, muqatta'āt, rubā'iyyāt, and mutafarriqāt.

DĪWĀN-E-IBN-E-YAMĪN (دیوان ابن یمین).

A copy of the Dīwān (Ghazaliyyāt) of Amīr Fakhru'd-Dīn Maḥmūd b. Amīr Yamīnu'd-Dīn Maḥmūd Mustawfī, popularly known as Ibn-e-Yamīn, of Faryūmad (a three days' journey from Sabzawār), who was a contemporary of Ḥāfiẓ. Faṣīḥī in his Mujmal (comp. 845/1442) says that in the battle of Khwāf, fought on 13th Šafar, 743/18th July, 1342, Ibn-e-Yamīn's diwān was looted and lost (see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. iii, p. 212). Mīr Khwānd in his Rawzaṭu's-Šafā and 'Abdu'r-Razzāq in his Maṭle'u's-Sa'dayn both refer to the loss of the diwān. Riẓā Qulī Hidāyat in his Majma'u'l-Fuṣaḥā says:

دیوانش در سنه ۷۶۳ (سنه ۷۴۳) در فتنه سر بداران از میان رفته

M. Shibli in his She'ru'l-'Ajam, vol. ii., p. 240, observes:

انکا دیوان سر بدارون کے ہنگامہ میں ضایع ہو گیا۔

Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, p. 216) remarks: "Owing to the loss of his diwān, as described above, it is impossible to determine with certainty who were his patrons and to whom his panegyrics were chiefly addressed. Ibn-i-Yamīn's extant work consists of his Muqaṭṭa'āt or 'Fragments'." The testimony of these authorities points to the conclusion that the diwān is not extant. So when one sees the MS. of a diwān attributed to Ibn-e-Yamīn, one is naturally inclined to enquire (1) whether the diwān is genuine and (2), if so, how it has survived the loot.

Regarding the first question, I have no doubt that the MS. is a genuine diwān (ghazaliyyāt, excluding the muqaṭṭa'āt or Fragments) of Ibn-e-Yamīn. Three couplets of the poet are quoted from Āzād's Yad-e-Bayẓā in the She'ru'l-'Ajam, vol. ii, p. 241, viz.,

* سر مده ای دیده هر دم اشك غماز مرا * (1)

* تا نسازد فاش پیش مردمان راز مرا *

* ز خود ییگانه بودن در ره عشق * (2)

* به آن معشوق طرح آشنائی است *

* عشق تا در دلی آمد نه در آمد نه نمود * (3)

* باده رشور نشد تا که به مستان نه رسید *

The first of these couplets is also to be found in our MS. on fol. 11b, the second on fol. 16b, and the third on fol. 37b. Moreover the text of the third couplet as quoted above is not correct, the correct reading being that given in our MS.:

عشق تادر دل آدم نه در آمد نه نمود * باده پر شور نشد تا که به مستان نه رسید

Everywhere in this MS. the takhalluṣ of Ibn-e-Yamīn is met with. Copies of the diwān also exist in other collections (mentioned below), with which our MS. agrees in important particulars. These considerations leave no room for doubt that the diwān of the poet is extant and that the ghazals contained in our MS. are genuine. But this diwān is not the first (which undoubtedly is lost for good): it is his second diwān, as will be shown presently.

The second query can be briefly answered as follows. The copy of the Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes, p. 358, contains a prose preface, according to which Ibn-e-Yamīn himself compiled the diwān in 756/1355, but this, Dr. Ethé observes (EB No. 790), "is no doubt an error." He further remarks that "if Ibn-i-Yamīn had been still alive at that time, very probably he would have written the introduction 'himself.'" The Bankipore copy of the poet's Kullīyyāt also has a prose preface, the anonymous author of which, according to M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir, says that the diwān was lost in the battle of Khwāf in 743/1342 and that after ceaseless endeavours he (the preface-writer) succeeded in collecting some of the early poems of Ibn-i-Yamīn, added to them the poet's later composition, and thus arranged and completed the present diwān in the month of Zi'lqā'da, 756/1355 (Bk No. 137). M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir further remarks: "Evidently there is some error in the statement of the compiler of the Cat. des MSS. et Xylographes. p. 358, who says that the poet collected his poems in A.H. 756, i.e., A.D. 1355. He seems to have mistaken Ibn-i-Yamīn's friend (who, as mentioned above, really compiled the preface and collected the poet's diwān in that year) for Ibn-i-Yamīn himself." Evidently Rieu (ii, p. 825), Ethé, and 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir base their conclusions on the assumption that the date of the death of Ibn-e-Yamīn, as given in some Persian tazkiras, is 745/1344-45, and that, therefore, the poet could not have been alive in 756/1355. They have ignored a much later date given in the earliest authority, viz., the Mujmal of Faṣīḥī (quoted and followed by Prof. Browne, Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, p. 215), viz., 8th Jumādā II, 769/30th Jan., 1368, which is also adopted by I'timādu's-Saltāna in his Muntazam-e-Nāṣiri and accepted by Rashīd-e-Yāsimī, whose Aḥwāl-e-Ibn-e-Yamīn (Tehrān, 1303/1885-86) is the latest and the most comprehensive and critical study of the poet's life and works I am acquainted with. He bases his monograph on the collection of the poet's works made by Mirzā 'Alī Akbar Khān Dehkhudā, Editor of the Ṣar-e-Isrāfīl, who, after a great deal of laborious search, collected 8,000 couplets of the poet and brought the diwān to near completion. Rashīd-e-Yāsimī finds that Ibn-e-Yamīn has written more qaṣidas than one in praise of Khwāja 'Alī Mu'ayyid, the last Sarbadār ruler, who reigned from 766 to 780/1364-65 to 1378-79. He further establishes the facts that Ibn-e-Yamīn was born probably in 685/1286-87 and lost his father in 722/1322, whom he succeeded in the office of the مستوفى ("Govt. Accountant"), that he lost his diwān on the 13th Ṣafar, 743/18th July, 1342, in the battle fought between Zāw and Khwāf, that he was captured and taken to Mu'izzu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn-e-Kurt, whom he praised in a qit'a, in which he has referred to the loss of his diwān, that soon afterwards he began to recover his lost poems partly from memory and partly from the anthologies of his friends, that he added to them whatever he wrote afterwards, and that, in ten years' time, he completed the (second) diwān in 753/1352-53. To the latter he himself wrote a preface in 754/1353-54 in which he says:

موجب المرء مشعوف بآبانه وبشعره با دل گفتم که بیت:

دیریت که اندیشه آن دارم باز * گر دور فلک ندارد از کارم باز
کاشعار پراگنده چوهفت اورنگم * مانده پروین بنظام آرم باز
قصه بطولها بیتی چند از آن که پیشتر گفته شده بود از جراید افاضل نامدار

وسفاین اماثل روزگار التقاط کرده شد، وآنچه بعد از آن اتفاق افتاد بر آن الحاق کرده آمد، و دیوان دیگر چنانکه آید نه چنانکه باید در مسلك کتاب منتظم گشت.... وجرى ذلك غره شوال بسنه ثلث وخمسين وسبعماية والحمد لوليه... (احوال ابن یمن صفحه ۵۲، ۵۳)

He died on Saturday, the 8th Jumādā II, 769/30th January, 1368, as stated in the qiṭ'a quoted in the Mujmal cited in Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol., iii, p. 215. Rashīd-e-Yāsīmī mentions (p. 138) amongst the poet's contemporaries the following persons: and , نزاری قهستانی , رکن صائن , اوحدى مراغی , عبید زاکانی , حافظ , سلیمان قطعات با , قطعات , ترجیعات , قصاید , مقدمه نثری , Dehkhudā comprise (۱۵) رباعی and , غزل , (۲) مثنوی , (۱۵) ماده تاریخ , (۱۵) معما , اصل عربی آنها . Further he says that the works collected by the شرف الدین رای . While describing TM No. 339, 'Y. E'tessami' (اعتصامی) says:

نسخه کامل وصحیح دیوان ابن یمن کیاب است وآنچه یافت می شود بواسطه تحریفات وتصرفات با نسخه های دیگر اختلاف بسیار دارد. نسخه ای از کلیات ابن یمن در کتاب خانه عمومی لئن گراد موجود است که تصور می شود قبل از ۹۳۱ هجری استنساخ شده ومراسلات ابن یمن را شامل است

The Bankipore copy of the Kullīyyāt contains all these varieties of verse, and M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir gives (p. 206) the names of the persons chiefly praised in the qaṣīdas or referred to in the qiṭ'as. For particulars of the poet's life, the best guide is Rashīd-e-Yāsīmī's Aḥwāl. See also Br. Lit. His. Pers., vol. iii; EB; EIO; and Bk.

On fol. 1a are given the lines of Khusraw, Rawnaqī, and another poet, which cap . داغ از دهن برید

The Dirwān begins with:

ای خداوند قادر یکتا * منبع کون وخالق اشیا

The ghazals are generally short and of five couplets each, and the takhalluṣ, Ibn-e-Yamīn, is met with in the maqṭa' of almost every ghazal. The odes are arranged in the usual alphabetical order of the radīf, but the folios are not correctly arranged.

On fol. 9 begins the radīf-e-Bā, but on fols. 11 and 11b again we find radīf-e-Alif. The catchword شنو (or rather بشنو), at the bottom of fol. 10b, takes us, for the continuation of the ode, to fol. 16. On fols. 12-13 there are lines of a masnawī called Majlis-afroz: (نام این نسخه مجلس افروزست). Then on fols. 13 and 14b there is another masnawī on the benefits of طلب, which begins with:

طلب کن تا خبر از کنج یابی * تو کی این کنج را بی رنج یابی

On fols. 15 and 15b there are quatrains; on fol. 16, again, appear ghazals. The Diwān comes to an end on fol. 85b; and on fols. 86-91b are found couplets which are of a piece with those on fols. 12 and 13. It is probable that the lines on fols. 12 and 13 are in continuation of the text on fol. 91b; the last line on fol. 91b (written on the margin) runs as follows:

گاه در صومعه از او کریان * گاه چومی ز شوق او جوشان and the first line on fol. 12 is:

گاه در مدرسه به بحث وجدل * گاه در خانقاه به بیت وغزل

On fol. 13 this masnawī is brought to a close, and in the last but one couplet the title of the poem is written as Majlis-afroz.

نسخه دلفریب وجانسوز است * نام این نسخه مجلس افروز است

مجلس افروز حضرت ایشان * مرهم جان جمله درویشان

After this, there begins another masnawī in the hazaj hexameter:

طلب کن تا خبر از کنج یابی * تو کی این کنج را بی رنج یابی

which is continued on ff. 13b, 14, and 14b, the last line of which runs as follows:

ازین می کر تو هم خواهی چشیدن * تو هم خواهی یک جائی رسیدن

Then come 16 quatrains on ff. 15 and 15b. (Rashīd-e-Yāsīmī's copy contains 15 quatrains, but the Bankipore copy above three hundred!). At the bottom of fol. 15b, there is a munājāt, which begins with:

پادشاه عمر تبه کرده ام * خانه اعمال سیه کرده ام and which appears to have been continued on fol. 92 (the last). A part of the first couplet is missing, but the second runs as follows:

[روی] مکردان زمن بی عمل * تا که نیابد دل و دینم خل

There are 22 couplets on this fol., the last but one containing the takhalluṣ:

ابن یمین کرچه کنه کرده است * روی بدرگاه تو آورده است
عفو بکن. جمله تقصیر او * پیش تو باشد همه تدبیر او

On fol. 92b, there are a few stray verses and the benefits of a bath (غسل) on week days are mentioned. This is followed by a chronogram on the conquest of Mashhad:

اگر تاریخ فتح او بجوئ * ز قتل عام مشهد می توان [یافت]

Ibn-e-Yamīn has enjoyed unrivalled fame as a qit'ā writer. His muḡaṭṭa'āt are included in several collections. They were published in India and translated into German verse by Schlechta Wssehrd, Vienna, 1852.

No colophon. No date. Probably Xc/XVIc. There is an oval seal on f. 31b, which has 1091/1680-81.

MAZHARU'L-'AJĀ'IB (مظهر العجایب).

This maṣṇawī, as its name indicates, was written for the glorification, or it may even be said, for the deification of 'Alī, the Prophet's son-in-law, one of whose titles is Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib. It is generally attributed to the famous Sufi poet, Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār. It is incomprehensible how such scholars as Dr. Rieu, Dr. Ethé, Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī, Prof. Browne, Dr. Nicholson, and M. Ivanow could bring themselves to regard the poem as a genuine composition of the great 'Aṭṭār, in spite of overwhelming internal evidence to the contrary. Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī's preface to the first volume of 'Aṭṭār's Tazkiratu'l-Awliyā, edited by Dr. Nicholson, contains, in the words of Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, p. 507), "The best and most critical account of 'Aṭṭār which we yet possess." However, as far as this poem is concerned, the above preface is very disappointing. It says (pp. ط and ى):

اشعار این کتاب بالنسبه بسایر اشعار عطار تفاوت واضح دارد در پستی و سستی
وقدری رکاکت و هر کس منطق الطیر والهی نامه و خسرو و گل و دیوان عطار
را مطالعه کرده باشد برای او قدری مشکل است اعتقاد کند که صاحب
مظهر العجایب با آنها یکی بوده است.

The Mirzā admits that for one who had perused the Manṭiqu'ṭ-Tayr etc. of 'Aṭṭār it is a little (?) difficult to believe that the author of the Maḡhar and of the Manṭiq etc. is one and the same. A close and careful study of the Maḡhar will convince the reader that it is impossible to believe that it is one of 'Aṭṭār's poems. The most detailed and scientifically critical study of the poem, with which I am acquainted, is contained in an article on the "Works of 'Aṭṭār" by Professor Ḥāfiẓ Maḥmūd Sherānī, of the Islāmīa College, Lahore, contributed to the January number of the quarterly Urdū, Aurangabad, 1927. Like his other critical articles published in the same quarterly, it is characterized by a patient and laborious search for truth, clear and cogent reasoning, and admirable soundness of judgement. He has advanced at least 19 different incontrovertible arguments and has proved up to the hilt that the poem is "a big fraud" (افترای عظیم) and that it cannot possibly be that of 'Aṭṭār.

Inferior, slipshod style (admitted as such even by Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī), violation of the ordinary rules of grammar, rhyme, and metre, historical blunders, synchronisms, preponderance of a sectarian bias in favour of 'Alī, and a strong hatred and severe condemnation of Sunnīs in debased and undignified language, forcible assertion that the writer has composed 100 books, though only 16 are mentioned by name, ignorance of the fact that the Tazkiratu'l-Awliyā is a prose work, ignorance of the existence of the diwān, mention of an imaginary book called Me'rāj-nāma, the irreconcilable difference between the spirit of the Jawharu'z-Zāt and that of the Mazhar (in spite of the fact that they are often mentioned together, e.g., on fol. 88 here), and the use of the word 'tuman' تومن, تومان (cf. ff. 108b and 122b, which, entering Persia with the Mongols of Chingīz Khān, is first met with in the Jahāngushā-e-Juwaynī as a military term and which later became a revenue term, e.g., in the Nuzhatu'l-Qulub of Ḥamdu'llāh Mustawfī, thus bearing ample testimony to the fact that the Mazhar was composed after the age of 'Aṭṭār), are some of the points dealt with by Professor Sherānī, who conclusively proves that the Mazhar could not have been possibly composed by 'Aṭṭār. But the strongest proof that he adduces in support of his conclusion is the reference to Ḥāfiẓ and Qāsim-e-Anwār, who died about a century and a half and two centuries respectively after 'Aṭṭār.

On fol. 82, I find a reference to a book entitled نزول السائرين. Kashfu'z-Zunūn mentions a نزول السائرين في احاديث سيد المرسلين by سيد محمود الطالبي القرشي. If the book referred to by the author of the Mazhar is identical with the one mentioned in the Kash. Zun., then it is undoubtedly a post-'Aṭṭār work, because its author died in 911, i.e., more than 275 years after 'Aṭṭār!

The author of the Mazhar mentions his name and the place to which he belonged on ff. 57b and 58, as follows:

شهر من تونست و نیشاپور و طوس * نوبت مارا ز تند با بوق و کوس
من ز باب علم عطار آمدم * لاجرم کویان (گویای) اسرار آمدم

In childhood when he was at Tūn, he was taken seriously ill and continued to be so for eight months until he was on the point of death. The kafan and tābūt were brought in, his parents lamented his approaching death, and tore their garments with grief. When he saw this he became unconscious, and in that state he saw 'Alī coming to him, offering him comfort, and passing his hand on him, on account of which he was cured of his ailment (f. 203b). After spending fifteen years of his boyhood at Mashhad, he went to Nīshāpūr and Tūn, but returning to (Nī) Shāpūr he settled there (f. 115). Here were collected a number of Saliks, from whom he gathered asrār:

بوقت کودکی تا پانزده سال * بمشهد بوده ام خوشوقت و خوشحال
دکر رقم به نیشاپور و تون هم * بآخر کشت شاپورم چو همدم
بشاپورم بدند خود سالکان جمع * زایشان داشتم اسرارها جمع

On the next page he gives a list of his works, viz., مختار نامه, بلبل نامه, وصلت نامه, معراج نامه, (جوهر الذات prob.) جواهر نامه, شرح القلب, and مظهر. As regards all these works except the first two, Professor Sherānī has proved, in the article referred to above, that it is impossible to accept them as genuine works of 'Attār.

On ff. 93 and 205b, the Mazhar and his other 'works' are praised at great length. A noticeable peculiarity of this poem is that it is composed in two metres, Bahr-e-Ramal and Bahr-e-Hazaj. The Ramal hexameter has been used in the portion extending from the beginning of the poem to verse 1 on f. 113, where the metre is suddenly switched on to Hazaj, with the following verse:

اگر از جام او نوشی تو باده * نکردی تو بکرد شیخ راه [زاده. Prob.]

This metre is employed up to fol. 193b, where the last verse composed in it is:

ولیکن ختم کردم ختم اسرار * که دارم من باسراری دکر کار and immediately after in the next couplet is resumed the Ramal hexameter:

بود شبلی را ریاضت در جهان * بر طریق اولیای آن زمان

The couplet باز نقلی هم ز شبلی گویمت * سری از اسرار غیبی گویمت with which the Ramal hexameter is restored in Sherānī (Urda, January, 1927, p. 34), is found in this MS. on f. 195, where the second half of the couplet reads differently as follows:

نور از اسرار نوری کویت

In this MS. there is again a repetition of the Ramal hexameter 68 couplets before this verse.

Very little is known with certainty about the life of Farīdu'd-Dīn Abū-Hāmid Muḥammad b. Ibrāhīm 'Aṭṭār, one of the greatest Sufi poets of Persia. Even the date of his death is not definitely known. It oscillates between 589 and 632; but 627/1230 is perhaps the correct date. His surname 'Aṭṭār indicates that like his father he was a druggist and followed the calling of a physician. He was born at Nīshāpūr, spent a number of years in collecting materials for biographical notices of saints, and wrote both prose and verse. Those works of his about the genuineness of which there is no doubt are, according to Professor Sherānī: تذکرة الأولياء, پند نامه, الهی نامه, اسرار نامه, تذکرة الآل و الأئمة, شرح القلب, دیوان, خسرو نامه (see Urdu, January, 1927, p. 67). For his life and works, besides the Persian tazkiras, see Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers.; She'ru'l-'Ajam; R; EIO; Bk; Introduction to Tazkir. Awliya, ed. Nicholson; and Prof. M. Sherānī's Articles contributed to the Urdū quarterly entitled Urdu.

Beginning:

آفرین جان آفرین بر جان جان * زانکه هست او آشکارا و نهان

On fol. 1a is given the title; on fol. 1b the first ten couplets of the poem are supplied by a later hand on a different kind of paper. F. 2b consists of a part of the 'unwān of the poem mounted on another paper, on which also the first ten couplets of the poem are written in a different and more modern hand. The old MS. begins on f. 3. F. 69b is left blank except for four couplets on the hāshiya. The poem ends with:

HASHT BEHISHT (هشت بهشت).

This MS. is an incomplete copy of the seventh katība or daftar of the Hasht Behisht ("Eight paradises"), a very valuable history, in Persian, of the first eight Turkish Sultāns of the House of Osman ('Uṣmān). The author, Ḥakīmu'd-Dīn Idrīs b. Ḥusāmu'd-Dīn 'Alī, was a native of Bidlīs (or Bitlīs) in Kurdistān, and for a time State Secretary to the Āq-Qoyūnlū prince, Ya'qūb Beg (884-896/1479-1490). The disturbed state of his country, due to the conquest of it by Shāh Ismā'īl-e-Şafawī, forced him to repair to the court of the Turkish Sultān, Bāyazīd, in 907/1501-02, who accorded him a most honourable reception. In the next year the Sultān asked him to write a complete history of the House of Osman ('Uṣmān), from its rise in 710/1310-1311 to the year 908/1502-03, and proposed to him as models of composition the standard histories of 'Aṭā Malik-e-Juwaynī, Waṣṣāf, Mu'īnu'd-Dīn-e-Yazdī, and Sharafu'd-Dīn-e-Yazdī. When it was completed in two years and a half, it received, besides the above Persian title, the following in Arabic:

کتاب الصفات الثمانية في اخبار القياصرة العثمانية

It was completed in 912/1506-07 and supplemented by his son, Abu'l-Faḍl Muḥammad-e-Daftarī, who died in 982/1574-75 (see Kashf.-Zun). It is a matter for surprise that M. Clément Huart (Encyc. of Islam, 'Bidlīs'), referring to this history, says that it is in Persian 'verse' (80,000 bayts). Evidently he has been misled by the word bayt, which is used to indicate a line not only of poetry, but of prose also. The author has also dedicated a tafsir to Bāyazīd and written a number of Persian and Arabic qaṣīdas and treatises on religious subjects. He was also a favourite of Bāyazīd's successor Salīm, whom he accompanied in his Persian and Egyptian campaigns. He died at Constantinople in 926/1520.

The Hasht Behisht, being the first Ottoman history, on which all later histories of the Turkish empire are based, is considered of great value. It is also a rare work, only three complete copies of it are known to exist in Europe: (1) in the British Museum, (2) at Upsala, and (3) in the Bodleian. It is divided into eight katības or daftars, each of which treats of a separate reign, beginning with the reign of Osman ('Uṣmān) Beg Ghāzī (699-726/1299-1326) and ending with that of Sultān Bāyazīd II (886-918/1481-1512). The seventh katība treats of the reign of Muḥammad II (died 886/1481) and is divided into a muqaddama (dealing with the accession of the Sultān and with the history of other kings who were his contemporaries and of men of learning), a qalb (treating of the qualities and virtues of the Sultān and of his armies, conquests, and buildings), two janāḥs (giving an account of his children, wazīrs, and generals), and twenty-nine dāstāns, seven of which, forming the maymanas, describe his wars with Muslims, and another twenty-two forming the maysaras, his wars with the infidels. Our MS. represents six dāstāns of the former and twenty-two of the latter as follows:

Fol.	7b,	dāstān	i of the	maysara .	Fol.	119b,	dāstān	xiv of the	maysara .

HAFT IQLĪM (هفت اقلیم).

The famous geographical and biographical encyclopaedia by Amīn Aḥmad-e-Rāzī, which is still unpublished, except for a small portion published in the Bibl. Ind., Calcutta, 1918. It was composed after six years' labour according to the chronogram تصنیف امین احمد رازی and completed in 1002/1593–94, which date is also accepted by M. Ivanow. But according to Prof. Browne (Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iv, p. 448) it was composed in 1028/1619. That the composition of the book was continued even after 1002 is proved by internal evidence, such as a reference to the Turkish Sultān Muḥammad III, who ascended the throne in 1003/1595 (see EIO Column 498, No. 1558). The author belonged to a very respectable family. His father was a kalāntar of Ray and his uncle the wazīr of Khorāsān, Yazd, and Iṣfahān. His first cousin was Mirzā Ghiyās Beg, who afterwards became the famous I'timādū'd-Dawla, the father of Nūrbahān and wazīr of Jahāngīr. The work contains a large number of biographical notices of poets, 'Ulamās, and holy men. It is arranged geographically and divided in accordance with "the seven climes". The account of each country opens with a short geographical and historical description and contains notices of the celebrated persons who flourished in it from the earliest times to the days of the author. The biographies of poets are usually followed by long extracts from their works. Barbier de Meynard has incorporated much of this "eminent and extremely valuable work" in his Dictionnaire Geographique de la Perse, Paris, 1861. There is a complete copy of this great work in the India Office Library, which was copied at Ahmedabad in 1086/1675. It contains 1,560 notices, a full list of which is given in EIO No. 724. Of these notices our MS. contains the following 573 only, viz., those which bear numbers from 985 to 1,558 in Ethé's Catalogue:

P. 1, Extracts from Jalāl-e-Farāhānī's maṣnawī.

Tafrish.

P. 2, میر قدسی (985); میر عبد الغنی (986). P. 3, مولانا وجہی (987).

Qumm.

P. 4, شیخ نظامی (988). The great Nizāmī of Ganja. Long extracts from his diwān. P. 9, حکیم تقی الدین (989). خواجہ مسعود (990). Wrote on the exploits of Sultān Ḥusayn Mīrzā (873–911/1496–1506) and also two strife poems: تیغ و قلم and شمس و قر. P. 10, شہیدی (991). Poet-laureate of Sultān Ya'qūb Beg Āq-Qoyūnlū (883–896/1478–1491); came to India and settled in Gujarat, where he died. Wrote a diwān of 4,000 bayts.

P. 10, گلخی (992). Shahīdī's sister's son. Ethé remarks that his diwān "is not extant", whereas here it is stated that it is not. متداول. P. 11, وحیدی (993). قاضی زادہ کرہرود (994–996). Qāzī 'Alā of Karahrūd and his two sons, Qāzī Jahān and قاضی زادہ کرہرود are noticed. Dr. Ethé says: "Kādi Jahān was "denounced by calumniators as having fomented discontent "against Shāh Tahmāsp, and consequently arrested, imprisoned," etc., whereas here it is stated:

بعضی شیر و تمام بعرض شہریار ایران شاہ طہماسپ صفوی رسانیدند
کہ برادر بزرگ موسوم بقاضی جهان نشیب (نسبت) بشاہ اولیا (i.e., 'Alī)

استخفاف ورزیده و [از] این سخن قلمز شاه مذکور در تلاطم آمده
حسب الحکم اورا مقید و محبوس الخ

P. 13, (997) میر حضوری. Resided for 30 years in Mashhad. Dr. Ethé observes: "at the time of the accession of Shāh Ibrāhīm "II" (a mistake for Shāh Ismā'īl II, as is correctly given here) "(984/1576) he came for once to the Persian 'Irāk and "wrote a very clever ta'rikh on the date of Ṭahmāsp's death "and the beginning of his successor's reign, from which sixteen times the numerical value of 984 can be extracted, viz: الحمد ایا طبع وفا گستر ما * کآمد مه یوسف منش آن دلبر ما" شاه اسمعیل نام و انصاف بعلم * طهما سب منش مه همایون فرما" "By counting either all the letters in each hemistich, or only "those with diacritical points in any two hemistichs, or again "only those which have no diacritical points in any two "hemistichs, one obtains invariably the same number 984." The name of the King is clearly given here as Shāh Ismā'īl. It is further stated that the poet used to go to the capital once every few years to get his waṣṭifa renewed. We also learn that the poet himself hints at the صنعت used in the rubā'ī:

وبعد از چند سال یکبار بواسطه سامان وظیفه خود بدان دیار وارد شده
ومعاملات خود صورتی داده باز رو سوی مقصد می آورد..... ودر

P. 14, (998) میر اشکی. Brother of the preceding. Ghazālī-e-Mashhadī's (d. 980/1572) prosperity attracted him to India, where he died. His divān exceeded 12,000 bayts (Ethé has 10,000).

- P. 15, مولانا ملک (999). (Malik and his son-in-law, Zuhūrī, were both court-poets of Ibrāhīm 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur). At the time of the composition of this work he lived in the Deccan :

He enjoyed the favour of ناصر الدین محتشم, the Ismā'īlī governor of Quhistān, at whose request he wrote his famous اخلاق ناصری. He was suspected of carrying on secret correspondence with the Khalifa of Baghdād and was, therefore, put in prison, from which he was released by Hulākū Khān in 654/1256. It is said that it was at his instigation that the Khalifa مستعصم بالله was killed. Dr. Ethé remarks: the "ta'rikh on his death, however, viz., آء شهيد مير عبد القادر, gives "A.H. 987=A.D. 1579)." The same ta'rikh is given in this MS. also. Inasmuch as the name of the Qāẓī is Amīr and not Mīr, and the first word of the chronogram, viz., Āh, has an alif-e-mamdada, two alifs more, if reckoned in the calculation, will remove the deficiency of 2. امير معز (1105). - P. 110, مولانا اميدى (1112). (That part of his notice which should have been copied on p. 109 is wanting). The notice here begins with: امير نجم الثانى پاى قدر ومنزلتش. From what is stated here it appears that the poet was murdered in 927/1521.

The chronogram on his death by Nāmī, one of his pupils, as given here, viz., آء از خون ناحق من آء, gives 925, which, as pointed out by Dr. Ethé, is wrong, the correct date being 930/1524. See notices numbered 1081 and 1112. (If the ta'rikh is read as آء ز خون ناحق من آء, it will yield 930). In 789/1387, when Tīmūr conquered Shīrāz, Sayyed Sharīf was ordered to Samarqand, where he lived till the death of Tīmūr. During this period he had a number of learned disputations (مباحثات) with Sa'du'd-Dīn-e-Taftāzānī (died 791 or 792/1389 or 1390). He remained in Trans-Oxiana till the death of Tīmūr, after which he returned to Shīrāz, where he died 816/1413-1414, aged 76. He was born at طاغون (in Astarābād) in 740/1339-40. All the above works were written at Samarqand. After his return to Shīrāz he wrote (20) حاشيه شرح مختصر اصول ابن حاجب (glosses on the commentary, probably of عضد الدين ايجى, on Ibn-e-Ḥājib's مختصر المنتهى on jurisprudence); and (21) شرح سراج الدين محمد السجاوندى (a commentary on الفرائض السراجيه, on rights of inheritance). P. 271, سلطان الشعراء حسان المعجم افضل الدین بدیل الخاقانی (1385). The famous poet, called بدیل, i.e., a substitute for the great Sanā'ī. He was also known as حسان المعجم. He was the creator of a new style in poetry, which was peculiar to him, none of his predecessors having composed like his (خاقانی مبدع سخن است) و طرز کلام وی خاص است، پیش از وی کس بدین روش نسیجی نیافته و چنین موعظه و حکمت و صفت کعبه (هنر نامه نساخته خاقان کبیر ملک). He was a favourite panegyrist of خاقان کبیر ملک, the ruler of Shirwān, whose pedigree is traced by the Qāzī-e-Bayẓāwī, in his نظام التواريخ, to Bahrām-e-Chūbīn, while Qāzī Aḥmad-e-Ghaffārī, in his تاریخ جهان آرای, carries it back to Anūshīrwān. Failing to obtain the Khāqān's permission to retire, Khāqānī fled to Baylaqān, but was arrested and imprisoned in the fort of Shābrān. After seven months' imprisonment, he was released on the intercession of the Khāqān's mother. Thereafter he left for Makka. On his way through the two 'Irāqs he met a number of scholars and divines whom he has immortalized in his maṣnawī, the تحفة العراقيين, in which he has described his travels. Returning to Tabrīz he died there in 582/1186, and was buried at Surkhāb. Regarding this date of his death, Dr. Ethé observes that it is "a date which is impossible, as Rieu, ii., "p. 559, has conclusively proved; he probably died about "A.H. 595 (A.D. 1199)." Khāqānī's praises were sung by several poets such as ابو الفضائل, احمد ساوى, مجد الدين خليل, and امام نجم الدين سيمكر. The author mentions the following successors of Minūchihr: فرخ زاد, كشتاسب, from whom the ملوك كيقباد, فرخ زاد بن فرامرز, فرامرز, derived their name, who died in 774/1372-73, هوشنگ, who died in 784/1382-83, شيخ ابراهيم بن سلطان محمد, the contemporary of Tīmūr, died in 820/1417, سلطان خليل بن شيخ ابراهيم, who died in 867/1462-63, فرخ يسار بن خليل, who was killed in 906/1500-1501 by Shāh Ismā'il-e-Şafawī, بهرام بيك بن فرخ يسار, who died in 907/1501-1502, غازى بيك بن فرخ يسار, who died in 908/1502-1503, شيخ شاه, known as شيخ ابراهيم, who died in 930/1524, سلطان خليل بن شيخ شاه, who died in 942/1535-1536, and شاه رخ, the last independent ruler of Shirwān, who was taken prisoner by Shāh Ṭahmāsp in 945 and who died in 946/1539-1540. Long extracts from his poems.

P. 286, انصاح الدين فلکی (1386). Another great qaṣīda-writer, who, according to حمد الله مستوفى, was teacher of Khāqānī, but in his جواهر الاسرار, says that both Khāqānī and Falakī were pupils of ابو العلاء گنجوى, a statement which, Dr. Ethé says, "seems corroborated by some allusions in Khāqānī's elegy on Falakī's death;" but the text of the MS. under notice indicates quite the opposite view: ازین قطعه خاقانى: که در مرثیه گفته مفهوم می شود که خاقانى شاکرد فلکی بوده باشد. The date of his death, as quoted in Ethé, is 577/1181-1182. Long extracts from his poems.

P. 291, سيد ذوالفقار (1387). Another great qaṣīda-writer. Verses from his artifice-peom, قصیده مصنع (see Vol. 1, MS. Later on he went to Sulṭān Muḥammad bin Tukush Khwārazmshāh (596-617/1200-1220), who ordered him to versify an account of his exploits in the metre of the Shāhnāma.

نصير الدين محمود (1404). A great Shāfē'ī lawyer. Qāzī 'Umar bin Sahlān-e-Sāwajī dedicated to him his مصابّر نصیری on philosophy. P. 318, مسعود بيك محمود بلواج (1406). Governor of Trans-Oxiana and Turkistān during the reigns of three successors of Chingīz Khān. P. 320, افتخار الافاضل ابو القاسم محمود بن عمر جار الله زنجشیری (1407). Here ابو القاسم بن محمد. The great Arabic scholar, who belonged to Zamakhshar, a village in Khwārazm. Amongst his works are: (1) كتاب مفصل (on Arabic grammar), (2) اساس البلاغة (on lexicography), (3) رؤس المسائل (6), (علم فرائض) (on law), (4) ربيع الاربار (in fiqh or jurisprudence), (7) شرح ابيات سيبويه (8), (on Arabian proverbs), (9) همم العربي (10), (on prosody), (14) مقدمات الآداب (17), اصول (16), المنهاج (15), معجم الحدود (18), ديوان الرسائل (19), and (20) كشف (the celebrated commentary on the Qur'ān). Born at Zamakhshar in 467/1074-75, and also died there in 538/1143-44. He was a mu'tazilī.

P. 321, ابو الفتح ناصر بن ابو المكارم المطرزی (1408). (Here incorrectly stated as المكارم المطرزين). A great grammarian, lawyer, and poet. He was also a mu'tazilī. He died in 610/1213-14. It is said that more than 700 elegies were composed on his death. Amongst his works are: (1) شرح مقامات حریری (2) كتاب المغرب (on lexicography), and (3) كتاب از هدی (i.e., the مصباح). P. 321, ابو بكر محمد بن عباس (1409). Nephew of Ṭabarī (the great historian). Also called طبرخیز, because his father was a خوارزمی and his mother a طبرستانی. Mawarāu'n-Nahr and Samarqand on pp. 324-327.

- P. 327, ابوالقاسم حکیم (1417). Admirer of ابوالقاسم بن سماش (1416). P. 327, شیخ سفیدی (1418). (Ethé, هاشمی سفیدی). In the present copy the name is incorrectly given as (شیخ سفیدی). A disciple of ابو بکر وراق. حافظ ابی عبدالله بن عبد الرحمن بن الفضل بن بهرام الدارمی (ابو بکر وراق (1419). (Ethé, ابو الفضل بهرام). A great traditionist. Born in 181/797 and died at Samarqand in 275/888-889. (Notice of the great scholastic Shaykh Abū Maṣṣūr-e-Māturīdī, bearing No. 1420 in Ethé, is omitted in this MS.). فرید الدین ابو عبد الله محمد الرودکی (1421). The famous 'father of Persian poetry'. Belonged to Rūdāk (or rather Rūdāg), a village near Samarqand. He was born blind. Court-poet of Amīr Naṣr II (not Naṣīr, as is incorrectly given here) bin Aḥmad-e-Sāmānī (reigned 301-331/913-942). At the time when this book was written copies of his poems were extremely rare (با آنکه شعروى از حد وعد متجاوز) (بوده اما درین وقت بنا بر حکم قلت از یاقوت اصغر و کبریت احمر عزیز تراست).
- P. 333, ظهیر الدین الکتاب (1422). This name is wrongly written on this page. It should be in the place where the name of ملك الکلام عمر بن محمد is transcribed on p. 334, and that of the latter in the place assigned to محمد المنشوری, which should be in the space left blank on p. 335. On account of this misplacement of names, the particulars which should have gone under the caption "Zahīru'd-Dīn" have been mentioned under "Maleku'l-Kalām 'Umar" and those of the latter, under "Abū Sa'īd Aḥmad". Zahīru'd-Dīn (or محمد الظهیری, as he is otherwise known; see Kashf. Zūn.) was the author of سند نامه (a revised version of Qanāwazī's earlier work), اغراض السیاسة (incorrectly given here as اعتراض, the full title being سمع الظهیر فی جمع الظهیر (اعراض الریاسة فی اغراض السیاسة), and

(as in Rieu and Kashf. Zūn., but incorrectly given here as (سمع الظهير في جمع الظهر, Ethé has سمع الظهر في جمع الظهر).

P. 334, (1423) ملك الكلام عمر بن محمد الخبر بابادی. So written here; in Ethé, الحرنا بادى or الحرنا بادى. This name should have been transcribed on this page in place of Abū Sa'īd Aḥmad. The ملك الكلام was a مذكر, who went from Samarqand to Balkh and settled there. The statement in Ethé that he was the "author of letters (رقعه)" does not seem to be borne out by the text here: وقتی بر سر منبر تذکره می گفت و سخن کرم شده بود و پیوسته عادت داشتی که دستار را بر میان دوا برو نهادی در آن ابنان (sic اثنا) جمعی رقعہ نبشتند که دستار را بر تر نه که روزی خدا نمی دهد بدیهه این رباعی گفت الخ.

(1424) ابو سعيد احمد بن محمد المنشوری. This name should have been written in the space left blank on P. 335, line 5. He was a poet who lived in the days of السلطان یمن الدوله.

P. 335, (1425) رشید الشعراء استاد ابو محمد (رشیدی). (In Ethé the title is correctly mentioned as سید الشعراء; so also in the Chahār Maqāla, Gibb Memorial Series, p. 46, l. 20). Poetical letters passed between him and Mas'ūd bin Sa'd bin Salmān, who presented him with a copy of his diwān. Rashidī was greatly respected at the court of سلطان خضر بن ابراهيم (ruler of Trans-Oxiana, who ascended the throne in 474/1081-82 and died soon afterwards, see Qazwīnī's ḥawāshī on the Chahār Maqāla, p. 189). Here follows Anecdote No. 19 of the Chahār Maqāla, after which extracts from the poet's verses are given.

Pp 339 and 340. (1426) نظام الدین (i.e., نظامی عروضی). The name is here misplaced. It should have been mentioned on P. 340, line 2, in the place where the name of حمید الدین الجوهری appears; for, the account which follows there is undoubtedly that of Niẓāmī 'Aruẓī of Samarqand (author of the famous Chahār Maqāla). From what is stated here it follows that he was a good masnawī-writer, that he had composed a few masnawīs, and that مجمع النوادر and چهار مقاله are his works in prose [مع, as on page 340, متقدمان صنعت] او در مثنوی از مقدمان صعب, Qazwīnī's مقدمه to his edition of the Chahār Maqāla, Gibb Mem. Ser.) است و چند تالیف در آن پرداخته مجمع النوادر و چهار مقاله

[در سر (نثر) از مصنفات اوست (The critical editor of the Chahār Maqāla, Mirzā Muḥammad-e-Qazwīnī, has clearly proved on pages ۵, ۶, and ۷ of his مقدمه that these are not two different books, but two names of one and the same book). An autobiographical extract from the Chahār Maqāla is given here, which is followed by a few qit'as composed by him.

- P. 342, حمید الدین الجوهری (1427). The name is wrongly shown here. It should have been written on p. 342, line 2, where that of مؤید الدین is written. This Ḥamīdu'd-Dīn is a well-known poet. He had poetical contests with Ḥakīm Sozanī. مؤید الدین (1428). This name, instead of being written in line 2 on this page, should have been written in line 3 from the bottom, where the name اجل الافضل is transcribed. He was a poet and author of [نامه] P. 343 اجل الافضل (i.e., شهاب الدین احمد بن مؤید, (1429). The caption should be read as اجل المحترم بهاء الدین instead of بهاء الدین. Shihābu'd-Dīn was son of the preceding and a good poet.
- P. 345, ملك الكلام اجل المحترم بهاء الدین (1430). The rubric caption ملك الكلام سيد حسن الشرق is wrong, for the poet noticed under it is really Bahā'u'd-Dīn, who at first lived in Samarqand, but later on went to Nimroz and Sijistān, where the ruler Malik Shamsu'd-Dīn honoured him. P. 346, ملك الكلام سيد حسن اشرفی (1431). Here again the rubric caption is wrong. Ashrafi was a well-known poet (noticed in the Ātashkada and the Majma'u'l-Fuṣahā).
- P. 350, افصح الكلام اجل الحكما ابو على شطرنجی (1432). The rubric caption should be replaced by اجل الحكما الخ. Abū 'Alī or 'Alī Shaṭranjī was a poet of the آل خاقانی, and the author of a qaṣīda, of which the word لكلك forms the radīf. P. 352, افصح الكلام امیر مولانا جمالی (1433). The rubric caption مولانا جمالی is wrongly put for افصح الكلام الخ. Rūḥānī was a good poet, at first attached to Sultān Bahrāmshāh and then to Ātsiz Khwārazmshāh.
- P. 353, مولانا جمالی (1434). Here again the caption in red is wrong. Jamālī was a poet. خواجه کریم الدین (1435). Instead of the heading مولانا صدر الدین it should be خواجه کریم الدین. He was a disciple of سلطان محمد تغلق, on whose death نظام الدین اولیاء gave him the title of انوار الملك and made him شیخ الاسلام.

P. 354, (ابراهيم) مولانا صدر الدين (1436). Prime Minister of Mirzā Shāh (rukh). (1437). خواجه مولانا افضل read خواجه عبد الملك. He wrote بر هدايه, but could not complete it. (1438). مولانا فاضل read خواجه فضل (as in Ethé). He is the author of حاشيه بر شرح شمسيه (glosses on the commentary, probably by Qutbu'd-Dīn-e-Rāzī, on Kātib-e-Qazwīnī's الرسالة الشمسية (الله). (1439). خواجه فضل (الله). The rubric caption مولانا كمال الدين should be replaced by خواجه فضل الله. He was a great lawyer and Arabic scholar (در فقه ابو حنیفه) (1440). مولانا كمال الدين عبد الرزاق. (ثاني و در عربیت ابن حاجب دوم). Instead of the caption نشاطی رياخی جوهری (which are really three different names, viz., رياضى, بساطی, and جوهری) the rubric should be مولانا كمال الدين الخ. This Kamālu'd-Dīn was the author of the famous history of the Timūrides, مطلع السعدین, بساطی (1441). For مير قراشی read بساطی (as in Ethé, and not نشاطی, as written two lines above). He was a panegyrist of Sulṭān Khalīl b. Mīrānshāh. رياضى (1442). A poet. No caption is assigned to him here. In line 4 on this page رياحی is evidently meant for رياضى. جوهری (1443). His name in the rubric should have been written at least before the words عروض و قافیه را in line 15 on this page. Was well-versed in Prosody and Rhyme, and had versified سیر النبی at the desire of امیر علی شیر. مير قریشی (1444). His name is written in line 6 on this page; but it should have been transcribed in line 17 below. He was a poet. مولانا حاجی محمد (1445). His name should have been written in the place where that of مولانا ابو الخير stands. He too was a poet. مولانا ابو الخير (1446). His name should occupy the place taken by مولانا قاسم کامی. M. Abu'l-Khayr was a great philosopher, an expert physician, and a good poet. His takhalluṣ was عاشق. He was a contemporary of Abu'l-Ghāzī Sulṭān Ḥusayn Mīrzā and died in 957, according to the chronogram فوت عاشق.

P. 355, مولانا قاسم کاهی (1447). His name should have been written where that of مولانا صادق حلوائی is copied in red. A great musician and poet. In Akbar's reign he came to India and was given a reward of one hundred thousand (lac) tankas for a single qasida. For some time he stayed at Benares and then he went to Agra, where he died on the 2nd of Rabī'us-Sānī, 988. Fayzī has composed a very clever ta'rikh of his death, viz., دویم از ماه ربیع الثانی.

- P. 359, مولانا صادق حلوائی (1448). This name is not mentioned in the MS. but the blank space in line 17 on this page seems to be meant for it. He was called Ḥalwā'ī after his ancestor, شمس الائمہ حلوائی, who was a saint. Mawlānā Ṣādiq lived in India for some time. He was put in charge of state affairs at Kābul by Muḥammad Ḥakīm Mirzā. After some years he returned to his native town and was alive, when this book was compiled. P. 360, بدیع (1449). His name is omitted in the text. Its proper place, however, is indicated by the blank space in line 11. Badī'ī is known as مولانا زاده. Was well read in History and Arabian sciences, [علوم غریبه (sic) عربیہ], and sometimes wrote poetry. نردی روده (1450). His name also is omitted in the text. Its proper place is just before the words, "پدرش از هرات بوده", in line 14 on this page. He was a clerk in the service of سلطان حسین میرزا. Came to India and rose to distinction. Dr. Ethé says about the poet: "he especially excelled in the composition of ta'rikhs, for instance, on the capture of Barwaj (بروج) in Gujarāt by "Mirzā Yān in 977 (A.D. 1569-1570), فتح بروج کردند". In this statement Dr. Ethé has committed two curious mistakes. Not only has he misread the name of the city as "Barwaj" (for Baroj or Baroch, the modern Broach, in Gujarāt, called in ancient times Bhṛigu-kaccha ("the Shore of Bhṛigu"), after the founder of the town, and later on written as Bhāru-Kaccha—see Rapson's Ancient India, p. 172), but has also wrongly taken "yān" to be the personal name of the conqueror of the city, whereas it is simply a plural termination affixed to 'Mirzā'. The 'Mirzāyān' refers undoubtedly to the Moghul princes, the Tīmūrīdes of Delhi, as is clearly indicated in the ta'rikh itself. The text here runs as follows:

درحین کہ مرزایان فتح بروج کردند تاریخ را چنین یافته—اولاد تمر کہ

در شجاعت فردند * شد فتح بهر جا [ی] که رو آوردند * کردند چو فتح
 بروج از روی ستیز * تاریخ شد آنکه فتح بروج کردند .

نگاری (1451). This name is also omitted in the MS. Its proper place is in the last line on this page, immediately before the words, از زمان عبد الله (عبيد الله) خان. Figārī was a poet.

- P. 361, منظری (1452). This name finds no place in the text. Its proper place is just before the words, منظور نظر, in line 2 of this page. He was a favourite of Khānkhānān Bayramkhān. میر هاشم محترم (1453). No mention is made of this name in the text. The blank space in line 5 on this page seems to be its proper place. Mīr Hāshim was in India at the time when this work was being written. In spite of the use of opium, his memory was so extraordinary that he knew the whole of the Mahābhārat by heart. He was a poet. (صالح ندائی, a poet, No. 1454 in Ethé is omitted in this MS.)

Kash. Is situated to the south of Samarqand. It is also known as شهر سبز and قبة الخضراء. Amīr Khusraw's father originally belonged to it. ابواسحق (1455). Wrongly written here as ابو السنى.

The celebrated poet whom Rashīd-e-Waṭwāṭ admired and whose lines he quoted as authority in his Ḥadā'iqus-Sihr. 'Awfī counts him amongst the poets of Āl-e-Saljūq, while Nizāmī 'Arūzī states that he was the "King of poets" at the court of Khāqān Khizr b. Ibrāhīm, the ruler of Turkistān and Trans-Oxiana. The author says that probably he was patronized by both the courts. It is stated here that he was the first poet to compose a magnawī (يوسف وزليخا) that could be read in two different metres, Dr. Ethé observes: "the statement, given here, that 'Am'ak's poem was the first adaptation of the "biblical story in Persian verse is, of course, wrong, see Ethé, "Firdausi's Yūsuf und Zalīkhā, in Verhand. des VII internat.

Amongst his four Khalīfas or spiritual successors was one named خواجه بها. الدين, whose disciple was عارف ريوکری. On page 390, the name of خواجه علی رامینی is written in rubrics, which gives it the appearance of a new notice; but it is not warranted as such by the context, nor is it regarded as a separate notice by Dr. Ethé.

P. 422, محمد بن على بن اسمعيل القفال (1529). A lawyer, traditionist, poet, and Imām. Dr. Ethé states that he "spread the Ḥanafite law in Transoxania"; whereas the text of the MS. reads: از فقها كسى كه اول بتصنيف پرداخته وى بوده و فقه شافى را در ماوراء النهر و شاش او انشار داده. He dedicated his work on Shāfe'ī law (the حلایة العلماء) to the 'Abbāsī Khalīfa المستظهر بالله, after whom it is sometimes called المستظهری. He was appointed a professor in the مدرسه نظامیه at Baghdād. He was born in 429/1037-1038, and died in 507/1113-1114. غفرالدين بن اکتی. P. 423, خواجة ناصر الدین عبید الله (1533). He is better known as خواجة. He was the greatest Shaykh of Turkistān, Farghāna, Māwarā'un-Nahr (Trans-Oxiana), and Khorāsān. The date of his death mentioned here, according to the chronogram found by امیر علی شیر, is 896/1491, which, Dr. Ethé observes, is "contrary to all other statements which give 895". کال شیخ (1534). A contemporary Shaykh of Khwāja-e-Ahrār. He used to practise what is called ذکر اره, which is explained here as follows: ذکر اره ذکرى است در سلك مشايخ ترك. که در گفتن آواز مثل آواز اره دوسر از حنجره ذاکر بر می آید.

P. 428, ابو نصر محمد ترکی (1538). He is the famous philosopher, نصر فارابی, known to Europe as Alfarabius. The author states that there have been four perfect philosophers: two pre-Islamic, viz., ارسطو and لقمان; and two post-Islamic, viz., ابو علی and ابونصر. He is called 'Turkī', because at first he knew Turkish only and could not understand Arabic at all. Afterwards when he went to Baghdād he learnt it under Abū Bashār b. Yūnus and soon became proficient in it. He read Aristotle's book two hundred times, and his other work called سماع طبعی, forty times. He was a contemporary of the great Wazīr Ṣāḥib Ismā'īl b. 'Abbād, and Sayfu'd-Dawla (the friend and patron of Mutanabbī), whose court he visited at Damascus, where he lived for some time. He had great proficiency in Music and Archery. While he was on a journey, he was set upon by thieves, whom he held at bay as long as he had any arrows left in his quiver, but when they were all used up, he was overpowered by them and killed (in 356/966-967).

The author gives on pp. 430-434 the boundaries and a geographical description of these three places and refers to the deserts and hillocks of shifting sand, under which several old cities lay buried. On p. 434 he says: چون احوال سلاطین کا شعر در هیچ تاریخی مذکور نشده ہر آئینہ واجب دید کہ بحمل درینوقت مذکور سازد.

Pp. 434-444. Here he gives a somewhat detailed account of the Amīrs of Kāshghar, drawing mainly upon the Ta'rikh-e-Rashīdī. A short summary of it is given below; for more particulars see EIO, columns 496 and 497. Tughluqtīmūr, the Moghul Khān appointed (1543) Amīr Tolak, the ruler of Kāshghar. After his death he was succeeded by one of his four brothers, (1544) Amīr Lolājī (probably Tolājī, Dr. Ethé has Būlājī, while Erskine, History of India under Baber and Humayun, has Yūlājī). When he died, his son (1545) Amīr Khudāyādād took his place, and ruled over the country with great ability, rising in power and position under his suzerain lord. Towards the end of his life he went on a pilgrimage to Makka and Madina, at which latter place he died and was buried there. He was succeeded by his son (1546) Amīr Muḥammad Shāh, who lost Kāshghar and Khotan, which were conquered by Tīmūr. But his son (1547), Amīr Sayyed ‘Alī, regained them. He ruled for twenty-four years and after his death was succeeded by his son (1548) Sātsiz Mirzā (so called in Ethé, but here incorrectly Sānsir). He died in 869/1464–1465, and after him his younger brother (1549), Muḥammad Hayder Mirzā, took the reins of government into his hands, as the two sons of Sātsiz Mirzā, viz., Abū-Bakr Mirzā and ‘Umar Mirzā, were minors. When Abū-Bakr grew into a brave and bold man, he collected a number of valiant soldiers and attacked his uncle. The latter was supported by Yūnus Khān, the Lord of Moghulistān. A long struggle ensued for the possession of the country of his ancestors, in which after some vicissitudes of fortune, (1550) Abū-Bakr Mirzā became successful and came into his own. But (1551) Sulṭān Abū-Sa‘īd Khān, the grandson of Yūnus Khān, defeated him and, taking Yārkand, the capital of Kāshghar, in 920/1514, became the virtual ruler of the country. He was an able ruler and possessed various accomplishments. He was not only a fine archer and a high-class calligraphist, but played skilfully on the غچک (spelt here as عچک) and چهار تار (غچک or غزک is explained in Persian dictionaries as meaning the musical instrument which is called سارنگی in India). He died in 939/1532–1533 and was succeeded by his son (1552) ‘Abdu’r-Rashīd Khān. The year of his accession to the throne, as given in this MS. (p. 443), is the same as in Ethé’s copy, viz., 950, in respect of which he says that it “must be a mistake for 940, as he succeeded his father immediately." 'Abdu'r-Rashīd Khān was a handsome man and an accomplished ruler. At the time of accession, he was twenty-five years old, and his rule lasted for thirty-three years (i.e., according to Dr. Ethé's computation, till 971/1564). He left thirteen sons, namely, (i) عبداللطيف خان, (ii) عبدالكريم خان (succeeded his father and was the ruler of Kāshghar, when this work was being written; he too excelled in Archery and Music), (iii) عبدالرحيم خان سلطان, (iv) عبدالعزيز, (v) ادم سلطان, (vi) محمد سلطان, (vii) محمد باق, (viii) قريش سلطان (who came to India and was patronised by Akbar; he died in India, leaving behind him five sons, who were all alive at the time of the composition of this work), (ix) ابو سعيد سلطان, (x) عبدالقادر سلطان (who also came to India), (xi) الوس سلطان, (xii) عبدالرحيم سلطان, and (xiii) عارف سلطان.

Besides being a good prose-writer and an excellent poet, he was a brave man. He ruled over Kashmir for seven years and was killed in 958/1551. امير احمد حاجي (1558). He was governor of Herāt for some time, under Sūltān Husayn Mirzā.

Taraz on p. 450. A part of the description of it is lost on account of the page having been damaged. A majority of the inhabitants of Tarāz were Muslims, and the place has produced a good many 'Ulamās.

Chigil on p. 451. Proverbially known as an abode of the beautiful. Its inhabitants used to worship Canopus (سميل), Orion (بنات النعش), and the Ursa Major (جوزا); they did not consider marriage with their sisters and daughters as incestuous or unlawful.

Khallukh on p. 451. A small community, who married their sisters. No woman was allowed to have more than one husband. Everything that belonged to the husband formed her dowery. The king had no queen, and, if he married one, he was immediately killed.

Tātār on p. 451. A very brave people, who worshipped the Sun. The language that they spoke was different from that of the Turks. They traced their origin to ترك بن يافث, whose successor was النجہ خان, after whom came ديت باقوى (دیت is explained here as meaning جاء و منصب, and باقوى as بزرگ), and then كوك. The last had two sons: one of them was called تاتار and the other موغل, between whom the country was divided. Tātār Khān's successors were يعوخان (Ethé, Baghū Khān), مليح خان, (Ethé, Maliḥa Khān), ايل خان, اتسر خان, اردو خان, and ايدو خان. In the reign of the last king the Tātārs and the Moghuls, who had lived so long in peace and harmony, fell out, and in the reign of سونج خان, the eighth ruler of the Tātārs, "the fire of mischief and hostility (to use the words of the author) blazed so fiercely that it could not be extinguished with the water of peace."

Rus (RUSSIA) on p. 452. A great people, who wore red hair and had tall statures and fair bodies. Their women were accustomed from childhood to wear 'bowls' (حقبا) of gold, silver, or wood, on their breasts to prevent them from becoming too large. Another custom of the country was that the wife of a person possessing one thousand dinārs wore one gold collar (طوق از طلا), that of another owning two thousand dinārs, wore two, and so on. In buying or selling merchandise, no scales or weights were used, but only 'measures' (پیمانه). They had a special liking for swine's flesh (گوشت خوک). The author refers to some strange customs observed by the Russian ruler and winds up the description by saying that the monarch has nothing else to do but to lead a life of perpetual pleasure and enjoyment.

Here ends the MS. The remaining countries mentioned in the work, as specified in Dr. Ethé's copy, are: کیمک, بغراج, رومیه (Rome), شلسوق (Schleswig), قسطنطنیه, اسفیجاب, خزر, زره گران, کرشنه (near the Caspian gates peopled by tall armour-makers). The SEVENTH IQLĪM: بلغار, جابلقا ("at the furthest end of Magh-rib").

The MS. of the Haft Iqlīm opens with a poetical extract beginning with the following line:

[میزد و میگرد برو ریشخند] * پخته و نا پخته فرو می فکند

This extract, as we learn from the Tazkira-e-Dawlatshāh (Browne's edition, pp. 230-231), is from the maḡnawī composed by Jalāl-e-Farāhānī in imitation of Nizāmī's famous Makhzanu'l-Asrār. It ends on page 2 of the MS. with the following couplet:

تا نشوی بذر گر آسا جلال * غم نخوری در طلب ملک و مال

This anecdote is quoted in the تذکره دولتشاهی, مجمع الصنائع, آتشکده, and جمع الصنائع, (هفت آسمان) (see هفت قلم).

The last country mentioned is Russia on the last page (452). The MS. ends with the following words:

بغیر از صحبت داشتن و می خوردن و نشاط کردن کاری ندارد
و مردم نیک

37. Diwān-e-Nuṣrat (دیوان نصرت).

This Diwān contains the ghazals of Muḥammad Na'īm, who bore the title of Dilāwar Khān and the takhalluṣ Nuṣrat. His ancestors belonged to Sialkot near Lahore, and his father, Mīr 'Abdu'l-'Azīz, was at first attached to Dārā Shukoh. Afterwards he entered the service of Awrangzeb and received from him a mansib of 2,000 and the title of Dilāwar Khān. Muḥammad Na'īm received his father's title in the reign of Shāh 'Ālam and came to the Deccan with Niẓāmu'l-Mulk at the beginning of the reign of Farrukh-Siyar (1713-1719). He was appointed Fawjdār of Raichur under Sayyed Ḥusayn 'Alī Khān and, on the fall of the Sayyeds, remained attached to Niẓāmu'l-Mulk. He died in 1139/1726-27. He was a fine poet of pleasant ideas and well-versed in the various kinds of poetry (see Sarw-e-Āzād).

Begins :

آهی سرعت برقی کرامت کن زبانم را * بدلها چون نگاه یار راهی ده بیانم را

This copy agrees at the beginning with that of the India Office. The copy in Sprenger and IvASB begins with a different couplet, which is the maṭla' of the second ghazal in this MS. (fol. 2). Probably our copy has more odes than that of the Bengal As. Society. The literary value of this copy is further enhanced by the fact that it contains very useful marginal and interlinear explanatory glosses. It abruptly ends with the following verse on f. 175 :

اگرچه از سر مطلب گذاشتن آسان نیست * توان گذاشت زجان و دل از برای کسی

It bears no date of transcription.

This MS. contains the ghazals of Ghanī of Kashmīr and also includes his rubā'īyyāt and mutafarriqāt, on ff. 176-227. For particulars of the life of Ghanī see Vol. 49 (MS. No 91) below. These odes are written in a hand and on a paper different from those of the Dīwān-e-Nuṣrat. The latter is written in horizontal lines, while the former is copied diagonally.

Begins :

'MUNSHA'ĀT-E-SHĀH-
NAWĀZ KHĀN' ('منشآت شاهنواز خان').

The label Majma'a-e-Khutāt ("Collection of Letters") affixed to the volume indicates the nature of its contents, but gives no indication of either the title or the author. The fact that the first pages containing the introduction are wanting in this copy makes it still more difficult to find these particulars. A careful study, however, of the principal persons, places, facts, and dates mentioned in the letters leads one to the conclusion that it is a rare, though unfortunately incomplete, collection of letters written by Nawwāb 'Abdu'r-Razzāq Ṣamṣāmu'd-Dawla Shāhnawāz Khān Shahīd-e-Khwāfī of Aurangabad, the minister of Nizāmu'l-Mulk Āṣaf Jāh and Nāṣir Jang, and the famous author of Ma'āṣiru'l-Umarā, a voluminous biographical dictionary of the amīrs, nawwābs, nobles, etc., of the Indian Empire under the Tīmūrides from Akbar onwards. Amongst the principal grounds on which this conclusion is based may be mentioned :

(1) On f. 76b there is an 'arz-dāsh't submitted to 'Ālamgīr II (1167-1173/1754-59), in which the writer mentions his name as 'Abdu'r-Razzāq and thanks the Emperor for his favours and the nishān ("distinction") conferred upon him. (2) On f. 30b the writer says that formerly also he was not greater than the Dīwān of Berar (نفیر بیشتر هم دیوان برار بیش نبود). (3) Two dates are mentioned: 1166 (f. 26b) and 1168 (ff. 10 and 12). (4) Several letters addressed to one Mīr, in one of which, on f. 39, it is stated: "you, who call yourself Āzād etc."

است اگر تخلص دیگر قرار یابد بہتر است الخ

which at once suggests the name of Mīr (Ghulām-'Alī) Āzād. These facts exactly fit in with the biography of Shāhnawāz Khān, who (1) had received from Shāh 'Ālam II the distinction of Mahī Marātīb in 1168/1754-55 (Ma'āsiru'l-Umarā, vol. i, p. 23). (2) He was also appointed Dīwān of the Ṣaba of Berar in 1145/1732-33 and again in 1160/1747 (Ma'āsiru'l-Umarā, vol. i, p. 19). (3) He was alive in 1168/1754-55 and (4) had in Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād an admiring friend and secretary and later on a biographer.

Shāhnawāz Khān was born in 1111/1700 in a family several members of which had distinguished themselves in the state service of the Moghul Emperors of Delhi. Coming down to the Deccan, he played an active and important part in the quadrangular political game which was then being played between the Nizām and the French on one side and the British and the Marathas on the other. He was Dīwān to Nizāmu'l-Mulk and his son Nāṣir Jang and held the *Dīwān*ship under the latter's son and successor Ṣalābat Jang also up to 1170/1737-38. Then came his political downfall, for he became involved in a plot, with which M. Bussy was explicitly charged and which he joined in Ramaṣān, 1171/1758, when he was murdered at Aurangabad. His great work, the Ma'āsiru'l-Umarā, was lost in the confusion consequent upon his murder, but his admiring secretary and friend, the abovementioned Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād, collected its parts together, arranged them in their proper order, and added to it a detailed biography of its outhor. It was later on revised by Shāhnawāz Khān's son, 'Abdu'l-Ḥayy, who was appointed to his father's office in 1172/1758-59. This revised edition was published in the Bibl. Ind. Calcutta. In the Introduction containing the life of the author, Āzād says that he was an unrivalled munsifi and that in letter-writing his style possessed features peculiar to itself. He regrets that his letters (انشاء, by which word, he says, he has ventured to call this collection) have not been collected. He says (Ma'āsiru'l-Umarā, vol. i., p. 36):

منشی بی بدل بود وانشاء او در خطوط نویسی طور خاصی دارد حیف که
منشئات او جمع نشد - اگر تدوین می یافت چشم ناظران را کحل الجواهر
می کشید.

It is clear from the first line with which our MS. opens that since Āzād made the above remarks, someone has made an attempt to collect the Letters, but that he has only succeeded in making a small collection:

نوشته اگرچه تحریراتش بسیار زیاده ازین مجموعه مختصر بوده اما بالفعل
هرچه فراهم شد ثبت افتاد.

These are the words with which this copy actually begins.

The first letter is an 'arz-dasht addressed to Nāṣir Jang at the time when his father was leaving the Deccan. Amongst the letters of interest and historical importance may be mentioned (1) a letter on the death of Āṣaf Jāh and the accession of Nāṣir Jang (f. 1), (2) several letters to Ruknu'd-Dawla Bahādur Nāṣir Jang (f. 6-27b, 50b-63b), (3) many more to Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād (f. 28b-49), (4) one to Rāo Bālājī Pandit Pradhān (f. 75), (5) another to the same (f. 67b), (6) one also to Malhārrāo Holkar (f. 68b), and (7) an 'arz-dasht to 'Ālamgīr II (f. 76b). The last letter in the collection (f. 87) is addressed to Qutbu'd-Dawla Muḥammad Anwar Khān Bahādur.

Undated. The colophon, which is in a different hand, says that the book belonged to Sayyed Shāh Asadu'llāh Muḥammad al-Husaynī of Sirūr. It is dated the 14th Rajab, 1286/20th October, 1869.

INTEKHĀB-E-MASNAWĪ (انتخاب مثنوی).

Rare selections from Rūmī's Masnavī made by Darwesh Muḥammad-e-Bukhārī, a disciple of Khwāja 'Ubaydu'llāh Ahrār. At the desire of his spiritual guide he made these selections about the year 909/1503-04 (f. 2b) and systematically arranged them in 78 chapters, a list of which is given on the three folios preceding the short prose introduction, which begins (on f. 1b) as follows:

الحمد لله رب العالمين والعاقبة للمتقين والصلواة على رسوله محمد وآله أجمعين
اما بعد حمد و درود میگوید اضعف العباد درویش محمد بخاری

The chapters are called bābs. The first bāb treats of the praise of God (ḥamd), the second the praise of the Prophet (na't), the third of Abū-Bakr (ṣifat), and so on. The first bāb begins with:

ای خدا ای فضل تو حاجت روا * با تو یاد هیچکس نبود روا

The last bāb treats of موت الا برار and ends with the following verse:

سیف و خنجر چون علی ریحان او * نرگس و نسرين عدو جان او

Of the existing selections of the Masnavī, the most popular and widely known is the لباب المعنوی by Husayn Wā'iz-e-Kāshifī (the famous author of the Anvār-e-Suhaylī), from which he made a futher abridged selection entitled لباب مثنوی.

Other selections are جواهر اللالی, علی اکبر خوافی by نهر بحر مثنوی, ابو بکر شاشی, and سید عبدالفتاح حسینی by در مکنون, or by a disciple of his. For a recent classification of the subject-matter of the Maṣnawī see قاضی تلمذ حسین by مرآة المثنوی, Hyderabad (Dn.), 1352 A.H.

The colophon says that the Intekhāb-e-Maṣnawī was finished on 12th Z. Qa'da, 1263/22nd October, 1847, at Nirmal and copied by Mirzā Muḥammad 'Alī.

'ARŪS-E-'IRFĀN (عروس عرفان).

This valuable work on Sufism, in Persian prose, by Qāzī, Maḥmūd Baḥrī, son of Qāzī Baḥrū'd-Dīn, known as Qāzī Daryā, of Gogī (near the Fort of Nuṣratābād) near Bijapur, appears to be rare in Europe. Very little is known about the author except what is gathered from his own works. He tells us (fol. 7b) that he neither attended any school nor studied under any teacher, nor did he travel abroad, but that he remained confined to his native place, Gogī. On fol. 8b he states that he is a disciple of Shaykh Muḥammad Bāqir Qādirī, who trained him for about 20 years, that the Sufiistic topics dealt with in the book were always carefully considered by him, and that in writing the book he has drawn upon his own experience and has not borrowed anything in prose or verse from anyone (fol. 9). With pardonable pride he asserts (fol. 96) that he has put 200 ornaments (zawar) on the body of this 'Arūs (i.e., has dealt with 200 nikāt, or subtle points of Sufism in this book), that he has written a book in Dakhnī verse entitled Man Lagan (fol. 130), that, at the request of a friend of his, the latter was rendered, بطریق ترجمه (ترجمه), into Persian prose entitled 'Arūs-e-'Irfān, and that it was composed in the year 1117/1757-58, (fol. 130b), as is evident from the chronogram:

گر بتاریخش آرزوت بود * کامیاب عروس عرفان شو though at the beginning of the book (fol. 5), the date given is 1116/1756-57. From a passage quoted in the Urdu-e-Qadīm by Shamsu'llāh Qādirī, p. 87, and said to have been taken from the khātima of the 'Arūs-e-'Irfān (but not found in this copy), we further learn that the author stayed at the Court of Sikandar 'Ādil Shāh, the last ruler of Bijapur, for a couple of years and that he had composed maṣnawīs, ghazals, rubā'īs, and qaṣīdas in both the Dakhnī and Persian languages amounting to about 50,000 verses. From the same source we learn that on the fall of Bijapur (in 1097/1685-86) Baḥrī sent to Hyderabad all the valuable presents which Sikandar 'Ādil Shāh had given him, but that robbers made off with them on the way, and that the presents thus lost included the collection of his works also. However a diwān consisting of ghazliyyāt, marāṣī, etc., and a maṣnawī entitled Bangāb-nāma have survived (vide an article on Baḥrī and his Man Lagan by Sayyid Muḥammad Ḥāfiẓ, M.A., in the Allahabad University Studies for December, 1929, and another on the same subject in the issue of the Urdu for April, 1929). Baḥrī is said to have died at Gogī (near Wādī, a Station on the G. I. P. Ry. on 10th Shawwāl, 1130/15th August, 1718. Every year an 'Urs (fair) is held at his shrine.

Begins :

* یارب این نو باغ را از باد صرصر دور دار *

* صبح و شام از بلبلان معنوی پر نور دار *

In each zawar elegant prose is followed by beautiful verses, in which he adopts Baḥrī as his takhalluṣ.

Undated. On the last fol. 131 and 131b, are a few stray verses in Dakhnī written in different hands. On fols. 1 and 2, is an incomplete small Persian treatise on Sufism. Fol. 4 contains a few Persian stray lines.

MAJMU' A-E-MASNAWIYYĀT (مجموعۂ مشنویات).

This is a composite MS. comprising the following six short masnawīs, all in Dakhnī verse and in one and the same metre, the Mutaqārib.

42. Me'rāj-Nāma (معراج نامہ).

This masnawī deals with the Me'rāj of the Prophet and may be called Me'rāj-nāma.

It begins with:

الہی تون قادر ہے سینسار کا * تون آدھار ہے سب نرا دھار کا

It covers ff. 1b-12. It was completed on 26th Rajab (year not mentioned). Copied on Thursday, 11th Shawwāl, 1188/15th December, 1774, at the port of Melāpūr.

43. Wujūd-Nāma (وجود نامہ).

This masnawī contains a dialogue between Wujūd and Jiw, beginning with:

اپس حکم تے پاک پروردگار * وجود ہو ر جیو کون ملائیک ٹہار

It extends over ff. 12b-13b and ends with the following couplet:

کہے شیخ محمود سن ای اصیل * قیامت میں پوچھیکا دونوں کو میل

From this verse it may be inferred that its author was Shaykh Maḥmūd.

44. 'Alī-Nāma (علی نامہ).

This masnawī may be called علی نامہ or جنگنامہ علی با جنی رعد. Its author's name is Ādam and his laqab Maṣṣūr. He says (fol. 26b) that the original was in Persian, which he rendered into Dukhnī verse in Ramaḡān, 1096/July-August, 1685, in the reign of Abu'l-Ḥasan Bādshāh, otherwise called Ḥasan Quṭb Shāh. This monarch is undoubtedly the same as Abu'l-Ḥasan Tānā Shāh, the last ruler of Golconda, who reigned from 1083 to 1098/1672 to 87. The magṇawī deals with 'Alī's combats with the 'Jinnē' dwelling at the bottom of the well called بئر العلم in Arabia.

Begins:

اول مین کروں بسم اللہ کا بیان * کیا ہے الہی بیان سب عیان

The last couplet (fol. 27) in which the laqab and the name of the author are mentioned runs as follows:

لقب دی کتے منجکون منصور کر * ولی نام میرا ہے آدم ککر

Copied on Monday, 22nd Shawwāl, 1188/26th December, 1774, at the port of Melāpūr (بندر میلاپور).

45. Lorak wa Maynā (لورک و مینا).

This is a romantic love story of a Prince called Lorak and a Princess named Maynā, compiled by Mahdawī (fol. 49). It covers ff. 27b-49. Some space is left at the beginning of each section probably for the headings to be written in rubrics.

It begins:

سناہون کہ یک شہر کا تاجدار * دھری مال ہور مملکت بیشمار

46. Tamṣīl-e-Ādamī wa Dunyā (تمثیل آدمی و دنیا).

This is a short two-page magṇawī covering ff. 49b-50b. It gives a versified Dakhnī version of the well-known allegory of the traveller (man) who, being pursued by a tiger (death), ascends a tree (life), the roots of which are being continuously gnawed by two rats, one white (day) and the other black (night), growing by the side of a well, at the bottom of which sits a gaping dragon (grave). Above the man is hanging a honeycomb (the world, the source of all sweet pleasures), from which honey trickles down. The traveller tastes it and forgets all the dangers with which he is surrounded. Meanwhile the rats, who are constantly at work, have cut through the roots of the tree; and the man drops down into the mouth of the gaping dragon which thus becomes his grave.

Begins :

اول حق کی توحید سون بات کر * بزان بول توں نعت خیر البشر

47. Shafā'at-Nāma (شفاعت نامہ).

This poem covers ff. 50b-67b, i.e., to the end of the volume. It describes how the Arabian Prophet goes out in a wilderness, cries, and prays for the salvation of his followers and secures it. The author's name is not given.

Begins :

حکایت عجب یک سنو دردمند * سنے پر کہولے دلکے قفلانکے بند

Copied on Tuesday, 5th (15th) Z. Qa'da, 1188. The 5th of the month was a Saturday and the 15th a Tuesday. As سہ شنبہ is twice clearly mentioned here, the date پنجدم (5th) should be پنجم (15th), which corresponds to 17th January, 1775. It was transcribed at the fort of Melāpūr by order of the exalted Lady, wife of Nawwāb Khayru'd-Dīn Khān Ṣamsāmu'd-Dawlah Bahādur Zāfar Jang :

The name of the copyist is given as Ghiyās.

SHARḤU MUKHTAṢAR-
IṬ-ṬAḤĀWĪ (شرح مختصر الطحاوی).

This valuable MS. once belonged to the Royal Library of Sultān Muḥammad 'Ādil Shāh of Bijapur, whose seal it bears on the fly-leaf. Unfortunately the first few pages are missing. It was difficult, therefore, to determine either the exact title of the work or the name of the author. On the fly-leaf and at the end of the MS., it is referred to as شرح طحاوی. This may mean either a Commentary by Ṭaḥāwī or on a work of Ṭaḥāwī. It cannot be a commentary by Ṭaḥāwī, because no such book is attributed to him by his biographers, and also because in the body of the book itself one often comes across such expressions as ذكر الطحاوى هاهنا (fol. 1b), i.e., قال الشيخ ابو جعفر (fol. 3, fol. 36), رواها الطحاوى عنه (fol. 64), etc. It is, therefore, undoubtedly a work written by some one else, but, until some time ago, it was difficult to determine who it was that wrote it, because the relevant books on Ṭahāwī were not locally accessible. A reference was, therefore, made, through Mawlawī Sayyid Sulaymān Nadwī and Nawwāb Ṣadr Yār Jang Mawlawī Ḥabību'r-Raḥmān Sherwānī of Ḥabīb Ganj, Aligarh, to Mawlānā Maḥmūd Ḥasan, the learned biographer of Muslim authors, residing at Hyderabad, Deccan. After a great deal of search he was able to conclude that the work was a Commentary by (Fluegel, المطهرى) ابو نصر احمد بن منصور المظفرى (died 480/1087-1088) on Ṭahāwī's Mukhtaṣar. He based his conclusion on the following data: (1) Qarashī's statements in his al-Jawāhiru'l-Muḍīyya, (2) Ḥājji Khalīfa's remarks in his Kashfu'z-Zunān, and (3) the statements made on the last page of this MS.* A comparison of these passages leaves no room for doubt that the conclusion is quite correct. I feel deeply obliged to all the three scholars for having helped me to solve this double riddle of the title and authorship of this valuable work.

Abū-Ja'far Aḥmad b. Muḥammad aṭ-Ṭahāwī (from Ṭahā, a village in Upper Egypt), the greatest Ḥanafī lawyer whom Egypt has produced, was born, according to his own statement (quoted in the al-Jawāhiru'l-muḍīyya), in 239/853-54. He studied various branches of learning, especially Traditions and

On account of a difference of opinion on some principles of jurisprudence, he renounced the Shāfē'ī school and became a follower of the Ḥanafī. He prosecuted the study of the Ḥanafī jurisprudence under Aḥmad b. Mūsā, in Egypt, and Abū-Ḥāzīm 'Abdu'l-Ḥamīd, the Ḥanafī Chief Justice of Syria. He soon became an authority on the subject and wrote a number of books on Traditions and Law. He died in 321/933. collected in it a number of legal questions on Ḥanafite jurisprudence and answered them, supporting his answers with quotations from Abū Ḥanīfa and his two disciples. The book became very popular and several scholars wrote commentaries on it. About ten of these commentaries are mentioned in the Kashf. Zūn. Of these, the one represented by our MS. is by احمد بن منصور الاسبيجاني, who died in 480/1087-88. The MS. begins abruptly with:

على العمل وان لم يكن فيه فضل راس المال

It ends with the following words:

تمت هذا الكتاب شرح طحاوى جلد دوم

below which is written the name, partly rubbed out, of a former owner: قاضى....الحسينى حاكم شرع بركنه رايهاك.

After the last folio the binder has wrongly bound a folio which belongs to some other place. On the title-page, in the right-hand corner at the top, is a round seal of Sulṭān Muḥammad 'Ādil Shāh (1035-70/1626-60) of Bijapur. To the left of the seal, inclining upwards, is the سجع-couplet of the seal, which runs as follows:

دارد [ا] ز لطف حق سرافرازی * شاه سلطان محمد غازی

Below the seal is a memorandum note recording the year in which the MS. was acquired for the Royal Library of Bijapur:

شرح مذکور بتاريخ شهر رمضان المبارك داخل کتابخانه عامره شد بابت
قاضى خوشحال فى سنه اربع و خمسين بعد الالف (i.e. 1054/1644-45).

Another memorandum note below this runs as follows:

جمع محل مذکور شد بتاريخ ۲۸ ماه جمادى الثانى سنه ۱۰۵۵

After this there is a round seal bearing the legend:

مهر عدم تبديل عبد الرحيم خان and just below this, a little to the right, is the date, the 23rd Shawwāl, 32. Headings of sections and sub-sections are written in red. On fol. 225 (in the left-hand corner at the top of which is written الجزء الثالث والعشرون), the hand changes and runs on to the end of the MS. On fol. 275, there is a Persian couplet followed by some remarks in Arabic. On the back of this fol. there is a round seal which bears the legend: مهر عدم تبدیل محمد اسمعیل, below which is an 'Arz-dīd, dated the 24th Z. Hija, year 13.

The MS. is undated. Probably it belongs to the Xth cent. A.H.

Ft. 276. S 9·7×5·9, 7·2×4·2; in later portion 6·3 or 6·5×4. No jadwals. The style of handwriting is what Mawlawī Maḥmūd Ḥasan calls الخط التلي القسم الاراني. Written in two different hands. Or. pap. of brownish colour. Protected by tissue paper. Cond. good.

SHARH-E-HASAN-E-CHALABĪ (شرح حسن جلبي بر شرح عقائد النسفی).

This is Ḥasan-e-Chalabī's hāshiyā ("glosses") on Taftāzānī's commentary on Nasafī's celebrated book entitled 'Aqā'id ("Articles of Faith"). Najmu'd-Dīn Abū-Ḥafṣ 'Umar an-Nasafī (1068-1142), called Nasafī from his birth-place, Nasaf, in Trans-Oxiana, was the greatest Hanafite teacher of his time. His most famous work is the 'Aqā'id, which is a kind of Muslim catechism. It was published in India several times, and in Europe by Cureton. It was translated into French in the Tableau de L'empire Othoman by M. d'Ohsson, into German by Ziegler, and into English by McDonald.

Sa'du'd-Dīn Mas'ūd b. 'Umar at-Taftāzānī, a celebrated writer on Religion, Logic, Metaphysics, Theology, and Law was born in 722/1322 at Taftāzān, a village near Nasā in Khorāsān, and died at Samarqand in 791/1389. His commentary on Nasafī's 'Aqā'id was completed in 768/1367 at Khwārazm. Several super-commentaries have been written on it and they are noticed in the Kashfu'z-Zunūn and the Encyc. of Islām.

Ḥasan-e-Chalabī, a famous Turkish scholar, devoted to Law and Theology, died on 14th March, 1604. (See Encyc. of Islām).

Begins (on fol. 2b):

هو الاول قال الشارح التحرير في المجلد التحرير العالم بالامور

On fol. 1 there is a remark in bold naskh characters, which runs as follows:

در علم كلام بخط نسخ جلد بادنجانی باترنج طلا بابت مولانا پائنده محمد جمع
کتابخانه شده بتاريخ ۵ جمادی الآخر سنه ۱۰۲۸ جمع سوم

Below this are five 'Arg-dād' entries, dated respectively the 15th Rabī' II, of the 4th (regnal) year, the 26th Z. Hījja, 5, the 28th Rajab, 41, the 4th Šafar, 43, and the 23rd Z. Qa'da, 45. On f. 2, in the middle, there is an oval seal of العبد محمد اکرم المدنی, with the date 1136/1723-24 written in it, above which is the following note:

حسب امر صدر فرخ حضرت آصفجاه هزدهم ربیع الثانی سنه ۱۱۴۶ عرض
گرفته شد

To the left of the words آصف جاء and running upwards is the remark: نظر (نذر) العبد عبد الله بن زين. At the bottom of the page, in the left-hand corner, is a fine heart-shaped seal bearing the legend قابل خان خانه زاد، متوکل علی الصمد العبد مرزا محمد صاحب مرزا محمد. To the right a spherical seal of قابل خان خانه زاد. Nearly a half of f. 139b is left blank, but the continuity of the text is not broken. It is continued on the next page in a different hand, which again changes on f. 146 and runs on to four lines on f. 153, after which again a different hand is used and continued up to the end on f. 156b. The MS. ends with the following words:

فان الفضل بيد الله يوتيه من يشاء والله ذو الفضل العظيم

No colophon or date. Probably XIc./XVIIc. The accession of it to the Royal Library of Sultān 'Ādilshāh is dated the 5th Jumada II, 1028/10th May, 1619.

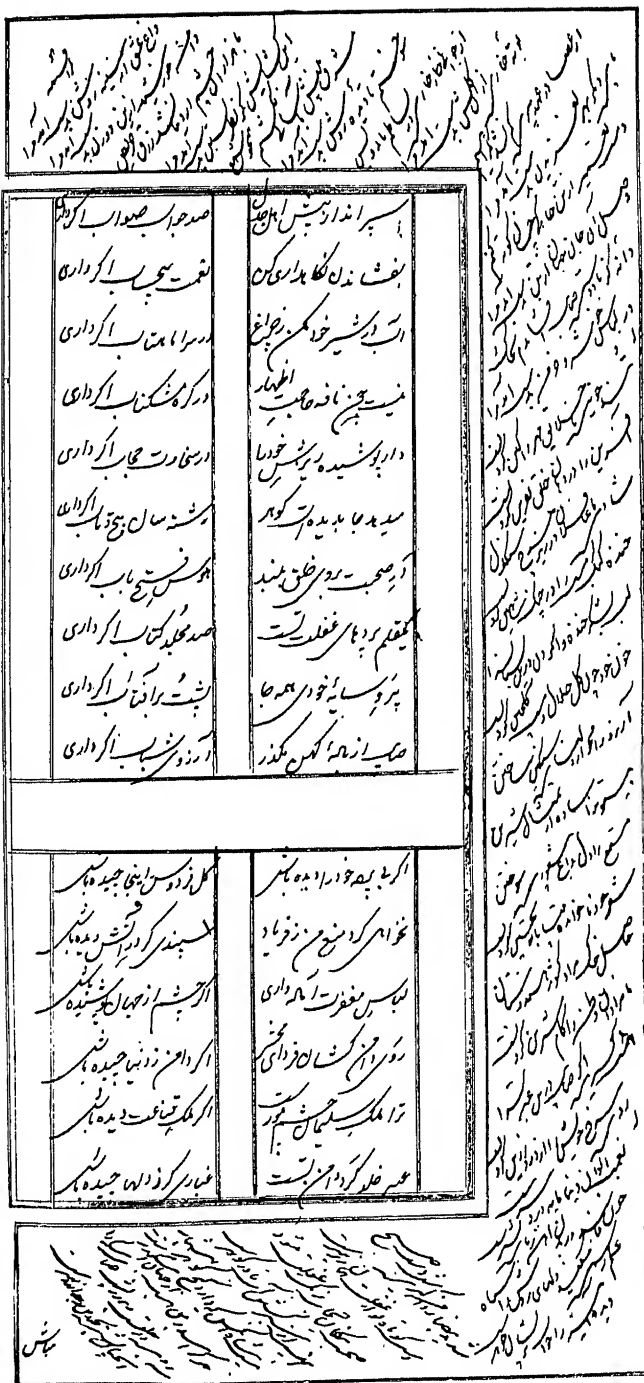

Ff. 156. S (in the first part) 9.8×5, 6×3; and (in the latter part) 6.7×3.2 to 7.4 and 7.8×3.7. LL 25 in the earlier portion, but more in the later. Naskh in at least three different hands. Or. pap. Number of pages damaged by worms. Cond. fair.

KULLIYYĀT-E-ŞĀ'IB (کلیات صائب).

A very valuable copy of the poetical works of Mirzā Muḥammad 'Alī Ṣā'ib of Tabriz, (the original home of his ancestors, where, according to some, he was born, but, according to others, at Iṣfahān, about 1012/1603) and also of Iṣfahān, where he mostly lived and died. He is usually considered as the greatest of modern Persian poets and is regarded as the creator of a new style. This copy was completed three years before the death of the author and contains five odes in his own handwriting. At an early age, he went to Kābul and became a favourite of the governor, Zafar Khān, through whom he was introduced to the Emperor Shāh Jahān, who conferred upon him the title of Mustā'idd Khān and the command of one thousand. He stayed in India for some time, went to Kashmīr, returned to his native place Iṣfahān, where he was appointed poet-laureate by Shāh 'Abbās II (1052-1077/1642-66), and died, according to good authorities, in 1088/1677-78. Other dates of his death range from 1080/1669-70 to 1089/1678; but 1088/1677-78 seems to me to be the most reliable. Our MS. is dated 1085/1674-75 and contains five odes written by Ṣā'ib himself. Evidently, therefore, he was alive in all probability in 1085/1674-75; for this reason all earlier dates of his death are open to objection. For his life and works see She'ru'l-'Ajam, Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iv, Majma'u'l-Fuṣahā, Tazkira-e-Naṣrābādī, Tazkira-e-Sarkhush, Riyāzu'sh-Shu'arā, Ātashkadah, Bk vol. iii No. 341, R ii, p. 263, EB Nos. 1131-37, EIO Nos. 1606-1623, Pert p. 930, Spr pp. 112-151, 384, Ouseley p. 227, Fl i p. 597, Aum p. 38, Torenberg p. 110, and Encyc. of Islām. Some of his poems have been translated into German by Tholuck, Bluthensammlung p. 288 sq. His diwān was lithographed at Lucknow in 1292/1875-76. A selection from it was also published at Lucknow, 1264/1847-48. Some selections from the diwān, arranged under different headings, are entitled (1) Wājibu'l-

Autograph of the Persian poet Šā'ib of Isfahān, (XIc/XVIIc); Vol. 34.

Ḥifẓ (made by one Darwīsh 'Āmila of Balkh, who visited Ṣā'ib at Iṣfahān and obtained from him a copy of his diwān), (2) Mir'ātu'l-Jamāl, and (3) Mir'ātu'l-Khiyāl. For these selections see R p. 694; EIO No. 1618. The contents of this volume are: Fol. 1b-11, qaṣīdas, beginning with:

* ای سواد عنبرین قامت سویدای زمین *

* مغز خاک از نکبت مشکین لباس نافه چین *

Fol. 11-13b, a masnawī, beginning with:

برازنده تاج و تخت و کلاه * خدیو جوانبخت عباس شاه

The date of composition 1079/1668-69, as given by Ethé, is not found here.

Fol. 14, blank, contains two effaced seals, one round and large and the other square and small.

Fol. 14b, the diwān of ghazals, arranged in alphabetical order, beginning with:

* ا کر نه مد بسم الله بودی تاج عنوا نها *

* نکشتی تاقیامت نو خط شیرازه دیوانها *

The diwān ends on f. 374.

On the margins of ff. 373b and 374, five odes have been written by Ṣā'ib himself. They are introduced with the remark لرافه. The style of handwriting is the same as that reproduced in Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. vol. iv, plate viii. The three odes, on the margin of f. 373b, begin as follows:

(۱) * داغ عشق از سینۀ روشن بدست آمد مرا *

* دامن خورشید ازین روزن بدست آمد مرا *

(۲) * تند خوئی با خلاق مهر را کین کردنت *

* آفرین را در دهان خلق نفرین کردنت *

(۳) * نعمت الوان دنیا مایۀ درد سرست *

* خون فاسد در بدن آهن ربای نشترست *

The two odes on the margin of f. 374 begin with:

- (۴) * بقدر درد اکر می ساختم دل از فغان خالی *
 * جگر گاه زمین می شد ز خواب آلود کان خالی *
 (۵) * خوش آنکسی که ز خود با خبر نمی باشد *
 * که آه بی اثران بی اثر نمی باشد *

These autograph odes are written in different ink and in a style of handwriting different from that of the diwān. Ṣā'ib evidently used a very fine pen and very black ink.

Fol. 374b is blank; so is also fol. 375a except for a round seal bearing the legend قادر یار خان فدوی بادشاه محمد شاه غازی and the date 1141/1728-29. This seal is repeated on f. 386 and f. 445 (where the date is quite clear).

Fol. 375b, maṭāle' ("opening couplets") arranged in alphabetical order, begin with:

ز د غوطه بسکه در تن خاکی روان ما * کردید رفته رفته زمین آسمان ما

Fol. 385b is blank.

Fol. 386 bears the round seal of قادر یار خان.

Fol. 386b, mutafarriqāt, arranged in alphabetical order, begin with:

Fol. 444b is blank. Fol. 445 contains the round seal of قادر یار خان.

On fol. 445b are fardiyyāt, arranged in alphabetical order and beginning with:

The colophon on fol. 450 runs as follows:

بتاریخ پنجم شهر ذی حجه الحرام سنه ثمانون و خمس بعد الف نوشته شد حرره
 العبد محمد ربیع ابن حاجی بر خوردار اصفهانی

It is clear that this copy was completed by Muḥammad Rabī' b. Ḥājī Barkhurdār-e-Iṣfahānī on 5th Z. Ḥijja, 1085/20th Febr., 1675. Since it contains, as stated above, five odes written by the poet himself, it follows that he was, in all probability, alive in 1085/1674-75 and that he could not have died in 1080/1669-70, as stated by some writers. The date of his death 1088/1677-78 is very probably correct. If so, this copy of the kulliyāt was finished about three years before the death of the poet. A comparison with the Bankipore copy, said to have been finished ten (probably eighteen) years before the poet's death, may yield interesting results.

The above list is taken from the قاموس الاعلام of Ḥakīm Shamsu'llāh Qādirī, Hyderabad, 1935. MAJMU'Ā (مجموعہ).

This volume contains ten treatises, seven in Persian and three in Dakhnī, as follows:

52. Tuhfa-e-Naṣā'eḥ (تحفۂ نصایح).

This long Persian poem in the Rajaz octameter, with the letter ر used as rawī, treats, in 45 sections, of various religious observances and ethical subjects, such as the Unity of God, the Articles of Faith, Ablutions, Prayers, Legal Alms, Fasting, Pilgrimace, Reading of the Qur'ān, Contentment, Marriage, Charity, Lawful and Forbidden Food, etc. Its title appears in the body of the poem as Tuhfa-e-Naṣā'eḥ: تحفة نصائح نام این کردم زحق دارم رجا. The author gives his name as Yūsuf and says that he wrote the poem for the benefit of his son, Abu'l-Faṭḥ by name:

* گوید همی یوسف گدا در وعظ سخنی چند را *

* از بهر خلف خوش لقا بوالفتح آن نور البصر *

He further says that his spiritual guide was Shaykh Maḥmūd (in the heading of the section called here حضرت شیخ المشايخ نصير الدين محمود) and that the poem, comprising 786 couplets, was completed on 10th Rabi' II, 795/23rd February, 1393. As regards the number of couplets, our copy agrees with that of the India Office (EIO No. 1276). Other copies have a smaller number; for example, Bk No. 162 has 781; IvASB No. 592 has 785; others have 781, 775, 771, etc.

Regarding the date of composition, our copy agrees with the two noticed in EIO, the one in Bk and the other in IvASB. But the St. Petersburg copy has 752/1351. With reference to this, Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1276) observes: "It is hard to say "which of the two is the correct one; if the Shaikh Naṣīr-aldīn Maḥmūd is really identical with the great Shaikh of "the Chishtī order, Naṣīr-aldīn Maḥmūd Chirāgh of Dihli who "died 757=1356 A.D., 752 has decidedly the better chance." The same view is held by M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir (Bk No. 162) and M. Ivanow (IvASB No. 592). I am afraid 752 has no chance at all; because the saint, eulogised in the poem (and identified by the author of the حدایق حنفیه, Bk No. 162, and by S. Imāmu'd-Dīn Aḥmad of Nasik, in his برکات الاولیا, p. 15, printed in Dehli, 1322 A.H., with the famous saint of Dehli who died in 757/1356), is spoken of as having been dead:

* او بود شیخ مقتدا او را جهانی مقتدی *

* گشتند اعمی سالکان چون رفت آن صاحب نظر *

Evidently, therefore, the poem must have been composed after the death of the saint, i.e., after 757/1356. The Bombay Lithographed edition, the MS. copy in Asaf, the three copies in JMB, and other copies have each 795/1393, which, therefore, seems to be very probable.

M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir (Bk No. 162) remarks: "Not much is known about the author of this poem; Haj. Khal., W. Pertsch, "Dr. Ethé, and others have failed to identify him. Faqīr Muḥammad, a modern Indian biographer of the Ḥanafite 'Ulamās, "in his حدايق حنفية, alone gives a very meagre account of the "present author." The author of the بركات الاوليا, mentioned above identifies him with Shāh Rājū Qattāl Ḥusaynī, whose name, he says, was Sayyed Yūsuf Rājā b. S. 'Alī, who was a disciple and successor of the famous saint Naṣīru'd-Dīn Muḥammad Charāgh of Dehli and who composed the تحفة النصاب, ديوان راجا, etc. The colophon of our MS. reads: تمت الكتاب بعون الملك الوهاب (On the margin سيد راجو حضرت شيخ الشيوخ شيخ ملان راجو) غفر الله تعالى The copy in Asaf (vol. i, p. 408, No. 173/1) is also attributed to Shāh Rājū Qattāl Ḥusaynī, and the date of composition given therein is also 795/1393. The date of the death of S. Rājū, as given in the بركات الاوليا, as well as in IvASB No. 285/5, is 731/1331, but the letter in No. 890 gives it as 827/1424! Beale's Or. Biogr. Dict. says that Rājū Qattāl wrote Tuḥfatun-Naṣāyeh and died in 806/1403.

Begins:

* حمدی بگویم بی عدد مر خالق (خالق) جن و بشر *
* کرده معلق آسمان هم اختران شمس و قمر *

A commentary entitled هداية الروائع by محمد بن غلام محمد is mentioned in JMB p. 375, No. 2311. Sayyed Shamsu'llāh Qadīrī, in his Urdū-e-Qadīm (pp. 67-68, Lucknow, 1930), says that the Tuḥfa was composed in 795/1393 by Sayyed Yūsuf Dehlawī, a disciple of Khwāja Naṣīru'd-Dīn Charāgh of Dehli for his own son, Ṣadru'd-Dīn Abu'l-Faṭḥ, and that Mullā Quṭbī, a contemporary of Sulṭān 'Abdullāh Quṭb Shāh (1035-1083 A.H./1625-26-1672-73), translated it into Dakhnī verse, in the metre and rhyme of the original, in 1045/1635-1636. For an account of the author, he refers to the خزينة الاصفيا, vol i, p. 366, and تذکره علمای هند, p. 256, and points out that the date of his death, as given in these books, viz., 774 A.H., is wrong, for the Tuhfa was composed about 21 years later, i.e., in 795/1393.

Undated. The colophon gives the copyist's name as بریمک بن منا خان. After the poem, about two pages and a half are devoted to a few formulae for making 'ūd-sticks and scented oils.

The next page contains a recipe for the preparation of ink, which is followed (on the next page) by a versified anecdote in Persian relating to Ibrāhīm-e-Adham and the Arab who was looking for his lost camel on the roof of the former's palace.

56. Tāju'l-Ḥaqā'eq (تاج الحقائق).

This is a prose work in Dakhnī language, dealing with the moral and spiritual discipline of man, composed by Wajihu'd-Dīn Wajhī, the famous author of Sabras (a sufiistic prose work in the Dakhnī language recently edited by M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Anjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Aurangabad, 1932). Wajhī was a court poet of 'Abdu'llāh Qulī Quṭb Shāh (1035-1083/1625-26 to 1672-73). (See Urdū-e-Qadīm, p. 108; and also Introduction to Sabras, edited by 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq). M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, in his Introduction to Sabras (p. 5), says that Wajhī's other book, Tāju'l-haqā'eq, treats of sufiistic and moral subjects and in several respects resembles Sabras.

Begins:

Sections begin with the words ارى طالب, written in red ink.

The colophon gives the day, date, and month of transcription and also the name of the copyist, but not the year. It was copied by Jān Muḥammad Maḥramī (محرمی) Chishtī, on Tuesday, the 6th of Rabi' I. This copyist has also copied other treatises in this volume.

57. Risāla-e-Mir'ātu'l-Ḥaqā'eq (رسالة مرآة الحقائق).

This is an abridged Persian translation of the Bhagvad-Gītā, with Muslim comments, by 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān b. 'Abdu'r-Rasūl 'Abbāsī al-'Alawī al-Chishtī. The author belongs to a family of Chishtī Shaykhs of Radawli, Oudh; but he lived mostly in the village of Dhanitī on the river Gomatī (Lucknow). He wrote four other books, each of which begins with the word مرآة, viz., (1) مرآة المخلوقات, a translation from the original Sanskrit dealing with the Hindu cosmogony in the form of a dialogue between Mahādewa and Pārwatī, with Muslim comments; (2) مرآة مداريه, a life of Sayyed Badī'u'd-Dīn Shāh Madār, the patron saint of Indian jugglers; (3) مرآة الاسرار, lives of famous Chishtī Shaykhs; and (4) مرآة مسعودی, a life of Sālār Mas'ūd-e-Ghāzī. The author is said to have died in 1094/1631.

Begins:

Copied by the abovementioned Jān Muḥammad on Monday, the 6th Z. Qa'da, year not given. There is a copy in R iii, p. 1034 b.

At the end of the last page, the Gāitrī Mantra is stated in a manner favourable to Islām. On the back of the last page of this treatise in the right-hand corner at the top is an oval rubber stamp bearing the following name in Persian and English characters: "Sayyed Shamsu'd-Din Shah Abdullah Husayni Qadiri Shattari Khatib, Bijapuri."

58. Risāla-e-Rumāzāt (رسالة رموزات).

This is a Persian treatise dealing with the Rumūzāt or mysteries of Shari'at, Tariqat, Ḥaqiqat, and Ma'rifat, and is divided into a hundred Rumāz or 'mysteries'. See IvC No. 444 (3), where it is stated that "It may belong to the authorship of Dara Shikuh." It agrees with our copy at the beginning; but it contains 45 Rumāz only, whereas our copy contains a hundred. IvASB No. 1340 has 100 Rumāz. The name of the author and the date of composition are not given.

Size same as of No. 52 above, writ. sp. 8·8×4·3. LL 20-23. Ind. Nast. mixed with Shik. Edges repaired.

59. Risāla-e-Kashf-ul-Azkār (رسالۂ کشف الاذکار).

This is a short poem in the Dakhnī language dealing with the various kinds of zikr, such as جلی, خفی, سری, روحی, etc., composed by Shāh Sharīf.

Begins:

اول بسم الله بول تجکون سرانوں * کہ رحمن ہے ہور رحیم تیرا نانوں

Some lines and hemistichs are in Persian. Towards the end of the poem the Saint Shāh Burhānu'd-Dīn of Bijapur is mentioned as living at the time:

تو آشاہ برہان کی دار اوپر * کہ او سالکان کی جو ہے راہبر
ایسی خاص مرشد ہے او اس زمان * او ختم الولی ہے در آخر زمان
مقام ہے او نوکا بیچاپور کن * نشانی ہے گنبد کے شہپور کن

A little later the author says that the original of the poem was composed in Persian by Shaykh Maḥmūd, which was rendered into Dakhnī verse by himself:

کہے شیخ محمود اول فارسی * شریف صاف دکھنی کیا آرسی

The author refers to Shāh Burhānu'd-Dīn's son, Shāh Amīn, as the living saint.

حقیقت میں ہادی الی حق ہے جان * ہے ظاہر محمد امین الامان

Ends:

بحق محمد علی فاطمہ * شریف کا تون کر خیر سون خاتمہ

This treatise also bears no date.

Size same as of No. 52 above, writ. sp. 7·3×4. LL 19. Ind. Naskh. Cond. fair. On the back of the first folio in the left-hand corner at the top is the abovementioned rubber stamp.

60. Risāla-e-Hidāyatū't-Tarīqa (رساله هدايت الطريقه).

This is a sufiistic treatise in Persian prose in the form of question and answer compiled by the great Delhi Saint, Nizāmu'd-Dīn Aḥmad-e-Badāyūnī (Nizāmu'd-Dīn Awliyā). It appears that they were collected by Maḥmūd as-Sa'īd Naṣīru'l-Ḥasan al-Kawṣalī (الكوصلی), as stated at the beginning.

A Persian prose treatise dealing with the knowledge of God and the Soul (در بیان معرفت نفس و علم خداشناسی) and is divided into the following seven chapters, the headings of which are more correctly given in our MS. than in IvC No. 462 (7):

MAJMU' A-E-RASĀ'IL-E-KHWĀJA { مجموعه رسائل خواجه }
 'ABDU'LLĀH-E-ANṢĀRĪ. { عبد الله انصاری }

A collection of sufiistic tracts ascribed to Shaykh 'Abdu'l-lāh-e-Anṣārī of Herāt, one of the oldest and most famous Persian mystics called Pīr-e-Anṣār (descended from the Prophet's companion Abū Ayyūb-e-Anṣārī) or Pīr-e-Hirī or Pīr-e-Herāt, b. 396/1006, d. 481/1088. For particulars of his life and works see Jāmī's Nafahāt. A long list of authoritative sources for his life is given by M. Ivanow in IvASB No. 234. See also Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, pp. 246, 269-270. These tracts seem to be rare except for one or two, which are somewhat common. They are not mentioned in the list of Anṣārī's works given by Ethé, Browne, or Ivanow. Several portions of Ilāhī-nāma and Parda-e-ḥijāb, as given here, are found, with slight additions, alterations, or emendations, in the treatise called Anwāru't-Taḥqīq, ascribed to the author and printed in Bombay in 1313/1895-96, which includes his famous Munājāt also. But the authenticity of several portions of the printed book, such as those in which lines of Sa'dī and Ḥāfiz are quoted, is open to serious objection. The following works are ascribed to him by Browne and Ethé: انوار التحقيق, منازل السائرين, مناجات, انيس المريدین, طبقات صوفيه, كتاب اسرار, زاد العارفين, الهی نامه, نصيحت, و شمس المجالس. To this list Ivanow adds كنز السالكين, which is noticed in IvASB No. 1158, but it is quite different from the tract bearing the same title in this MS.

This volume contains the following tracts as stated in a note on the title-page:

رسالة (4), رسالة كنز السالكين (3), كتاب واردات (2), كتاب صدميدان (1)

On hearing him, the scholars put down their books and began to listen to his speech, in which he displayed to them all his stock of learning. When his speech was over, he left them and went his way followed only by the author. On reaching a certain mountain, he suddenly cast a glance at the author, who placed his head at his feet and with tears in his eyes, entreated him to give him a piece of advice, which was done. The substance of this advice is reported in brief in the Qalandar-nāma.

Volume 40.

SHARḤ-E-KUBRĀ (شرح کبری).

This volume contains two rare Persian commentaries, one by Mullā 'Iṣām and the other by Abu'l-Baqā, on the famous textbook of logic called the Kubrā by Sayyed Sharīf of Jurjān, a theologian and philosopher, who was born; 740/1339, near Astarābād. Sayyed Sharīf studied in Cairo and, returning to Persia, attached himself to the court of Shāh Shujā' at Shīrāz. When Tīmūr took the city in 789/1387, he was transported to Samarqand, where he spent his time in teaching and in literary disputations with the famous theologian Sa'du'd-Dīn-e-Taftāzānī (d. 791/1388). He returned to Shīrāz and died in 816/1413, after having written a number of philosophical, legal, and astronomical works (see Encyc. of Islām).

72. Sharḥ-e-Kubrā az 'Iṣām (شرح کبری از عصام).

The first of the above commentaries is by Ibrāhīm b. Muḥammad 'Arab Shāh of Isfarāyan, better known as عصام الدین (f. 3b) or ملا عصام.

Begins (f. 3b): حمد مصور صور [مقدور] قدر ملک و بشر نیست

It is noticed in Kashf. Zun., where it is stated that Mīr Abu'l-Faṭḥ wrote glosses (حاشیه) in Persian on this commentary. On f. 2 are found the titles of the two commentaries under notice and an unintelligible round seal. On f. 2b. there is a memorandum note, which says that it was purchased by Muḥammad Najmu'd-Dīn at Hyderabad for one rupee on 5th Muḥarram, 1151/14th April, 1738. Below this note, there is an oval seal of the same Muḥammad Najmu'd-Dīn-e-Qādirī.

On f. 3 are three seals, the one in the left-hand top corner is the same as mentioned above, the one below it is indistinct, and the third, a small square one, in the middle at the top, bears the legend Ikhlas. The whole of this page is scribbled over with memoranda, four of which contain the title of the commentary.

There is a copy of this commentary in MUA, p. 3, No. 1/160.

Ff. 40. S 7-8×4-9, 5×2-9 to 3-4. No jadwals. LL 23-25. Small Nast. inclining to Naskh. Or. brownish pap. Cond. good.

73. Sharḥ-e-Kubrā az Abu'l-Baqā (شرح کبری از ابو البقا).

This is the second of the abovementioned commentaries. It is by Mīr Abu'l-Baqā b. 'Abdu'l-Baqī al-Ḥusaynī, who dedicated it to the Emperor Humāyūn. It is also noticed in Kashf. Zun.

Begins with: عنوان صحیفه همایون حمد و سپاس حکیمی را شاید

Rieu p. 448 mentions a commentary on the Kubrā with the remark "contains neither title nor author's name". It is no doubt Abu'l-Baqā's commentary, for the words with which that MS. opens, namely,

قوتیست قوت در اصطلاح (آن) چیز است که مبدء تاثیر (تاثیر here) شود are found here on f. 42, line 17.

On f. 41 the same oval seal of Muḥammad Najmu'd-Dīn-e-Qādirī has been repeated on the left-hand corner at the top. The whole of this page is covered with memoranda three of which contain the title of the commentary. On the last page there are a few verses of Jāmī and Nasīmī of Andujān, a versified rule for finding the mansion of the moon on a particular day, and a few Persian verses about the measurements of جبه , طسو , درم , etc., written by Minhāju'd-Dīn b. Mawlānā-Zāda, who wrote them on 13th Jumāda II, 976/3rd December, 1568. From this it is clear that the transcription of the MS. must have been done before this date. It is no doubt of Xc/XVIc.

S 7·3×4·9, 5×3·2. No jadwals. LL 21. Small Nast. As a rule letters have not been marked with dots. Original text overlined in red. Or. brownish pap. Cond. good.

Volume 41.

74.

HUSN O DIL (حسن و دل).

An extremely rare and valuable autograph copy of the maṣnawī entitled Husn o Dil by Muḥammad Dā'ūd Amlaḥī, completed on Sunday, 26th Sha'bān, 1054/18th Oct., 1644. The title is mentioned on f. 77b:

یکی زان نتایج بود این کتاب * که حسن و دلش نام شد از صواب

The name and the takhalluṣ of the author are mentioned in the colophon (f. 79) as محمد داود املحی. The takhalluṣ Amlaḥī (wrongly printed as املجی in my article in JBBRAS vol. iv, 1928, and copied as such by M. 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq in his Introduction (p. 10) to his edition of Sabras, Aurangabad, 1932) has also been mentioned on f. 8b, line 13:

به بخشای بر املحی بی حساب * بروز حساب کنه و ثواب

It is repeated on f. 11, line 5:

ولی املحی با پریشان دلی * سری پر ز سودای بی حاصلی

and again on f. 72, line 2:

یا املحی عاشق پیشه کن * ز افسانه اش خالی اندیشه کن

One night, the poet tells us, he felt an ardent desire for معشوق and میشم. These in symbolical language stand for Divine Love and God respectively, as he himself says:

میشم عشق و معشوق من ذو الجلال

He felt impelled to listen to a love story and to reproduce it in his own verse:

بافسانه عشق جانم کشید * که بنیوشم و باز گویم جدید

Although there is many a versified love story told by several subtle poets, which deals with several aspects of love, yet, as he puts it, Amlahī is going to narrate a very wonderful tale in a novel style, free from all conventionalities:

بسی هست منظوم افسانها * بلطف عبارت چو در دانه‌ها
زهر نکته سنجی در اطوار عشق * بطرزی که بنماید آثار عشق
ولی املحی با پریشان دلی * سری پرز سودای بی حاصلی
بری از تکلف بطرز غریب * ادا میکند قصه بس عجیب

Then follows the story of دل, a prince of the West, son of عقل, and ruler of the realm of بدن, and حسن, a princess of the East and daughter of عشق, who lives in the city of دیدار. Hearing of each other's beauty and happening to see each other's likeness, they fall in love one with the other. Negotiations, exchange of love-letters, meetings of the lovers, their trials, separation, and ultimate union by marriage follow each other in rapid succession. This is a very elaborate allegory of the human soul exerting itself in search of spiritual beauty. Although the author does not indicate his source, it is evidently no other than the Persian poem Dastūr-e-'Ushshāq by Yaḥyā b. Sībak Fattahī d. 852/1448 (which enjoys an honourable position in Persian, Turkish, European, and Indian literatures), or its prose abridgement called Husn o Dil. The latter was translated twice into English by

A. Browne Dublin (1801), and by W. Price (1821), and in German by R. Dvorak (1889). Adaptations in Turkish prose by Lāme'ī (d. 1531) and Āhī (d. 1517), in Turkish poetry by Wālī and Şidqī, and in Persian prose by Bedil in India (1095/1684) are mentioned in the introduction to Greenshield's edition of the Dastūr-e-'Ushshāq (1926). A Dakhnī prose version entitled Sabras was made by Wajhī at the desire of 'Abdu'llāh Quṭb Shāh (reigned from 1035 to 1083/1625-26 to 1672-73). The latter was edited recently (1932) by Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq, Secretary, Anjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Aurangabad. In the time of Wajhī, but earlier than Bedil, our author, Muḥammad Dā'ūd Amlahī, produced this versified Persian version.

Unfortunately the first two folios of our MS. are wanting. It opens (f. 3) with the following couplet:

تن خاک زو کشت آدم بجان * بالحمد لله کشوده زبان

It belongs evidently to the ḥamd-portion of the poem; for on f. 5 is the na't of the Prophet, and on ff. 6-8b, the praise of the four Companions of the Prophet and of the Imāms, Ḥasan and Ḥusayn. The actual story begins on f. 11 and runs on to f. 72b, where it ends with the following lines:

بگو حمد لله که این گفت و کو * بسرحد اتمام آورد رو
دل و حسن کشتند از عشق شاد * گرفتند از هم کمال مراد
نتایج از ایشان بسی حاصلست * شناسد کسی کو بحق واصلست
یکی زان. نتایج بود این کتاب * که حسن و دلش نام شد از صواب

Immediately after this comes the following passage, in which the date of completion of the poem (1054/1644) is given:

زهر نبی زکی در شمار * گذشته هزارست و پنجاه و چار
که ترکیب این نظم ترتیب دید * نکو داستانی باخر رسید

This is followed by a short section headed مناجات در طلب مغفرت, which ends on f. 79, with the following lines:

قلم رفته رفته باینجا رسید * ز سر کشتکیهای خود آرמיד
 درود نبی کشت ختم کلام * علیه الصلواه علیه السلام

After this the colophon runs as follows :

بتاریخ ۲۶ شعبان المعظم سنه ۱۰۵۴ از قلم شکسته رقم ناظم این کتاب که
 عروسیست در مشکین نقاب یوم الاحد زیور تحریر یافت العبد محمد داود
 املحی غفر الله ذنبه تم بالخیر والسعاده

Dated 26th Sha'bān, 1054/18th Oct., 1644.

Ff. 79. S 7.4×4.3, 4.6×2.5. No jadwals. LL 15. Ind. Nast., with a touch of Shik. Or. brownish pap. Edges repaired. Ink sticky. Wormeaten and affected by damp. Headings of sections are written in red, which has imparted a reddish tinge to those parts of the opposite page which press against them. Cond. not good.

76. Makhzan-e-Shu'arā (مخزن شعراء).

A valuable autograph copy of an unpublished Tazkira ("Memoirs") of Rekhta (early Urdū) poets of Gujarāt, written in Persian by Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn b. Qāzī Sayyed Aḥmad Ḥusayn Raḡawī Shīrāzī Fā'eq of Broach and completed in 1268/1851-52. It opens with a Persian prose preface written in an ornate style (headed by a caption in red ink, viz., فروغ بخشی, نقش طرازی این سفینه, by the author's friend, Mīr Kamālu'd-Dīn Ḥusayn Kāmīl, noticed in the Tazkira below, f. 51b), which begins as follows :

در گلشن حمد تو بیان نیست مرا

In this preface the writer Kāmīl bestows high praise on the Tazkira and on the author's learning, style, and good taste in making the selection. This is followed by the author's introduction (dibācha), which begins on f. 7 with the following words:

اولی ترین سخنی که بلغای بلاغت بیان سخنوری

The author says that he wrote the memoirs at the desire of two friends of his, viz., Mīr 'Abbās 'Alī Shawq and Mīr Ḥaydar Ṣāheb Mā'il, and named it Makhzan-e-Shu'ara (f. 8b). It contains very brief notices of 109 poets, including the poetess, Hijāb (f. 22b), who wrote poetry in Rekhta or old Urdū. These notices are followed by brief extracts from the works of the poets. The notices are arranged in the alphabetical order of the takhalluṣ. This latter is written in red ink. Walī (No. 107) is the famous poet of the Deccan, who is generally regarded as the father of Urdū poetry and about whose birth-place there is a difference of opinion amongst scholars. Here it is stated that he was born and buried at Ahmedabad. It is further stated (in a different hand) that he died at Ahmedabad in the earlier part of the reign of Muḥammad Shāh and that his grave is located between the shrine of Mūsā Sohāg and Shāhī Bāgh. The author adds that Mīr Taqī Mīr was wrong in supposing in his Tazkira that Walī belonged to Aurangabad.

The date of completion of the Tazkira is given in the chronogrammatic title Makhzan-e-Shu'arā (1268/1851-52); but this copy was finished on Friday, 16th Sharwāl, 1270/July, 1854 (according to Pillai, the 16th Shawwāl was a Wednesday,) at Broach. The colophon adds (f. 68b) کاتب و مولف و مالک هذا یکی است, from which it is clear that this is an autograph copy written by the author himself.

On completion, the Tazkira was sent to Mirzā Asadu'llāh Khān Ghālīb, the famous poet of Delhi, whose reply to the author is copied on the margin of the last page (f. 68b). It runs as follows:

مخدوم مکرم حضرت قاضی محمد نور الدین حسین خان بہادر کی خدمت میں
عرض ہے کہ برخوردار مرزا شہاب الدین خان بہادر نے یہ اجزا مجھ کو دیئے،
نظم سے میں نے بالکل قطع نظر کی، کامل صاحب کی ترقی جو آغاز میں ہے

اسکو بھی نہیں دیکھا صرف آپکی نثر کو دیکھا اور اسکو موافق حکم آپکے بعض جا درست کر دیا، بعض موقع پر منشاء اصلاح بھی لکھ دیا ہے مجکو یہ پایہ نہیں کہ آپکی نثر میں دخل کروں، بفحوائی الامر فوق الادب حکم بجا لایا ہوں مرجبا آفرین بخدا خوب نثر لکھی ہے، اللہ سبحانہ آپکو مدارج اعلیٰ کو پہنچاوے اور سلامت رکھے، مرقوم دوشنبہ جولائی سنہ ۱۸۶۲ عیسوی،

خوشنودی اجاب کا طالب
غالب

This Tazkira was published in 1933 by the Anjuman-e-Taraqqī-e-Urdū, Aurangabad (Deccan), and edited by the Hon. Secretary, Mawlawī 'Abdu'l-Ḥaqq. This edition was prepared (vide p. 8 of the Introduction) from two MSS., one of which is this very MS. and the other belonged to the grandson and namesake of the author, Qāzī Nūru'd-Dīn Ḥusayn of Broach.

77. Mir'ātu'l-Ḥusn (مرآة الحسن).

The above Tazkira is followed by a Persian masnavī entitled, Mir'ātu'l-Ḥusn, by Qāzī Nizāmu'd-Dīn Khān Fā'eq. The poem begins (f. 69) with:

زبسم اللہ خوش ابرو ہر کتاب است * کہ موج آبروی ہر خطاب است

It is a poetical description of the various parts of the ideal beloved's body from head to foot (سراپا) and ends on f. 84 with the following verse, which contains the takhalluṣ of the author:

مرا در عشق فایق از ہمہ کن * وصال من بحسن خاتمہ کن

This masnavī was copied by the author and copyist of the Tazkira on 21st Shawwāl, 1270/17th July, 1854, at Broach. This Fā'eq is noticed on ff. 84b and 85 here, and also in the Khātima of the famous history of Gujarat, Mir'āt-e-Alī-madī, from which a suitable extract is given in the Tazkira.

In 1151/1738-39, he was appointed Qāzī of Ahmedabad. He died in 1165/1751-52.

78. Sarāpā-e-Mehrī (سراپای مہری).

The abovementioned maṣnawī, Mir'ātu'l-Ḥusn, is followed by another Persian maṣnawī, dealing with the same subject (سراپا) by the poetess Mehrī. It begins on f. 87 as follows:

ای بت چابک شیرین حرکات * جلوه ناز تو چون آب حیات and ends on f. 92 with the following verses, which contain the takhalluṣ of the poetess:

روز و شب مہری بی تاب و توان * کردہ نام خوش تو ورد زبان
آدم همچو پری حورا (ہکذا) * کہ بدنیا ت فرستادہ ترا

This poem also was copied by the author and copyist of the Tagkira on 22nd Shawwāl, 1270/18th July, 1854. After the colophon, he gives a short account of the poetess, in which he says that she was a Persian beauty brought up and patronized by Nūr Jahān, the queen of Jahāngīr. She was afterwards married to her admirer, Ḥakīm Khwāja Maḥram 'Alī (f. 92).

A copy of this poem, entitled Sarāpā-e-Mehrī, is noticed by Pertsch in his Berlin catalogue, No. 674,9.

Ff. 92. S 10.6×6.5, 7.9×4.1. LL. 13. Ruled red border lines. Thin but strong Europ. pap. Ind. Nast. Ink is eating into the paper. The matter on the margins seems to have been added later. Cond. good.

Volume 44.

MAJMU'Ā (مجموعہ).

This volume contains the following four treatises:

79. "Risāla-e-Su'āl wa Jawāb-e-'Aṭṭār" ("رسالۃ سوال و جواب عطار").

Though the title of this small poem (ff. 1b-25b) gives verisimilitude to its being an independent poem of 'Aṭṭār, yet it is impossible to believe that it was composed by the great Sufi poet. It is nothing more than a portion of the Mazharu'l-'Ajā'ib, the question of the authorship of which has been discussed above in Vol. 24, where it is pointed out that that book also has been wrongly attributed to 'Aṭṭār.

Begins (f. 1b):

یکی بری (پیری) مرا آواز می داد * که ای عطار از دست تو فریاد

This passage is found on f. 149b of the Mazhar (Vol. 24 above). It is stated that a certain Pīr asked 'Aṭṭār a number of questions (about 30), which he answered. The couplet No. 13, on f. 2b, in this manuscript, which refers to this matter, is incorrect and prosodically defective:

چو کرد این پس سوال آن پیر از من * فرو بردم سر اندر جیب پیرهن

In the Mazhar (f. 150) it reads as follows:

چو کرد او سی سوال از من بصبیحی * فرو رفتم بخود بر مثل قطبی

The sequence of lines here is not the same as in the Mazhar, where, moreover, couplets often present slight textual alterations.

A former owner of the MS. has written in pencil the following remark on the margin at the commencement of the poem:

این رساله از روی اعتقاد رافض موافقت دارد و نسبتش بشیخ عطار محض
اقترا است بلکه خواندنش خو [د] گناهست بسیار غلو دارد معاذ الله من
عقاید الروافض

Another remark also written in pencil by the same writer is found on the margin of f. 8b., against the couplet:

که لعنت بر ابوبکر و عمر باد * که بر آل نبی کردند یداد
این شعر الحاق از مرد رافضی است گویا بردات حضرت عطار اقترا بسته
است معاذ الله منها بجا عطار و بجا این گفتار

80. Asrārū'l-Waḥy (اسرار الوحى).

This Arabic tract begins on f. 27b as follows:

قال الشيخ الامام الاجل الزاهد ابو محمد على البلخى فيما قرأت

After the asnād, it is said that, as reported by 'Alī, the Prophet asked God, the Almighty, "What act was the most excellent (أى الاعمال افضل)?" He received a rather lengthy reply, which is reported here, each part of it being introduced by the words يا احمد, written in gold.

The colophon (f. 36b) gives the title mentioned above, the name of the copyist, Shaykh Maḥmūd, and the date, end of Ṣafar, 859/Febr., 1455. F. 26 is blank; on f. 27 is an oblong octagonal seal of Muḥammad Qutḡbu'd-Dīn al-Ḥusaynī.

Ff. 27-36b. Size of page same as of the above MS.; writ. sp. 4.4×1.7 within golden jadwals. LL 11. Very beautiful Persian Nast. Or. thick brownish pap., slightly zarafshān, mounted. In spite of age, condition good.

81. Lawāme' (لوامع).

An incomplete copy of Jāmī's extensive commentary on the famous Qaṣīda-e-Khamriyya of Ibnu'l-Fāriḍ (d. 632/1235) ending in mīm. Jāmī himself describes it as follows:

شرح الفاظ و عبارات و كشف رموز و اشارات قصیده میمه
خمریه فارصیه

It was composed in 875/1470, as expressed by the last words, شهر صفر, of the concluding line (f. 73). Nearly the first half of the book, containing introductory matter, is missing.

Begins abruptly (f. 42) as follows:

يکآنکان و دور ماند و از نظر نامحرمان مستور [رباعی] دى شانه زد آن ماه غم کيسو را

which agrees with line 17, p. 128, of the edition printed in Constantinople, 1309/1891-92. The Arabic couplets of Ibnu'l-Fāriḍ are copied in red ink.

Dated 974/1566-67.

Ff. 42-72. Folios 37-41 and 50 blank. Size of page same as of MS. No. 79 above; writ. sp. 4×1.7. LL 16-18. No jadwals. Or. pap. Inelegant Nast. with a Naskhī twist. Pages repaired. Cond. good.

82. Sharḥ-e-Yak Bayt-e-Hāfiẓ (شرح يك بيت حافظ).

A full explanatory note on the following couplet of Hāfiẓ:

پیر ما گفت خطا بر قلم صنع رفت * آفرین بر نظر پاک خطا پوشش باد

Begins on f. 73b:

بسم الله..... لك الحمد اللهم ملهم الصواب الخ چند کلمه در تبیین معنی يك بيت از اشعار لسان الوقت حافظ شیرازی

It is unfortunately incomplete and abruptly breaks off with the following words on f. 75:

لیکن چنانچه اشارت بآن رفت مشتمل بر حکم دقیقه مصالح

Ff. 73b-75. Size of page same as of MS. No. 79 above; writ. sp. 4×1.7. LL 16. Or. pap. Nast. No jadwals. Pages repaired. Cond. good.

ASMĀRU'L-ASRĀR (اسمار الاسرار).

These Asmār or 'Night Discourses' contain Asrār, that is, Mystical Interpretations of the Quranic verses and Traditions, by the greatest Muslim saint of the Deccan, Khwāja Banda Nawāz Ṣadru'd-Dīn Abu'l-Fath Sayyed Muḥammad-e-Ḥusaynī, better known as Gēsū-Darāz ("having long locks"). He was born in Delhi on 4th Rajab, 720/10th August, 1320, (though the date usually given is 721/1321), where he became the most famous disciple and khalīfa of the Delhi saint Naṣīru'd-Dīn Maḥmūd Charāgh (d. 18th Ramazān, 757/14th September, 1356). On the death of the latter he went to Gujarat, where he stayed for a long time with Khwāja Ruknu'd-Dīn Kān-e-Shakar ("sugar mine"), came to the Deccan, settled at Gulbargah in 815/1412-13, was highly respected by the Bahmanī Sultāns, Ferozshāh and Aḥmadshāh, and died on 16th Z. Qa'da, 825/1st November, 1422, aged 105 lunar years. He was buried in a magnificent mausoleum at Gulbargah. He wrote a number of books, of which the most famous are خاتمه, اسرار, and جوامع الكلم, استقامة الشريعة بطريق الحقيقة, وجود عاشقين. See Ferishta, vol. i, and the Akḥbārū'l-Akhyār. M. Ivanow (No. 1219, 3) says that the Asmār is divided into 115 samars. It is true that some MSS. do give this number, but in view of the remarks made by the author at the beginning of the book that it contains as many samars as the chapters of the Qur'an, i.e., 114, it is but reasonable to expect 114 discourses only. This apparent difference, as has been satisfactorily explained by Sayyed 'Aṭā Ḥusayn, M.A., in his Introduction to his edition of the Asmār, Hyderabad (Deccan), 1350/1931-32, is due to the fact that the samar No. 74 is, in some MSS., split up (without any justification) into two separate ones. In our MS. (ff. 162-64) it is not so split up; therefore, if this MS. had been complete, it would have contained 114 samars only, as originally designed by the author.

Two of the pages at the beginning are wanting. Begins abruptly (f. 2) as follows:

کرد دماغ لطیفی سبک شد کران سنکی بیاد هوا رفت which agrees with line 8, p. 3, of the printed edition mentioned above. It ends with the following words of 112th samar (line 19, p. 341, of the printed edition):

ما سلك من سلك فيها الا بلغ المنزل وفاذ المايل مع ذلك لا يرجعون

Other copies: Ind. Libr. IvASB Nos. 1219 (3), 1220. For. Libr. EIO No. 1861. Other private copies are mentioned in the Introduction to the Printed edition referred to above.

84. Maqṣad-e-Aqṣā (مقصد اقصیٰ).

On principles of Sufism, by 'Azīz b. Muḥammad an Nasafī, who wrote a number of books on Sufism such as بیان التزیل, كشف الحقایق, etc., and died in 661/1262-63 at Abarqūh. The Maqṣad-e-Aqṣā forms the basis of E. Palmer's "Oriental Mysticism", Cambridge, 1867. Some Darweshes asked the author a few important questions on the subject of Sufism, such as "Who is the Traveller?", "What is the Way?", "What are the Stations?", "What is the Goal?", "What are Sharī'at, Tarīqat, and Ḥaqīqat?", "Who is the Perfect Man?", etc. His answers to these questions form the subject-matter of this book.

Begins (f. 2b):

الحمد لله.....چنین گوید اضعف ضعفا و خادم فقرا عزیز بن محمد النفسی

On f. 1 an Arabic Ḥadīth etc., and on f. 2, two seals, the square one of Sayyed Imāmu'd-Dīn Aḥmad and the oval one (somewhat defaced and repeated on the last page of the MS.) of Sayyed Qutbu'd-Dīn Khān Bahādur, bearing the date 1163/1750. The same folio contains a memorandum note of a former owner, Fakhru'd-Dīn 'Alī, dated 1139(?)/1726-27.

Dated 13th Ṣafar, 6th Julās year of Bahādur Shāh (1119-1124/1707-1712), i.e., about 1124/1712.

Other copies: Ind. Libr. Asaf i, p. 482, Nos. 779, 846; IvASB Nos. 1179 (2); 1180; IvC No. 414. For. Libr. BL i No. 99; EB Nos. 1250, 1298 (49); Pert No. 6.11; R p. 834; EIO No. 1806; Br Sup Hnd No. 1235. Lithographed in Tehrān.

85. Fāl-Nāma (فالنامه).

The MS. has no title, but, as it treats of fāls, or methods of taking auguries, it is given the title of فالنامه.

On the back of the last page of the Maqṣad there is a talismanic diagram of eight of the points of the compass, Mashriq, Maghrib, Shimāl, Janūb, Bāyeb, Īsān, Nayrat, and Agney, with instructions for not going out in a particular direction on a particular day. It is followed by six folios of a different paper written over in a different later hand. The first contains an account of the inauspicious days of a lunar month, while the remaining five contain the Fāl-nāma-e-Sikandar, various amulets, and squares of magical figures to act as charms against disease.

86. “Ruq‘āt-e-Amīr Khusraw” (“رقعات امیر خسرو”).

This collection of letters is also called انشاء امیر خسرو (EIO No. 1221) and عنوان نامه خیالات (IVC. No. 126). For the contents and the authorship of this so-called Ruq‘āt-e-Amīr Khusraw, see Vol. 12 above, where they are fully discussed. In this copy the short prose preface and the first few lines from the magṣawī, Dewalrānī Khizār Khān, of Khusraw are wanting.

Begins:

ز کاف و نون که رمز مشکست آن * یکی نقطه برون داده دلست آن

The first letter beginning with من محب نامه هجرانم is found on the next page. A few pages from the middle are also missing. Copied on 19th Z. Hījja, 1181/7th May, 1768 at خجسته بنیاد (i.e., Aurangabad) by Qalandar Beg.

For other copies see Vol. 12 above.

Size of paper same as above, Writ. sp. 6×3. LL 13. Clear Ind. Nast. Or. pap. Arabic verses and headings of ruq‘āt in red. Cond. good.

TAFSĪRU’L KAWĀSHĪ (تفسیر الکواشی).

The first half of a very rare commentary on the Qur’ān by احمد بن یوسف بن حسن بن رافع بن حسین موفق الدین ابو العباس الموصلی الکواشی

surnamed Kawāshī after a fort in Mōsul (Mawṣil), where he was born. He was a well-known Shāfeʿite doctor, who, according to Kashf. Zun. died in 680/1281-82.

Begins on f. 3b as follows: الحمد لله حق حمده و اشهد ان لا اله الا الله

The last chapter commented on is the Sūratu'l-Kahf, the Eighteenth Chapter. On f. 1b. are some directions for slaughtering an animal (ذبح), f. 2 bears an effaced round seal and contains Thaʿlabī's statement about the number of verses in the Qur'ān. On f. 3 are the title of the book and a short biographical notice of the author taken from the Ṭabaqātu'l-Mufasssīrīn. The notice has been written by the copyist of the MS., whose name is mentioned in the colophon as Ibrāhīm b. Zayd b. 'Alī b. Jaḥāf al-Fāṭimī az-Zaydī, who finished the MS. on Thursday, 12th Sha'bān, 1099/1688. (The 12th Sha'bān, according to Pillai, was Saturday, the 2nd June).

Volume 48.

88. Gulshan-e-Rāz (گلشن راز).

This "Rose-garden of Mystery" is "one of the best and most "compendious manuals of the mystical doctrine of the Sufis, and "enjoys even at the present day a high reputation." (Br., Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 146). The author, Shaykh Maḥmūd-e-Shabistarī (called after Shabistar, his native place, eight leagues from Tabriz), tells us in the introduction that in the year 717/1317-18 [though Prof. Browne in his Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 147, and later on in the Cat. of his Pers. MSS., ed. Nicholson, p. 228, gives 710/1311 year, but this seems to be questionable, because the text here (f. 2) as well as in the printed editions, Persian, Indian, and European, uniformly reads [گذشته هفت و ده از هفتصد سال, a messenger arrived from Khorāsān and read out a letter from a contemporary Sufi [who, though not mentioned here, we learn from other sources, was the celebrated Sayyed Husaynī (see Vol. 20 supra)], in which a number of questions dealing with Sufism were asked. Those who were present at the gathering asked the author (whom they had often heard expounding the subject covered by the above questions) to answer them, and he did so on the spot. These questions, together with answers to them, incidental illustrations, parables, and digressions are contained in this poem, so that it has become, in the words of Prof. Browne, "one of the best manuals of Sufi Theosophy which exist, "especially when taken in conjunction with the excellent commentary of *'Abdu'r-Razzāq al-Lāhijī". (Lit. Hist. Pers., iii, p. 148). These fifteen questions, with the English version of them by Prof. Browne, are as follows:

(1) "As to the nature of thought."

(f. 3b) چه چیز است آنچه گویندش تفکر

(2) "Why is thought sometimes a sin, sometimes a duty, and what sort of thought is incumbent on the mystic?"

(f. 4b) کدامین فکر ما را شرط راهست * چرا که طاعت و گاهی گناهست

(3) "What am 'I'? What is meant by 'travelling into one's self'?"

(f. 9b) که باشم من مرا از من خبر کن * چه معنی دارد اندر خود سفر کن

(4) "What is meant by 'the Pilgrim', and what by 'the Perfect man'?"

(f. 10b) مسافر چون بود رهرو کدامست * کرا گویم که او مرد تمام است

(5) "Who is the Gnostic ('Ārif') who attains to the Secret of Unity?"

(f. 13) که شد بر سر وحدت واقف آخر * شناسای چه آمد عارف آخر

(6) "If Knower and Known are one pure Essence, What are the inspirations in the handful of dust?"

* شیخ شمس الدین محمد بن یحیی بن علی الجیلانی اللاهیجی (died about 912/1506-7) is the author of the "مفاتیح الاعجاز", "the excellent commentary" mentioned by Professor Browne, while عبد الرزاق بن علی بن حسین لاهیجی is the author of the کوه مراد and flourished during the reign of Abbas II (A.D. 1642-67), to whom he dedicated his work. Evidently Professor Browne has mistaken the latter for the former.

* اگر معروف و عارف ذات پاکست * (f. 13b)

* چه سودا در سر این مشیت خاکست *

(7) "To what point belongs the expression, 'I am the Truth'?"

(f. 14) کدامین نقطه را نطق است انا الحق

(8) "Why call they a creature 'united'? How can he achieve 'travelling' and 'journey'?"

(f. 15) چرا مخلوق را گویند واصل * سلوک و سیر او چون گشت حاصل

(9) "What is the union of 'Necessary' and 'Contingent'? What are 'near' and 'far', 'more' and 'less'?"

(f. 16) وصال ممکن و واجب بهم چیست * حدیث قرب و بعد ویش و کم چیست

(10) "What is the sea whose shore is speech? What is the pearl which is found in its depths?"

(f. 17b) * چه بحر است آنکه نطقش حاصل (ساحل) آمد *

* ز قعر او چه گوهر حاصل آمد *

(11) "What is that Part which is greater than its Whole? What is the way to find that Part?"

(f. 20b) * چه جزو است آنکه او از کل فزون است *

* طریق جستن آن جزو چون است *

(12) "How are Eternal and Temporal separate? Is this one the World and the other God?"

(f. 21b) قدیم و محدث از هم چون جدا شد * که این عالم شد آن دیگر خدا شد

(13) "What means the mystic by those allegorical expressions of his? What does he indicate by 'eye' and 'lips'? What does he intend by 'cheek', 'curl', 'down', and 'inole'? (He, to wit, who is in 'Stations' and 'States'.)"

- * چه خواهد مرد معنی زان عبارت * (f. 22)
 * که دارد سوی چشم و لب اشارت *
 * چه خواهد از رخ و زلف و خط و خال *
 * کسی کاندر مقاماتست و احوال *

(14) "What meaning attaches to 'Wine', 'Torah', and 'Beauty'? What is assumed in being a haunter of Taverns?"

- * شراب و شمع و شاهد را چه معنی است * (f. 25)
 * خراباتی شدن آخر چه دعوی است *

(15) "Idols, girdles, and Christianity in this discourse are all infidelity; if not, say what they are."

- * بت و زنار و ترسائی درین کوی * (f. 27)
 * همه کفر است و گر نه چیست برگوی *

The value of the work can be estimated by the amount of attention bestowed on it by Eastern as well as Western scholars. A large number of commentaries have been written on it. As many as twenty-eight were inspected by Jāmī; but perhaps the most famous is the المعاجز by Muḥammad b. Yaḥyā b. 'Alī-e-Gīlānī-e-Lāhijī-e-Nūrbakhshī, whose takhalluṣ was Asīrī and who died about the year 912/1506-07. This was lithographed in Tehrān in 1301/1883-84. In 1344/1925-26, one Muḥammad Naẓīr Ṣiddīqī Fayzābādī published an Urdu translation or adaptation of it, without duly acknowledging his indebtedness to Lāhijī, under the name of Mashhad-e-Nāz. He says, in his introduction, that he compiled it in a year and a half. In the last sentence on the last page (p. 413), he merely states that the poem was composed in 717/1317-18 by Shaykh Maḥmūd and that 61 years thereafter in 778 (!) Muḥammad b. Yaḥyā-e-Lāhijī wrote a Persian commentary on it called Mafātihul-I'jāz. An abridgement of the mafatih was made by Muḥammad b. Maḥmūd Dehdār Fānī, who died at Surat in 1016/1607-08 in the reign of the Emperor Jahāngīr, under the name of ایجاز مفاتیح المعجزات.

(see IvC No. 217). An abridged commentary bearing the same name, Mafātīḥu'l-I'jāz, was published in Bombay in 1312/1894-95 and in Lahore in 1330/1911-12. The Kashf. Zun. mentions three other commentaries: one by مظفر الدین علی شیرازی, another by ادريس بن حسام الدین بدلیسی (صاحب هشت بهشت), and the third by بابا محمود نعمت الله نخجوانی. In addition to these commentaries, one was also written by رشید الدین محمود اسفراینی (IvC No. 704). The following commentaries are mentioned in TM No. 666: (1) شرح نظام (3), شرح قاضی حسین میبذی منطقی (2), شرح معین الدین احمد دهمدار شرح (5) and شرح شجاع الدین کربالی (4), والدین محمود داعی الی الله شیرازی ابراهیم بن محمد علی سبزواری.

An anonymous commentary is noticed in EIO No. 1820 and two more in EB Nos. 1261-62. The famous poet 'Imād Faqīh of Kirmān has composed his مصباح الهدایه in imitation of the Gulshan-e-Rāz. The text of the Gulshan has been lithographed in Persia and India several times. The poem was introduced in Europe by Tholuck in his Sufismus in 1821 and was partly translated into German by him in 1825. It was edited and translated into German verse by Hammer-Purgstall, Pesth, 1838. Whinfield also edited it with an English translation and notes, London, 1880; and in 1887 Trübner published The Dialogue of the Gulshan-e-Rāz. For an Ismā'īlī interpretation of the Gulshan-e-Rāz by M. Ivanow, see JBBRAS, Vol. viii, Nos. 1 and 2, 1932.

Besides the Gulshan, Maḥmūd wrote the following prose treatises: رساله شاهد, سعادت نامه, and حق الیقین (published in Persia). He died in 720/1320. Cf. Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. iii, pp. 146-150; Kashf. Zun.; R p. 828; EIO No. 1814; Bk No. 121.

89. Gulshan-e-Tawhīd (گلشن توحید).

Another Persian Sufistic maṣnavī attributed to Akhtar (Muḥammad Akramu'd-Dīn-e-Bukhārī), as indicated by the title written just above the commencement of the poem and as shown clearly by the remark on the margin. The purport of the latter is that the poem was commenced in 1216/1801-02, and finished in 1221/1806-07 in Makka. The remark shows that it was written by محمد اکرم اختر بخاری حنفی قادری واعظ الاسلام. As a matter of fact the poem was composed about three centuries ago by one Ibrāhīm Shāhidī Mawlawī, whose name has been fraudulently struck out by Akhtar in at least two places in this MS. and supplanted by Ghurbatī (غربی), vide line 13, f. 32b:

سابقا این شاهی مولوی * از کتاب مثنوی معنوی and line 7, f. 34b:

این کتاب شاهی مولوی * گشت مفتاح کنوز مثنوی

In spite of the fact that in these lines the original name, Shāhidī, has been tampered with, there is enough of the name left to show what it originally was. Though Akhtar has struck off the real author's name, he has failed to remove the couplet in which the date of the composition of the poem has been given by Shāhidī. It still remains intact and bears unimpeachable testimony against the plagiarist:

چونکہ با عون خدا کردم تمام * گفتم اورا گلشن توحید نام
ہم نوشتہ آن زمان تاریخ او * بلبل کو گلشن توحید جو

The last hemistich gives 937/1530-31 as the year in which Shāhidī wrote the poem. He says that he had selected 600 detached couplets from Rūmī's Maṣnavī, but as they were disconnected, he composed, at the request of a friend, five couplets of his own, suitable to the subject-matter of each one of Rūmī's, and thus produced a connected whole of 3,000 verses ($=600 \times 5$). Another work of his is Tuhfa-e-Shāhī, which is a Persian-Turkish vocabulary in verse, composed in 920/1514-15. Herein he tells us that he was a native of Maglah in the province of Mantashah and that his father خدائی دادہ lived at Broussa, as a Shaykh of the Mawlawī order. Besides these works, he wrote some other maṣnawīs and a diwān and died in 957/1550-51.

Select odes from the dīwān of Shaykh Nāṣir 'Alī (takhal-luṣ 'Alī) of Sarhind, a great Sufi and eminent poet, who enjoyed the patronage of Sayf Khān, a distinguished nobleman of Awrangzeb's court at Allahabad. On the latter's death 'Alī went to Bijapur in 1100/1688-89, where he was patronized by Zu'lfaqār Khān, son of Āṣaf Khān, another powerful nobleman of the Moghul court, whom he accompanied on his expedition to the Karnatak. Afterwards he returned to Dehli, where he died in 1108/1697 and was buried near the grave of Niẓāmu'd-Dīn Awliyā. See Khizāna-e-Āmerā, Sarw-e-Āzād, and Mīr'at ul-Khiyāl.

DĪWĀN-E-ZUHŪRĪ (دیوان ظہوری).

A very valuable copy of the dīwān (ghazals and rubā'īyyāt) of the famous Persian poet of Bijapur, Zuhārī, generously presented to this collection on 15th May, 1921, by Mr. Bāqir 'Alī, then Secretary to the Urdu Textbooks Translation Board, Poona (now retired Deputy Educational Inspector). The value of this MS. lies in the facts that it contains several verses written in the handwriting of the poet himself and that the whole of the dīwān has been revised by him. On the title-page, there is a remark which runs as follows :

دیوان افضل الشعراء حضرت مولانا ظہوری علیہ الرحمة والمغفرة وجا بجا خط
شریف ایشانست و از اول تا بآخر بنظر مبارک فیض اثر ایشان گذشته

In the middle of the page, the following remark is written twice over محمد رستم محمد رستم, and just below it is a fine round seal of محمد رستم خانہ زاد عالمگیر بادشاہ.

Nūru'd-Dīn Zuhārī was born at Turshīz (not Tarshīz), which was in all probability a district and not a town; for the town Turshīz, once a prosperous city in the middle ages and situated in the north-western corner of قہستان and south of Nīshāpūr, fell into ruins after the sack of it by Tīmūr in 783 (1381) and "disappeared from the map." Even at the present day there exists a district of Turshīz, but "no town of that name" (Le Strange, Lands of the Eastern Caliphate, p. 354). At an early age, Zuhārī went to Yazd, where he enjoyed the company of the famous poet Mullā Wahshī-e-Bāfaqī author of the Khuld-e-barīn. From Yazd he proceeded to Shiraz, where he stayed for seven years as an intimate friend of Darwesh Husayn, who was thoroughly versed in history, poetry, riddles, and calligraphy. In 988/1580 he came to the Deccan and, like Malik-e-Qummī, first settled at Ahmednagar and then at Bijapur, where he became an intimate friend of the poet-laureate, Malik-e-Qummī, whose daughter he afterwards married. Both these poets, who often collaborated in literary productions (like Beaumont and Fletcher), were much admired and munificently rewarded by Ibrāhīm 'Ādilshāh II (988-1037/1580-1627). Besides the diwān, Zuhūrī wrote the famous Magnawī called ساقی نامه, in imitation of Sa'dī's Bostān and dedicated it to Burhān Nizām Shāh II of Ahmednagar (999-1003/1591-1594), who sent him elephant-loads of presents. Besides being a gifted poet, he was a master of prose style. Amongst his prose works are the three prefaces known as the سه نثر, so much admired in India, the بنج رقعہ, and the مینا بازار, all lithographed several times in India. His proficiency in calligraphy was a source of income to him. He earned large sums of money by the sale of the copies which he made of the Rawḡatu's-Ṣafā. His shikasta handwriting won the admiration of the author of Ma'āṣir-e-Rahīmī. Our MS. presents specimens of his nast-cum-naskh style. Among his contemporaries may be mentioned the poets Fayẓī and Nazirī, with whom he used to enter into poetic contests. He died in 1025/1616, according to Āzād and several other authorities, though other dates varying from 1024 to 1027 have also been suggested. A pretty full account of his life and works is given by M. 'Abdu'l-Muqtadir in Bk iii, Nos. 284-87. See also Khizāna-e-'Āmera, Sarw-e-Āzād, Mir'ātu'l-Khiyāl, Ātashkadah, etc. Like No. 1503 in the India Office Library, our copy consists only of ghazals and rubā'īyyāt. It opens, like the India Office copy, with :

* بی امن وامان ساخته خوف و خطر م را *

* مستی شده خوش محتسی شور و شرم م را *

The rubā'īyyāt (also like the India Office copy) begin with :

ای از تو همه پنهان و پیدا پیدا

Copies of the diwān in other collections are differently arranged. Our copy is certainly more correct and more complete than the diwān printed by Nawal Kishore in 1897. The latter does not contain the rubā'īyyāt; our copy contains a very large number of them. Besides, the odes in the printed edition are arranged in the alphabetical order of the radīf-letters, while in our copy they are not so arranged. Against the ode beginning with:

* پیش خدنگت از دل پیران نشان بماند *

* وز قامت تو قد جوانان کمان بماند *

there is a remark on the margin, which runs as follows:

این تمام غزل از خط شریف ایشانست

After the first eight rubā'īyyāt, there is the following remark on the margin:

از اول رباعی تا اینجا خط شریف حضرت مولانا ظهوری مرحوم است

On the margin against the ghazal ending with the radīf بر, there are two couplets, below which this remark occurs:

این دو بیت نیز از خط شریف مرحوم است

Undated; but it undoubtedly belongs to XIc/XVIIc.

TA'RĪKH-E-ALFĪ (تاریخ الفی).

A portion of a most valuable and exceedingly rare general history of the Muslim world in the first millennium after the Rihlat ("Death of the Prophet"). Its name Alfī is derived from alf meaning a 'thousand', because it was to end with that year of the Hijra. It begins with the first year of the Riḥlat or "Death of the Prophet", which occurred in 11 A.H., in consequence of which 10 years have to be added to every subsequent year in order to convert it into the Hijri year. The history is brought down to 997/1589. The arrangement is strictly chronological, and events are recorded from year to year. It was commenced at the command of Akbar in 993/1585 by Mullā Aḥmad Tatawī (of Thatha in Sind); after his assassination in 996/1588, it was continued by Ja'far Beg Āṣaf Khān. The first two volumes were revised by 'Abdu'l-Qādir of Badāyūn and the third by Āṣaf Khān. That part of it which deals with Akbar's reign is the most valuable of all. See Ā'in-e-Akbarī, Muntakhab-u't-Tawārīkh, and Ma'āṣiru'l-Umarā.

*For the text and translation of this ode, a facsimile reproduction of Zuhūrī's handwriting and the significance of the autograph odes in this MS. as well as in Vol. 34 above, see my article on "Two Unique Persian MSS. in the University Library," published in the Journal of the University of Bombay for May, 1934, pt. vi, vol. ii.

Mullā Ḥakīm Aḥmad of Thatha was the son of Naṣru'llah, the Qāzī of Thatha. He travelled to Persia, studied theology and medicine at Mashhad, Yazd, and Shiraz, stayed for some time at the court of Shāh Ṭahmāsp, visited Karbalā, Makka, and Jerusalem, and returned to India. After spending some years at the court of Quṭb Shāh at Golkonda, he went in 989/1581-82 to Akbar's court and was commanded by him to write the present history, which he continued to do until he was murdered on 15th Ṣafar, 996/15th January, 1588.

Thereafter the work of compiling this history was continued by Mirzā Qiwāmu'd-Dīn Ja'far Beg, entitled Āṣaf Khān, one of the most eminent generals of Akbar and a good poet, whose father was wazīr to Shāh Ṭahmāsp. He died in 1021/1612-13 after a distinguished career under Jahāngir.

Complete copies of this history are very rare. Our copy also is incomplete and several pages are damaged by large lacunae. The first event described is the night attack by Muḥammad b. Tūmart, the famous Berber Chief of the Muwaḥḥids of Morocco (died 522/1128) on his enemies. The first year mentioned (in red) is 505 of the Riḥlat (515 A.H./1122-23) on p. 2.

Begins: شده در مقام فرمانبرداری ثابت قدم تر از اول شدند محمد تومرت

The volume comes down to a little after the death of Shāh Ṭahmāsp, which event is mentioned on p. 1004 (1.6). The chronogram found by Mirzā Jānī and quoted here gives the date and the month, its abjad-value yielding the year: پانزدهم صفر (984/1576). The MS. ends on p. 1008, with the following words:

MUFARREḤU'L-QULŪB (مفرح القلوب):

A Persian abridged version of the famous store-house of Indian fables, the Hitopadesha ("Salutary Advice"), which, the author says (f. 1b), was in Hindūī (i. e., Sanskrit) language and consisted of four stories, viz., (1) منتر لابه (for منتر لابه = मित्र लाभ or "Acquisition of Friends"), (2) شهر بهید (for شهر بهید = सुहृद भेद "Separation of Friends"), (3) بکره (for بکره or وکره = विग्रह "War"), and (4) سند (for سندی = संधि "Peace"). The Persian rendering was done by one whose name, as given here, is Tāj Muftī Malikī (f. 2); but in other copies, it is variously mentioned as Tāj-al-Ghanī (EB No. 1320), Tāj-i-Malikī (EIO No. 1335), Tāju'ddīn b. Mu'īnu'ddīn al-Malikī (R), and Tāju'ddīn Muftī al-Malikī (Aum), by the order of his patron, whose name is given here as follows:

ملك الشرق والغرب نصر الدوله والدين مقطع شق بهار اديم الله تعالى

M. Ivanow in IvASB No. 1709 gives the name of the patron after the word مقطع as Bahā-i-Nadīmu'llāh (?), and, in IvC No. 685, as Shaykh Bahā'u'ddīn Na'īmu'llāh, and observes that he cannot be identified. In EB No. 1320, it is stated that the work was "dedicated to Sultān Naṣīr aldaulah wa-aldīn, that "is no doubt the emperor Humāyūn, Babar's eldest son, who "ascended the throne of Dihli 937/1530."

Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1983) says that he is "a ruler of uncertain "date identified by some as Naṣīr-aldīn Humāyūn,..... by "others, like De Sacy, as a prince of Akbar's time." The words, مقطع شق بهار, which occur in the Brit. Mus. copy also, have been rendered by Dr. Rieu (p. 757) as "fief holder of Shikk (?) Bihar", in which the word 'Shikk' seems doubtful to him. It is explained by M. 'Abdu's-Salām, in his English translation of the Riyāzu's-Salāṭīn, "a standard history of Bengal", as follows (p. 7, note 1): "The words used before Akbar's time to denote fiscal divisions or tracts of the country larger than the Pargana were Shaq, Khattah, etc." Several persons bearing the title of Nāṣīru'd-Dīn or Naṣīru'd-Dīn are mentioned in the above history among the rulers or governors of Bengal, of which Bihar formed a part. The phraseology tends to locate the author and his patron in Bengal. See Notices et Extraits, X, and De Tassy's Litter. Hindoui etc. I. In Blumhardt's Catalogue of Hindustani MSS. in the British Museum, No. 94, it is stated that the مفرح القلوب was composed by the order of شاه نصير الدين Nawwāb of Behār. For an account of the original and the wanderings of its stories through different countries, see the Preface to C. Wilkins's translation of the Hitopadesha and Keith-Falconer's "Fables of Bidpai". The author of the Hitopadesha is generally believed to be Vishnū Sharmā. But Dr. Peterson has shown him to be Nārāyan Bhatt. (See Kāle's Pref. Note to his edition of the Hitopadesha). A Gujarati translation of the Mufarreḥu'l-Qulūb is mentioned on p. 142 of MRD. Our copy begins differently from the Bodleian and the Brit. Mus. copies as follows:

الحمد لله رب العالمين.....بدانکه این کتاب از زبان هندوی بود که انرا
هتوبدیس خوانند

It covers all the four chapters of the original and retains the names of animals and places as in the Sanskrit. It was lithographed several times in India. Mīr Bahādur 'Alī Ḥusaynī translated it into Hindustani under the title of Akhlāq-e-Hindī, which was published in Calcutta, 1803.

Dated Thursday, 22nd Rajab, 24th Julūs of Muḥammad Shāh, i.e., about 1155/1742-43, (for Muḥammad Shāh ruled from 1131-1161/1719-1748). Copied by Asad Beg for کودهورام پنڈت, son of Bayāji Pandit, Wakīl of the Deshmukhs of Zafarnagar, the home of Dā'ūdikhān Pannī.

HĀL-NĀMA YĀ GŪY O CHAWGĀN (حالتنامه یا گوی و چوگان).

An exquisitely executed and highly artistic copy of the allegorical poem called Hāl-nāma (f. 6) or "Gūy o Chawgān" ("Ball and Polo-stick") by Maḥmūd 'Arifī, a celebrated poet sometimes also called سلیمان ثانی, who lived and died at Herat, 853/1449. He mentions his takhalluṣ in the following couplet on f. 2b:

بی کوهر معرفت مدارم * تا نام بعارفی بر آرم

The "Ball and Polo-stick" are symbols of mystic love. The author tells us that he wrote the poem in the short space of a fortnight, when he was above 50 years of age (f. 22b):

پنجاه گذشت سال عمرم * یک نیمه شکست بال عمرم

and as a reward received a horse and one thousand dīnārs. This poem has greatly influenced Hilālī's Shāh o Gadā. A Turkish translation of the Hāl-nāma by Lāme'ī (d. 937-38/1530-32) is noticed in the Kashf. Zun. Besides this poem, 'Ārifī also wrote a treatise on Law and a دستگاه, see Dawlatshāh, vii, 4.

Begins: زآن پیش که حسب حال کویم * از صانع ذو الجلال کویم

A few folios are missing, as is evident from the catchwords on ff. 5 and 22, in consequence of which, the couplets referring to the patron, the time occupied in writing the poem, the author's reward, and the date of composition are wanting in this copy. In all there are 436 couplets in the MS. As other copies contain either 495, 505, or 510 couplets each, it appears that probably five or six folios have been lost.

This MS. is a beautiful specimen of high class Persian calligraphic art. The text is written on fine zar-afshān paper mounted on thick Dawlatābādī frames, which are also richly sprinkled with gold, each page presenting a different shade of colour. There are four beautifully executed colour paintings on ff. 8b (Polo game), 14, 18, and 21. On f. 1, there is an undated signature in English, which reads as "Sidney I. Churchill, Tehran", probably the name of one of its former owners. There are two dates of 'Arz-Dākhil, viz., 1105/1694 and 1127/1715. Moreover, there is a remark in Persian, in which mention is made of the title, the size of the volume, the kind of paper used, the margins and borders of pages, the variety of binding, etc. It runs as follows:

کوی و چوکان قطع وسط کاغذ می افشان حاشیه دولتابادی چسپانیده الوان
افشان مجدول مذهب مصور جلد ساغری مشکی کنج وترنج دار طلا پوش از
باب پیش کش محمدیخان حاکم کهدم مجلد بتاریخ ۱۸ شهر ربیع الثانی سنه
۱۱۰۵ داخل عرض شد

Headings are written in white on a gilt and floral ground. In the centre of the cover on the outside is a lozenge-shaped tooled golden floral design with a beautiful antelope in a sitting posture. (see Frontispiece).

Not dated; but from the above remark it appears that it belongs probably to the end of XIc/XVIIc.

AL-MASHRA'U'L-MURWĪ (المُشْرِعُ المُرْوِي).

A valuable copy of short biographical notices of the descendants of 'Alī, the Fourth Khalifa, particularly of those who settled in the province of Ḥaḍramawt. It also gives notices of the 'Alawīs of Surat (e.g., محمد العيدروس صاحب سورة f. 149), Broach (e.g., احمد بن شيخ العيدروس f. 198), Hyderabad (e.g., احمد بن عبد الله العيدروس f. 201b), and Bijapur (e.g., ابو بكر بن حسين بلفقيه صاحب بيجاپور f. 176b).

The author's full name, as given here, is as follows:

جمال الدين ابو علوى محمد بن ابى بكر بن احمد بن ابى بكر بن عبد الله الشلى الحضرمى

He was born at Tarīm in Ḥaḍramawt, in the middle of Sha'bān, 1030/1621, and, after finishing his studies under his father (noticed here f. 174b) and other scholars, he visited India and went to Makka, where he was appointed a teacher in the madrasa. But owing to ill-health, he had to resign his appointment in a few years. He died in 1093/1682. He gives an autobiographical account of himself on ff. 172b-174, where he mentions the following of his works: رساله فى علم المجيب, on which he himself wrote a commentary, which became very popular and was copied by many scholars from Egypt, Yaman, and India; two

رساله في معرفة الظل الزوال كل يوم بعرض , علم الميقات بلا آله رساله في , رساله في المنتظر , رساله في معرفة اتفاق المطالع واختلافها , مكة المشرفة

a commentary on Shaykh of Nur al-Sāfir in اخبار القرن العاشر ("supplement") ذيل
'Abdu'l-Qādir, etc. Another biographical work entitled عقد الجواهر is noticed in Bk xii No. 660.

الحمد لله الذى شرح بمعارف العوارف صدور اوليائه
Begins :

The whole work is divided into a muqaddama, two bābs, and a khātima. The muqaddama deals with the great merit of blood relationship with the Prophet. The first bāb treats of the descendants of 'Alī, their dispersion in different places, and the settlers of Tarīm, while the second gives short notices of the 'Alawīs arranged alphabetically. The Khātima describes the ceremonies observed in connection with, and the miracles attributed to, the khirqas ("spiritual robes") used amongst the 'Alawīs of Ḥaḍramawt. This is a complete copy said to have been transcribed from the autograph of the author himself. It is older than the one in Bankipore (Bk xii No. 807). There is a copy in the India Office also, see Loth, p. 206.

MAFĀTĪḤU'L-I'JĀZ (مفاتيح الاعجاز).

The well-known comprehensive commentary on Shabistarī's Gulshan-e-Rāz by شَيْخ شمس الدين محمد يحيى بن على الجيلاني الالامى, whose takhalluṣ was Asīrī. He was the principal disciple and Khalīfa of Sayyid Zaynu'd-Dīn Muḥammad Nūr-Bakhsh, the founder of the Nūrbakhshī Order of Sufis, who died at Ray in 869/

1464. After the death of his spiritual guide, Lāhijī went to Shiraz and there built a monastery called خانقاه نوریه. He enjoyed the company of the famous philosopher, Jalālu'd-Dīn-e-Dawānī (author of the Akhlāq-e-Jalālī), at whose suggestion, it is said, he wrote the present commentary. He tells us (f. 2b) that he commenced it on 19th Z. Hījja, 877/17th May, 1473. It is said that Shāh Ismā'il-e-Şafawī, after taking Shiraz, went and paid his respects to him. He died about 912/1506-07. Besides this work, he has also written some treatises on Sufism and has left a large diwān. His son was also a poet, whose takhalluṣ was Fidā'ī. For a fuller account of Lāhijī, see Majlisu'l-Mu'minīn. For Gulshan-e-rāz and other commentaries on it, besides the above, see Vol. 48 above.

101. Su'ālāt-e-Ḥusaynī (سوالات حسینی).

These are the famous questions of Sayyed Ḥusaynī, which Maḥmūd-e-Shabistārī has answered in his Gulshan-e-Rāz (see Vol. 48 above). The questions are not generally met with separately. Here they are in a more complete and connected form than in the text of the Gulshan or its commentaries. In this MS. they are in the form in which they were probably asked in the original letter addressed by the author. They consist of the following twenty-eight couplets, twelve of which, marked with an asterisk, are found neither in the printed text of the Gulshan nor in its commentaries:

* زاهل دانش و ارباب معنی * سوالی دارم اندر باب معنی
 * ز اسرار حقیقت مشکلی چند * بگو اندر حضور هر خردمند

Ff. 39-39b. These questions are followed by a statement in Arabic, attributed to Pir-e-Dastagīr ('Abdu'l Qādir-e-Jīlānī). A Persian paraphrase of the statement written in pencil and dated 24th Ramaẓān, 1315/16th February, 1898, is appended at the end of the MS.

Ff. 41-41b contain some magical formulae against the bite of a rabid dog, a serpent, etc.

A commentary on the abovementioned Jām-e-Jahān-numā, by Ibrāhīm Shaṭṭārī Jannatābādī, a disciple of Muḥammad Khaṭīru'd-Dīn al-'Aṭṭār, who says that he composed it at the desire of some friends of his while at Ahmedabad, and gave it the above title (f. 45b). It is divided into a muqaddama (f. 45c) and four aṣṣls :

other creatures (proved by the admissions of other animals, which remind one of the Ikhwānu's-Safā) and, in the latter part, with the important virtues to be gained and the vices to be shunned by a prospective Sufi. It is called here (f. 2 and f. 116) Ṭarabū'l-Majālis and is attributed (f. 116) to رکن الحق Dawlatshāh (Br ed. p. 225) also calls it Ṭarabū'l-Majālis and gives the name of its author as Sayyed Ḥusaynī-e-Ḥerātī (i.e., Mīr Ḥusaynī Sādāt). Kashf. Zun. also calls it Ṭarabū'l-Majālis and attributes it to Ḥusaynī b. Ḥasan b. Sayyed al-Ḥusaynī and says about it:

Rieu (p. 608), however, calls it Ṭarabū'l-Mahāsīn. As stated in the Kashf. Zun., our copy also is divided into five qisms (ff. 3 and 4).

104. Dīwan-e-Barhaman (دیوان برهمن).

Lyrical odes of Chandrabhān 'Barhaman'. Although Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1574) and M. Ivanow (IVASB No. 762) both pronounce his takhalluṣ as 'Brahman', yet the poet himself pronounces it, as a rule, in his Diwān as 'Barhaman'. Compare for example the following couplet:

مانند غنچه کرچه خموشیم برهن * لیکن پراز نواست چو بلبل زبان ما

The same pronunciation is met with in Ḥāfiẓ and Ghālīb.

Ḥāfiẓ says :

مزاج دهر تبه شد درین بلا حافظ * بجاست فکر حکیمی و رای برهنی

Ghālīb has :

صبحی که در هوای پرستاری^۱ و شن * جنبد کلید بتکده در دست برهن

Sometimes in the diwān we come across 'Barahman' also, e.g.,

زاعتقاد برهن اکر نشان خواهند * بجهه صندل و زنار درکلو کافیت

Chandrabhān was the son of a Brahmin of the Punjab called Dharamdās and was born at Lahore. After studying Persian etc. under Mullā 'Abdu'l-Karīm, he became Secretary to Mullā Shukru'llāh-e-Shīrāzī, entitled Afzalkhān, who later on became Wazīr-e-Kull in the first year of Shāh Jahān's reign. On the death of his master, he was appointed ^{واقعہ نویس} حضور, and his duties were to attend on the Emperor on his journeys and to record daily occurrences (واقع) at the court. In the 'Amal-e-Saleh', the official history of Shāh Jahān, he is included in the list of eminent poets and prose-writers of the reign. He was sent by Shāh Jahān on a mission to the king of Bijapur. The Prince Dārā Shukoh admired his simple style of prose and poetry. After the death of the prince, to whom he was attached, he retired to Benares and died there according to the Tazkira-e-Lodī in 1073/1662-63; but other writers place his death in 1068/1657-58.

Besides the Diwān, he wrote the following works also: رقصات, گلدستہ, تحفة الفصحا, تحفة الوزرا, مجمع الوزرا, کارنامه, برهن.

Begins :

ای برتر از تصور و وهم و کان ما * ای درمیان ما و برون از میان ما

These odes arranged in alphabetical order generally consist of five couplets only. After the diwān, comes a short maṣnawī beginning with :

خدای جرم بخشی بی نیازی * خداوندا کریم کار سازی

This is followed by rubā'īyyāt beginning, as usual, with :

مارا چو بحال خود شناسا کردی

Lyrical odes of a poet who uses 'Abd-e-Razzāq' as his takhalluṣ.

Begins: آمد آن ماه آفتاب لقا * یاسمین چهره و سہی بالا

These odes are arranged alphabetically. The peculiarity of this diwān is that only one ode ending in each of the letters of the radīf is given ; and every couplet ends in the same letter as that with which it begins, as is the case with the Diwān-e-Mahmūd o Ayāz. See MS. No. 108 below.

Edited by J. Hindley, London, 1809 ; edited and translated into French by De Sacy, 1819 ; translated into German by Nesselman. For a life and works of 'Aṭṭār, see Br Lit. Hist. Pers. and the authorities quoted in Vol. 24 above.

107. Nazm-e-Kāghaz (نظم کاغذ).

This poem is written by Luṭfu'llāh Khān Lutfi in praise of Paper. The word kāghaz is used as radīf in each couplet. The design of the poem appears to be one of stanzas, each consisting of five couplets and the maqta' containing the takhalluṣ, Lutfi. But this plan has not been strictly carried out. Defective rhymes are used in the stanzas. After 39 verses comes an ode with the word لذت used as radīf, and جهان, زمان, etc., as qāfiya. This ode also consists of five couplets and the maqta' contains the takhalluṣ, Lutfi.

Begins: برد تابم چو درفشان کاغذ * ثانیاً انتظار آب کاغذ

There is a copy of the poem in the Government Historical Museum at Satara.

The MS. under notice is not dated.

Size of page same as that of the preceding MS.; writ. sp. within jadwals, 3.5×2 . LL 9-11. Ind. Nast. Or. brownish pap. Pages mounted. Cond. good.

108. Diwān-e-Mahmūd (دیوان محمود).

A very common and popular diwān, also known as دیوان محمود for in the maqta' of each ghazal both the names of Mahmūd and Ayāz are used. Another peculiarity of the odes is that each couplet ends in the same letter of the alphabet as that with which it begins, like the diwān of 'Abdu'r-Razzāq noticed above.

Begins :

ای داغ بردل از غم خال تو لاله را * شرمندہ ساخت آہوی چشمت غزالہ را

Lithographed several times in India. This is an incomplete copy requiring three couplets at the end.

AKBAR-NĀMA (ا.کبر نامه).

An epic poem by Mawlawī Ḥamīdu’llāh Kashmīrī, who bore the takhalluṣ Ḥamīd (vide IVASB No. 889), celebrating the heroic deeds of Akbar Khān (son of Amīr Dost-Muḥammad Khān of Afghanistan, 1242–1280/1826–1863) who played a prominent part in the disastrous Afghan War of 1840–42. One night a friend of the author asked him to justify his claim that he was an original poet by versifying the heroic deeds of Akbar, the hero, the ‘Young lion,’ the ‘Breaker of Franks’ (f. 8):

بگو قصه رزم شیر جوان * فرنگی شکن اکبر پهلوان

Accordingly the author composed the above poem in about twelve months, in the year 1260/1844 (f. 8):

بمقدور دانش بصد اهتمام * ز غیرت یکسال کردم تمام
 چون این تیر فکرت برون شد ز شست * ز هجرت هزار و دو صد بود و شصت

It opens with an account of the hostilities of Shāh Shujā‘u’l-Mulk with Payenda Khān-e-Bārakzā‘ī. Shāh Shujā‘ goes to India, obtains help from the British, and invades Kabul and Qandahar, but is defeated by Amīr Dost-Muḥammad Khān. Ranjīt Singh sends Sardār Harī Singh, Ṣūbahdar of Peshawar, against Amīr Dost-Muḥammad Khān. A battle is fought between Harī Singh and Akbar Khān, the hero of the poem. Harī Singh is defeated and killed. The King of England feels sorry for the destruction of the British army and plans the conquest of Kabul. Arrival of Alexander Burns and his murder. Akbar Khān ascends the throne at Kabul. Murder of the 'War Lord' (i.e., Sir William Macnaghten). The British army assembles at Bālā Hīṣār and marches on Kabul. It perishes on account of the severe fall of snow. Political disturbances in Kabul. Dost-Muḥammad is released. His entry into Afghanistan and meeting with Akbar Khān. They return to Kabul, and Dost-Muḥammad Khān ascends the throne.

The first few pages are missing. The first couplet, with which this volume opens, is as follows :

سحابش محیط و جهان چون سحاب * بگردون علدار او آفتاب

BAḤRU'L-JAWĀHIR (بحر الجواهر).

An Arabic dictionary of medical terms by محمد ابن يوسف الطبيب محمد ابن يوسف (f. 1b), who says that he had compiled it from various works, but that during the political disturbances of Khorāsān, it "became as if it was naught", until he received an order from (f. 2b) ظهير الدوله والسعادت الدنيا والدين محمد المشتهر بامير بيك وزير (f. 2b) to arrange and improve it (بترتيبها وتهذيبها وتنقيحها), and he hastened to carry out the order. Here there is a clear indication of the patron's being a wazīr. The words المشتهر بامير بيك وزير are quite clear. The work is alphabetically arranged and gives the names of drugs and their properties, botanical and anatomical terms, names of diseases, and even short biographical notices of famous physicians like ابو سهل , ابو على ابن سينا , ابو نصر فارابي , ابو الفرج , and ارسطوطاليس . Some of the above terms are explained in Persian.

Lithographed in Calcutta, 1830, and later in Bombay also.

The MS. is not dated ; but at the end there is a date detached from the text, viz., 10th Sha'bān, 1119/26th October, 1707. The MS., therefore, cannot be of a later date.

QAṢĀ'ID-E-'URFĪ (قصائد عرفی).

These are the qaṣīdas, of Sayyed Muḥammad b. Zaynu'd-Dīn 'Alī b. Jamālu'd-Dīn-e-Shīrāzī with the takhalluṣ, 'Urḩī, who was born at Shīrāz about 963/1555, where his father was employed in the department of 'Urḩ, i.e., 'customary law', from which he is said to have derived his takhalluṣ. At an early age, he left Persia and came to the Deccan; whence he went north to Faṭhpūr Sīkrī, attached himself first to Fayḩī, then to Ḥakīm Abu'l-Faṭḩ-e-Gīlānī, and, on his death in 997/1588, to the celebrated Khān Khānān. The last, himself an accomplished scholar, appreciated the extraordinary poetical merit of 'Urḩī and introduced him to Akbar, who rewarded him richly. He died at Lahore in 999/1591, when he was only thirty-six years of age. Some years afterwards his bones were taken to Najaf and interred there according to his wish. His fame rests chiefly on his qaṣīdas, in which he has adopted a novel style. Amongst his other works are a diwān, a prose treatise entitled, رسالة, مخزن الاسرار, a poem مجمع الابدکار, in imitation of Nizāmī's مخزن الاسرار, and another poem فرهاد و شیرین, in imitation of Nizāmī's خسرو و شیرین. These maṣnawīs were published under the title of مثنویات عرفی by Muḥammad Ibrāhīm in Bombay, in 1346 1927-28.

For 'Urḩī's life and works, see شعر العجم, مآثر رحیمی, مرآة الخیال, سرآزاد, خزانة عامرہ, آنشکده. The following scholars have written commentaries on his qaṣīdas:

- (1) منیر . Probably ملا ابو البركات منیر (d. 1054/1644). See EU No. 108 and IvASB No. 366.
- (2) مرزا جان . His commentary, entitled مفتاح النکات, was completed in 1073/1662-63.
- (3) احمد بن عبد الرحيم صفی پوری . His sharḥ was published at Calcutta in 1306/1888-89.
- (4) طراز معنی . ملا قطب الدین فارغ . His commentary, called طراز معنی, completed in 1093/1682, was published by Munshi Navalkishore at Lucknow in 1885 A. D.
- (5) مولوی عبد المجید خان بیلی بهیتی . His sharḥ, written in Urdū and called عجیب و غریب, was published by Navalkishore at Cawnpore in 1307/1890.
- (6) نگار خانہ فیضی . راجو علوی . His commentary, entitled نگار خانہ فیضی, was completed in 1111/1699-1700 (see EU No. 108).
- (7-11) Five Turkish commentaries are noticed in Fluegel i, pp. 594-95.
- (12) A number of his qaṣīdas were translated into English, with critical and explanatory notes, by the late Professor Mawlawī Muḥammad ‘Abbās, M.A., of St. Xavier’s College, Bombay, and published in 1908.

He was a pupil of Jāmī and a personal friend of Mīr 'Alī Shēr and Badī'u'z-Zamān Mirzā, the eldest son of his patron Sultān Ḥusayn Mirzā. RĀMĀYAN (راماین).

An abridged metrical translation of the Rāmāyan, which is also known as the story of Rāma o Sītā by Shaykh Sa'du'llāh Kayrānawī of Pānipat, whose takhalluṣ was Masīḥ or Masīḥā. In the colophon remark it is مسیح. He is not to be confounded with Ḥakīm Ruknā Masīḥ of Kāshān, to whom the poem has been wrongly ascribed in EIO No. 1572 and in R p. 689. The author flourished in the reign of Jahāngīr, whom he has praised in the poem, ff. 9-10b. He has also sung the praises of his spiritual guide called here Shaykh Mīr Muḥammad Abu'l-Qāsim (f. 8), but in Ethé, Abu'l-Baqā. On ff. 12-14 occurs the praise of Hindostān. The poem is in imitation of Niẓāmī's Khusraw o Shīrīn and also of Amīr Khusraw's imitation of it. On 3b. he prays to Almighty God and says :

SARW-E-ĀZĀD (سرو آزاد).

This MS. represents a portion of the well-known biography of the Persian poets who flourished after 1000/1592 and who were either born in India or arrived here from other countries (including also short notices of the learned men of Bilgrām, and of a few Hindī poets) by the famous scholar and critic, Mīr Ghulām-'Alī Āzād of Bilgrām. After completing his great biographical dictionary of ancient and modern persian poets called Yad-e-Bayzā (compiled in 1145/1732, and revised in 1148/1735), Āzād thought of writing a book giving short notices of the learned men of Bilgrām. Accordingly he wrote it and divided it into two volumes. Vol. i is called مآثر الکرام فی تاریخ بلگرام and Vol. ii سرو آزاد. The latter comprises two fasls. Fasl i contains biographical notices of 143 Persian poets, who were either born in India or came here from other countries, including an account of the learned men and poets of Bilgrām. Fasl ii gives short biographies of eight Hindī or Bhāshā poets.

Of the 143 notices of Persian poets, our MS. contains only 39, 37 being complete and 2 incomplete. In this tazkira, the author gives a pretty long autobiographical account, which is wanting in our copy. The following particulars of his life are taken from it, as given in the edition published by 'Abdu'llāh Khān, Hyderabad (Deccan), 1913.

Āzād was a Ḥusaynī Sayyed, whose family originally came from Wāsiṭ. He was born on 25th Ṣafar, 1116/18th June, 1704, and was brought up at Bilgrām. He belonged to the Ḥanafiyya School and the Chishtiyya Order. He studied Persian and Arabic under his grandfather and other learned men of Bilgrām, went on a pilgrimage to Makka in 1150/1737-38, and, returning to India, settled at Aurangabad and attached himself to Nizāmu'd-Dawla Nāṣir Jang (son of Nizāmu'l-Mulk Āṣafjāh), whom he accompanied on his expeditions to various places in the Deccan, such as Seringapatam, Burhanpur, and Arcot. At the last place his patron was killed in a battle with the Afghans of the Karnatak, who were assisted by the French, in 1164/1750-51, after which Āzād returned to Aurangabad. He completed the taẓkira under notice in 1166/1753.

We learn from other sources that, after having led the life of a scholar and become well versed in the various branches of Islamic learning, he died at Aurangabad in 1200/1786. He was buried at Khuldābād near Daulatabad. He has written numerous books, of which the following are mentioned in the recently published Qāmūsul-A'lām of Shamsu'llāh Qādirī of Hyderabad :

Arabic :

1. الضوء الدرارى , a commentary on صحيح بخارى , from the beginning to the end of كتاب الزكوة .
2. تسلية الفوائد contains his Arabic qaṣīdas and notices of Arabic poets.
3. سبعة المرجان في آثار هندوستان , composed in 1177/1763-64 ; contains an account of India and her excellence, short notices of Indian 'ulamā and scholars, and a dissertation on Indian (Sanskrit) Rhetoric. This work was published at Bombay in 1299/1881-82.
4. شامة العنبر في ما ورد في الهند من سيد البشر deals with Adam's advent into (South) India after his departure from Paradise.
5. مظهر البركات , an Arabic maṣnawī in Persian style. A copy exists in the Āṣafiyya Library at Hyderabad.
6. ديوان contains more than 3,000 verses. Printed at Hyderabad (Dn.) in 1300/1882-83.

This is found on p. 150 of the printed edition mentioned above, i.e., in the notice of Mirzā 'Abdu'l-Qādir Bēdil. The poets noticed are the following: قبول, نصرت, آفتاب, آصف, امیرالامرا, سید, بیدل, افضل, زایر, امید, روحی, آفرین, رائج, ثابت, شهرت, یکتا, گلشن, گرامی, جرأت, عزلت, شاعر, دردمند, مظهر, آرزو, متین, حزین, اقدس, مخمور, غالب, واسطی, and میر, ضیا, عشق, شاهدهی, ضمیری, امداد, افتخار, ایجاد, رسا.

In order to form a critical estimate of the value of Āzād's tazkiras, especially the مآثر الکرام, it is desirable to read the شرائف عثمانی, another work dealing with the biographies of eminent Bilgrāmīs, compiled by Ghulām Ḥasan Siddīqī, another scholar of Bilgrām, who wrote it with the avowed object of correcting what he called the wrong statements made by Āzād. A somewhat defective copy of Siddīqī's work is noticed in IvASB No. 277. An ordinary poet of Bilgrām, Muḥammad Ṣādiq Sukhanwar by name, wrote a treatise entitled تحقيق السداد في مذلة الآزاد, in which he condemned Āzād's style and poetry. A friend of Āzād, 'Abdu'l-Qādir Samarqandī Dehlawī, wrote a reply to it called تأديب الزنديق في تكذيب الصديق, in which he defended him and answered the false accusations of Ṣādiq. QAṢĪDA-E-BURDA (قصيدة برده).

MANẒŪMA-E-BURDA (منظومة برده).

This is the celebrated Arabic poem, popularly known as the Burda ("Mantle") by شرف الدين ابو عبد الله محمد بن سعيد البوصري, who was born (in Abū Ṣīr, a village in Egypt, whence the name Būṣīrī) on 1st Shawwāl, 608/7th March, 1212, and who died some time between 674 and 697/1295-98. He was buried near the grave of Imām Shāfe'ī. He has composed a number of poems in praise of the Prophet, but the Burda is the most famous of all. Dr. Nicholson (Lit. Hist. Arabs, p. 327) observes : "It is said that he composed the Burda, while suffering from a stroke which paralysed one-half of his body. "After praying God to heal him, he began to recite the poem. "Presently he fell asleep and dreamed that he saw the Prophet,

“who touched his palsied side and threw his mantle (burda) over him. ‘Then’, said Al-Būṣīrī, ‘I awoke and found my“self able to rise’. However this may be, the Mantle Ode is “held in extraordinary veneration by Muhammadans. Its verses “are often learned by heart and inscribed in golden letters on “the walls of public buildings; and not only is the whole poem “regarded as a charm against evil, but some peculiar magical “power is supposed to reside in each verse separately.”

It is generally known as Qaṣīda-e-Burda, but its full title is القصيده الكواكب الدرية في مدح خير البرية البردة المبيحة. No other Arabic poem appears to have attained to such fame. “Over 90 commentaries have been written on “it in Arabic, Persian, Turkish, and Berber languages; the “takhmīs, the tathlith, and the *tashṭīr that have been made “from it are innumerable” (Encycl. of Islām). For the various commentaries see Kashf. Zūn. The original poem was published several times in Persia, India, and Europe. Amongst the European editions and translations may be mentioned the one by Uri published at Leyden in 1761, with a Latin translation. Rosenzweig’s ed. (Vienna, 1824) is accompanied by a German translation and notes. But the best edition is said to be that of Rolfs, Vienna, 1860, with a translation each into Persian, Turkish, and German. A French translation appeared in De Tassy’s Expos. De la Foi in Paris, 1822; and another by Basset in Paris, 1894. There is an English translation by Redhouse (in Clouston’s Arabic Poetry for English Readers, Glasgow, 1881). Another English translation, with the original text and notes, by Mullā Shaykh Fayṣu’llāhbhā’ī, B.A., late Headmaster of the Anjuman-e-Islām High School, Bombay, was printed in Bombay in 1893. Several Urdu translations have also been published in India. JMB p. 239, No. 1068, mentions a commentary entitled شرح البردة by قاضى شهاب الدين فاضل هندى. Another commentary called مولوى ذوالفقار على ديوبندى by عطر الوردة was published at Delhi in 1315/1897-98.

* tashṭīr is dropping half, i.e., three out of six feet of a verse of the metre رجز or مربع .

In this MS. the original Arabic text forms the principal part, and on the margin are two metrical renderings into Persian. Each page contains nine lines or hemistichs. The first, the fifth, and the ninth are in bold large naskh, with a turn of suls, while the rest are in smaller but elegant naskh. The central hemistich is written in red ink. The Arabic text is fully vocalised. On the margin there are two verse translations in Persian, one by the famous poet Jāmī and the other by Wazīrī. On the last page there is a remark in red ink, which runs as follows :

- * ای وزیری کشت این منظومه برده تمام *
- * با حقائق پر دقائق جمله با لفظ عجم *
- * سال تاریخش چو از پیر خرد کردم سوال *
- * گفت لفظ نظم شد تاریخ فی بیش و نه کم *

It follows, therefore, that this Wazīrī completed his verse translation in the year نظم, the numerical value of which is 990/1582-83.

Begins as usual :

- اَمِنْ تَذَكُّرٍ جِئْرَانٍ بِدَى سَلَمٍ * مَرَجْتَ دَمْعًا جَرَى مِنْ مُقَلَّةٍ بِدَمٍ
- * جامی : ای زیاد صحبت یارانت اندر ذی سلم *
- * اشك چشم آمیخته با خون روان کشته بهم *
- * وزیری : ای که کر [یه کردی] از همسایگان ذی سلم *
- * سیل اشك آمیختی در فرقت ایشان بدم *

The text is preceded by a versified Persian introduction beginning with :

- * هر که خواند این قصیده دائم از غم وا رهد *
- * هر چه از تو کم شود میخوان که آنرا وا دهد *

On p. 38, two round seals of سید علی خان مرید بادشاه عالمگیر.

A memorandum note bears the date last day of Jumādā I, 25th Julūs Year, i.e., about 1094/1683. It follows, therefore, that the MS. cannot be of a later date.

MAJMU'Ā (مجموعه).

124.' Soz o Gudāz (سوز و گداز).

The volume opens with the following lines:

خط باعث افزونی حسن رخ تست * مصحف بخط شکسته نایاب بود

Immediately after this begins the Soz o Gudāz (ff. 1-20b), a tragic maṣnawī by Mullā Razā, takhalluṣ Naw'ī, of Khabūshān near Mashhad, who came to India in the days of Akbar and was patronised by prince Dāniyāl and, on his death, by 'Abdu'r-Rahīm Khān Khānān, to whom he has dedicated his Sāqī-nāma. For this and for his qaṣīdas, he received a rich reward. He died at Burhanpur in 1019/1610-11. For his life, see Sarw-e-Azād and Ouseley's Notices.

This tragic poem was written by the order of prince Dāniyāl. It describes a historical incident, which took place in the days of Akbar. A beautiful young Hindu widow immolated herself on the burning pyre of her dead husband and became a Satī. The poem is printed at the end of the first volume of the Akbarnāma, Lucknow, 1284/1867-68. It has been translated into English and published by the late Dr. Kumār-Swāmī of Ceylon.

It covers ff. 133b-149b and begins with :

بعد ثانی صاحبقرانی * که سبزش باد باغ زندگانی

This poem describes how a lover spirited away his beloved from her grave, in which she had managed to get herself buried alive by her husband, when she feigned death. The fraud was exposed by a washer-woman, whose suspicions were aroused when she saw the woman in the house of her lover. She forthwith informed her husband of the fact, and he, on opening the grave, found, to his amazement, that there were no bones in it. He reported the matter to the king, who ordered the guilty pair to be arrested and killed. On f. 149 we find :

اگرچه بزمی این افسانه خام است * ز حال تو نموداری تمام است

The poet likens the wicked neighbour of the story (مسیایه بد) to عقل معاش (زن نا پارسا), the 'unchaste woman', and the 'deceiving old woman' (حیلہ گر زال) to زبان, and draws the conclusion :

128. Qiṣṣa-e-Hātim-e-Ṭā'ī (قصه حاتم طائی).

This is a story of the adventures of Hātim of the tribe of Ṭay related in Persian. Hātim is not a mythical, but a very historical personage of pre-Islamic times, the last half of VIc and beginning of the VIIc. It is said that "his mausoleum may still be seen at a little village in Yaman called Anward" (Edin No. 354). He was a knight and poet and a contemporary of عبید بن الابرص and نابغه. His ideal generosity and hospitality earned him the title of Jawād. His diwān contains verses mostly in praise of generosity and unselfishness. He was glorified in Arabic literature, but in Persian (and through Persian literature in Muslim India) he is the hero of a very popular romance, which is partly represented by this MS. The text of the Qiṣṣa was edited by G. J. Atkinson, Calc., 1818. It was translated into English by Forbes, Lond., 1830. The Persian as well as its Urdu version, the Ārāish-e-Mahfil by Ḥaydarī, have been published several times in India.

This is a portion of the Ārāish-e-Mahfil, which is an Urdu translation by Mīr Shēr 'Alī Afsōs of Munshī Sujān Rāi's Persian history of Hindustān entitled خلاصه التواريخ. The author is mis-named Sanjān (by Morley and Sprenger) and Subhān (by Elliot and Lees.) The التواريخ خلاصه contains an introductory account of the Hindu traditions, creeds, and castes, a description of the Sūbas of Hindustān, and a History of India from the earliest times to the accession of Awrangzeb. It was completed in the 40th year of the reign of the Emperor corresponding to 1107/1695-96. Its contents have been fully stated by Morley, p. 69, and by Elliot, Hist. of Ind., vol. viii, pp. 5-12. Compare N. Lees, JRAS, New Series, vol. iii, p. 423, and R p. 230.

Mīr Shēr 'Alī Afsōs, a descendant of Imām Ja'far-e-Ṣādiq, was born at Delhi. After receiving a good education he entered the service of Nawwāb Mīr Ja'far of Patna. After the latter's deposition he went to Lucknow and thence to Calcutta, where he was appointed Head Munshī in the Hindustani Department of the College of Fort William. When he had completed his Hindustani translation of Sa'dis Gulistān and revised Sawdā's Kullīyyāt etc., he was asked by Mr. Harrington to translate into Urdu the abovementioned Khulāṣatu't-Tawārīkh. He completed the translation of its first part, as far as the history of the Hindu kings only, in 1805. He did not live to finish the translation of the second part. According to Beale (Oriental Biogr. Dict.), he died in 1806; but, according to Dr. Sprenger (Cat. p. 198), in 1809. The Ārāish-e-Mahfil was printed several times in India at Calcutta, in 1808, 1848, and 1868; at Lahore in 1867; and at Lucknow in 1870. It was translated by Major H. Court and pulished at Allahabad in 1871, and again at Calcutta in 1882. See Blumhardt, Cata. Hindust. MSS. Ind. Office, No. 39, and Encycl. of Islām. The MS. opens with an account of the Sūbas of شامجھان آباد, آگرہ, الہ آباد, ملتان, نہنہ, گجرات, اجیر, مالوا, خاندیس, برار, اورنگ آباد, بنگالہ, بہار, کابل, کشمیر, لاہور, etc.

Begins: یہ انتخاب کیا گیا ہے کتاب آرایش محفل میں سے

This is followed by a short masnawī in Urdu entitled تنبیہ الجہال by Taqī, and by another poem composed by Sawdā, as a satire on Mirzā Fākhīr. For particulars of the life of Taqī and Sawdā see Āb-e-Hayāt and Saksenā's History of Urdu Literature.

HĀSHIYA-E-'ABDU'L-'ALĪ (حاشية عبد العلي).

The full title is :

حاشية على حاشية الزاهدية المتعلقة بشرح المواقف

A very popular Arabic work on metaphysics, consisting of Hāshiya ("glosses") by 'Abdu'l-'Alī Baḥru'l-'Ulūm on the Hāshiya written by Mīr Zāhid on Jurjānī's Sharḥ or "commentary" on the Mawāqif composed by 'Azudu'd-Dīn-al-Ījī, who was a contemporary of Ḥāfiẓ and who died in 756/1355.

'Azudu'd-Dīn (called Ījī after Īj, a place in Fārs between Dārābjird and Nayrīz, where he was born), was a Shāfe'ī Lawyer, a Qāḍī, and a Theologian. He wrote a number of books on philosophical, ethical, and religious subjects, but the most celebrated of them all is the Mawāqif (المواقف في علم الكلام) "Stations", a theological and philosophical work.

A number of commentaries and super-commentaries written on it have been noticed in the Kashf. Zun. Of all such commentaries the most famous is the one by Sayyed Sharif of Jurjān, about whom see Vol. 40 above. He completed it in 807/1404-05, and dedicated it to Sulṭān Ghiyāsu'd-Dīn Pīr Muḥammad, grandson of Tīmūr.

Mīr Muḥammad Zāhid had acquired great fame on account of his writings on logic, theology, and other subjects, in the reign of Shāh Jahān (1037-69/1628-59). This monarch appreciated his merit and appointed him Inspector of Weights and Measures to the Army and afterwards Official News-writer to the Government in Kabul. After Shāh Jahān's death, Awrangzeb conferred on him a respectable post in Kabul, where he finally settled. He has dedicated his ḥāsiyya on Jurjānī's commentary to Awrangzeb (1069-1118/1659-1707).

'Abdu'l-'Alī Muḥammad b. Niẓāmu'd-Dīn, commonly called Baḥrū'l 'Ulām, is famous throughout India on account of his learned works, in Arabic and Persian, on logic, theology, jurisprudence, sufism, etc. He was born at Lucknow, where he studied under his father and other 'Ulamā. When he had completed his studies, he was appointed Principal of the State Madrasa at Rampur and afterwards of the Buhār Madrasa in Buhār. He served there for some years and then went to Madras, where he continued to teach till his death in 1225/1810.

The author's name appears on folio 2b as follows :

WĪSA WA RĀMĪN (ویسه و رامین).

The celebrated romantic Persian poem, based on the original Pahlawī and describing the love adventures of Wīs or Wīsa and Rāmīn, by Fakhru'd-Dīn As'ad of Jurjān, who died about 447/1055. The poet composed it at Iṣfahān about 440/1048-49, at the request of 'Amīdu'd-Dīn Abu'l Faṭḥ-e-Nīshāpūrī, who governed it for Sultān Ṭughril, the founder of the Saljūqid empire. This poem has considerably influenced the compilation of the Khusraw o Shīrīn of Nizāmī, as regards both the style and the metre. See Bahāristān-e-Jāmī and Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., ii, pp. 274-275. Complete copies of the poem are rare. Our copy is also defective. It opens with the following couplet :

* بشب کویم نمانم زنده تا بام *
 * چو بام آید ندارم طبع (in the printed ed. طبع) تا شام *

which occurs on page 80 of the edition printed (from a defective copy) in the Bibl. Indica, 1865. The MS. ends with the following verse :

ز کردون اختران نظاره بودند * که حصنش برمه و استاره بودند which is given on page 403 of the abovementioned printed edition. This latter comes to an end after eight pages only.

The Royal Asiatic Society of London published in 1914 an English translation by Oliver Wardrop of the Georgian Version of this romance of ancient Persia, under the title of Visramiani, the story of the Loves of Vis and Ramin, Oriental Translation Fund, New Series, Vol. XXIII. The translator observes in the Preface: "The picture it gives of the life, manners, and morals of a remote age is invaluable. It is a presentment of the attitude of the time towards the most fascinating of all social relations. Of its moral tone the reader will be able to judge. The perjury, treachery, cowardice, and roguery of the chief characters are mercilessly set forth. The author sometimes shows his contempt for them; he perpetually poses as an ethical teacher; but he is evidently fond of Vis and Ramin, and will not have them blamed, for they are the slaves of relentless Fate in its most forceful form. The modern reader will probably find them less immoral than Tristan and Isolde. The survival of the tale in Persian literature is due to a poetical version of great excellence, the text of which was published at Calcutta in 1864-65 under the title Wis o Ramin: An Ancient Persian Poem by Fakhr al-Din, As'ad al-Astarabadi, al-Fakhri al-Gurgani, Edited by Captain W. Nassen Lees, LL.D., and Munshi Ahmed Ali (in Bibl. Ind., New Series, No. 53). Of this poem a long account was given by K. H. Graf in vol. xxiii., Zeitschrift d. Deutschen Morgenl. Gesellschaft, Leipzig, 1869 (pp. 375-433) ...Not only has the book a value as literature of high quality and as an undoubted antique, but there is reason to believe that it may have had a good deal to do with that development of European romanticism which finds utterance in the songs of the Minnesinger, the lays of the Troubadours, and the letters of Heloïsa. In N. Ethé's Essays und Studien, Berlin, 1872 (pp. 295-301), a comparison is drawn between Vis and Ramin and Gottfried von Strassburg's Tristan und Isolt. Reference may also be made to the monograph published in Moscow, in 1896, by Baron R. R. Stackelberg."

JAWĀHIR-E-KHAMSA (جواهر خمسہ).

Also called Awṛād-e-Ghawṣiyya. This is a Persian version of a remarkable work said to be originally written in Arabic by Muḥammad b. Khaṭīru'd-Dīn (whose full name appears on folio 2 as محمد بن خطیرالدین بن بایزید ابن خواجه فرید عطار), popularly known as Shaykh Muḥammad Ghawṣ of Gwalior. He was a descendant of Khwāja Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār and is considered as one of the greatest saints of India. He practised asceticism for thirteen years in a jungle at the foot of the Chunār hills. Thence he went to Gwalior and began to lead people to the path of God. He died in 970/1582 and was buried at Gwalior. He says in the preface that he was directed to see شیخ ظہور حاجی حصرور (clearly written here as Ḥaṣūr, but in EIO and Loth as Ḥuṣūr), from whom he received his spiritual training. The following particulars are also given by him in the preface. He spent over thirteen years in retirement on a certain mountain. At the end of that period, when he met his spiritual guide, he showed him the book in which he had recorded his spiritual experiences. It was much appreciated by him. Afterwards when he went to Gujarat, some persons derived much benefit from it. He was 50 years of age when he wrote the book in 956/1549. He has divided it into five jawhars as follows:

جوہر اول در عبادت عابدان و طریق آن

” دوم در زہد زاهدان ” ” ”

جوهر سوم در دعوت داعیان و طریق آن
 ” چهارم در اذکار و اشغال عارفان مشرب شطار و طریق آن
 ” پنجم در ورثه الحق عمل محققان و طریق آن

The third jawhar is the chief part of the work. It has been largely drawn upon by Herkelots in the compilation of the twenty-ninth chapter of the Qānoon-e-Islām. The fourth jawhar deals with the spiritual exercises and practices of the Shaṭṭāriyya order of Sufis, to which the author himself belonged.

The original Arabic is noticed in Kāshf. Zūn., and described at length in Loth on page 185. See also Ram p. 334. An Urdu translation by Mirzā Muḥammad Beg Dehlawī was published in Delhi at the Muḥtabā'ī Press in 1348/1929-30.

152. Intikḥāb az Dīwān-e-Sālik-e-Yazdī (انتخاب از دیوان سالک یزدی).

"Selections" from the lyrical odes of Sālik of Yazd. There were two Sāliks, contemporaries of each other, who flourished in the reign of Shāh Jahān. One of them belonged to Yazd and the other to Qazwīn. These selections are from the dīwān of the former, for on folio 2 we find :

تازرد بکردد رخت ای سالک یزدی * بشکن بترشروئی صفرای هوس را

This Sālik, after staying at Shīrāz and Iṣfahān, came to the Deccan and entered the service of Quṭbshāh of Hyderabad (Deccan). After some time he went to Shahjahanabad, where, through the intercession of his fellow-townsmen, Shafī'ā-e-Yazdī, he was presented at the Court of Shāh Jahān in 1066/1655-56. He died according to Sprenger (page 554) in 1081/1670-71. See Sarw-e-Āzād and Sprenger, page 554. Copies of his dīwān are rare.

MŪNISU'L-AḤBĀB (مونس الاحباب).

Consists of rubā'īyyāt or "quatrains" to be quoted in correspondence and letter-writing, composed by one 'Abdu'llāh. His name occurs in line 8 of the short prose preface in which he says that he wrote it by the order of the King, who is here called السلطان بن السلطان بن الخاقان بن الخاقان بن الخاقان, and whose name is not mentioned, but only a small space has been left blank apparently for the purpose of writing it. However, some light is thrown on it by the following line:

کینخسرو روزگار شاه این (ابن حسین)

The author is, no doubt, خواجه شهاب الدین عبد الله بن محمد مروارید, a native of Kirmān, who was raised to the rank of Amīr by Sultān Ḥusayn Mirzā of Khorāsān and entrusted with the royal signet after the death of میر علی شیر. He was an excellent poet, who used Bayānī as his takhalluṣ, wrote, besides a dīwān, a maṣnawī called خسرو و شیرین, and died in 922/1516. See R iii p. 1094; Edin No. 331; and Tazkīra-e-Dawlatshāhī.

MAJMU'A-E-MĪRZĀ (مجموعه میرزا مهدیخان).
MAHDĪ KHĀN

It is also called جدول پادشاهان تیموری ("Chronological tables of the Indian Timurides"). Although it is stated in the introductory note that the tables begin with Tīmūr and end with Shāh 'Ālam (1119-1124/1707-1742), yet, as a matter of fact, they are brought even up to 1258/1842-43. They give the following particulars of these kings: their names (with those of their fathers and mothers), kunyats, alqābs, dates of birth, julas years, their ages, conquests, names of their children, causes of their death, etc. The name of the author is given as follows :

ابو المفاخر نظام الدین محمد هادی الحسینی الصفوی الملقب (به) شاه
میرزا و المخاطب بمیرزا مهدیخان صفوی

The author, according to Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 412), is the same as the famous historian of Nādir Shāh, the author of the درة نادری, جہانکشای نادری, ضیاء العیون (see IvS I No. 911). For his life etc., see Rieu i, p. 192.

Begins: سپاس بقیاس سزاوار مالک الملک

A few lines below, it is stated that:

این جدولست متضمن متحمل از احوال دولت دستمال سلطنت مال
حضرت صاحبقران امیر تیمور کورکان..... تا زمان..... پادشاه عالیجاه
محفوف رحمة الله ابو نصر سید قطب الدین محمد معظم شاه عالم بهادر

The date of completion, as given towards the end, is 1142/1729-30; the chronogram مجموعه میرزا مهدیخان, written in red ink, also gives the same year :

تاریخ اتمام این ارقام که رقمده کلک تسیره فام احقر زمانست
مجموعه میرزا مهدیخان سنه ۱۱۴۲ هجری

It is quite probable that the tables were brought up to the above date. But the actual list beginning with Tīmūr comes down to معین الدین محمد اکبر بادشاه, whose "recent accession to the throne in 1258/1842" is mentioned. The latter entry has, it is evident, been inserted by a later scribe. It is not found in the copy noticed in IvASB No. 167 (where it is called Jadwal-i-Pādshāhān-i-Tīmūrī).

This last entry is followed, on the opposite page, by only a list of the names of rulers belonging to the House of Tīmūr and ending with Mu'īnu'd-Dīn Muḥammad Akbar Bādshāh, who is spoken of as 'adorning the throne at present', i.e., in 1263/1847. This is the year in which the MS. was copied.

This list is followed by another containing the titles by which seven of these rulers are mentioned in history after their death. They are as follows :

Bābur is referred to as	فردوس مکانی
Humāyūn	„	„	جنت آشیانی
Akbar	„	„	عرش آشیانی
Jahāngīr	„	„	جنت مکانی
Shāh Jahān	„	„	فردوس آشیانی
Awrangzeb	„	„	خلد منزل
Bahādur Shāh	„	„	خلد مکان

After these titles are given, on the next and last page, the dates of the death of notabilities amongst the author's contemporaries. The first entry is about the death of عابد خان مخاطب به نلیج خان, the ruler of Hyderabad. The date of his death is not clear.

Then the names of rulers of the Nizām Shāhī dynasty are mentioned. The last name is that of Ṣalābat Khān, who died 998/1589-90. This is followed by the dates of the foundation of Ahmednagar, Kotla, and some buildings of Hyderabad. The last item refers to Tipū Sulṭān.

BAYĀẒ-E-SANAWĀT (بیاض سنوات).

A mere note-book, which opens with the following words :

خلاصہ سنہ ہجرت آنست

After explaining what is meant by the Hijrī, the Faṣlī, and the Julūs years, it gives a list of 18 kings, beginning with Tīmūr and ending with Akbar II. It also gives, against the name of each of the kings, the number of years of his reign in the first column, the Hijrī year in the second, and the corresponding Faṣlī year in the third. This list is followed by another, a more detailed one, consisting of four columns, which gives for every Julūs year mentioned in the second column the corresponding Christian year in the first column, the Faṣlī year in the third, and the Hijrī year in the fourth.

The last entry is that of the 39th Julūs year of Akbar II and the years of the other eras corresponding to it are given as follows : 1854 A.C., 1263, A.F., and 1270 A.H.

This is followed by another short list, that of the Bahārī Nizām Shāhs (of Ahmednagar), beginning with Aḥmad Nizām Shāh and ending with Bahādur Nizām Shāh. As in the first list of the Mughal kings mentioned above, so also in this list are given, against the name of each of these rulers, the total number of years of his or her reign in the first column, the Faṣlī year of the commencement of the reign in the second, and the corresponding Hijrī year in the third. This short list is followed by another in greater detail, consisting of four columns and giving particulars similar to those in the second, namely, the detailed list of the abovementioned Mughal kings. The last entry is the third regnal year of Chānd Sulṭān[a] and Bahādur Nizām Shāh, with the corresponding years of other eras, viz., 1604 A.C., 1003 A.F., and 1007 A.H.

All these tables occupy the right half of the page, the left half having been left blank, apparently for the purpose of writing the principal events of the year.

All these dates are wrong; nor are the years corresponding to them correctly calculated.

After these lists comes a statement about the mode of measuring the different kinds of gaz or yard followed by a table of numerals, with their names in Arabic and the numerical symbols used in Siyāq.

TA'DĀD-E-SILSILA-E-AFGHĀNĀN (تعداد سلسله افغانان).

Deals with genealogies of the Afghan tribes. The MS. is so called after the words with which it opens:

It is the VIth Chapter of the تاریخ خانیجانی مخزن افغانی. On folio 9 it is stated:

The Ta'rikh-e-Khān Jahānī is a further abridgement of Ni'matullāh's History of the Afghans, which is divided into a muqaddama, seven bābs, and a khātima. Our MS. represents the sixth bāb. See EIO No. 576 and Bk 529.

The author served Jahāngīr as a waqāe'-nawīs for eleven years, and then entered the service of Khān Jahān Lodī (the military commander of Jahāngīr), whom he accompanied on his Deccan campaign. At Malakāpūr (in Berar), at the request of a friend, he commenced the work in 1020/1611 and completed it at Burhanpur on 10th Z. Hija, 1021/22nd January, 1613. It was dedicated to Khān Jahān. Cf. Elliott, Hist. of Ind., v 67; Dorn, Hist. of the Afghans.

He has also written a special glossary of difficult words occurring in the Maṣnawī entitled لطائف اللغات . This latter was dedicated to the Emperor Shāh Jahān. It explains difficult Persian verses and Arabic quotations from the Qur'ān, the Traditions, etc.

SHARḤ-E-WIQĀYA (شرح وقایه).

There are a great many Arabic works on Muslim Law of the Ḥanafite school. One of the well-known of them is بدایة المبتدی, which is an introduction to the study of the Ḥanafite Law by Shaykh Burhānu'd-Dīn 'Alī-e-Marghīnānī (died in 593/1197). He has himself written on it a commentary called هدایه فی الفروع, which has been much appreciated, and a number of commentaries have been written on it (for which see Kashf. Zun.). To enable the law student to study and understand the هدایه well, Imām Burhānush-Sharī'a Maḥmūd b. 'Ubaydu'llāh wrote his وقایه الروایه or وقایه. A commentary on it (شرح وقایه) was written by 'Ubaydu'llāh b. Mas'ūd (died in 745/1344-45). This شرح وقایه has become extremely popular, on account of its perspicuous explanation, and has been used as a textbook in Indian Madrasas in preference even to the هدایه itself.

Our MS. represents a Persian translation and paraphrase of this Arabic شرح وقایه, made by one whose name is clearly written on folio 1b as عبدالحق سبجاول (in other copies سجاد or سجادل) of Sarhind. He composed the work, by the blessings of his spiritual guide Shaykh Muḥammad Ma'sūm, in 1076/1665-66 and dedicated it to the Emperor Awrangzeb. It is divided into a number of bābs. A list of the 334 bābs is given in this copy, on the three folios preceding the folio numbered 1. This شرح وقایه (Pers. Vers.) was published in Bombay, 1278/1861-62, and in Delhi, 1283/1866-67. An Urdu translation of it by Waḥīdu'z-Zamān, under the title of نور الهدایه, was published at Cawnpore, 1325/1907-08.

BUSTĀNU'L-'ĀRIFĪN (بستان العارفين).

An Arabic work on meditation and moral precepts, based on the Qur'ān, the Ḥadīṣ, and other works dealing with religion, law, theology, sufiism, etc., by Abu'l-Lays Naṣr b. Muḥammad b. Ibrāhīm as-Samarqandī, a famous Ḥanafite jurist and traditionist, whom Huart (Hist. of Ar. Lit.) calls "a most prolific polygraph". Brockelmann, Vol. i, p. 196, enumerates eleven works of his. He was born in 290/902-03. The date of his death is variously recorded. It varies between 373/983-84 and 393/1002-03. On folio 1a, two titles are mentioned: one of them, تنبيه الغافلين, is in a bolder and the other, كتاب بستان, in a smaller hand. The MS. is called Tambīhu'l-Ghāfilīn, evidently after the former, but the title is misleading. As a matter of fact, it is the other work, viz., Bustānu'l-'Ārifīn. These are two different works of one and the same author.

According to Kashf. Zun., it consisted of 150 bābs; the copy in Bk xiii No. 821, comprises 162 bābs; the Egyptian ed. of 1339/1920-21 has 159 and our MS. 157. A full list of these bābs is given on fols. 1a-3a.

It is chiefly based on the Rawḍatu'sh-Shuhadā of Kāshifī (died 910/1505). The name of the author is not given.

DĪWĀN-E-HINDŪ (دیوان ہندو).

A rare copy of the qaṣīdas, ghazals, and rubā'īyyāt of a poet whose takhalluṣ was Hindū and about whom Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 1559) says: "no biographical notices of this poet "can be found in the tadhkiras." He further observes that the poet "is probably identical with the author of an epic poem, "لیلی و مجنون", composed in Shāh Jahān's reign, before 1055/1645-46, and described in Bodleian Cat. No. 1101. He seems also to "have written a mathnawī, خسرو و شیرین, see ib." In the Bodleian Cat. (No. 1101) it is stated that he "lived in Shāh Jahān's "reign. In the introduction (to the لیلی و مجنون) he praises Bābar, "Humāyūn, Jahāngīr, Shāhjahān, and his three sons—the Prin- "ces Dārā Shukūh, Shujā', and Aurangzīb."

From this MS., especially from the qaṣīdas (not found in the copy of the India Office), it is evident that the poet lived in the reign of Awrangzeb also. He refers to the 'martyrdom' of Shaykh Mīr, one of the best generals of 'Ālamgīr, who was killed in the battle between the Emperor and Dārā at Ajmer, on Sunday, the 29th Jumādā II, 1069/13th March, 1659, and was buried by the orders of 'Ālamgīr close to the tomb of Khwāja Mu'īnu'd-Dīn Chishtī. The poet has composed the following chronogram:

* جستش سال شهادت از خرد آمد ندا *
 * اولیای روضه کشت و عاقبت رضوان بود *

The MS. opens with qaṣīdas, which begin with:

کی دل آسوده شود کر همه تن جان گردد * تا نه در کرد سر زلف پریشان گردد

He praises the Emperor Awrangzeb in the following line :

❖ زیب اورنگ و خلافت زینت فرهنگ و فر ❖
❖ چون سلیمان و سکندر بادشاه بحرو بر ❖

In another qaṣīda he refers to the advent of Islām Khān (Wazīr of Shāh Jahān, appointed Governor of the Deccan, where he died on 14th Shawwāl, 1057/2nd November, 1647) in the following lines :

بکشور دکن آمد بعظمت جبروت ❖ امیر صف شکن اسلام خان متین دستور
رسید سم سمندش چو در زمین دکن ❖ زدند فال طرب ساکنان بیجا پور
به پیش ثانی صاحبقران سپه سالار ❖ میان محفل ارباب قرب صدر صدور

In another qaṣīda he refers to the defeat inflicted by Mīr Jumla, Mu'azzam Khān Khān Khānān, the general of Awrangzeb, on Shujā' in Bengal :

❖ زد چنان آن سرنکون را برب دریای کنک ❖
❖ چون در آب نیل فرعون را ید یضا زده ❖
❖ شد جوان از سر معظم خان ازین فتح عظیم ❖
❖ از کل رعناش دیدم طره زیبا زده ❖

After the qaṣīdas there is a maghawī in praise of Prince Awrangzeb, beginning :

محمد آنکه سلطان جهان است ❖ ز آغاز جوانی پهلوان است
چنین پورشه بافر و فرهنگ ❖ سزاوار خلافت زیب اورنگ

The ghazals begin with :

❖ مست می در دست مست (شب) از در درآمد پیر ما ❖
❖ دست گیر میکشان بخشنده تقصیر ما ❖

This is a parallel to the famous matla' of Hāfiẓ :

دوش از مسجد سوی میخانه آمد پیر ما ❖ چیست یاران طریقت بعد ازین تدیر ما

Towards the end there are a few rubā'īyyāt, beginning with:

ای دل اکرت مرک بخاطر باشد * در راه ازل چشم تو ناظر باشد

KULLIYYĀT-E-ANWARĪ. (کلیات انوری).

Poetical works, principally qaṣīdas, of the famous Persian poet Awḥadu'd-Dīn 'Alī Anwarī, generally regarded as the greatest qaṣīda-writer of Persia. Born at Mahna, in the district of Khāwarān (from which he had originally taken his takhalluṣ, Khāwarī, but which he subsequently changed to Anwarī). He was educated in the Maṣṣūriyya College at Tūs, where he studied the various branches of classical learning, especially astrology. He is said to have written several works on astrology, one of which is known as منید. He had attached himself to the court of Sultān Sanjar (died 552/1154), in praise of whom most of his qaṣīdas are written. The famous prediction regarding the historic conjunction of the seven planets in the sign of the Libra, which took place in 581/1185, proving a failure, he was subjected to great ridicule and humiliation, on account of which he had to go to Nīshāpūr and then to Balkh, where he died, according to the best authorities, in 585 or 587/1189-91. For his life and works see Br., Lit. Hist. Pers. Vol. ii; Shibli's She'ru'l-'Ajam; Zhukovski's monograph in Russian on his life and poetry, St. Petersburg, 1883; Ferte, Journal Asiatique, 1895; Encycl. of Islām I; R p. 554; Bk No. 25; Tazkira of Dawlatshāh; Ātashkada; Khizana-e-'Amera, etc.

The "fullest and best critical monograph on Anwarī"* is that of Professor V. Zhukovski written in Russian and published in St. Petersburg in 1883. It has been considerably utilized by Professor Browne in his Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. ii, pp. 368-391. "The third chapter of Zhukovski's book", says Professor Browne, "discusses the difficulty of Anwarī's verse and the aids for its comprehension, especially two commentaries thereon by Muḥammad b. Dá'ūd-i-'Alawī of Shādābād† (who also commented "Khāqānī's poems), and Abu'l-Ḥasan Farāhānī, who flourished "in the latter part of the seventeenth century. Of the latter, "who used oral as well as written sources (whereof sixty-eight "different works are enumerated), Zhukovski expresses a very "high opinion."‡

The MS. consists of qasīdas, ghazals, and muqatta'āt. They are not arranged alphabetically. A few pages at the beginning and at the end are missing. Begins with the following couplet :

جز او ب صنع که آرد چو عیسی از مریم * جز او بلطف که سازد چو موسی ز علق

This verse occurs on p. 239 of the lithographed Nawalki-shore ed. of 1898.

TUHFATU'L-'IRĀQAYN (تحفة العراقين).

A well-known Persian poem by افضل الدين بديل ابراهيم بن على نجار. His proper name, according to several tagkira-writers, was Ibrāhīm, while according to others, 'Uṣmān. But he himself says that he was named Badil (بديل) by his father :

بدل من آدمم اندر جهان سنائی را * ازین سبب پدرم نام من بديل نهاد

In this poem he tells us that his father was a carpenter, his mother a Nestorian Christian converted to Islām and a cook by profession, his grandfather a weaver, and his uncle a medical practitioner. He was born in 500 (1106-07) at Ganja, modern Elizavetpol. He further tells us that he lost his father when he was still a child and that therefore he was brought up and educated by his uncle, who taught him (often with the aid of the cane) Arabic, Metaphysics, Medicine, and Astronomy. In the poetic art his teacher was Abu'l-'Alā of Ganja, who gave him his daughter in marriage. The father-in-law, who held the post of poet-laureate at the Court of Shīrwān, further favoured his son-in-law by introducing him to the King and asking him to adopt the takhalluṣ of Khāqānī in honour of the reigning King, Khāqān-e-Kabīr Minūchehr. Afterwards the two poets became jealous of each other and, falling out, wrote bitter satires against each other. After the Khāqān's death, his son Akhtisān (died in 584/1188) patronized the poet, who wrote brilliant panegyrics in praise of him. In the Tuhfa he describes the pilgrimage he made from Shīrwān to Makka and Madina and his return journey, with special reference to the two 'Irāqs, the 'Irāq-e-'Ajam and the 'Irāq-e-'Arab, through which he passed. This poem also provides a good deal of material for his biography. On his return from the pilgrimage, he was imprisoned for about seven months and then released. He died at Tabriz, according to the best authorities, in 595/1198. For his life and works see Khanykov, Journal Asiatique, 1864 and 1865; Br. Lit. Hist. Pers. Vol. ii; She'ru'l-'Ajam; Khizāna-e-'Āmera; Bk No. 32; and R p. 679. Two commentaries on the poem exist in the Punjab Univ. Libr. as stated in the Oriental Coll. Mg. for Febr., 1927.

Lithographed several times in India and Persia. After the heading at the beginning of the poem, there is a small oval seal with the letters ح س ن and the date 1210 (?). The same seal, but effaced, is repeated at the end of the book.

This is the celebrated commentary in Arabic by Mīrak on the Ḥikmatu'l-'Ayn ("Philosophy of Essence") of Najmu'd-Dīn 'Alī b. 'Umar al-Qazwīnī (died 675/1276), a well-known treatise on Metaphysics and Physics. The commentator, Shams-u'd-Dīn Muḥammad b. Mubārak Shāh-e-Bukhārī, commonly called Mīrak, flourished in the VIIIc/XIVc. He says that he has included in the work the entire glosses on the text by Quṭbu'd-Dīn-e-Shīrāzī (died in 710/1310).

Begins : اما بعد حمد الله فاطر ذوات العقول النورية

As stated in Loth No. 498, the commentary is divided into two parts. Part I (في العلم الالهي) consists of four maqālas, viz., (1) في احكام الجواهر و الاعراض (3) في العلل و العلولات (2), (2) في الامور العامة (1), and (4) في اثبات واجب الوجود. HADĪQA-E-SANĀ'Ī (حدیقه سنائی).

The famous sufico-ethical poem of the great Sufi. poet, Ḥakīm Sanā'ī of Ghaznī, whose full name is ابوالمجد مجدود بن آدم السنائی. He is highly spoken of by Rūmī. He flourished in the reign of Sulṭān Bahrām Shāh (511-547/1118-52) of Ghaznī, to whom the poem is dedicated. For his life and works, see Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. ii; Shibli's She'ru'l-'Ajam, Tazkiras of Dawlatshāh, Āzar, and others; R pp. 549-550; Bk No. 17.

Begins (on folio 1b):

زهی با حشمت شاهی کدائی * کدایان درت در بادشاهی

After this it seems that a few folios are missing. Fol. 2 opens with the following words: یای معروف را از قبیل شیر بمعنی لبن.

On fol. 7, the prose-preface of Khwāja 'Abdu'l-Latīf comes to an end, with the chronogram of its date, دیباجة حدائق فیض, below which the date 1038/1628-29 is written, although the abjad-value of the expression comes to 1039/1629-30. A detailed list of the contents of the poem is given on folios 7b-12b, which is followed by a versified list of the contents. On folios 13-13b is found a prefatory paragraph by 'Abdu'l-Latīf 'Abbāsī, referring to his correct edition of the dībācha of the poem by Sanā'ī. Folios 13b-23 contain a copy of the preface written by the poet himself. Folios 23-29 are devoted to شرح ابیات and the dedication to the Emperor Shāh Jahān, including the ta'rikh of completion, viz., 1042/1632-33, composed by Ilāhī.

The poem itself begins on folio 29, as usual, with the following words:

ای درون پرور برون آرای * وی خرد بخش بی خرد بخشای

The text is accompanied by copious marginal notes and interlinear glosses in a very small hand, followed by a glossory of difficult words explained in Persian.

It was lithographed several times in India. The first bāb was edited and translated by Stephenson, Bibl. Ind., 1911.

MUTAWWAL (مطول).

A highly esteemed work in Arabic on Rhetoric, by the famous scholar Sa'du'd-Dīn Mas'ūd b. 'Umar-e-Taftāzānī. It is in the nature of an explanatory commentary on the تلخيص المفتاح of Muḥammad b. 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Khaṭīb-e-Dimīshqī-e-Qazwīnī, which itself is a short commentary on Sakkākī's مفتاح العلوم. It is commonly called مطول, sometimes الشرح المطول, and occasionally شرح التلخيص المطول.

Sirāju'd-Dīn Abū-Bakr Yūsuf al-Khwārazmī was surnamed Sakkākī (1160-1129 A.D.), because he originally used to work in metals and to engrave dies and make intricate locks. His مفتاح العلوم was the most comprehensive work on rhetoric written up to his time. It was soon superseded by an abridgement and commentary on the third part of it by the خطيب دمشق (died in 739/1338-39, otherwise known as Qazwīnī) under the title of تلخيص المفتاح, which is a standard work on the subject and has itself in turn become subject of numerous commentaries (see Kashf. Zun.). Two of these are very popular, viz., the مطول and the مختصر or المختصر المعاني, both by Taftāzānī, concerning whom see Volume 33 above.

Our MS. represents the earlier and larger commentary called the Mutawwal. This and its younger sister "have held sway "in Arabic literature till the present day." (See Encycl. of Islām). It was completed in 748/1347-48 and dedicated to معز الدين ابو الحسين محمد كرت, Sultān of Herāt (732-772/1331-1370). The name of this King occurs here on folio 3b. The MS. is defective; a page or two at the beginning seem to be missing.

An epic poem describing the campaigns and warlike exploits of Tīmūr, written in imitation of Nizāmī's Sikandar-nāma, by 'Abdu'llāh-e-Jāmī, with the takhalluṣ Hātifi (died in 927/1520-21). He was a nephew of the famous poet Nūr-u'd-Dīn 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Jāmī. This poem also goes by the name of Zafar-nāma-e-Hātifi or Zafar-nāma-e-Timūri. It is, however, referred to as Timūr-nāma (تیمور نامه) in the body of the book itself. It is one of the five poems which the poet had projected as parallels to Nizāmī's Khamsa, but of these, besides the above, he could write only three others, viz., Haft-Manzar, Laylā wa Majnūn, and Shirīn wa Khusraw. 178. Risāla-e-Qūshjī (رساله قوشچی).

An astronomical treatise in Persian by 'Alī b. Muḥammad al-Qūshjī, i.e., the "falconer" (so called because either he or his father was the falconer of Ulugh Beg). Qūshjī was a famous astronomer and grammarian, who died in 879/1474. He finished the Zich-e-Ulug Begī at Samarqand. The Ottoman Sultān Muḥammad II (855-886/1451-81) appointed him Professor at the Ayā Sophia in Constantinople. Here he wrote astronomical treatises both in Persian and Arabic. (See Encycl. of Islām, and Rieu p. 456 et seq.). Our MS. represents one of these Persian treatises.

Begins :

الحمد لله رب العالمين.....این کتاب مشتملبر دو مقدمه و دو مقاله
مقدمه در میان (بیان) آنچه

The treatise, after noticing briefly the subjects of geometry and physics, deals with the heavenly bodies, the figure of the globe, its division into climates, the effect of the various positions of the planets, their volumes, and distances from the sun. Kātibī-e-Rūmī (died in 970/1562) has made a Turkish version of it; and Muṣliḥu'd-Dīn Muḥammad-e-Lārī (died in 979/1571-72) and Shāhmīr (Hibatu'llah) have written Persian commentaries on it. It was published at the Mujtabāi Press in Delhi, 1898.

179. Tashrīḥu'l-Aflāk (تشریح الافلاك).

An astronomical treatise in Arabic by Bahāu'd-Dīn-e-ʿĀmilī, a native of Jabal ʿĀmil in Syria, (whence his nisbat) born in 953/1547 and died in 1031/1622. He was a prominent Shīʿa theologian of his time and has written a number of books connected with the Shīʿa dogma and jurisprudence. His جامع عباسی and مفتاح الفلاح are well known. His كشكول and the Persian maṣnawīs, شیر و شکر and نان و حلاوا, are popular. He has also written several mathematical and astronomical treatises. His الحساب and تشرح الافلاك ("Anatomy of Heavens") are held in great esteem. Our MS. represents the latter work. Imāmu'd-Dīn b. Luṭfu'llāh Muhandis Lāhōrī has written a commentary on it called التصريح. Another commentary by مولی عصمت الله سهارنفوری is mentioned in Ram p. 427.

It is divided into a muqaddama, five fusūl, and a khātima. Lithographed, together with the commentary at-Taṣrīḥ, in Delhi in 1294/1877 and 1312/1894-95.

180. Al-Mulakkhkhaṣ (الملخص).

The full title of this Arabic treatise on Astronomy is الملخص في الهيئة. The name of the author is given at the beginning as Maḥmūd b. 'Umar al-Jaghminī, called after Jaghmīn, or Chagmīn, a district in Khwārazm, where he was born. He was an astronomer of repute, and his works on the subject still enjoy great popularity. This Al-Mulakkhkhaṣ or "Compendium" is very much esteemed, and a number of commentaries have been written on it, of which the most famous are those of Qāzī Zāda-e-Rūmī and Jurjānī. A German translation of the Mulakkhkhaṣ by Rudloff was published in the Zeitscher-der D. Morgenl. Ges. XLVII, 213 et seq. The astronomer probably died in 745/1344-45.

The author, Abu'l-Qāsim also known as Buqrāṭ-e-Samarqandī, says that he wrote the treatise on the سمت قبله, dedicated it to his master, Yūsuf-e-Qarābāghī, and gave it the abovementioned name :

MIR'ĀT-E-AḤMADĪ (مرآة احمدی).

The fullest and a most valuable history of Gujarat (as a province of the Mughal Empire) by Mirzā Muḥammad Ḥasan, surnamed 'Alī Muḥammad Khān, "the last of the imperial "dīwāns" of the province, who held the office from 1746-1755, when the Mughal rule in Gujarat became extinct. It gives the history of the province from 1000 to 1760. The veteran historian, Sir Jadunath Sarkar, in his foreword (pp. vi, vii) to the excellent edition of the Persian text of Part II (edited by Mawlawi Syed Nawab Ali, M.A., formerly Prof. of Persian, The College, Baroda, and sometime Education Member and Director of Public Instruction, Junagadh State, and published in the Gaekwad's Oriental Series, Vol. xxxiv, Baroda, 1927), says, with reference to the merits of the work: "The pre-Mughal portion of the "work is necessarily very concise and derivative. But from the "reign of Akbar onwards, his book is unique among the Per- "sian histories of India inasmuch as the author has incorporated "in it the full texts of a very large number of official letters "and orders of the Imperial Government, e.g., farmans, par- "wanahs, and dastur-ul-amals. Thus the best raw materials of "social and administrative history have been preserved by him "for us. This is specially the case with Aurangzib's strenuously "active reign of half a century. For the half century follow- "ing the death of Aurangzib (in 1707), the Mirat gives the "fullest history of the civil wars among the Mughal generals, "the Maratha incursions, and the natural calamities and popular "disorders which attended the fall of the Mughal empire in "that province. In fact, we have no such complete, graphic, "and systematic account of that decline and fall in any of our "provinces..... The narrative history is supplemented by a sec- "ond volume giving a very detailed topographical description "of the official classes, their salaries and duties, and the ad- "ministrative system in general. In short, the Mirat-i-Ahmadi "is the only work of the class after Abul Fazl's justly famous

"Ain-i-Akbari, as a source of accurate information of diverse "kinds relating to the Mughal empire."

Begins: فهرست نسخه دفتر کل حمد بادشاه مالک الملکی کہ نصب و عزل

The whole work consists of Parts I and II, and a Khātima. Part I and the Khātima were published by the Fathu'l-Karim Press, Bombay, 1306/1888-89. Part II has been published in the Gaekwad's Oriental Series mentioned above, and the supplement was translated into English, with explanatory notes and appendices, in 1924, by the abovementioned Prof. Sayed Nawab Ali and C. N. Seddon, Esquire, I. C. S., sometime Revenue Minister, Baroda State. About a third of the first part, that is, up to the death of Akbar, was translated by Dr. J. Bird, in his History of Goozerat (Or. Transl. Fund, 1834). See also Bayley's "The Local Muhammadan Dynasties Gujarat", 1886.

The first part of the Mir'āt-e-Aḥmādī was translated into Gujarati by Qāzī Nizāmu'd-Dīn of Ahmedabad in 1913, and the Supplement in 1919. The second part, as published in the Gaekwad Oriental Series, was recently translated into graceful Gujarati by Dīwān Bahadur K. M. Jhaveri, M.A., LL.B., two khands or "parts" of which were published by the Gujarati Vernacular Society, Ahmedabad, in 1933-34. It is a valuable contribution of permanent importance to the historical literature of the Gujarati language. An Urdu translation—not very accurate—of a portion of the Mir'āt by M. Razīu'l-Ḥaqq was published some years ago under the title of Ā'ina-e-Gujarāt.

This MS. contains only two parts. At the end of the second part, it is stated that it was completed on 10th Šafar, 1175/10th September, 1761.

WĀQE'ĀT-E-BĀBURĪ (واقعات بابری).

A complete copy of the Khān Khānān's Persian translation of Bābur's famous Memoirs originally written in Chaghtā'ī Turkī. It is sometimes called تۆزک بابری also. The translation was made by Akbar's order in 998/1589. 'Abdu'r-Rahīm Khān Khānān (b. in 964/1556 and died in 1036/1626), celebrated as a general, was a great patron of learning and literature and was himself wellversed in Arabic, Persian, Turkish, and Hindi. His liberal patronage attracted men of learning from Persia. For his life see Blochmann's Ā'in-e-Akbarī, Vol. I, pp. 334-339. An English translation of the Wāqe'āt by Leyden and Erskine was published in London in 1826; and an abridged edition of it was also published in London in 1844. Leyden and Erskine's translation, annotated and revised by Sir L. King, was published in two volumes at Oxford in 1921. Extracts from the Wāqe'āt have been included in Elliot's History of India, Vol. IV, pp. 221-287. The original Turkī text was published by N. Ilminski at Kazan in 1857. A French translation from the Turkī was made by M. Pavet de Courteille, Paris, 1871. An English translation of the original by Mrs. Beveridge was published in London in two volumes in 1921. Another Persian version made by مرزا پاینده حسن of Ghazni is noticed in Br Sup Hnd No. 1351, and in EB No. 179. A third Persian translation by شیخ زین الدین خوانق, with the takhalluṣ وفاتی, is quoted in EB No. 376 (68). The Turkish text, edited by Beveridge in 1905, was published in the "E. J. W. Gibb Memorial" Series.

He flourished in the reign of Abu'l-Ghāzī Sulṭān Ḥusayn (873-911/1468-1505) and was patronized by his minister, امیر علی شیر, himself a learned poet and patron of men of letters. The author was an accomplished scholar and an eloquent preacher. Besides the above work, he has also written Jawāhiru't-Tafsīr, a more extensive commentary on the Qur'ān, Anwār-e-Suhayl, Akhlaq-e-Muḥsinī, Makhzanu'l-Inshā, Rawḍat-u'sh-Shuhadā, etc. The MS. is divided into two parts.

Part I. In his preface to the work, Kāshifī says that he undertook to write it for his patron, the abovementioned minister, in 897/1492. At the end there is a quatrain composed by his son, which gives the following clever chronogram of the date, the month, and the year of completion: دوم شیر ز شوال, which is equal to 899/1494.

It is also called خلاصه شاهنامه, تاریخ دلگشا, and تاریخ شمشیر خانی. It is stated in the preface that in 1063/1652, Prince Dārā Shukōh, then governor (صوبه دار) of Kābul, sent Tawakkul Beg as راننده نویس and امین to Ghaznī, where he made this abridgement at the request of Shamshēr Khān, the Governor.

TA'RĪKH-E-AḤMAD
SHĀH-E-DURRĀNĪ (تاریخ احمد شاه درانی).

A history of the celebrated Afghan King, Aḥmad Shāh-e-Durrānī, by Munshī 'Abdu'l-Karīm. In the Introduction (f. 4b) the author says: "when I had finished the history of شجاع الملك بادشاه درانی, who, with the assistance of the British, had marched in 1255/1839-40, from Ludhiana to Khorāsān, and, after defeating the rebels, had ascended the throne of his ancestors, "I desired to write an account of the Durrānīs and their genealogy, from the beginning of the reign of Aḥmad Shāh-e-Durrānī. "I, therefore, collected books bearing on the subject and abridged them into the present work. I have also given a brief account of the Chishtī saints and also of the rulers of Turkistān, on account of the close proximity of the country to Afghanistan. Mention has also been made of the stages between Peshawar and Herāt. I have chiefly drawn upon the history of Imāmu'd-Dīn-e-Ḥusaynī, who had lived for a long time in Afghanistan and brought his work, after a good deal of research (بکمال تحقیق), down to 1212/1797-98, in the reign of Zamān Shāh. From that year onwards whatever I had heard and ascertained from respectable and reliable residents of Kābul, Qandahār, and surrounding places, I have given in brief at the "end of the book."

This Ta'rikh may be regarded as an abridgement of Imāmu'd-Dīn-e-Ḥusaynī's work, with some additional matter thrown in. The name of the historian as given in Bk (vi, No. 530) is حسینی, but in R (iii, p. 905) it is چشتی. Both the words حسینی and چشتی are correct. Here the name clearly appears as امام الدین نامی حسینی. نسب چشتی طریقت. The history comes down to the murder of نجات الملک and مکناتن his vizir, and the withdrawal of the British troops from Afghanistan. The latest date mentioned is 1264/-1847-48, in which year it is stated that Amīr Dost Muḥammad Khān was alive and was ruling in Kābul.

Begins: علم افرازی دیر قلم بمیدان تحریر محمدت قهرمانی که جنود

This MS. appears to be a 'press-copy', or it may be a copy of the edition printed at Lucknow in 1266/1849-50. It has a preface written by 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān b. Ḥājī Muḥammad Roshan Khān, who says that, after the great fights and battles of ancient kings, the exploits (معاریف) of Aḥmad Shāh-e-Durrānī are most marvellous. He, therefore, hastened to have Munshī 'Abdu'l-Karīm's history of the king published (ff. 3b and 4). Towards the end there is a خاتمه الطبع, in which it is stated that it was printed by the order of 'Abdu'r-Raḥmān Khān b. Ḥājī Muḥammad Roshan Khān and that the copy was made by Ghulām-Murtazā b. Ghulām-Nabī b. Khān-Muḥammad, on Tuesday, 20th محرم (on the margin مکرری, i.e., بکرری) 1914 (i.e., 1274/1857), at Lahore. A lithographed copy of the book entitled تاریخ احمد is mentioned on p. 68 of the Oriental College Magazine, Lahore, for November, 1927, and is shown there as belonging to the Kapurthala State Library. It was lithographed at Lucknow in 1266/-1849-50.

Begins:

الحمد لله الذى خلق الانسان و علمه البيان..... اما بعد بر پیشگاه حضور
الوالالباب عرضه میدارد بنده جانی محمد حسن ابن محمد حسین دامغانی

The writer is evidently a rabid Shi'a, who delights in abusing Abū-Bakr and 'Umar, as for example, in the section on نبوت و امامت. A peculiarity of the MS. is that at the top of each page is mentioned the bāb dealt with and at the bottom the particular subject treated of.

Dated 4th Rabi' I, 1263/20th February, 1847. This is the first musawwada or "original draft" written by the author himself. It is, therefore, an autographic copy. The colophon is as follows:

تمام شد تالیف و تسوید این رساله در شب چهارم شهر ربیع الاول ۱۲۶۳
هجریه چون مولف در اتمام این کتاب مستعجل بود و این مسوده اول

S 14.4×8.5, 9.7×5.1. No jadwals. LL 15. Persian Nast. Or. pap., margins of several folios contain notes and sometimes the continuation of the text. Headings of sections in red. Slightly wormeaten. Cond. good.

Another copy of Fayzī's translation of Bhāskarāchārya's Sanskrit work on Arithmetic etc. For sources of Fayzī's life, the date of the composition of Līlāwatī, references to other copies, etc., see Vol. 11 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above.

Begins: اول ز ثناء پادشاهی کویم * وانکه ز ستایش الهی کویم

The MS. ends with the chapter on the Determination of Shadow. It was finished on 16th Rabi' II, the 33rd year of the reign of Shāh 'Ālam, corresponding to 1206 A.H./13th December, 1791 A.D.

MANTĪQU'T-TAYR

A composite MS. containing (1) nine qaṣīdas of 'Urfī and (2) an incomplete copy of the Mantiqu't-tayr.

(1). QAṢĀ'ID-E-'URFĪ (قصائد عرفی).

Nine qaṣīdas (on the first 15 folios) of the famous Persian poet 'Urfī, who died at Lahore in 999/1580. For particulars of his life, works, sources of biography, commentaries, and other copies, see Vol. 65 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above.

Begins: ای متاع درد در بازار جان انداخته

These qaṣīdas are not arranged in alphabetical order.

S 7.9×4.4, 4.7×2.4. No jadwals. LL 15. Ind. Nast. Titles of the qaṣīdas in red. Ind. pap. Bound up with the next.

(2). MANTĪQU'T-TAYR (منطق الطیر).

A defective and incomplete copy on ff. 16-41 of the celebrated Sufistic poem of Shaykh Farīdu'd-Dīn 'Aṭṭār, composed about 583/1187. The Mantiqu't-tayr or "Speech of Birds", the most famous of his mystical masnawīs, "is an allegorical "poem of something over 4,699 couplets. Its subject is the "quest of the birds for the mythical Simurgh, the birds typifying "the Sufi pilgrims, and the Simurgh, God, the truth" (Br. Lit. Hist. Pers., Vol. II, p. 512). The poem was printed several times in the East. It was published by Garcin de Tassy in Paris in 1857, and a French translation of it by the same appeared in 1863. An excellent English version of the poem, the first of its kind, by Mr. R. P. Masani, M.A., was published in 1924 under the title of "The Conference of Birds." For particulars of the life and works of 'Aṭṭār, see Vol. 24 (Govt. Coll.). This copy is defective, the first few pages being missing.

Begins:

As stated in the colophon it was finished on Sunday, 23rd Rabi' I, 1004/16th November, 1595, by 'Adil Beg (?) at Lahore.

Volume XI (B.U.L.).

TAZKIRATU'SH-SHU'ARĀ (تذكرة الشعراء).

An old copy of the famous "Memoirs of Persian poets" by دولتشاه of Samarqand, composed in 892/1487 and containing a مقدمه, in which ten Arabic poets are noticed, seven طبقات comprising notices and short specimens of the poems of about a hundred and thirty-five Persian poets, and a خاتمه devoted to an account of six contemporaries of the author. A detailed list of the biographies is given by S. de Sacy in his Notices et Extraits, vol. iv, pp. 220-272. Hammer's Schöne Red. Pers. and Ouseley's Biographical Notices of Persian Poets are based on these Memoirs. The text was lithographed at Bombay and Lahore. An excellent critical edition, forming the first volume of his Persian Historical Texts Series, was published by Professor Browne in 1901. The author gives an account of himself حسب حال مولف و سبب تحرير اين تاليف in the Introduction to his Tazkira. See also Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. iii, pp. 436-437, the Introduction to his edition of the text, and EIO Nos. 656-663. A Turkish translation entitled سفينة الشعراء was published in Constantinople in 1259/1843-44.

This is a somewhat defective copy: about twenty lines at the beginning are missing and the first few pages are mutilated.

The MS. begins with: بنطق کلام لا احصى ثناء عليك

The two folios at the end are in a different and later hand. The greater portion of the book is no doubt of an earlier date. A cursory comparison of this MS. with the text edited by Professor Browne shows that in several places the text of our MS. is decidedly better and more correct. The following quotations will bear out this statement. On p. 93 of Prof. Browne's edition the last couplet is:

* نبود پیش دو خورشید و دومه تاری تیر *
 * که بود لمعه از خاطر مختاری تیر *

Our MS. fol. 171, gives the verse as follows:

* نبود پیش دو خورشید و دومه تاری تیر *
 * گر برد لمعه از خاطر مختاری تیر *

On p. 94 of the European edition, after quoting the maṭla' of a certain qaṣīda by 'Uṣmān Mukhtārī and that of Khāqānī's celebrated jawāb to it, viz.:

* مرادل پیر تعلیمست و من طفل زبان دانش *
 * دم تسلیم سر عشر و سرزانو دبستانش *

Dawlatshāh refers to the jawāb of Amīr Khusraw of Delhi and says that "nowadays Mawlānā Jāmī is engaged in writing his jawāb." Professor Browne's edition does not quote the maṭla' of Jāmī's jawāb, but our MS. supplies this omission as follows:

* دلم طفل نوآموزست و خاموشی دبستانش *
 * سبق نادانی [و] دانا دلم طفل سبق خوانش *

On p. 97 of Browne's edition, one reads a couplet of Sanā'ī's Ḥadīqa as follows:

بوالفضولی سوال کرد از وی * کین چه جایست یک پوست و دو پی

Our MS. gives it as:

بو الفضولی سوال کرد از وی * چیست این خانه شش بدست و سه پی^۳

The colophon of Dawlatshāh given in Browne's edition is not found in this copy, in which the text ends with ولایت ستان باش. The person, Muḥammad or Faqīr Muḥammad, who supplied the missing folios towards the end says:

تمام شد اوراق که ازین تذکره دولتشاهی ضائع شده بودند and dates the remark 5th Ramazān, 1273/1857.

Volume XII (B. U. L.).

SINGHĀSAN BATTĪSĪ (سنگھاسن بتیسی).

A Persian version of one of the most interesting and popular collections of Indian tales known in the original Sanskrit as Sinhāsandwātrinshatī, i.e., the "Thirty-two stories of the throne." These are said to have been told by the statues (پوتلی, Sans. puttali) of thirty-two maidens on a throne, which was alleged to have been discovered by Rājā Bhōj in the eleventh century A.D., when he desired to sit on it. As this MS. does not contain any preface or introduction, it is difficult to find out who the translator is. In the colophon, which gives the date of transcription, neither the name of the translator nor that of the scribe is given.

The MS. begins with : یک وقت سری مہادیو برکیلاش پریت

This story-book seems to have been extremely popular in India. Besides the Bengali, Maharashtri, Hindi, and Urdu versions of it, the following eight different Persian versions have also been noticed: (1) Perhaps the oldest version is that which was made by 'Abdu'l-Qādir Badāūnī by the order of Akbar, in 982/1574-75, entitled Khīrad-Afzā, and revised in 1003/1594-95; (2) another was composed in the same reign by Chaturbhujdās Kāyath, entitled Shāhnāma; (3) in the next reign, that of Jahāngīr, Bhārimāl brought out a third version in 1019/1610; (4) Ibn-e-Harkaran or Bisab Rāi produced another in the reign of Shāhjahān; (5) during the reign of Awrangzeb, one Kishandās Bāsudewa of Lahore is reported to have made a fresh recension; (6) another by Chānd bin Mādhurām and (7) an anonymous one entitled Gul-Afshān are noticed in Mehren, p. 20, and Rieu vol. i, p. 230, respectively; and (8) a modern translation by سید امداد علی was made in 1845 for Mr. Bayley (Rieu vol. iii, p. 1006). A French translation of a Persian version by Baron Lescallier was published in New York in 1817. The oldest Hindi version in the braj bhāshā is that of Sundardās, who bore the title of Kawī Rāi under Shāhjahān. This was put into Urdu in 1801 by Lallūji Lāl Kawī and published in Calcutta, Agra, and London. A metrical version by Chaman was published at Cawnpore in 1869. A prose version by Rajā Durgā Prasād was brought out at Agra in 1862. For a Hindustani version see EB No. 1324 and Garcin de Tassy's Hist. de la Liter. Hindust., 2nd edition, vol. ii.

According to the colophon our MS. was finished in 1225/1810.

Volume XIII (B. U. L.).

NAL DAMAN (نل دمن).

The famous Persian maghawī by Fayzī (or rather Fayyāzī, as he calls himself here), the poet-laureate of Akbar, dealing with the love romance of Nal and Damayantī, which is regarded as "one of the most beautiful love-stories in the world" (Penzer's Nal Damayantī). The story is very old and of unknown date and authorship. The oldest and most important version of it is that found in the Mahābhārata. From this version, practically all subsequent Indian translations, adaptations, and abridgements have been made. One of the most important is found in Somdeva's Kathāsaritsāgara (XIth cent. A.D.), for a summary of which see Penzer's The Ocean of Story, vol. iv, Lond., 1926.

For sources of the life of Fayzī see Vols. 11 and 89 (Govt. Coll.) noticed above. An excellent notice of his life and works is given in Bk ii, pp. 202 et seqq. In the year 993/1585, when he was forty years of age, Fayzī projected a scheme for writing a complete jawāb to Nizāmī's Khamsa; but unfortunately he died before he could complete it. He had planned to write (1) مرکز ادوار (completed in 993/1585) as a parallel poem to Nizāmī's لیلی و مجنون to نل دمن (3); خسرو و شیرین to سلیمان و بلقیس (2); مخزن الاسرار (4); سكندر نامه to اكبر نامه (5). Accordingly Nal Daman is the third poem of the projected quintuple. It was composed in 1003/1594-95. Several editions of it have appeared in Calcutta, Lucknow, and other places. A part of it was printed in Spiegel's Chrestomathia Persica, Leipzig, 1846. Sūrdās (died about 1563), the celebrated Hindi poet, made a Hindi version of it.

MUNSHA'ĀT-E-ṬUGHRĀ (منشآت طغرا).

The prose works of Mullā Ṭughrā of Mashhad, who came to India and was appointed tutor to Prince Murād by Shāh-jahān. He has praised Murād in a number of prose treatises known for their highly ornamental and florid style. He travelled with the Prince in the Deccan, and accompanied him on his expedition to Balkh. He finally settled at Kashmir, where he died about 1078/1667, and was buried beside the tomb of Abū Tālib Kalīm, whom he had satirised. Though a poet of distinction, he is better known as a prose-writer, whose treatises enjoyed wide popularity in India, and were published in several places. He is the author of a voluminous diwān, in which, and especially in a qaṣīda in praise of Rājā Jaswant Singh, he has used many Hindi words. For his life see Sarw-e-Āzād, Bk iii No. 333; EB No. 1389; EIO No. 1586; and R ii p. 742.

‘IYĀR-E-DĀNISH (عیار دانش).

This is a simplified prose version in Persian of the famous Anwār-e-Suhaylī, made by Abu'l-Faḡl in 996/1588. In the preface he says that he was ordered by the Emperor Akbar to produce in simple language and easy style an abridged version of Kāshifī's Anwār. He did so and restored, on the basis of the older Persian version of Naṣru'llāh, the two introductory chapters which had been omitted by Kāshifī. Abu. Faḡl was born at Agra in 958/1550, studied the various branches of Islamic learning under his learned father, and entering Government service rose to the position of Prime Minister. He wrote the great history of Akbar entitled Akbarnāma, which comes down to the year 1010/1601, within a year of his death. The Akbarnāma includes in its third volume the famous Ā'in-e-Akbarī. He was assassinated on 4th Rabi' I, 1011/12th August, 1602. For an account of his life see Inshā-e-Abu'l-Faẓl, or Makātīb-e-'Allāmī, daftar iii, in which Abu'l-Faẓl gives his own autobiography, Blochmann's translation of the Ā'in-e-Akbarī, and the Darbār-e-Akbarī. For the original Sanskrit and its various versions in many languages of the world (including Pahlawi, Arabic, and Persian), see Keith-Falconer's Fables of Bidpai. The date of completion is given by Abu'l-Faẓl in six different eras, probably with the object of protecting it from the vagaries of copyists. But in spite of this precaution the relentless scribes have played havoc with them. [The dates given in EIO No. 767 differ from those of our copy, but are in some respects more correct. As stated in our copy, the work was completed on (i) the Farwardīn Day, 19th Tirmāh of the Ilāhī era, 33rd year*,=(ii) 22nd Tirmāh of the Jalālī era 1005†,=(iii) 14th Ādarmāh-e-qadīmī, 977 of the Yazde-jardī era‡,=(iv) Sunday, 15th Sha'bān, 907 A.H.,=(v) 17th Āsār, 1645††,=(vi) Rūmī year 899‡.

The MS. begins:

*Same as in EIO.

†In EIO the year given is 51, which is absurd.

‡Here 977 is wrong. EIO gives 967 or 957. Of course 957 is the correct year, which commenced on 31st October, 1587 (vide McCudden's Oriental Eras, Bombay, 1846).

Here 907 is evidently an error for 996, correctly given in EIO. But the corresponding Christian date, viz., 10th July, given there is quite wrong. It should be 30th June, 1588, for it is a Sunday, and it corresponds to the Hindu date; whereas 10th July, 1588, is Wednesday (vide Pillai's Ephemeris).

††Same as in EIO; but the name of the month given by Dr. Ethé as Aspār is not correct. It is undoubtedly Āsār or Āshādh. The Hindu era, though not named, is the Vikram Samvat, then current in Upper India (vide McCudden's Oriental Eras, p. 60, Bombay, 1846).

‡This is absurd. EIO gives 1899, which appears to be correct.

On the back of the first folio are three square seals, which bear the name امير بخش and the date 1124/1712-13. Below these seals there is a memorandum note by the same Amīr Bakhsh, which gives the date of the birth of his son, Sikandarkhān, viz., Sunday, 16th Rabī' II, 1228/1813.

IKHWĀNU'Ṣ-ṢAFĀ (اخوان الصفا).

A complete copy of the famous fifty-one treatises, divided into four volumes (here bound in three) in Arabic, on the philosophical and scientific learning of the Muslims as it existed towards the end of the tenth century A.D. These treatises (rasā'il) were produced by a remarkable society or fraternity of Encyclopaedic and Philosophical writers, known as the Ikhwānu'ṣ-Ṣafā or Brethren of Purity. They established themselves at Baṣra, where they "met together quietly and unobtrusively in the residence of the head of the society, who bore the name of Zaid, the son of Rifāʾ, and discussed philosophical and ethical subjects with a catholicity of spirit and breadth of views difficult to rival even in modern times. ".....They contemned no field of thought; they culled 'flowers from every meadow'.As a result of their labours, they gave to the world a general resumé of the knowledge of the "time in separate treatises, which were collectively known as (رسائل اخوان الصفا و خلان الوفا), i.e., 'tractates of the Brethren of Purity and Friends of Sincerity'. These risālas range over every subject of human study—mathematics, including astronomy, physical geography, music, and mechanics; physics, including chemistry, meteorology, and geology, biology, physiology, zoology, botany, logic, grammar, metaphysics, ethics, the doctrine of future life. They form in fact a popular "encyclopaedia of all the sciences and philosophy then extant." (Sayyed Amīr 'Alī's Spirit of Islām, pp. 399-400, Calc., 1902).

Nearly all these tracts were translated into German by Dieterici, who had drawn a summary of the whole encyclopaedia in his Philos. der Araber. An excellent account of the system of the Ikhwān is given by Stanley Lane-Poole in his Studies in a Mosque. For a list of the contents of the four volumes see Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. i, pp. 379-80. A complete edition of the text was printed in Bombay in 1305-06/1887-89. About six years ago, i.e., in 1928, another edition of the work was published in four volumes by Khayru'd-Dīn az-Zarkalī in Egypt, with a foreword by Dr. Ṭāhā Ḥusayn. The end of our copy corresponds to line 15, p. 346, vol. iv, of this Egyptian edition. A brief comparison shows that there are slight differences between the readings of these two copies. The original Arabic text was published at Calcutta also in 1812 and a portion of it was lithographed at Cawnpore and Lucknow. Ikrām 'Alī translated a small portion of it into Urdu. A part of it was also published in London. Drs. Forbes and Rieu edited the whole of the Urdu translation in London, 1861. J. Platts rendered this Hindustani version into English. An abridged Persian translation of the rasā'il, entitled بحل الحكمة, was made by a man of Khorāsān and dedicated to Sulṭān Tīmūr (771-807/1370-1405). See EB No. 1492. A copy of this Persian translation is noticed in MF Brand Dhab. p. 69, No. 1. A Turkish adaptation under the title of محمود بن عثمان بن علی لامي شرف الانسان was made by محمود بن عثمان بن علی لامي in 933-34/1526-28. For details of the publication of the various parts and translation into German, see Buh No. 337.

ZAFAR-NĀMA YĀ DĀNISH-NĀMA-E-ABŪZARJMEHR (ظفر نامه یا دانشنامه ابوزرجمهر).

This is a booklet of twelve pages, written in Persian and corresponding to Xa, 6, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268. It is stated in the Introduction that one day Nawsherwān asked his minister, Buzurjmehr, to compose for him a book, in excellent style and pleasing language, which would enable one who read it to gain the object of Religion and Life in this world. The minister agreed to carry out the King's order and asked for a week's time. Meanwhile he went to Aristotle and informed him of what the king had commanded him to do. Aristotle said, "Very well. Put me questions, and I will answer them". Thereupon the minister began to ask him question after question, to which the philosopher gave laconic answers. These questions and answers are embodied in this booklet. On completion it was presented to the king, who appreciated it very much and ordered it to be copied in letters of gold (p. 2). He called it Zafar-nāma (p. 3, l. 1) and always had it by him.

These questions and answers are undoubtedly the invention of the brain of some Persian Muslim, who has cleverly managed to put them into the mouths of two of the most eminent men of ancient times. Notice the manner in which the book begins: بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ. Then again on p. 4, one reads the question: "Who is a man of good fortune, (نیک بخت)?" The answer given is: The man of good fortune has three qualifications, by which he can be made out, viz., (i) manliness (جوانمردی), (ii) pleasing address (نیک سخن), and (iii) the ability to read the Qur'ān. A couple of traditions ascribed to the Prophet Muḥammad are also quoted.

Volume XXIII (B. U. L.).

DURŪ'U'L-WĀQIYA (دروع الوقیه).

An Arabic work, the title of which is found in l. 2, fol. 4b, and which deals with the prayers to be offered, the invocations to be made, the fasts to be observed on various days of the month, and the reading of certain chapters of the Qur'ān in certain months. The names of the days are Persian. It is divided into twelve faṣls, enumerated on folios 4b-6b, and is generally based on the prayers offered by the twelve Imāms. It corresponds to Xa, 7, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268, but the author's name given there as Ṭūsī does not agree with what is found in the MS., viz., Ṭā'ūs. The authorship is attributed in the concluding note after the colophon, on fol. 184b, to السيد علی بن موسی

الطاووس الحسينى (died in 664/1265-66, according to Asaf, p. 53). The author says on fol. 3b that, when he had composed نلاح (on the 'amal for the day and the night) and other works like زهر الربيع, مهمات في صلاح المتعب, and جمال الاسبوع, he became aware of certain prayers (ادعيه), which were like armours (protecting those who offered them) against dangers and which he has collected here in book form.

Begins:

بسم الله.....وقل رب زدني علما لطفك اللهم احمد لله الذى جل جلاله
بما وهب لى من القدرة على حمده

The coloured 'unwān bears the title of the work on a yellow background. The red oblong border is divided into small squares, some of which are purposely and designedly left blank. These blank, white squares form Kufic letters, which in the top lines undoubtedly represent the formula بسم الله الرحمن الرحيم.

The colophon (on fol. 184, the two sides of the matn of which have come out of the jadwal and are detached from it, in spite of the fact that the margins of this folio as well as of the preceding have been repaired) gives the date of transcription and the name of the copyist. The concluding note, which follows, gives the name of the author and also states that the copy was made for the treasury of the Minister (الخزانة حضرة آصف). This copy once belonged to فریدون بن مرزبان بن کاوس منجم.

Dated 18th Z. Hījja, 1006/12th July, 1598. It was copied by محمد بن حبيب بن تميم. Kashf. Zun. (No. 5052, Fluegel's ed.) mentions a work entitled الدروع الوافية in the following terms: الدروع الوافية من الاخطار فما يعمل مثلها كل شهر على التكرار في الادعية والاذكار لبعض الشيعة اوله الحمد لله جل جلاله الخ. It is the same work as the one described above, with this difference that, while there is a ف in the title given there, it is a clear ق here.

Volume XXIV (B. U. L.).

FIRDAWSIYYA-E-ṬUGHRĀ (فردوسیۀ طغرا).

A description of the indescribable charms and beauties of Kashmir, its beautiful flowers of various hues, delicious fruits, delightful music, pretty buildings, pleasant gardens, especially the باغ فیض بخش, and the praiseworthy qualities of his royal patron, in highly ornate and rhymed Persian prose and verse, by Mullā Ṭughrā of Mashhad. Ṭughrā came to India, was appointed tutor to Prince Murād, settled finally in Kashmir, and died there about 1078/1667. See Vol. XIV (B.U.L.) noticed above. It corresponds to Xa, 8, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268.

Begins : ثنای بهار پیرائی که انکشت سبزه را بدانهای شبنم

The text has a few marginal notes, written in a different hand and different ink. A noticeable peculiarity of the MS. is that it is, so to say, punctuated. The termination of the various rhyming clauses is indicated by the mark ما. The treatise is incomplete and undated. But the first folio, which is quite independent of the treatise, though bound up with it, and which contains a few verses and quatrains in Persian, is dated. One side of it (1a) bears the date, 26th Z. Hījja, 1111/3rd June, 1700, and mentions the name of the place where it was copied, viz., Burhanpur. On its reverse (1b) are found the date, 111 (probably 1116/1704-05) and the name of the writer, Ṭahmāsp Bakhtyārī. The Firdawsīyya has been lithographed several times in India.

Volume XXV (B. U. L.).

FARĀMURZ-NĀMA (فرامرز نامه).

An incomplete copy (defective both at the beginning and the end) of the Farāmurz-nāma, which deals with the episode of Farāmurz, son of Rustam. It is one of the imitations of Firdawsī's Shāhnāma. It corresponds to No. Xa, 9, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268. The first section (f. 2b) of the poem is headed آغاز داستان فرامرز پادشاهی او بهندوستان, and the last bears the following title: آمدن کید هندی پیش فرامرز و او را بردن بشهر خویش.

The name of the author is not mentioned.

The MS. itself begins with:

* بهنکام کین تیغ اهن کدار (گذار) *
* به پیشش سپاست (سپاهست) نهصد هزار *

R Br (p. 107) notices a poem entitled فرامرزد نامه کلان, which contains 5,455 verses and "differs essentially from the MSS. "in the British Museum (RS Nos. 196, 199), which do not "contain above 1,500 verses." It appears therefore that there are probably two different poems bearing the same title.

This MS. bears neither the date of transcription nor the name of the copyist.

Other copies: Ind. Libr. MFS p. 32; Cama pp. 151, 177; MRD p. 91. For. Libr. RS Nos. 196, 199; EB No. 1978.

GULISTĀN (گلستان).

This is only a portion of the dībācha ("preface") of Sa'dī's famous Gulistān. The formula بنام ایزد الخ, which precedes the بسم الله الخ, shows that the pages have been copied by a Zoroastrian scribe. Some expressions and the Arabic portions of the introduction are accompanied by an interlinear ungrammatical Urdu translation. It corresponds to No. Xa, 10, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268.

AL-ḤIKMATU'T-TIBB (الحكمة الطب).

An Arabic work on medicine, describing diseases and their symptoms and indicating the treatment of them. It is defective both at the beginning and the end. Evidently it belongs to an age later than that of either Avicenna, Muḥammad b. Zakariyya, or the author of al-Kāmil, since all three have been mentioned on fol. 13b. It looks like a commentary on an original text, for certain portions of the text are distinguished from the rest by red lines drawn over them. It corresponds to Xa, 11, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268. The name of the author is not given.

Begins : من الاصبع في الارض يكون اقل من المعتدل

The MS. is neither dated nor folioed.

JAḤĀNGĪR-NĀMA (جهانگیر نامہ).

An incomplete Persian poem in imitation of Firdawsī's Shāhnāma, narrating the legendary story of Jahāngīr, the son of Rustam. The author, whose name is not mentioned, takes up the story from the point where Rustam kills his son, Sohrāb, as narrated by Firdawsī. Cf. fol. 1b :

بشنامه فردوسی اندر زمان * که گفته است گفتار جنکش همان
کنون مختصر کویم از وی سخن * که قصه کرانست بشنو زمن

After wandering in grief for having killed Sohrāb, Rustam happens to come across a beautiful damsel, Dilnawāz by name, daughter of Masīhā-e-‘Ābid, with whom he falls in love and whom he afterwards marries. The author then describes the various adventures of Rustam with demons and his fights with kings. It begins with :

بنام جهان آفرین کردگار * یکی داستان گویمت کوشدار

It corresponds to Xa, 12, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268.

BHAGWADGĪTĀ (بھگود گیتا).

This is not a part of a Persian translation of the Mahābhārata, as stated on the label affixed to the MS. and inscribed on the fly-leaf and also entered in Banaji's Cat., Xa, 16, p. 268. It is a part of a Persian translation of the Bhagwadgītā. On comparing the Persian text with the Marathi prose translation of the original Sanskrit by Shastris Lèlè and Mukund (2 vols., Poona, 1918), I find that the portion covered by the Persian MS. extends from the beginning of the tenth skandha to the 89th section (adhyāya), which latter is incomplete. The Persian cannot be said to be a translation of the original, as it only gives a brief summary of the principal events mentioned in each adhyāya.

SIKANDAR-NĀMA (سکندر نامه).

An incomplete copy of the famous Alexander-Book by Nizāmī of Ganja. It begins with:

صلبي خطي در جهان بر کشيد * از آن پيش کامد صليبي پديد
چو عزم آمد آن کوهر پاک را * که بخشش کند سکه خاک را
Begins:

For the life and works of Nizāmī, undoubtedly the greatest romantic poet of Persia, who was born in 535/1140-41 and died probably in 599/1202-03, see the Persian tagkiras, viz., دولتشاهی, etc. A reference is also invited to Prof. Browne's Lit. Hist. Pers., vol. ii, where the information supplied is largely drawn from what he appreciatively describes as "a very careful and scholarly monograph" by Dr. Wilhelm Bacher, published at Leipzig in 1871 and entitled Nizāmī's Leben und Werke etc. (of which an English translation was published in London in 1873 and reprinted in S. Robinson's Persian Poetry for English Readers, 1883), to Dr. Ethé's Die höfische und romantische Poesie der Perser, Hamburg, 1887, to Āghā Aḥmad 'Alī's Haft Āsmān, Calcutta, 1873, and to M. Shibli's She'ru'l-'Ajam. Nizāmī's khamṣa or "quintet", also called Panj Ganj or "Five Treasures", consists of the following maṣnawīs, which are justly regarded as the most charming poems in the language and which have, since their publication, served as inimitable models for a number of later Persian, Turkish, and Indian poets.

(1) مخزن الاسرار. It was composed probably in 572 or 573/1176-1178, according to Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 972), who considers all other earlier dates, such as 559/1164 (mentioned in كشف الظنون , هفت آسمان , and شعر العجم) or 561/1165-66 (adopted by Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne), as wrong. As regards the king to whom it was dedicated, there is similarly a difference of opinion among scholars. While Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne take him to be Īldigiz, the Atābek of Āzarbāyjān, other authorities like Ḥajjī Khalīfa, Amīn-e-Rāzī, Dr. Rieu, Āghā Aḥmad 'Alī, Dr. Ethé, and M. Shiblī correctly say that he was Fakhrū'd-Dīn Bahrām Shāh of Arzanjān in Rūm. The poem was lithographed in Persia and several times in India, with marginal notes. It was edited by N. Bland, London, 1844. An English translation by J. Hindley is preserved in manuscript in the British Museum. A Persian commentary, entitled ظهور الاسرار and attributed to one Zuhūru'l-Ḥasan, was published by the Nawalkishore Press in 1885; but it appears to have been entirely based on, if not quite identical with, another commentary by محمد بن قوام بن رستم بن احمد بن محمود البلخي, noticed in Rieu, EIO (No. 998), and IvASB No. 469. Two other commentaries, one by Ibrāhīm of Thatha and the other by Amānu'llāh, are mentioned on p. 63 of the Haft Āsmān. From EIO No. 972, we learn that Sham'ī (who died about 1009 or 1010/1600-02) wrote a Turkish commentary on it. In fact the Makhzan proved so popular and stirred the imagination of Persian poets to such an extent that a large number of them wrote parallels to it. Seventy-eight of such parallels or imitations have been noticed by Āghā Aḥmad 'Alī in his Haft Āsmān.

(2) خسرو و شیرین. According to Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 972), it was composed in 576/1180-81; but Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne give 571/1175-76 as the date of composition. In the Introduction the following three personages have been eulogised: (i) اتابك , (ii) سلطان طغرل بن ارسلان , and (iii) اتابك محمد جهان پهلوان . The poem was published in Persia and lithographed several times in India. A portion of it containing the episode of Farhād (comprising 608 couplets) was edited by H. W. Duda and published under the title of "Ferhād und Schīrīn" by the Czechoslovak Oriental Institute, Prague, 1933.

(3) لیلی و مجنون . There is a general agreement amongst scholars that it was composed in 584/1188 and dedicated to the Shīrwān Shāh. It was lithographed in Persia and several times in India. An English translation of it by J. Atkinson was published in London in the year 1836.

(4) هفت پیکر . While Dr. Ethé and M. Shiblī give 593/1197 as the date of composition, Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne give it as 595/1198-99. Regarding the patron to whom it was dedicated, there is a difference of opinion amongst scholars. Dr. Ethé (EIO No. 972) is inclined to believe that it was اتابک نور سلطان غیاث, while, according to Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne, he was اتابک نصره الدین ابوبکر, while Prof. Wilson, who has translated the poem into English, with a Commentary (published by Probsthain), states that he was علاء الدین تکش خوارزمشاه, the ruler of خوارزم (the modern Khanate of Khiva), and not Qizil Arsalān or Nūru'd-Dīn Arsalān. The poem was published in Persia and lithographed several times in India. See also F. v. Erdmann, 'Behramgur und die russische Fürstentochter', Kasan, 1844, and also Heft Peiker, Ein romantisches Epos des Nizami Gengi, Herausg. von H. Ritter und J. Rypka, 1934, vol. iii, 'Monografie Arch. Orient., Ceskoslovensky Orient. Ustav'.

(5) سکندر نامه . Dr. Bacher and Prof. Browne mention 587/1191 as the date of composition, while Dr. Ethé gives 597/1200-01 as a probable date. M. Shiblī gives 599/1202-03. The revised edition of the first part of the poem, known as the Sikandar-nāma-e-Barri, is dedicated to Atābek Nuṣratu'd-Dīn Abū Bakr Bēsh Kīn, and the second, known as the Sikandar-nāma-e-Bahrī or Khīrad-nāma-e-Iskandari, to 'Izzu'd-Dīn Mas'ūd I, the Atābek of Mawṣil (Mosul). The latter was edited by Dr. Sprenger, Calcutta, 1852 and 1869. The whole poem was published in Persia and lithographed several times in India, often with marginal notes. The first part was translated into English by W. W. Clarke, London, 1881. Amongst the commentaries written on it may be mentioned the following :

- (1) The anonymous commentary noticed in Vol. VII (B. U. L.).
- (2) The commentary of Muḥammad Gulhawī (or Ghulwī), published at Lahore, 1903.
- (3) Muḥammad Ghufrān's commentary published also at Lahore, 1887-88.
- (4) The commentary of Naṣīru'd-Dīn b. Sulṭān Sufyānī al-Qurayshī (JMB, p. 387, No. 2437), published at Cawnpore in 1873.

SHĀHNĀMA (شاه نامہ).

This MS. corresponds to Xa, 20, of Banaji's Cat., p. 268, and contains a portion of Firdawsī's famous Shāhnāma, from the beginning of the poem to the birth of Rustam and the coming of Zāl to see him.

Begins : بنام خداوند جان و خرد * کزین برتر اندیشه بر نکذرد

Firdawsī of Tūs, the greatest national epic poet of Persia, was probably born in 323 or 324/934-36*. He developed early a strong taste for epic poetry and versified some dāstāns, e.g., the beautiful love-tale of Bezan, the Persian hero, and Manezēh, the daughter of the Turanian Afrāsiyāb, "which Chaucer could not have told more charmingly"¹. This tale was originally read out to him, from the Daftar-e-Pāstān, by his wife, at whose express desire he versified it², about the year 365³/975-76. The general approbation with which this performance⁴ was received led him to conceive the bold idea of undertaking the tremendous task of writing the great national poem, the Shāhnāma. He travelled to Bokhara, Marw, Balkh, and Herāt in search of materials for it⁵, and definitely commenced the versification of it about the year 370⁶/980-81, when he was about 48 years of age⁷. After devoting thirty or thirty-five years to it, he finished the "first edition" of it in the year 384/994-95, as stated by Bundārī (the Arabic translator of the Shāhnāma), and the "second edition" in 389/999, and dedicated it to Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin Abī Bakr of Khānlanjān⁸, known at present as Khālānjān, near Iṣfahān⁹. The "third or final edition" is generally supposed to have been completed on the 25th day (Ard) of the 12th month (Sipandārmadh), 400 A.H., 25th February, 1010 A.D.⁹, and dedicated to Sultān Maḥmūd of Ghaznī (388-421/998-1030). After staying at the Ghaznawid capital for at least six years¹⁰, he left it in great disappointment and returned to his native place, Ṭūs, where he died in 411/1020-21 or 416/1025-26, and was buried in his own garden¹¹.

The Persian nation has recently erected over his grave a magnificent mausoleum, as an outward expression of their appreciation of the great services done by him in immortalizing the glory of ancient Īrān, which was opened by His Imperial Majesty Reżā Shāh-e-Pahlawī, on Friday, the 12th October, 1934, on the occasion of Firdawsī's millenary. A number of distinguished scholars and orientalists, from all parts of the world, attended the Firdawsī Congress held on the occasion in Tehrān and delivered speeches and read critical papers on various subjects connected with Firdawsī and his Shāhnāma. For a brief account of the transactions of this historical Congress as well as for interesting articles on the poet and his poem written by Persian scholars, see Firdawsī-nāma, published by the journal Mehr, Tehrān, Nos. 5 and 6, for the months Mehr and Ābānmāh, 1313 (Solar). The Firdausi Supplement to the journal Near East and India, of 18th October, 1934, contains short illustrated articles on Firdawsī, such as "The Life History of Firdausi" by Dr. R. Levy; "Firdausi: the Poet and His Work" by Dr. R. A. Nicholson; "Influence of Firdausi in Persia" by A. U. Pope; "Persian Literature" by Sir Denison Ross, etc.

A large number of books and magazine articles have been written, both in the East and the West, on Firdawsī and his works. The following are some of the most useful sources of information for the purpose of a critical study of Firdawsī and his works:

I. Life and Works:

For these autobiographical passages, see also the excellent article in Urdu contributed by Professor Maḥmūd Khān Shērānī to the issue of the Urdu magazine entitled Urdu, Aurangabad, for July 1921, April 1922, January 1923, and January 1925, and to the Oriental College Magazine, Lahore, for February, 1930.

The Persian text of the Chahār Maqāla was published in the Gibb Memorial Series, vol. xi, 1910, and an English translation of it by Prof. Browne (revised edition), was also published in the same Series, vol. xi 2, 1921.

Although the Shāhnāma has been printed and lithographed in various editions both in the East and the West, it is a pity that there does not exist any edition which may be regarded as absolutely correct and thoroughly scientific. There are many old and reliable MSS., carefully preserved in public and private libraries in Europe, America, Persia, Central Asia, Afghanistan, and India, and a mass of valuable information regarding ancient Iran is being daily made available by modern historical, archaeological, and philological research. Until a standard edition of the Shāhnāma, based entirely on the above materials, is prepared and published on the lines of the excellent edition of its great Indian rival, the *Mahābhārata, it is in my opinion impossible to obtain a satisfactory solution of many important problems that hinge on the internal evidence of the poem and of those that are inseparably connected not only with the life-history of the poet and the poem, but with the political, religious, and social life of pre-Islamic Persia and also with the whole range of poetical, especially epic literature of post-Islamic Iran.

III. Yūsuf Zulaykhā.

This romantic poem is generally regarded by a number of Eastern and Western scholars (such as Luṭf 'Alī Beg *Āzar*¹, Reẓā Qulī *Hidāyat*², Āqā-e-Homā'i³, Dr. Reẓā Zāda *Shafaq*⁴, Dr. Nöldeke⁵, Dr. Ethé⁶, Prof. Browne⁷, Dr. Nicholson⁸, Dr.

S. Sukthankar, M.A., Ph. D., whose recent edition, the first critical and scientific edition of the Ādiparvan, Poona, 1933, so highly spoken of by no less an Orientalist than Dr. Winternitz, in his masterly review of it (Annals of the BORI, quoted above), has justly earned him a world-wide reputation in the domain of critical Sanskrit scholarship.

Levy¹, and M. Ivanow²) as a genuine composition of Firdawsī, written by him about the year 385 or 386/995-96, or between 400/1009-10 and 411/1020-21, and dedicated to "one of the princes of the House of Buwayh, Bahā'u'd-Dawla, or his son Sulṭānu'd-Dawla, who succeeded him in A.H. 1012, as Nöldeke thinks; Majdu'd-Dawla Abū Ṭālib Rustam, as Ethé seems to believe."³ Dr. Ethé made a special study of the poem, [and the results of it were published in the Acts of the Seventh International Congress of Orientalists, Semitic Section, Vienna, 1899. He also published a critical edition of a portion of it in the Anecdota Oxoniensia, Aryan Series II. Schlechta Wsseherd translated the poem into German, Wien, 1889. It was lithographed in India (several times) and in Persia (Dāru'l-Funūn-e-Tehrān, 1299/1881-82). This generally accepted view has found its way even into the inscription⁴ on the grave-stone of the poet in the Ārāmgah recently erected by the Persian nation on the occasion of the poet's millenary.

The fact is that the poem has nothing to do with the author of the Shāhnama. Dr. Rezā Zāda Shafaq in the remarks made at the beginning of his article یوسف و زلیخای فردوسی, which he contributed to the Firdawsī-nāma-e-Mehr (pp. 587-592) observes:

دانشمندان در مقایسه یوسف و زلیخای فردوسی با شاهنامه ملاحظات عقاید گوناگون اظهار نموده حتی بعضیها در انتساب آن بفردوسی اظهار تردید کرده اند

But he does not state who these بعضیها are, or on what grounds they have denied the connexion of the poem with Firdawsī.

Whatever these arguments or grounds may be, they cannot be stronger than those advanced by Professor Maḥmūd Khān Shērānī, in an Urdu article contributed by him to the Urdu of Aurangabad for April, 1922. With characteristic patience he has made a diligent search for external and internal evidence on the question and has been forced to the conclusion that the two poems, Shāhnāma and Yūsuf Zulaykhā, were written by two different poets, who belonged to two different periods and lived in two different countries. He has advanced eleven strong arguments in support of this view. According to him Yūsuf Zulaykhā was composed in the first half of the sixth century of the Hijrī era, i.e., more than a century after the death of Firdawsī, and somewhere in Trans-Oxiana.

IV. Other Poems. For Firdawsī's other fragmentary poems, such as Ghazaliyyāt, Rubā'īyyāt, Muqatṭe'āt, and Qaṣā'id, collected with diligent care from a number of tazkiras by Dr. Ethé, see his articles Firdausi als Lyriker in the Munch. Sitzungsberichte for 1872 (pp. 275-304) and 1873 (pp. 623-653).

V. Satire. Regarding the famous or infamous Satire, it is enough, I think, to point out that Nizāmī-e-'Arūzī-e-Samarqandī, the oldest Persian writer who has written about it, says: "Firdawsī wrote a satire of a hundred couplets on Sultān Maḥmūd in the Preface, and read it to Shahriyār saying, 'I will dedicate this book to you instead of to Sultān Maḥmūd, for this book deals with the legends and deeds of your forbears'.Shahriyār treated him with honour.....and said, 'O Master.....let the Shāhnāma stand in his (Maḥmūd's) name, and give me the satire which you have written on him, that I may expunge it, and give you some little recompense'.And next day he sent Firdawsī 100,000 dirhams, saying, 'I buy each couplet at a thousand dirhams, give me those hundred couplets, and be reconciled to Maḥmūd.' So Firdawsī sent these hundred verses, and he ordered them to be expunged; and Firdawsī also destroyed his rough copy of them, so that this satire was done away with and only these six verses of it remained.”¹ In a footnote² Professor Browne remarks: “This is a remarkable statement, and if true, would involve the assumption that the well-known satire, as we have it, is spurious.” Again, Dr. Nicholson, one of the profoundest living Persian and Arabic scholars, observes: “The text (of the satire) as we have it runs to a hundred verses; much of it has been proved, I think, to be a cento pieced together from verses which occur in different parts of the Shāh-nāmā.”³ The soundest Indian critic of Firdawsī and his Shāhnāma, Prof. Maḥmūd Khān Shērānī, after fully going into the whole question, has thoroughly exposed the spurious nature of the satire in his contribution to the magazine Urdu. It may be mentioned here that the number of verses of the so-called ‘satire’ varies in different books and MSS. from six to a hundred and sixty!

This MS. corresponds to Xa, 20, of Ban. Cat., p. 268.

Other copies of the Shāhnāma: MSS. of the poem are innumerable. Every good collection of Persian MSS. contains as a rule a copy or two. *Ind. Volume XXXVIII (B. U. L.).

“SHĀHNĀMA-E-BAKHT-AWAR KHĀNĪ” (شاهنامهٔ بختاورخانی).

This is an incomplete abridged prose version of Firdawsī's Shāhnāma, made by Bahādur 'Alī, son of Ilāhverdī Khān 'Ālamgīr Shāhī. It is called Shāhnāma-e-Bakhtāvar Khānī by Rieu (iii, p. 1037b), but that title is not found in this MS. in the prefatory remarks. According to مآثر الامرا this Ilāhverdī Khān died in 1079/1668-69. On fol. 39, which begins with : وسده منبغة حضرت نبوت خاتم الانبياء, the author, who calls himself بهادر علی ولد اله وردی خان عالمگیر شاهی عرف جعفر ابن اله وردی خان کلان قوم سلجوق, says:

چون بعضی اوقات حیات عاریتی بمطالعهٔ کتاب شاهنامهٔ فردوسی صرف می شد بقدر دریافت بر نوادر معانی و مطالب آن اطلاع حاصل می گشت بخاطر گذشت اگر عرایض مضامین و فحای آنرا بزیور منشور آراسته در محل اختصار و ایجاز جلوه کر ساخته آید شاید - چنانکه بعنایت الهی در سال بیست و پنجم از جلوس میمنت مانوس حضرت آسمان جاه پادشاه حق آگاهابو المظفر محی الدین محمد اورنگ زیب بهادر عالم گیر بادشاه غازی

کری برمنصه فعل نهاد و اختصار کتاب شاهنامه در لباس اثر اتفاق افتاد
و عبارتی بی تکلف و آسان مشتمل بر چهل و شش داستان الخ

On comparing this work with the منتخب شاهنامه of Tawakkul Beg [vide Vol. IV (B.U.L.) above], I find that this is but a clever copy of it with very immaterial alterations, and with the original verses of Firdawsī quoted in the منتخب شاهنامه omitted altogether.

It corresponds to No. Xa, 22, of Banaji's Catal., p. 269. It is defective both at the beginning and at the end.

Begins: پنهان میداشت چون نامه افراسیاب معه سپر و خلعت نزد

Ends: شکر خدا که شب شد من از دست او خلاص شدم

SOHRĀB-NĀMA (سهراب نامه).

An incomplete copy of the episode of Sohrāb and Rustam from the Shāhnāma, from its commencement to the birth of Farāmurz, son of Rustam. It corresponds to Xa, 23, of Ban. Cat., p. 269.

For Firdawsī and his works see Vol. XXXVI (B.U.L.) above. The MS. begins:

TĀJ-NĀMA-E-NAWSHER-
WĀN-E-‘ĀDIL (تاج نامه نوشیروان عادل).

This is a small composite MS., corresponding to Xa, 24, of Ban. Cat., p. 269. One portion of it contains what is called in Banaji's Cat., تاج نامه نوشیروان, and which begins with:

یکی پادشه بود نوشیروان * جهاندار و بیدار و نوشه روان

It extends over 11 folios. The other portion does not contain "a portion of the History of Iskandar", as stated in the label affixed to the MS. It is part of a poem on moral precepts written in the metre مقصور or هزج مسدس محذوف, the same as that of Nizāmi's Khusraw wa Shīrīn, in which the writer, who is evidently some Zoroastrian scholar (Cf. the Pahlawi heading and l. 3, on fol. 22: رسیده است و مراورا * (کردم اوصاف), draws upon his knowledge of Alexander and Nawsherwān to illustrate his moral precepts. This second portion of the MS. begins on fol. 11b with:

شنیدستم که اسکندر که مرگ * بدانگاهی که ماند از عمر بی برگ and goes up to the end on fol. 22.

The MS. does not bear any date of transcription.

An Arabic-Latin Thesaurus, abridged from the original of A. Giggeo (published in 1632, as stated in Banaji's Cat., Xa, 25,), by Father Amato Chezaud, S. J. The words here are not arranged according to the alphabetical order of the ماده or root, as is generally done in Arabic lexicons, but they are grouped together, each group being arranged in the alphabetical order of the first two letters of each word forming it. For example, the derivatives of دلب , دلك , دلج , دلق , etc., are all grouped together under دل.

TUHFATU'L-AHRĀR (تحفة الاحرار) .

The well-known poem of Jāmī written as a parallel to Amīr Khusraw's مطلع الانوار , which itself is a parallel to Nizāmī's مخزن الاسرار . It corresponds to Xa, 26, Ban. Cat. For sources of the life etc. of Jāmī, see MS. Vol. No. 1 (1) (Govt. Coll.) above. This is a defective MS.; a couple of pages at the beginning are missing.

Begins :

The poem was composed in 886/1481. It was lithographed several times in India; and was edited by Falconer, Lond., 1848. A commentary in Persian by Muḥammad Ghulawī was published at Lahore in 1302/1884-85. An interlinear Urdu translation by Jān Muḥammad Chawhān was also published at Lahore in 1928. MAJMU'Ā (مجموعه).

This is a composite MS. corresponding to Xa, 8, of Ban. Cat., p. 266, and consisting of the following eleven smaller MSS.:

1. Ff. 1-10. Qiṣṣa-e-Dukhtar-e-Mobad ba Khirs Dādan (قصه دختر موبد به خرس دادن).

A short Persian poem in Hazaj hexameter, narrating the story of a Mobad, who being tired of having waited long for a suitor for his daughter, determines one day to marry her even to a bear, if he comes along to espouse her. The next day a bear actually comes up to him, and he gives her away to him in marriage. The brute takes her to his residence in distant woods. At the end of a year the father becomes anxious to see his daughter and starts in quest of her. On his way to her abode, he sees some strange and marvellous things. At last he meets her and is delighted to learn from her that she is quite happy in the company of her husband, who turns out to be a good religious man, well-versed in the religious lore of the Zoroastrians. He is further delighted to learn from his son-in-law the moral significance of the strange sights he had seen on his way to him. The story was originally in prose (see fol. 10). It is stated that the incident had actually taken place in the days of king Nawsherwān.

Begins: حدیثی کویم از لطف جاندار * کنم بر مردمان یک قصه اظهار

2. Ff. 10-12. Pursish-e-Zartusht ba Nekī Kārha (پرسش زرتشت به نیکی کارها).

Another short Persian poem in the Mutaqārib metre, containing some questions which were put by Zoroaster to God and the answers given by Him.

Begins: دگر بار زرتشت پرسش گرفت * بماند اندر آن پاسخ دین شکفت

3. Ff. 12-21a, Bayān-e-Farziy-yāt Guzārdan (بیان فرضیات گذاردن).

Another Persian poem in Hazaj hexameter, based on a Pazand original and dealing with the observance of Positive duties in Zoroastrianism.

Begins: بنام مهر ایزد این بگویم * براه دین یزدانی به بوم

4. Ff. 21b-23a. Qiṣṣa-e-Darwesh wa Ganj-e-Zar (قصه درویش و گنج زر).

Another Persian poem in the same Hazaj hexameter, consisting of 29 couplets and narrating the story of a beggar, who came by a Treasure and lost it on account of procrastination.

Begins: شنیدم بود درویشی بجائی * که نان پاره بچیدی هر سرائی

5. Ff. 23b-25b. Rewāyat-e-Barzū (روایت برزو).

A prose fragment in Persian from the Rewāyat of Dastur Barzū Kāmdīn, consisting of a few questions on religious matters and answers to them. Regarding this Barzū, see Dhabhar's Persian Riwāyats, p. 610.

Begins: پرسش اگر کسی کرید همان دوده

6. Ff. 26-53b. Zartusht-nāma (زرتشت نامه).

No title is given here, but in Banaji's Catalogue it is called Zartusht-nāma. This poem written in Hazaj hexameter is different from the one noticed below (Vol. LIII) and bearing the same title, but composed in the Mutaqārib metre attributed by Rieu and Ethé to Zartusht bin Bahrām bin Pazdū. The same person is the author of this poem also. His name occurs here in the second couplet as follows :

کنون زرتشت بن بهرام پژدو * یاور شرح حال این قصه برکو

Begins: بنام ایزدان کیهان * ... کردم روان بر دین عنوان

Its original model was probably in prose, for in the third couplet it is stated :

چو سوی نظم این بشتاقم من * بنسخه در بدینسان یاقم من

On ff. 36b, 37, and 38, it is stated that when the religion of Zoroaster spread far and wide and its fame reached the ears of an Indian sage, named Changaranghāch (چنگرنکهاچه), he became much disturbed in mind and wrote a strong letter to the Persian king, Shāh Gushtāsp, denouncing the new religion. Subsequently he was invited to the Persian court, where his conversion to Zoroastrianism took place. From this it follows that what is generally known as Changaranghāch- nāma and separately named in Banaji's Catalogue and also in MFS (p. xxiii) and in EB No. 1951, is not a separate compilation, but part and parcel of this poem. Cf. the following lines (ff. 36b-38):

بهر کشور ازین دین آکهی شد * که در ایران روان دین بهی شد
 سوی هندوستان شد آکهی زین * که در ایران کسی آورد نو دین
 بهندستان حکیمی بود خواجه * که اورا نام بود چنکرنگاچه

 یکی نامه بسوی شاه کشتاسپ * نوشت و یاد کرد از کار جاماسپ

After this some space for the heading is left blank, which is followed by the abovementioned letter, which begins as follows:

سر نامه بنام پاک یزدان * که او بر پای دارد چرخ کردان

This very couplet is given as the opening couplet of the چنکرنگاچه نامه noticed in EB No. 1951.

7. Ff. 37b-53b. Changharanghāch-nāma (چنکرنگاچه نامه).

See No. (6) above. Other copies: MFS p. xxiii No. 7; Cama pp. 150 and 175; MRD p. 34. A Gujarati translation is mentioned in the same catalogue on pp. 138, 140.

8. Ff. 54-65b. A prose fragment (imperfect both at the beginning and the end) of the Pazand version of the Bundehesh, in modern Persian characters.

Begins: روشنی ماه پیالود

9. Ff. 65b-68. A prose fragment from a Persian Rivāyat in Persian characters, beginning with:

اندر دین به پیداست که زرتشت از اورمزد پرسید

10. Ff. 68b-71b. A prose fragment from a Pahlawi Rivāyat about Nasā, in Pahlawi characters.

11. Ff. 72-73. Pursish-e-Nawsherwān { پرسش نوشیروان از } az Mobadān dar Pand wa Naṣīhat { موبدان در پند و نصیحت }

An incomplete poem about Nawsherwān's asking the Mobads to give him counsel and advice.

Begins: *سختگوی روای (راوی) فرخ نژاد * درین پندنامه چنین کرد یاد*

On f. 74 there are a few stray couplets with the name of their writer, viz., رتن جی ولد موسنک جی.

Ff. 74. S 5.1×5, 3.5×3.5. No jadwals. LL 10 to 11. Ind. Nast. and Pahlawī. Or. pap. Wormeaten. Cond. fair.

QIṢṢA-E-SANJĀN (قصه سنجان).

This is the well-known traditional story in Persian verse (about 864 lines) of the Flight of the ancestors of the Indian Parsis from Persia after its conquest by the Arabs, their adventures in the mountainous districts of Iran, their arrival in India, and their final settlement, as refugees, at Sanjan in 992 Vikram Samvat=936 A.C., when the country was ruled over by Jadī Rānā, i.e., Vajjadadēva, one of the kind-hearted and tolerant Silhāra rulers of Thana. The poem itself, characterised by Professor Hodivālā as "indispensable to all students of the early history of Indian Parsis", was completed on the day Khordād in the month of Farwardīn, in the year 969 A.Y./1600 A.C., by Bahman s/o Kaykōbād s/o Ormazdyār Sanjānī, who belonged to a learned family of the Zoroastrian priests of Nawsari, which has produced a number of Parsi scholars of repute. Cf. the following lines on ff. 64-66:

من آن مسکین که بهمن هست نامم * بنوساری بود رخت و مقامم
 دگر میدان که باهم کیقبادست * دلش در یاد ایران شاه شادست
 پدر بودش که اورمز دیار دستور * مقامش در کروثمان باد پر نور

لقب سنجانش دانی تو ای یار * بهر دانش شده سنجیده درکار
 نه و شصت و زنهصد یزدجردی * سنه کاین قصه شد خامه نوردی
 بفروردین مه و در روز خرداد * شد این ایات آخر از ره داد

For a critical study of the question about the date of arrival of the Parsis, a conclusive identification of the Jadī Rānā with Vajjadadeva, the Silhāra King, and an estimate of the general historical value of the "Story", see Professor Hodivala's Paper entitled Jadi Rana and the Kissah-i-Sanjān, read before the BBRAS in 1913 and published in his Studies in Parsi History in 1920. An English translation of the Qiṣṣa by Lieut. E. B. Eastwick, made at the suggestion of Dr. Wilson, was published in the first volume of JBBRAS, Bombay, 1844, pp. 167-191. This English translation was made from an incorrect MS. It could not, therefore, be free from errors. A more correct version in Gujarati was published by Dastur F. A. Rabadi in 1831. Another rendering of the "Story" by the able historian, Professor Hodivala, in which he has "attempted to adhere as closely to the "text as the genius of the two languages and the frequent "obscurity and other defects of Bahman's style would permit", will be found on pp. 94-117 of his abovementioned Studies in Parsi History.

Regarding the fictitious character of this legend, see Mr. J. D. Nadersha's learned articles contributed to the Journal of the Iranian Association, Bombay, 1917-1918. His candid opinion, expressed, as he says, "regardless of anybody's frown or favour" is as follows: "Not a single reliable history has been "written of the Zoroastrian community after the extermination "of the Sassanian Empire. In the absence of such a history the "Parsis believe, without ascertaining the truth, a kissah (legend) "written three centuries ago, as a history of their advent to and "settlement in India, but by our present historical knowledge "derived from other sources, we find this kissah (legend) to be wholly fictitious." (The italics are his. See p. 346 of the Journal of the Iranian Association for December, 1917.)

Begins: بنام ایزد دانای سبحان * بهردم می سرایم نکته از جان

Prof. Rehatsek, while describing the copy in the Mulla Firuz Library (MF VII, 108), observes that "the language here used does not contain a single Arabic word, and is rather old-fashioned." If he refers to the same work as the MS. under notice, the above statement may be taken for what it is worth. As a matter of fact the poem does contain a number of Arabic words, the seven lines quoted above alone containing no less than eleven. This MS. corresponds to X, 9, of Ban. Cat., p. 266. Dated the day Bahrām in the month of Khordād, 1112 A.Y./1742-43.

RIWĀYAT-E-DĀRĀB (روایت داراب هورمزیار)
HORMAZYĀR

This valuable MS., corresponding to X, 15, Ban. Cat., p. 267, and divided into two volumes, is an autograph of the compiler, Dārāb s/o Hormazyār Sanjana. It consists of what are known amongst the Parsis of India as Rivāyats, i.e., "writings" which include questions and answers on religious subjects, sent "to and received from the Dasturs of Persia by the Parsees of India. As Dr. West says: 'the Rivāyats, or collections of "religious traditions,.....contained the replies and information “collected by some special messenger, who had been sent by “some of the chief Parsis in India, to obtain the opinions “of the Parsis in Persia regarding certain particulars of re“ligious practice, which were duly specified in writing, or to “apply for copies of MSS., which were either unknown or scarce

 “in India. In later times, the contents of these early Rivā-“yats were classified, according to the subjects they referred “to, and were supplemented by further information and many “details of ritual, by influential Parsis in India, who were usual“ly Dasturs. The original Rivāyats are generally called by “the names of the messengers, but occasionally by the name of “the chief inquirer. But the later classified Rivāyats are known “by the names of their compilers.”* The present MS. belongs to the class of Classified Rivāyats and is known by the name of its compiler. “Of the two Classified Rivāyats—Barzo Kam“din’s and Darab Hormazyar’s—that of Darab’s seems to be a “better compilation. Dr. West says of it that it ‘appears to “be the most complete and most systematically arranged.”†
 Although the Persian Rivāyats rank below the Avestā, Pahlawī, and Pāzand writings in religious authority, yet their importance, no doubt, is great. “In some matters, where the “Avesta and Pahlawi writings are silent, the Persian Rivayats
 “have referred to new precepts, but the Indian Parsis have not “accepted all these. For example, the Rivayats say that Ni“rang (consecrated urine) may be drunk, after the removal of “the clothes. But the present practice does not accept this “precept. To the modern Parsi priests, to eat or drink some“thing when naked is revolting. So, the opinions given in these “Rivayats are at times erroneous. But, as Milton says: ‘all “opinions, all errors known, read, and collected are of much “service and assistance towards the speedy attainment of what “is truth.’ From this point of view, we may hold that the “Rivayats, though their views may be faulty or erroneous here

"Rivayats require to be systematically studied and some of their contents, which refer to beliefs, dogmas, rituals, manners, and customs, require to be examined and compared with those that are referred to in the earlier Avesta, Pahlavi, and Persian writings. A student will have in this Rivayat of Darab Hormazyar sufficient materials to see how far the present practices and beliefs have changed during these last three or four hundred years."*

For the significance of the term Riwāyat (the undoubted Arabic origin of which is, strange to say, disputed by Dr. Modi, who attempts to derive it from the Persian رڤا رڤت, rofa roft), the religious importance of these Persian Riwāyats, the various classes, full notices of the principal collections, the pedigree of the compiler of the present Riwāyat, an account of his autographs, a good descriptive note on this very manuscript (pp. 38-41), a comparative study of the various dates mentioned in the eleven different colophons in it, a critical note on other MSS. of Dārāb Hormazyār's Riwāyat, etc., the learned Introduction by Dr. Modi to Unvālā's edition of the Riwāyat (Bombay, 1922, 2 vols.) is invaluable. So also the scholarly English version of the Persian Rivayats of Hormazyar Framarz (the father of Dārāb, our author), with an Introduction and exhaustive Notes, by Ervad B. N. Dhabhar, M.A., published by the K. R. Cama Oriental Institute, Bombay, 1932, is indispensable. A critical study of the Dates of the Persian Rivayats will be found on pp. 276-349 of the Studies in Parsi History, which embody very important results of the wide and deep historical researches made by the indefatigable Professor S. H. Hodivala, Bombay, 1920.

A lithographed edition of the text of this Riwāyat, principally based on another autograph copy dated later than this, was published, as stated above, by M. R. Unvala, in 2 Vols., Bombay, 1922. Even a cursory comparison of this lithographed edition with the MS. reveals great divergence in the arrangement of its chapters and contents. This puzzle has been explained by Dr. Modi (p. 40 of the Introduction to the said edition) as follows: "The list of the dates of the 11 colophons (occurring in our MS.)....will be useful to understand, what I say below, viz., that the different portions of the old manuscripts like that of the Bombay University were not written in the order in which we see the folios now bound together in two volumes. It appears from the dates that, as referred to above, the different forms (juz) of this B. U. (i.e., Bombay University MS.), are not bound in the order in which they were written by Dastur Darab Hormuzdyar. The folios 108a to 108b must form the first part."* From a study of the dates given in the colophons of this MS., Dr. Modi concludes that "it appears that Darab took one year 6 months and 9 days to complete this Manuscript."† For about 15 years, from 1882 to 1898, this MS. remained in the possession of Dr. West, who appended to it, in his own hand, a valuable note and a full and exhaustive list of contents of each volume. The note is reproduced here, but the long list is left out, because its congener is already printed on pp. 59-70 of Dr. Modi's Introduction to Unvala's lithographed edition of the Riwayat. Dr. West says, "This Rivāyat was obtained for the Bombay Government at Bharuch by Professor Martin Haug in January 1864, and was shortly afterwards bound in two volumes. Originally, it must have contained 556 folios, each 10½ inches high, 8½ inches wide, and all written 21 lines to the page; but 47 of these folios were lost before 1864, namely, fols. 35-43, 160, 161, 288-307, 428-441, 535, and 540. The contents of folios 160, 161 were recovered, in 1893, from another MS. (W.), formerly belonging to the Rev. Dr. John Wilson of Bombay and now in the library of the Earl of Crawford at Wigan in Lancashire, which is descended from this MS. and was written in 1761-2 by Noshirwan Bahram of Bharuch. W is also an imperfect MS., as 55 of its folios (corresponding to fols. 65-107 of

"this MS.) have never been written; but all deficiencies of this MS. can be supplied from W, except the contents of fols. 535 and 540 which must have been lost before 1762.

"This MS. itself is probably the original compilation of Darab Hormazyar Framroz Kiyamu-d-din (or Kawamu-d-din) Kai-Kubad Hamjiyar Padam Sanjanah, and contains eleven colophons written in his name and varying in date from 20th April to 21st November, 1679, at which latter date the compilation was completed. His names and dates occur on folios 13a8-10, 30a11-15, 34a(centre), 50b(bottom), 78a(bottom), 106b(bottom), 108a5-6, 198b3-4, 484a4-7, 518b5-8, and 550a-16-18; the dates of which are six years earlier than that of Darab's supposed original Rivayat at Balsar, mentioned in the Parsi Prakash, p. 16, n. 3.

"Other copies of Darab's Rivayat exist in the Mulla Firuz Library, and in that of Dastur Dr. Jamasp Minochiharji, both in Bombay; and in some cases the arrangement of the contents varies, as appears from the catalogue of M. F. Library (Bombay: 1873), pp. 172-178.

"The following is an alphabetical list of the authorities quoted in this Rivayat; with their probable dates, so far as has been ascertained. But for further particulars, regarding these dates, and about the Zoroastrian era, formerly used in Iran and dating from the death of Yazdakard in the 20th year of his reign, see Grundriss der iranischen Philologie, vol. ii, pp. 125-127, 121, 122."*

Begins: The first vol. begins with a colloquy between Zoroaster and Ormazd, in Pazand character. The second volume begins with Gāh-e-Hāvan in Avesta.

This MS. was commenced on roz Khordād, māh Meher, 1047 A.Y./11th May, 1678 A.C., and completed, as stated in the colophon, at the end of the second volume, on roz Dep Meher, māh Farwardīn, 1049 A.Y./21st Nov., 1679, showing that the Volume LII (B. U. L.).

RIWĀYAT-E-HAFTĀD WA HASHT (روایت هفتاد و هشت).

It is a complete copy of what is popularly known amongst the Indian Parsis as Ithoter Riwāyat, and called in Persian هفتاد و هشت پرسش و پاسخ. It consists of the Answers (given in 1142 A.Y./1773 A.C.) to the 78 questions on religious subjects of practical importance, proposed by the Qadmī leaders of the Parsis of Surat to the priests of Yazd and Kirmān. It is written in Persian prose, with a few verses at the beginning. For an explanation of the term Riwāyat, its importance, and its classification, see Introduction to Dārāb Hormazyār's Riwāyat, ed. by Ūnvālā, vol. i, Bombay, 1922. After the praise of God and the Prophet Zoroaster, the Dasturs of Yazd and Kirmān send greetings to those of Surat and Broach, particularly to Dastur Dārāb and Dastur Kā'ūs (the Astrologer and father of the famous scholar Mullā Fīrōz), and inform them that their letter containing religious questions had been received and that the latter had been answered. They hope that the answers will be found satisfactory. Then follow the 78 questions with their answers, covering pp. 8-101. On pp. 102 et seq. Dastur Marzabān s/o of Dastur Hoshang of Īrān (the learned priest who answered the abovementioned questions)* informs the Dasturs and Mobads of India that the Nawzod ceremony of Dastürzāda, i.e., son of Dastur Peshotan s/o Dastur Kā'ūs, was performed on the day Dīn-Īzīd, month Arđī Behesht, 1141 A.Y.=29th Jumādā II, 1185 A.H. (9th October, 1771 A.C.),=28th Īlūl-e-Rūmī, 2082 Iskandarī, the day being Wednesday.

Begins : *سر نامه برنام داورکنم * بدین نام دادار یاورکنم*

This Riwāyat was translated into Gujarati by K. F. Marzabānjī, Bombay, 1846 A.D.

Our MS. ends on p. 105, where the colophon gives the date of transcription as follows: Khordād day, Ābān month, 1142 A.Y.=25th Muḥarram, 1187 A.H., Sunday, 2084 Iskandarī=29th Farwardīn-e-Jalālī, 95 (?), Malik Shāhī. The date of this copy is identical with that of MF p. 180, No. 5, viz., Khordād, Ābān, 1142 A.Y., but the year of the corresponding Hijrī date given by Rehatsek, viz., 25th Muḥarram, 1182, is wrong. It should be 1187 (See Mc Cudden's Oriental Eras, p. 70). The date 25th Muḥarram is correct. It corresponds to Sunday (as mentioned in the colophon of our copy), the 18th April, 1773 A.C. The name of the copyist of our MS. is not mentioned in the colophon. The name فولاد رسنم, given in the last line on p. 2, is that of the Katib or "scribe" of the original letter sent to India. The same name is repeated in the other copy in this Collection noticed below. In MFS, p. xxxix, the name of the "transcriber of the Book" is given as Fūlād bin Rustam. Pages 106 and 107 contain transcriptions in Pahlawī and Persian of the seals and names of Dasturs affixed to the original letter.

The MS. corresponds to X, 15a, Ban. Cat., p. 267.

Volume LIII (B. U. L.).

ZARTUSHT-NĀMA (زرتشت نامه).

and

RIWĀYAT-E-HAFTĀD WA HASHT (روایت هفتاد و هشت).

This is a composite MS. consisting of two Persian books, viz., (1) زرتشت نامه and (2) روایت هفتاد و هشت [پرسش و پاسخ], corresponding to X, 31, and X, 16, of Banaji's Catalogue, p. 267.

(1). ZARTUSHT-NĀMA (زرتشت نامه).

This is also called مولود زرتشت (as in the superscription at the beginning of the poem and also in the colophon on fol. 54). It is a poem in the metre of Firdawsī's Shāhnāma, extending over about one thousand and six hundred couplets and dealing with the life and miracles of Zoroaster. From R i, pp. 46, 47, EB No. 1947, and Wilson's "Parsi Religion" (Bombay, 1843, pp. 417-427), we learn that the author of this poem was one زرتشت بهرام بن پژدور, who followed an earlier poetical version by Kay Kā'ūs (itself a Persian versified translation of a Life of Zoroaster, originally written in Pahlawī) and completed his poem in 647 A.Y./ 1277-78 A.C. But the lines occurring towards the end of the poem, on which the above information is evidently based, are not to be found in our copy. All that we learn from it is that one Kā'ūs-e-Kay or rather Kay-Kā'ūs (fol. 54b) s/o Kay Khusraw s/o Dārā originally from Ray (fol. 3b), speaking in the first person, says that he was asked by a Mobad to put into Persian verse a certain Pahlawī 'Life of Zoroaster', which he had read with him, that thereafter a Divine messenger (سروش) appeared to him in a dream and pressed him to undertake the work, and that when he related the dream to his father, Kay Khusraw, the latter further pressed him to do it.

Begins: سخن را بنام خدای جهان * آغاز در آشکار و نهان

The work has been noticed with a list of headings by Hyde in his Hist. religio. vetr. Persa. Dr. Wilson in his Parsi Religion (Bombay, 1843, pp. 417-427) has given a lengthy review of its contents. At the end of the same volume is appended Eastwick's translation of the whole work (pp. 477-522). See also Anquetil's Vie de Zoroaster and Mujizat-e-Zartushti, published in Gujarati, by Edalji Dārābjī, Bombay, 1840.

Our copy, as stated in the colophon (fol. 54), was finished on the Rashn day, Bahman month, 1164 A.Y./1794-95, by Mobadzāda Tehmūljī s/o Dastur Jiwanjī s/o Dastur Farīdūnjī.

HASHT PURSISH WA PĀSOKH {پرسش و پاسخ}.

Another copy of the work described above No. LII (B.U.L.).

Begins: سر نامه برنام داور کنم * بدین نامه دادار یاور کنم

The date of transcription, as given in the colophon, is Mīnū day, Wahman month, 1163 A.Y./1793-94, and the name of the copyist is the same as that of the above MS., viz., Tehmūljī s/o Dastur Jiwanjī Bharūchī, who wrote it for his own use.

Volume LIV (B.U.L.).

RIWĀYAT-E-DĪNĪ (روایت دینی).

It is labelled روایت دینی and treats of sundry matters connected with the Zoroastrian religion. It is written in Persian character and begins with:

حاجت از امشاسفندان خواستن اینکه بزرگی پاکی تن مردم از اورمزد

After the hājats, mention is made of the various amshāspandān and of the various objects on which they preside. This is followed by an account of the nosks of the Avesta and of the Gahanbār, etc. It corresponds probably to X, 17, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267.

Volume LV (B. U. L.).

AHWĀL-E-ṢABR WA
SHAKĒB-E-ĀDARBĀD (احوال صبر و شکب آذرباد).

This is a small Persian poem corresponding to X, 18, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267, and begins with:

خداوندا بده کام و مرادم * که از لطفت بوم من شاد و یغم

The author's name, Nawsherwān, is mentioned in the last couplet on fol. 4b:

بروز فروردین نوشیروان گفت * ز الماس زبان این درها سفت

It narrates the story of the pious آذرباد مهرسپند, who remained grateful to God throughout his life and would not possibly think of Him as being the author of Evil. His faith in the goodness of God and his superhuman Patience in trying circumstances and great sufferings remained unshaken even though he was struck with a severe malady, in which his whole body became full of worms, which went on eating into it for seven years. At last he was miraculously cured. Once, we are told, a shepherd fell in love with his wife, and was after her for three years. He wanted to seduce her, but she was miraculously saved. For a full paraphrase in English of these stories, see Dhābhar's Persian Rewāyats, Bombay, 1932, p. 281. This Ādarbād, who had the reputation of being a very wise 'dastur', is stated to have flourished in the fourth century of the Christian era and to be the author of Madegān-e-lak yom, which 'describes in detail the peculiar virtues of each day of the Zoroastrian month' (see Karaka's History of the Parsis, i, p. 132). According to Dr. Wilson (Parsi Religion, p. 13), he was a 'contemporary of Shahpur, the successor of Ardeshir Babegan'. If the 'dastur' is supposed to have flourished in the fourth century A.C., he could not have been a contemporary of the successor of Ardeshir Babegan; for the latter's son and successor, Shahpur, ruled from 241 to 272 A.D. (see Warner and Warner's Shāhnāma, vi, p. 294). The monarch who ruled over Persia in the fourth century A.C. was the famous Shahpur-e-Zu'l-Aktāf, who reigned from 309 to 379 A.D. (see Warner and Warner's Shāhnāma, vi, p. 321). This Shahpur was descended from Ardeshir in the fourth, or according to the Shāhnāma, in the eighth degree. See the abovementioned edition of the Shāhnāma.

ŞAD DAR (BAHR-E-RAMAL) (صد در بحر رمل).

An incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of the Şad Dar, Nağr. It is sometimes called Şad Dar, Baħr-e-Ṭawīl, i.e., "A Hundred Gates" (of the City of Knowledge of the Zoroastrian Religion), or "Chapters in the Long Metre", viz., بحر رمل مثنى محذوف یا مكفوف. It is called ṭawīl or "long", simply because it is longer than that of the poetical version known as Şad Dar, Naẓm, which is composed in the Baħr-e-Mutaqārib, i.e., the metre of the Shāhnāma. The present version was made by two persons, viz., (1) Rustam s/o Isfandiyār, whose name occurs as takhalluṣ in the last couplet of every one of the first 16 dars, and (2) Behzād s/o Rustam, who completed the remaining portion of the poem (see the next MS.). Between folios numbered 40 and 41, a few folios containing the text of chapters 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, and 19 (portion) are missing. Fol. 17b is blank.

Begins: * این همه شفقت کند یزدان پاک رهنمای *
 * بی گمان می باش بر پیغمبرش ای نیک رای *

The date of composition of this work is 973 A.Y./1605 A.C., (see Dr. Dhābhar's Saddar Nasr and Saddar Bundehešh, Bombay, 1909, p. vi.). The forty-third is the last dar dealt with. It abruptly ends on f. 58 with دیگر آن ادرخوره و نیز آن ادرکشپ. It corresponds to X, 19, of Banāji's Cat., p. 267.

ŞAD DAR, BAHR-E-ṬAWĪL, { صد در بحر طویل و داستان }
 WA DĀSTĀN-E-JANG-E- { جنگ رستم با اسفندیار }
 RUSTAM BĀ ISFANDIYĀR

This composite MS. corresponding to X, 20, of Banāji's Cat., p. 267, consists of (1) A portion of Şad Dar, Baḥr-e-Ṭawīl (صد در بحر طویل) and (2) A portion of the Dāstān-e-Jang-e-Rustam bā Isfandiyār (داستان جنگ رستم با اسفندیار). Both the extracts are defective at the beginning and the end. The first folio is missing. The MS. begins on f. 2 with the following couplet:

کردکار ویزه نور و کردکار کارساز * کردکار بنده پرور کردکار بی نیاز

After the praise of Almighty God, the author prays that He may sharpen his poetic intellect so as to enable him to versify the book Şad Dar (in prose), containing a hundred chapters which deal with فرضیات and پندیات. They were originally collected by three Dasturs from Zend and Pazand books (fol. 3, lines 4, 5, 8, et seq.). On the same folio, in line 10, the names of the three Dasturs are given as follows:

* نام وردست و بزرگ و مید یو ماه اشو *

* باسیاوشان سه دستور چنین پاسخ شنو *

This version was made by (1) Rustam s/o Isfandiyār and (2) Behzād s/o Rustam, in 973 A.Y./1605 A.C. (see Dhābhar's Ṣad Dar Naṣr, p. vi). Rustam wrote the first 16 chapters, inserting at the end of each chapter his name, Rustam, by way of takhalluṣ, after which he died of snake bite. The remaining portion of the work was composed by Behzād. On fol. 40b, in lines 1 and 2, one reads:

* شانزده در را که گفته رستم اسفندیار *
 * بعد ازان مارش کزیده رفته است ازین دیار *
 * پس نصیب او چنین بودست در ملک جهان *
 * باقیاتش گفته است بهزاد رستم تو بدان *

The metre of the poem is رمل مثنیٰ محذوف یا مقصور; but the form is that of a masnawī, i.e., each couplet has an independent rhyme of its own. The poem extends from f. 2 to f. 52, after which, 8 folios, beginning with:

* چو آب از بر آتش آید بجوش *
 * بهم برهمی سود دست دریغ *
 * همی جست مانند برقی ز تیغ *

and containing an extract from the Shāhnāma, which deals with the episode of Rustam and Isfandiyār and is written in a different hand, different ink, and on different paper, have been inserted. Thereafter the poem, Ṣad Dar, is continued, with gaps, on 16 folios. Then again the story of Rustam and Isfandiyār is resumed. It covers 8 folios and abruptly comes to an end.

The MS. does not bear any date of transcription.

Other copies: For Ṣad Dar see the preceding volume; and for Shāhnāma, see Vol. XXXVI (B.U.L.) above.

ŞAD DAR NAẒM (صد در نظم).

This is an incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of Şad Dar, i.e., "A Hundred Gates or Chapters", dealing with a hundred religious and moral subjects connected with Zoroastrianism. Three learned Dasturs, named Vardast, Medyomāh, and Syāvakhsh, are said to have written the Şad Dar Naṣr (in Persian prose), "at the time of the Arab conquest."* Later on two Persian metrical translations of this prose work were made, the one entitled Şad Dar Naẓm and the other Şad Dar Baḥr-e-Tawīl. The former was composed by Īrān Shāh s/o Malek Shāh of Kermān, in 864 A.Y./900 A.H./1494-95†; and the latter by two persons, viz., Rustam bin Isfandiyār and Behzād, in 973 A.Y./1605. Our MS. represents the former and begins with:

بنام خداوند ذات و صفات * خداوند فیض و خدای حیات

It seems that portions of at least three different copies are bound together. The first eight folios, the paper and writing of which are quite different from the rest, contain the text from the beginning of the poem to about ten chapters and a half. Folios 9 et seqq. are taken from a different copy. The first couplet on fol. 9, viz., روان مه شاد باشد ازین * بکوشند انگاه در راه دین, is the fourth couplet on fol. 3, showing that about 44 couplets are missing from the beginning of the second copy. The last couplet on fol. 8b, viz., مکن از میان الخ, is the seventh couplet on fol. 16b. At the same time couplets from 3 on fol. 9 to the last but one on fol. 10, i.e., 42 couplets in all found in the second copy, are wanting in the first. These missing couplets have a certain historical importance. They give us the name of the author, Īrān Shāh (f. 19, line 9), and the date of composition of the poem, 864 A.Y./1494-95 (fol. 19, lines 11-13). Folios

23-36 are again taken from a different copy, of which the remaining folios form a part. The last chapter is the 100th dar, but it is incomplete; only a few couplets appear to be wanting. The last folio, of which a part is lost, ends with:

بسی زیر و بالاش بشتافتم * بسا موهر نکته بشکافتم

Dr. Hyde translated the Ṣad Dar Nāẓm into Latin in his Historia Religionis Veterum Persarum, A.C. 1700. ṢAD DAR NAẒM (صد در نظم).

Another incomplete and defective copy of the Persian poetical version of Ṣad Dar described above.

4. Ff. 7-16b. Pursesh-e-Zartusht (پرسش زرتشت).

The remaining folios also deal with the Darūn, and are written in Avesta.

بنام ایزد الخ تاثیر عطسه نیک و بد از جوانها نمودار کرده نوشته است
اگر بالای سر عطسه شود بسیار بد فال است بجانب مشرق

Fol. 2 begins with:

Volume LXII (B. U. L.).

ARDAWĪRĀF-NĀMA (اردویراف نامه).

This MS. corresponding to X, 29, of Banaji's Cat., p. 267, is an incomplete and defective copy of a Persian poetical version of the Pahlawī Artawirāf-nāmak, probably based on an earlier Persian prose version. It is said that in the days of Ardashīr-e-Bābegān, the founder of the Sasānian dynasty (3rd cent. A.D.) "a man of high repute and sanctity named Ardā Virāf made a journey to heaven and hell by common consent and recounted, in the presence of the king and the whole Zoroastrian populace, what he had seen and heard during his ultramundane journey. A learned scribe committed to writing all that Virāf said, the treatise describing the visions being called after him Ardā Virāf Nāmeḥ"* . The original Pahlawī text was published in 1872 by Hoshangji, Haug, and West, under the patronage of the Bombay Government, and a new edition with an Introduction, Notes, Gujarati translation, and a Persian version of Zartusht Bahrām in verse (published for the first time) was brought out by Dastur Kaikhusru J. Asa, Bombay, 1902, to which the reader is referred for information regarding the French translation by Barthelemy, Paris, 1887, and the English translation by Pope, London, 1816. See also Viraf, Adamnan, and Dante by J. J. Modi, Bombay, 1914; Wilson's Parsi Religion, pp. 435-444; Spiegel's Tradit. Lit. de Parsen; Anquetil's Zend Avesta, vol. ii, p. xxxii; and Sachau's Contributions to the Knowledge of Parsee Literature, JRAS 1870, p. 279 et seqq. The Persian version published by Dastur Asa is by Zartusht bin Bahrām, who is said (EIO No. 2819) to have "composed it immediately "after the completion of the Zartushtnāma (a translation in "Persian verse of the Life of Zoroaster written originally in "Pahlawī) in the year 647 of the Yazdajirdī era (=1277-78)." Although the beginning of our copy is nearly the same as that of Asa's edition, and the first two couplets on fol. 22, viz.,

* Page ii of the Introduction to the Arda Viraf Nameh, the original Pahlawī text with an introd., notes, Guj. transl., etc., by Dastur K. Asa, Bombay, 1902.

شدم در خواب الخ and چنین گفت الخ are identical with those on p. 5 of the latter, yet the order of couplets, as well as the text of our copy, differs considerably. The name of the author, Zartusht, occurs on fol. 21b in the following couplet:

کنون زرتشت رودر داستان پیچ * میاور تو کثری در داستان هیچ
بنام آن خداوند جهاندار * ز دین به بگویم نگر گفتار

After one more couplet, viz.,

حدیثی گویم از اردای ویراف * کنم نظمش یکایک چون در صاف which does not agree with the second in Asa's edition, there is a blank of about 15 couplets, which extends to fol. 2, where the poem is continued with the following couplet:

فراوان آفریده کر شتابد * ز کنه آفریننده نیابد

The MS. ends abruptly on fol. 27b, with the following couplet:

بگوید راز دین باداد رادان * بدو برکار بندد خلق کیان

Other copies: Ind. Libr. MFS pp. 172 and 179, Nos. 1, 2; MRD pp. 24, 36, 99, 103. For. Libr. EIO No. 2819; Ri pp. 47, 49; EB No. 1950.

S 5.1×5, 3.5×3.2. No jadwals. LL 9. Ind. Nast. Or. pap. Wormeaten. Cond. good.

INDEX II

NAMES OF PERSONS

The references are to the pages of the Catalogue. The principal ones are denoted by heavy figures, while mere incidental mention is indicated by lighter type. For convenience of reference the names have been arranged in strictly alphabetical order. This arrangement lends itself more easily to facility of reference than the more scholarly system, by which, for example, Abū-Zar and Ibn-e-Sīna are shown respectively under Z and S and not under A and I, and Jalālu'd-Dīn precedes Jalāl-e-Farāhānī.
